Gender-Based Misconduct Policies for Students (including Sexual Assault, Sexual Harassment and Gender-based Harassment Policies and Procedures)

Introduction

Columbia University, Barnard College, and Teachers College are committed to providing a learning environment free from gender-based discrimination and harassment. As such, the University¹ does not tolerate any kind of gender-based discrimination or harassment, which includes sexual assault, sexual harassment, and gender-based harassment. The University community is committed to fostering a healthy and safe environment in which every member of the community can realize her or his fullest potential.

Gender-based misconduct is a serious concern on college campuses throughout the country. To address this problem, the University provides educational and preventative programs, services for individuals who have been impacted by gender-based and sexual misconduct, and accessible, prompt, and equitable methods of investigation and resolution.

Students who believe they have been subjected to gender-based discrimination or harassment are encouraged to report these incidents. Upon receiving a report, the University will respond promptly, equitably, and thoroughly. In addition, the University will take steps to prevent the recurrence of the discrimination or harassment and correct its effects, if appropriate.

Consistent with its commitment to addressing gender-based discrimination and harassment, the University complies with Title IX of the Higher Education Amendment of 1972, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in education programs or activities. Gender-based misconduct, as defined in this document, constitutes forms of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX.

Gender-Based Misconduct Policies apply regardless of the complainant's or respondent's sexual orientation, sex, gender identity, gender expression, age, race, nationality, class status, ability, or religion.

Prohibitions against discrimination and harassment do not extend to statements or written materials that are germane to classroom subject matter. Nothing in this policy shall abridge academic freedom or the University's educational mission.

¹ For the purposes of this Policy, the term "University" refers to Columbia University, Barnard College and Teachers College unless otherwise noted.

IMPORTANT NOTE ABOUT CONFIDENTIALITY

Any University official (e.g., Student Affairs staff, Advising and Residential Programs staff, Officers of Administration, Full-time and Adjunct Faculty, Teaching Assistants, etc.) informed of an allegation of gender-based misconduct involving students is expected to file a report with Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct. Certain University officers who are serving in a privileged professional capacity (i.e., counselors, clergy, medical providers,² and rape crisis counselors) are not bound by this expectation, except as required by law.

Definitions and Examples

Gender-based misconduct comprises a broad range of behaviors focused on sex and/or gender discrimination that may or may not be sexual in nature. Sexual harassment, sexual assault, gender-based harassment, stalking, and intimate partner violence are forms of gender-based misconduct under this policy. Misconduct can occur between strangers or acquaintances, including people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship. Gender-based misconduct can be committed by men or by women, and it can occur between people of the same or different sex.

Examples of gender-based misconduct

- Pressure for a date or a romantic or intimate relationship
- Unwelcome touching, kissing, hugging, or massaging
- Pressure for or forced sexual activity
- Unnecessary and unwelcome references to various parts of the body
- Belittling remarks about a person's gender or belittling remarks about a person's sexual orientation based in gender-stereotyping
- Inappropriate sexual innuendoes or humor
- Videotaping and photographing someone or people without consent
- Obscene gestures of a sexual or gender-based nature
- Offensive sexual graffiti, pictures, or posters
- Sexually explicit profanity
- Use of email, the Internet, or other forms of digital media to facilitate any of the above referenced behaviors

Sexual harassment. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal, physical, or visual conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's education; or
- submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic decisions affecting that individual; or
- such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, or offensive academic or living environment.

² Medical providers are considered confidential resources in the context of providing medical treatment to a patient.

Gender-based harassment. Acts of verbal, nonverbal, or physical aggression, intimidation, stalking, or hostility based on gender or gender-stereotyping constitute gender-based harassment. Gender-based harassment can occur if students are harassed either for exhibiting what is perceived as a stereotypical characteristic for their sex, or for failing to conform to stereotypical notions of masculinity or femininity. In order to constitute harassment, the conduct must be such that it has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, or offensive academic or living environment.

Intimate partner violence. The use of physical violence, coercion, threats, intimidation, isolation, stalking, or other forms of emotional, sexual or economic abuse directed towards a partner in an intimate relationship constitute intimate partner violence. This includes any behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, coerce, threaten, blame, hurt, injure, or wound someone. Intimate partner violence can be a single act or a pattern of behavior in relationships. Intimate partner relationships are defined as short or long-term relationships (current or former) between persons intended to provide some emotional/romantic and/or physical intimacy.

