

BERLIOZ COLLECTION

(J. Barzun: 1930-1945)

Partial list of recordings (78 rpm only):

(NOTE: The interest of this group of 78 rpm records is that it comprises the entire output of the works of Berlioz recorded before the advent of LPs. This does not mean that all renderings of the Rákóczy March or Dance of Sylphs are included here, but that apart from the duplication of perhaps four short pieces such as I have named, the only recording of all the rest form a part of this collection. This includes two orchestral arrangements by Berlioz of works by other composers, namely Rouget de Lisle's Marseillaise and Weber's Invitation to the Dance. In other words, before LPs, these fragments were the only parts of Berlioz' works available to the record listener anywhere in the world.)
