DESCRIPTION: Correspondence, manuscripts, documents, photographs and printed material of Dmitrii Daragan (1884- ; patronymic variously Iosifovich or Osipovich), officer of the Russian Imperial Navy and businessman, in the emigration in Finland. The correspondence consists primarily of family and personal letters from 1902-1973, including typed excerpts of letters written by Daragan to his wife from the Murmansk - Arkhangelsk region during 1919-1920. The remainder of the correspondence deals with Daragan's business and naval and religious topics. The manuscripts consist primarily of Daragan's memoirs of his youth, family and naval experiences in northern Russia. There are family documents, the earliest of which dates from 1762, and family financial records. The printed materials include two pre-World War I theater programs from St. Petersburg and Moscow. The photographs are primarily of members of the Daragan family, dating from the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries.
