Mimeographed typescript memoirs of Evgenii Karpovich (—), entitled, "Chto skryvaet sovetskaia propaganda" (107p.). The memoirs concern the early part of the German-Soviet war (summer of 1941), the author's arrest by the NKVD, his incarceration in various prisons, and his eventual release to the Red Army in 1943. In writing this memoir, Karpovich used the pseudonym Evgenii Milk.