DESCRIPTION: Papers of Vladimir V. Sakharov ( - ), art historian. The collection consists of correspondence, manuscripts, an enormous number of notecards (that were collected over a twenty-year period for a proposed Slovar' russkikh khudozhnikov) and several dozen notebooks containing entries to which the cards refer. There is correspondence from Eugène Fabergé, including information about the Fabergé dynasty of jewelers. Sakharov's manuscripts include essays devoted to Ivan Bilibin, M. V. Rudal'tsov, Marie Bashkirtsev, Nikolai Globa and V. E. Borisov-Musatov, among others. The cards containing information on artists are arranged alphabetically by artist and contain references to specific notebook entries. There are also bibliographic cards containing citations of articles on art in Russian and other languages. These are arranged by author, Vladimir Stasov predominating. As far as possible, the notebooks have been retained in the order designated by the cards. Many notebooks are devoted to a particular artist or genre (Alvazovskii, Repin, Iskusstvo XVI Veka) while others are simply designated by color and number (Belaia tetrad' No. 3), letter (Tetrad' A), number (Tetrad' 1) or not titled at all. In addition, there are two sets of very large notebooks which seem to belong to another series. These have been labeled "large notebooks - brown" and "large notebooks - green". There are a few photographs of artists (notably a 1939 photograph of Globa) and photographic reproductions of works by Bakst, Benois and Lukin among others. The collection contains approximately continued on verso SCS 4-81
100 exhibition catalogues dating from 1915 to 1940 and primarily relating to the exhibitions of Russian emigre artists in Paris. There are also four issues of Illiustrirovannaja Rossija and some clippings dealing with Russian emigre artists.
