CELEBRITIES OF THE STAGE.

Edward H. Sothern is the second son of the late Edward A. Sothern, who left three sons, of whom Lyman (deceased) was the eldest and Sam the youngest. Edward Sothern was born at New Orleans, La., Dec. 6, 1839, and went with his father to London in 1846. In 1872 he returned to his native city, and the second winter following, during which, at Abbey’s Park Theatre, this city—as the Colonel in “Sam,” and in the support of his father—he made his theatrical début. In 1879 he went into the Boston Museum stock for three months, leaving Boston with his father on the latter’s engagement in that city. The following season (1880-81) he remained with the elder Sothern, and returned with him to England. John McCoullough there engaged the young man, and he returned to that country to follow his profession. After that season, Edward Sothern played at the Criterion, Standard, Royalty and other houses during the next two seasons. After his mother’s death (1883) he returned to America, and joined his father in Chicago, playing low comedy in “David Garrick” and “Dundreary.” While on tour in 1883, he was forced from his stage work, and again found him in America. In September, he returned to New York City and joined William McCoullough in his Co., playing comedy roles. In the fall of 1884, he played the Policeman in Rice’s “Evangeline,” and for two seasons, 1884-86, he was a star, under Charles Frohman’s management, in “The Highest Bidder.” Since then, his chief successes have been unusually distinguished and worthy. Among these, “As You Like It” and a number of the Daly successes.

Edward H. Sothern was born in New York City April 23, 1863, and married Margaret H. S. Schley, of Long Branch, N. J., as a variety performer. In 1879 he joined James Carney, and for two years the pair were popular in the vaudeville and farce comedy forces, remaining under those managers until the close of the season of 1886-7. His best hit during that period was as Rats in “A Tip with the Tailor.” The season of 1887-8 found him in Rudolph Aronson’s Co. at the Casino, this city, and later on the road under the same management, until the close of the season of 1889-90, which he appeared in Henderson & Farina’s “Chilperic” Co., at the London Avenue, and subsequently traveling through the English provinces. He then joined the Holmes Family for a London season at the Haymarket Theatre, as the comic, in “Miss Ideal.” He then appeared in Henderson & Farina’s “Chilperic” Co., as the London Empire. The season of 1892-3 found him at the New York Stock Exchange, and in the spring of 1893 he returned to this city and joined Hoyt & Thompson Co., which succeeded H. S. Schley’s. He was a star in “A Tip with the Tailor,” which he continued season of 1892-3, turning this season (1892-3) to “A Mad Bargain.”

Edward H. Sothern was born in New York City April 23, 1863, and married Margaret H. S. Schley, of Long Branch, N. J., as a variety performer. In 1879 he joined James Carney, and for two years the pair were popular in the vaudeville and farce comedy forces, remaining under those managers until the close of the season of 1886-7. His best hit during that period was as Rats in “A Tip with the Tailor.” The season of 1887-8 found him in Rudolph Aronson’s Co. at the Casino, this city, and later on the road under the same management, until the close of the season of 1889-10, which he appeared in Henderson & Farina’s “Chilperic” Co., at the London Avenue, and subsequently traveling through the English provinces. He then joined the Holmes Family for a London season at the Haymarket Theatre, as the comic, in “Miss Ideal.” He then appeared in Henderson & Farina’s “Chilperic” Co., as the London Empire. The season of 1892-3 found him at the New York Stock Exchange, and in the spring of 1893 he returned to this city and joined Hoyt & Thompson Co., which succeeded H. S. Schley’s. He was a star in “A Tip with the Tailor,” which he continued season of 1892-3, turning this season (1892-3) to “A Mad Bargain.”
Oppenheimer is a native of Chicago. While he was a student at the University of Illinois, he met and married his first wife, Esther, and in 1930 they moved to New York City. There Oppenheimer became involved in political activities and started to publish articles on physics and philosophy.

In 1933, Oppenheimer was offered a position at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, New Jersey. He accepted the position and moved to Princeton with his parents and his wife. At the Institute, Oppenheimer was able to pursue his research on quantum mechanics and other topics without the distractions of teaching. His work on the foundations of quantum mechanics was highly influential and helped to shape the field.

In 1939, Oppenheimer returned to California to help with the development of the atomic bomb. He was a key figure in the Manhattan Project, and he oversaw the construction of the first atomic bomb. Oppenheimer's role in the development of the bomb was controversial, and he later became involved in the anti-war movement.

In 1949, Oppenheimer was charged with subversion by the House Un-American Activities Committee. He was found guilty of having advocated for the release of political prisoners in China and for opposing the atomic bomb. As a result, his career as a scientist was severely damaged.

Oppenheimer died of a heart attack in 1967. He is remembered as one of the most important physicists of the 20th century, and his contributions to science continue to be studied and discussed today.

THE AMATEUR DEFINITIONS.

National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

One who does not enter in an open competition, or for either a stake, public or admission money, or entrance fee, or compete with or against a professional for any prize; who has never taught, pursued, or assisted in the pursuit of athletic exercises as a means of livelihood, whose membership of any rowing club or athletic club was not brought about, or does not continue, because of any mutual agreement or understanding, expressed or implied, whereby his becoming or continuing a member of such club would be of any pecuniary benefit to him whatever, direct or indirect, and who has never been employed in any occupation involving any use of the oar or paddle; who rows for pleasure or recreation only, and who does not abandon or leave his daily avocation for a period not exceeding two weeks during the rowing season for the purpose of training.

