Correspondence of Emma Lazarus, 1849-1887, poet and essayist. This collection was left by Emma Lazarus to her sisters and subsequently given by them to Columbia University Libraries. While the letters are primarily of a personal nature, they also reflect both her literary career and, after the traumatic effect on her of the persecution of Russian Jews in 1879-83, her role as American champion of her race. There are original autograph letters from John Burroughs, Ralph W. Emerson, Henry James, William Morris, Tommaso Salvini, and Ivan Turgenev, and 20 other prominent figures. Also included are one letter from Lazarus to William Wetmore Story and the letter of her sister, Annie Johnstone, presenting this collection to Columbia University.
