

COLUMBIA LAW SCHOOL

GLOBAL BUSINESS LAW & GOVERNANCE

A Global Alliance Program with the University of Paris I and Sciences Po

J.D./CERTIFICATE

THE J.D./CERTIFICATE IN GLOBAL

Combining resources and expertise, Columbia Law School, University of Paris I (Panthéon-Sorbonne) and the Institut d'Études Politiques (Sciences Po) bring you a groundbreaking new program in legal education.

THREE WORLD-CLASS FACULTIES OF LAW.

ONE DISTINCT PROGRAM. Columbia Law School students earn both a Juris Doctor from Columbia and a joint Certificate in Global Business Law and Governance from the faculties of law at the University of Paris I and Sciences Po — entirely within the three-year timeframe required to complete the J.D. program.

JOIN A NEW GENERATION OF LAWYERS trained from both an American common law and from a European civil law perspective. Graduates will be uniquely prepared to assume leadership roles in today's international law firms, courts and corporations, banking and financial institutions, academia, and global governance and regulatory agencies.

STUDY WITH DISTINGUISHED U.S. AND EUROPEAN FACULTIES on the cutting edge of research and practice. The interdisciplinary expertise of our faculty spans business law, finance and economics to corporate governance and national and global regulatory regimes. A variety of opportunities are available for students to take part in faculty research.

FROM THE WORLD STAGE THAT IS NEW YORK CITY, Columbia Law School forged the field of international and comparative law during the nineteenth century. This tradition of leadership and innovation continues today with our premier European Legal Studies Center and leading programs in comparative corporate governance, business law, intellectual property law, and transnational litigation and arbitration, among others. Our New York City location provides unique access to many of the world's largest law firms, corporations and intergovernmental organizations.

PARIS, FRANCE — GATEWAY TO THE EUROPEAN UNION. The location of Sciences Po and the University of Paris I in a European capital is a strategic advantage for internships and networking. Paris is headquarters to the International Court of Arbitration, UNESCO, and the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development. Adding to this are their close ties to French courts and law firms, the European Commission in Brussels, the WTO in Geneva and scholars from Europe's leading law faculties.

BUILD A GLOBAL PROFESSIONAL NETWORK.

Students complete the program as a cohort, spending the fall semester at Columbia Law School in New York City and the spring semester in Paris at Sciences Po and the University of Paris I. Special workshops and events further promote camaraderie, while experiential learning opportunities introduce students to front-line practitioners and leaders in business and government.

AL BUSINESS LAW AND GOVERN

An integrated, English-language curriculum provides a dynamic mix of theory and practical insight. Many courses take the form of small seminars, fostering faculty-student interaction and the cross-cultural sharing of ideas.

CURRICULUM

While the curriculum may vary slightly from year to year, the following list of 2008-09 course offerings reflects the breadth and depth of this rigorous J.D./Certificate Program. In consultation with their adviser, Columbia Law School students may also earn credit for supervised research, participation in international journals or moot courts and other scholarly work directly related to global business law and governance.
