County Form of Government 2007

Dear County Clerk:

ICMA has conducted the Form of Government surveys for many years. This survey gathers comprehensive information on county form of government, election systems, provisions for referendum/recall, and term limits. A summary of the results will be available on ICMA’s web site (http://icma.org) after the data have been tabulated.

Please contribute to this significant body of knowledge by completing the survey and returning it in the enclosed postage-paid envelope by Friday February 8, 2008. Your participation is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Robert J. O’Neill, Jr.
Executive Director, ICMA

- The term commission refers to an elected body whose members may be called commissioners, council members, supervisors, board members, county legislators or a similar title.
- The chief appointed official of the local government is often referred to as county manager, county administrator, chief administrative officer, county coordinator or a similar title.
- The presiding officer of the local government may have the title of the presiding officer, county judge, board/commission chair, chief elected official or a similar title.
1. Please indicate which of the following best describes your current legal form of government as defined by your charter, ordinance, or state law. (Please read all definitions first and check only one.)

☐ a. Each elected commissioner or board member serves as director of one or more functional departments (e.g. Public Works Director or Director of Health and Human Services) in addition to his/her policymaking role. The presiding officer may be chosen from the board or elected directly (e.g., county judge). This is popularly known as the commission form of government.

☐ b. An elected board sets policy, adopts legislation, and approves the budget. The commission appoints an administrator to conduct the day-to-day county business, to prepare the budget, to oversee department heads, and to recommend policy to the board. This is popularly known as the council-administrator form.

☐ c. An elected board sets policy, adopts legislation, and approves the budget. The commission appoints a manager with broad executive authority to oversee and manage county departments, hire and fire most department directors, hire and fire county staff, prepare the budget, and recommend policy to the board. This is popularly known as the council-manager form.

☐ d. The elected board is responsible for making policy. The executive, elected at-large, implements county board policies, prepares the budget, and acts as county spokesperson. The executive often has veto power, which can be overridden. This form fully separates the legislative and executive powers and is popularly known as the council-elected executive form.
