DESCRIPTION

Papers of Henry White (1850-1927), American diplomatist who served with Ambassadors John Hay and Joseph Choate in England, and was appointed Ambassador to Italy (1905) and France (1907). In 1918 President Wilson appointed White to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, and the collection contains a box of minutes of the daily meetings of the Commissioners Plenipotentiary. In addition there are 3 boxes of correspondence, including many letters from White to his colleagues and to his family, as well as letters to White from various eminent men; 2 boxes of notes and copies of letters; a diary and an account book of White; and a diary of Margaret S. R. (Mrs. Henry) White.
