The memoirs of Colonel Georgii A. Liubarskii (189?- ), an officer in the Imperial and White Armies, who emigrated to Yugoslavia, joined the German Army during World War II, and later emigrated to Venezuela. The handwritten manuscript (247 p.) covers Liubarskii's service in the Lithuanian E.I.V. Regiment of the Tsesarevich-Heir (Litovskii E.I.V. Naslednika Tsesarevicha polk), the southern army of General N.I. Ivanov, and the Volunteer Army of Southern Russia.
