

University College Dublin
An Coláiste Ollscoile, Baile Átha Cliath

UCD School of Archaeology

Scoil na Seandálaíochta UCD

Summer Field School: Kings River Valley Project, Ireland

Commencing May 2007 it is proposed to open the program to visiting students. The program will include two four week sessions, each equalling 10 credits. The focus of the field school will be on detailed investigations of hilltop enclosures and an ecclesiastical site. Students will be given training in various surveying techniques and archaeological excavation. A number of days will be set aside in the program for a series of short lecture courses covering various aspects of Irish archaeology and field trips to the Boyne Valley and Glendalough. The sessions will run from 14th May to the 8th June 2007 and from the 11th June to the 8th July 2007.

A four week session costs $2800; this includes tuition and accommodation. The program will be based in University College Dublin, with field studies and excavation undertaken in the Kings River Valley, Co. Wicklow. Students will be housed at the UCD Halls of Residence on the Belfield Campus.

For further information contact Dr. John Ó Néill at john.j.oneill@ucd.ie.

Further details at: <http://www.ucd.ie/archaeology/krvp/>