Stalking, as mentioned in the definitions for gender-based harassment and intimate partner violence, is defined as a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to feel fear. Stalking involves repeated and continued harassment made against the expressed wishes of another individual, which causes the targeted individual to feel emotional distress, including fear and apprehension. Stalking behaviors may include: pursuing or following; non-consensual (unwanted) communication or contact - including face-to-face, telephone calls, voice messages, electronic messages, text messages, unwanted gifts, etc.; trespassing; and surveillance or other types of observation.

Sexual assault. The University defines sexual assault as any non-consensual, intentional physical contact of a sexual nature, such as unwelcome physical contact with a person's genitals, buttocks, or breasts. Sexual assault occurs when the act is committed by: a) physical force, violence, threat, or intimidation; b) ignoring the objections of another person; c) causing another's intoxication or impairment through the use of alcohol or other drugs; and/or d) taking advantage of another person's incapacitation, helplessness, or other inability to consent.

Consent. The presence of consent involves explicit communication and mutual approval for the act in which the parties are/were involved. A sexual encounter is considered consensual when individuals willingly and knowingly engage in sexual activity. The use of coercion in instances of sexual assault involves the use of pressure, manipulation, substances, and/or force. The absence of "No" is not a "Yes."

The use of alcohol and other drugs. The use of alcohol and other drugs can have unintended consequences. Alcohol and other drugs can lower inhibitions and create an atmosphere of confusion over whether consent is freely and affirmatively given. The perspective of a reasonable person will be the basis for determining whether one should have known about the impact of alcohol and other drugs on another person's ability to give consent. The use of alcohol and other drugs never makes someone at fault for being sexually assaulted.

The University's primary concern is student safety. Sometimes students are reluctant to report instances of sexual assault because they fear being charged with policy violations, such as underage alcohol consumption. To encourage reporting, any other policy violations may be addressed (if necessary) separately from a sexual assault allegation.

Examples of sexual assault

Pat and Dana met at a party. They spent the entire party getting to know each other and dancing. Dana had four shots of tequila and four beers over the course of the evening. They were at the party for approximately three hours. At one point, Dana went to the bathroom. Pat noticed that Dana staggered upon returning from the bathroom. Dana's friend informed Pat that Dana had been vomiting. Pat volunteered to take Dana home. When they arrived at Dana's dorm room, Pat began kissing Dana and proceeded to have sexual intercourse with Dana. At this point, Pat noticed that Dana was barely moving. Upon waking up in the morning, Dana asked Pat what happened that evening. Pat told Dana that they had sex and that Dana had asked to have sex. Dana began crying and said "I didn't want to have sex with you. I have a boyfriend." This is a violation of the Columbia University Policy on Sexual Assault. A reasonable person could have concluded that Dana was intoxicated because Dana was stumbling and had vomited in the bathroom. Dana was therefore not able to give consent.

Taylor and Hong have been dating for a few months. On several occasions, Taylor and Hong have engaged in consensual sexual intercourse. One night, Hong and Taylor were making out when Hong said, "I don't feel like having sex tonight." Taylor continued to kiss Hong and took off their clothing despite Hong's verbal and physical objections. Eventually, Hong became silent and submitted to Taylor's insistence to have sex. This is a violation of the Columbia University Policy on Sexual Assault. Hong objected to having sex and Taylor ignored these objections. Even though Taylor and Hong have previously had sexual intercourse, this is a violation of policy because Hong did not consent to sexual activity on this evening.

Peyton and Jordan were in the hallway of their residence hall with a group of their neighbors on the floor joking around and telling stories. Peyton placed his arms around Jordan's waist as they continued their conversation. After a while, Peyton moved his hands up to Jordan's breasts. She then turned around and told him to stop touching her breasts and removed his hands from her body. A few minutes later, Peyton grabbed Jordan's breasts again stating he did not understand why she was making such a big deal about him touching her. This is a violation of the Columbia University Policy on Sexual Assault as it constitutes intentional, physical contact of a sexual nature with another person's breasts. Jordan tells Peyton not to grab her breasts and he continued to grope her despite her protests.

