DESCRIPTION: This collection consists of some files relating to the research and writing of the historian, Frank Monaghan, 1904-1969.

John Jay Files: Included are correspondence, notes and drafts of the first chapter of Monaghan's book, John Jay, Defender of Liberty (Bobbs-Merrill, 1935). There are also numerous typescript copies of letters to and from John Jay.

Alexander Hamilton Bicentennial Commission Papers: These files for 1954-55 and 1960, consist of Monaghan's correspondence with historians, archivists and others concerned with the work of the Commission. In addition to Monaghan's bibliographical notes and his notes on Hamilton's correspondents, there are typescript copies of letters between Aaron Burr, Alexander Hamilton and their seconds preceding their duel, and an incomplete series of typescript copies of excerpts from Hamilton's letters illustrating his thoughts on individuals and concepts for names and concepts beginning with the letters M and N. There are also several papers written by others and submitted to Monaghan.
