 DESCRIPTION: releases all but four letters(see attached list)

This collection contains the correspondence of Dwight D. Eisenhower and his friend, Edward J. Bermingham (Columbia, 1909), during the period 1943-1957. Bermingham, a prominent investment banker and member of an advisory board at Columbia, first met Eisenhower when the latter became President of Columbia. During his tenure as Columbia's President and later, as commander of SHAPE, Eisenhower exchanged long letters with Bermingham, outlining in detail his views of world affairs. When Eisenhower became President of the United States, the correspondence continued, and the two men met at least twice at the White House. The collection also includes a photograph of Eisenhower, inscribed to Bermingham; letters to Bermingham from Antonio Bermudez, director of PSMEEX, and Alexander Makinsky, president of the Coca Cola Export Corporation in Paris; and some correspondence between Bermingham and Eisenhower's aides.