Resources for Students Who Experienced Gender-Based Misconduct

The University's primary concern is with the health, safety, and well-being of its students and the community. If you or someone you know may have experienced any form of gender-based misconduct, we urge you to seek immediate assistance. Assistance can be obtained 24 hours a day, 7 days a week from:

Where to File a Report Alleging a Violation of the Gender-Based Misconduct Policies

Reports involving a Student

Reports of alleged gender-based misconduct by a student of the University or Colleges should be filed with:

Melissa Tihinen, Senior Manager
 Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct
 108C Wien Hall
 (212) 854-1717

mt2738@columbia.edu

Online Secure Report Form: <https://forms.health.columbia.edu/content/report-form>

The Senior Manager is a neutral administrator in the disciplinary process. This person is responsible for coordinating the disciplinary process and for working with all involved parties. The Senior Manager does not determine whether a policy violation occurred. This individual also serves as the Deputy Title IX Coordinator focusing on reports of gender-based misconduct involving situations in which a student is the respondent.

Special Note for Teachers College Students

Teachers College students may elect to utilize the Teachers College Policy on the Protection from Harassment policy (<http://www.tc.edu/policylibrary/protectionfromdiscriminatoryharassment>) in instances involving gender-based harassment or sexual harassment by another Teachers College student. Reports involving sexual assault, gender-based stalking, and intimate partner violence should be filed with the Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct office and will follow the procedures outlined in this policy.

Reports involving a Faculty Member, Staff Member, Administrator or Third Party

Reports of gender-based misconduct by a faculty member, staff member, administrator or third-party of the University or Colleges should be filed with the following offices at the employee's institution:

Columbia University

Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action

103 Low Memorial Library

(212) 854-5511

<http://facets.columbia.edu/equal-opportunity-and-nondiscrimination-policies>

Relevant Government Resources

The below government agencies may provide additional resources for students wishing to file a complaint of gender-based misconduct:

U.S. Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights
<http://www.hhs.gov/ocr>

U.S. Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women
<http://www.ovw.usdoj.gov>

Reporting Incidents of Gender-Based Misconduct

All gender-based misconduct reports involving matriculated students will be received and processed by Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct. Reports can be submitted in writing via a secure Web form: <https://forms.health.columbia.edu/content/report-form>

Students who wish to submit a report alleging gender-based misconduct can meet with the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct to learn more about the process and procedure. Students should be advised that the Senior Manager is obligated to act on any report of alleged gender-based misconduct.

Students may also choose to file a report with the New York City Police Department or the local law enforcement agency where the misconduct occurred. The University system and police/legal system work independently from one another. Students can file reports with the University, with law enforcement, or with both systems. Because the standards for finding a violation of criminal law are different from the standards in this policy, criminal investigations or reports are not determinative of whether or not gender-based misconduct, under this policy, has occurred.

Timeframe

The University does not limit the timeframe for filing a report of gender-based misconduct. Reports can be submitted at any time following an incident, although the University's ability to take any action may be limited by the matriculation status of the alleged respondent.

Jurisdiction

The University is able to respond formally to alleged incidents of gender-based misconduct:

- that occurred on campus, or
- that were part of official University programs (regardless of location), or
- where the respondent is a matriculated undergraduate, graduate, or professional student.³

Third-Party Reports

In cases where the gender-based misconduct is reported to Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct by a third party (e.g., faculty member, residence program staff member, advising dean, etc.), the complainant⁴ will be notified that a report has been received by the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct. The Senior Manager will make every effort to meet with the complainant to discuss her/his options and resources at the University and in the community.

Complainant Request for Confidentiality/Privacy

A complainant may make a request for confidentiality/privacy at any point. This type of request means that the complainant does not want her/his identity known to the respondent and witnesses, or that the complainant wishes to withdraw a report. If at any point the complainant requests privacy, the University will make all reasonable attempts to comply with this request. In situations where a complainant requests privacy, the University's ability to investigate and respond to the allegations may be limited.

³ Questions about an individual's student status at the University can be directed to the Senior Manager for Student Disciplinary Services for Gender-based and Sexual Misconduct.

⁴ A complainant is the student who files a report or the person who a report is filed on behalf of by a third party. A respondent is the student who is alleged to have violated a policy and is responding to the allegations.

