Management Consulting with McKinsey & Co.

Dr. BJ Wright

Dr. Wright received his bachelor's degree from Willamette University in 2003 before pursuing graduate studies at Columbia University. He attained his Ph. D. investigating the synthesis of natural product scaffolds with anticancer properties – including derivatives of ET-743 and pluraflavin A – in the lab of Professor Sam Danishefsky. Since graduating from Columbia in 2008, Dr. Wright has been a consultant with McKinsey & Co. working primarily in healthcare engagements (pharmaceuticals, medical devices, and healthcare IT).