The University is required by Title IX to weigh the complainant's request for confidentiality/privacy with the University's commitment to provide a reasonably safe and non-discriminatory environment. The Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct will notify the complainant if the University cannot maintain the complainant's confidentiality/privacy. The complainant's identity will only be revealed to those individuals who need to know the name of the complainant in order for an investigation to commence.

In situations where a member of the University community becomes aware of a pattern of behavior by a single respondent, the University will take appropriate action in an attempt to protect the University community.

Unknown/Non-University Offenders

If the offender is unknown or is not a member of the University community, University staff will assist students in identifying appropriate campus resources or local authorities if the student would like to file a report. In addition, the University may take other actions to protect the student and the community.

Confidentiality/Privacy & Non-Retaliation Policy

When a report of gender-based misconduct is filed, the complainant, the respondent, and all identified witnesses who are named in the investigation, will be notified of the University's expectation of confidentiality/privacy. The University will make all reasonable efforts to maintain the confidentiality/privacy of parties involved in gender-based misconduct investigations. Breaches of confidentiality/privacy or retaliation against any person involved in the investigation, including the complainant, respondent, witnesses, or the investigators, may result in additional disciplinary action.

Interim Measures

During the investigation and until resolution of the matter, interim measures may include but are not limited to: restrictions on contact between the complainant and the respondent, bans from areas of campus, and/or removal or relocation from the residential areas. Failure to adhere to the parameters of any interim measures is a violation of this policy and may lead to additional disciplinary action.

Mediation

Mediation is not an option for resolution in cases involving allegations of sexual assault. In cases involving other forms of alleged gender-based misconduct, the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct will determine whether mediation is an appropriate mechanism of resolution based on information provided about the incident.

In cases where mediation is deemed to be an option, students wishing to pursue this form of resolution should contact the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct in writing. The parties should not contact each other to discuss mediation. Mediation will be pursued only with the consent of both parties. If the mediation results in a resolution, the formal disciplinary procedure will be concluded and the case will be closed. If the parties are unable to reach a resolution, the disciplinary process will proceed.

Investigation

Reports of gender-based misconduct will be investigated in a thorough and prompt fashion. Following the receipt of a report, the respondent will be notified that a report has been filed and he/she will have the opportunity to submit a written statement within five calendar days, whenever possible. The respondent and complainant will be given the opportunity to meet separately with the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct (or designee) to review the policy and procedure.

A specially trained investigator designated by the Senior Manager will interview the complainant, respondent, and any witnesses. This investigator will also gather any pertinent evidentiary materials. The investigator will then prepare a report detailing the content of the interviews and the evidentiary materials gathered.

Directly following the conclusion of the investigation, a determination of whether or not to proceed to a hearing will be made. This determination will be based on whether reasonable cause exists to believe that a policy violation may have occurred. If reasonable cause does not exist, the report will not be forwarded to a Hearing Panel. However, the University will institute other forms of remedial, community-based efforts such as educational initiatives and/or trainings.

Administrative Resolution

If sufficient information exists to proceed to a Hearing, the respondent and complainant will have the opportunity to review the investigative report and the evidence from the investigation.

Following this review, the respondent will be given the opportunity to respond to the alleged violation of policy in the following ways: 1) No response; 2) Not Responsible; or 3) Responsible.

If the respondent accepts responsibility, the Dean of Students (or designee) of the respondent's school will be notified and will schedule a meeting with the respondent to discuss the sanctioning outcome within five calendar days whenever possible. Based on the evidence provided by the investigative materials, the Dean of Students⁵ (or designee) will determine the appropriate sanctions.

The complainant and respondent will be made aware of the sanctioning decision. The respondent and complainant will then have the opportunity to appeal the Dean of Students' (or designee's) sanctioning decision. The acceptance of responsibility, however, is not appealable (see Appeals Process).

If the respondent declines responsibility, or chooses not to respond, a hearing panel will be convened.

The Hearing

Every effort will be made to convene a hearing panel as soon as practicable following the conclusion of the investigation – ideally within 30 calendar days after the receipt of the initial report. Whenever possible, the complainant and respondent will be given at least five calendar days' notice to prepare for the hearing. The hearing is a closed proceeding. The Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct will work with other University officials to ensure any student whose presence is required is able to participate in the hearing.

⁵ In most cases, the Dean of Students serves as the sanctioning officer and the Dean of the School serves as the appellate officer. A full list of sanctioning and appellate officers for each school can be found at: http://www.columbia.edu/cu/dpsa/docs/sanction_appeals/index.html.

The Hearing Panel

The hearing panel is charged with determining whether a Gender-Based Misconduct Policy has been violated and providing the Dean of Students for the respondent's school with their finding.

The hearing panel will consist of two deans and/or senior-level administrators and one student chosen from a specially trained pool of panelists. All three panelists will have no school affiliation or other connection with either of the parties. The complainant and respondent will be informed of the panel's constitution prior to the commencement of the hearing. A party may challenge a panel member's participation in writing if the party believes that the panelist is acquainted or associated with the case in any way. This written challenge must be received by the Senior Manager for Student Services for Gender-Based and Sexual Misconduct within three calendar days after the notification of the panel's constitution. If both the respondent and complainant agree, the student panelist may be replaced by another dean or senior-level administrator.

The Hearing Procedure

The general course of the hearing procedure will be as follows, whenever possible:

- Introductions by the hearing panel
- Complainant statement
- Respondent statement
- Questions to the complainant
- Questions to the respondent
- Witness testimony and questioning
- Closing statement by complainant
- Closing statement by respondent

The panel may impose time limits on any stage of the procedure. The panel may also determine the relevance of and place restrictions on any witnesses or information presented.

Testimony via Closed-Circuit Television. All testimony and interactions with the panel are conducted via closed-circuit television. Therefore, only the person providing the testimony (and that person's supporter, if applicable) is in the hearing room with the hearing panel during the testimony. Each party is able to view the live testimony from a separate, private room via closed-circuit television.

Questioning. Only the panel may ask questions of the parties and of any witnesses. Both parties have the opportunity to put forth questions of the other party and of witnesses. This is done by submitting questions to the panel in written format. The panel may determine which questions are relevant and which are duplicative in nature. The panel reserves the right to revise or remove submitted questions.

Testimony Regarding Romantic or Sexual History in Cases Involving Sexual Assault. The romantic or sexual history of either the respondent or the complainant will not be allowed in a hearing involving allegations of sexual assault, except for testimony offered by the respondent or the complainant about her/his own sexual history. If such information is offered, the other party has the right to respond to the testimony. If the respondent and complainant had a romantic or sexual history, testimony and questions about this history is permitted.

Hearing Recording. An audio recording of the hearing will be kept for the use of the panel and for purposes of appeal. This recording may be transcribed at the request of the panelists or the Dean of Students for the respondent's and complainant's schools (or designees).

Refusal of Participation. In cases where a complainant and/or respondent refuse to participate in the hearing procedure and where an investigation deems that a policy violation may have occurred, the hearing panel will convene and determine a finding based on the evidence and testimony available to them.

Witnesses

The hearing panelists will determine the witnesses they would like to hear testimony from based on the investigator's report. In addition, the complainant and respondent may submit a list of potential witnesses along with a summary of expected testimony to the panel for their consideration. The panel will not accept witnesses whose sole purpose is to provide character testimony.

Supporters

Both the respondent and the complainant are entitled to have a supporter present at the hearing and during any meetings regarding the process. The supporter's function in the process is to provide support to the student. During the hearing, the supporter may talk quietly with the student or pass notes in a non-disruptive manner. The supporter may not, in any way, intervene in the hearing or address the panel.

The supporter must be a current member of the University community (i.e., faculty, administrator, student). The supporter should not be someone who has a current formal role (e.g., advisor, coach, faculty member) with either the respondent or complainant. Neither party is entitled to legal representation (as that term is commonly understood) during the hearing. A supporter from the University community may be an attorney by training, but is only permitted to act as a supporter (as described above) during the hearing.

Panel Findings

The panel will use preponderance of evidence as the standard of proof to determine whether a policy violation occurred. Preponderance of evidence means that a panel must be convinced based on the information provided that a policy violation was more likely to have occurred than to not have occurred in order to find a student responsible for violating a policy.

Based on this standard, the panel may find a student responsible for an alleged violation of policy based on a majority vote. The panel may also vote by majority to dismiss the charge based on the same evidentiary standard. The panel will render a decision within five calendar days following the conclusion of the hearing.

Upon finding a student responsible, the panel will submit its decision to the Dean of Students (or designee) of the respondent's and complainant's schools and to the respondent and complainant. The Dean of Students for the respondent's school (or designee) will then determine the appropriate sanctions. Consideration may be given to the nature of and circumstances surrounding the violation, prior disciplinary violations, precedent cases, University safety concerns, or any other information deemed relevant by the Dean of Students (or designee). The Dean of Students (or designee) will render a sanctioning decision within five calendar days following the receipt of notice of the panel's decision.

Range of Sanctions

A student who has been found to have violated a Gender-Based Misconduct Policy may be subject to sanctions including, but not limited to, reprimand/warning, disciplinary probation, suspension, and dismissal. A student also may be barred from certain University facilities or activities, or required to attend educational programming. Sanctions are determined by the Dean of Students (or designee) of the respondent's school in accord with the University guidelines.

The Appeals Process

The respondent and complainant may appeal: 1) the decision made by the hearing panel, and 2) the sanctions determined by the Dean of Students (or designee) of the respondent's school. The three grounds upon which an appeal of the decision or sanctions may be made are:

1. The student believes a procedural error occurred, which the student feels may change or affect the outcome of the decision;
2. The student has substantive new evidence that was not available at the time of the hearing and that may change the outcome of the decision;
3. The student feels that the severity of the sanction is inappropriate given the details of the case.

Disagreement with the finding or sanctions is not, by itself, grounds for appeals.

The appeal should be submitted in writing to the Dean (or designee) of the respondent's school within five business days following the date on the outcome letter. The Dean (or designee) will collaborate with the Dean of the complainant's school to determine the resolution of the appeals process.

The Dean (or designee) can determine whether a change in the hearing panel's decision is warranted. If a change in this decision is necessary, the Dean (or designee) will reconvene the hearing panel to consider this change. The hearing panel will review the appeal and Dean's rationale and make a final decision. This decision is not appealable.

The Dean of the respondent's school in collaboration with the Dean of the complainant's school when applicable (or designees) may also change the sanction making it either less or more severe. Regardless of the outcome of the appeal, the Dean (or designee) will notify the complainant and respondent of the final decision in writing. If a complainant and respondent appeal, the appeals will be considered concurrently. Appeals will not be reviewed or considered beyond the Dean of the respondent's (or designee) school. Appeals decisions will be rendered within 10 calendar days after the receipt of the formal appeal is filed.

Outcome Notification

Every effort will be made to ensure that both the complainant and respondent are updated at several points during the investigation and procedure. Both the complainant and respondent will be notified in writing at the following times:

Conclusion of the Investigation

- After the conclusion of the investigation – both parties will be allowed to review the investigative materials

Administrative Resolution

- If the respondent accepts responsibility for being “in violation”
- The sanctions determined by the Dean of Students (or designee) after the respondent accepts responsibility

Hearing Panel

- The hearing panel’s finding of “in violation” or “not in violation”
- If the panel’s finding is “in violation” the sanctions determined by the Dean of Students (or designee)

Appeals Process

- If an appeal has been filed by either party at any point in the outcome phase
- The final resolution of the appeals process

Complainant Rights

Complainants are afforded the following rights in this process:

- To be treated with respect, dignity, and sensitivity throughout the process.
- To seek support services at the University.
- To confidentiality and protection under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The University will make all reasonable efforts to ensure preservation of privacy, restricting information to those with a legitimate need to know.
- To be informed of the University’s Gender-Based Misconduct Policies and Procedures for Students.
- To a prompt and thorough investigation of the allegations.
- To an adequate amount of time to prepare for the hearing. Participants shall be given at least five calendar days notice prior to the hearing except in rare circumstances.
- To review all applicable documents prior to the hearing.
- To challenge a hearing panel member if a conflict of interest is present.
- The right to replace the student panelist with a dean or senior-level administrator if both parties agree.
- To be accompanied at the hearing by a supporter.

Alternative to a Hearing Panel

In some unique circumstances, the University or College may choose an alternative form of resolution to a full hearing panel. In these instances, the University or College will attempt to gain approval from both parties whenever possible. This alternative process will adhere to Title IX standards.

Independent Investigation

The University and Colleges, at the discretion of the appropriate General Counsel, may conduct an investigation independent of, or in addition to, the procedures provided herein at any time. The investigation may involve complaints or allegations concerning gender-based misconduct against the University, the Colleges, or any of their employees or students.