English Amateur Rowing Association.

No person shall be considered an amateur oarsman, sculler or coxswain: 1. Who has ever taken part in any open competition for a stake, money or entrance fee. 2. Who has ever openly or secretly competed with, or against, a professional for any prize. 3. Who has ever taught, pursued or assisted in the practice of athletic exercises of any kind for profit. 4. Who has ever been employed in any occupation involving any use of the oar or paddle, or any mutual agreement or understanding, expressed or implied, whereby his becoming or continuing a member of such club would be of any pecuniary benefit to him whatever, direct or indirect, and who has never been employed in any occupation involving any use of the oar or paddle; who rows for pleasure or recreation only, and who does not abandon or leave his daily avocation for a period not exceeding two weeks during the rowing season for the purpose of training.

The Junior Definition.

A Junior coxswain is one who has never pulled in a senior nor won a junior scull race. A Junior coxswain is one who has never pulled an oar in a senior race nor been a winning coxswain in a junior race. Competitions with members of his own club will not affect the status of a junior of any oarsman or sculler. The qualifications of a Junior coxswain or sculler shall remain for each time of his remaining as a Junior coxswain or sculler.

Amateur Swimming Champions.

The championship, which continued in the following year, revived it in 1883, and held it yearly since till 1888, when the meeting was given under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union. The races are straightaway.

Races for the America Cup.

Where more than two yachts competed in any of these international races, the position at the finish of the vessel of opposing nationality to the winner is given in parentheses, except in races in which she finished second.

Amateur Skating Champions

National Association

The championship meeting was first held in 1885, under the auspices of the New York Athletic Club, and on the grounds of the New York Athletic Club, in New York City. The following year, the National Skating Association was organized, and the championship races have since then been held under the management of that body, in or near the metropolis. According to suitable ice could be found. The fixture for 1886 was a failure, owing to lack of ice.

The performances reported below are omitted from the annual field meetings of the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association, because there were accomplished under either unfair conditions or in an atmosphere of competition, and therefore are not given place in the records of the association.

Remarkable Performances. The performances reported below are omitted from the foregoing best-on-record tables for the reason that they were accomplished exclusively at the annual field meetings of the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association, because there was no competition or atmosphere of competition under which "Athletic Performances."
Spending much of his literary output on articles related to sports, particularly baseball, cricket, and horse racing, the New York Clipper Annual offers an extensive array of sports-related content. The document provides a rich tapestry of events, from local races and races in larger cities, to performances that typify the spirit of competition and athletic endeavor of the time.

OUR ILLUSTRATIONS

SPORTING, BASEBALL, CRICKET.

C. W. DOBSON AND H. W. FENNELL—Among the more effective parts of the Annual are those representing C. W. Dobson and H. W. Fennell, of the Buffalo racing firm, whose work is characterized by its accuracy and completeness, which won the miles championship at the League meet at Washington, D.C., last season, and afterwards carried their horses to the great meetings in the Monomoon City. They rode together in numerous races, and their success is due to the fact that they are considerate competitors, besides which they competed in a number of events for single machines, doing excellent work.

BASEBALL THROWING— Ed. Crane, of A. G. Spalding’s baseball combination, threw a cricket ball 3,395 miles (5,455 kilometers), March 27,1891.

POLE VAULTING— Mr. S. S. Winton, amateur, San Francisco, Cal., set the American record for the pole vault, May 20, 1890.

ICE SKATING— A. L. Lindstrom, of the Minneapolis, Minn., team, set the American record for the double machine at 2m. 26.3s.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

BASEBALL

In 1884, the New York Clipper Annual covered the season extensively. They reported on the achievements of Charles Pearsall, who won 142 matches in the Bible, with a 76.4 percent winning rate, and set several records.

HORSESHOE TURNING

John Campbell turned 200 shoes in 1h., March 22, 1884, and other notable performances were also recorded.

SHOT PUTTING

Charles J. Currie held the American record with a 7ft 6in. (2.99m) throw, July 16, 1891.

DOG RACING

F. Kilsby’s Drake Carter ran 200 yards in 9.7s, Oct. 23, 1891.

HORSE RACING

In a full mile race, John Donnelly and Crooks won in 2h. 4m. 30s., Oct. 22, 1891.

HARNESS RACING

A. H. Bumbaugh, three helpers each, shoes creased in 1s. 10m. 6s., Oct. 21, 1891.

BASEBALL

Theclipper Annual reported on the performance of baseball players such as Ed. Crane, who set a record for throwing a cricket ball.

CRICKET

A. H. Bumbaugh, three helpers each, shoes creased in 1s. 10m. 6s., Oct. 21, 1891.

BASEBALL

The 1884 season saw the emergence of new stars, and the New York Clipper Annual covered them comprehensively, providing readers with a detailed look at the sport's growth and evolution.
race for the championship of Norway. The fastest skaters in Norway participated, including A. D. Nordeng and F. Guldager, and although Hagen fell he won the race. During the Winter of 1882-83 he engaged in his initial professional engagements, when he first did one of his famous round-the-world races, which was one of 9,000 metres, coming off at Christianslia. Hagen winning in 9m. 5s., having the advantage of a strong wind at the beginning of the track. His antagonist was Avas Axel Paulsen, and the race, 9m. 5s., was won by E. W. Allen, with W. C. Downs second. Time, 9m. 5s.

During the Winter of 1883-84, Hagen was in Paris, making his first appearance in France. He won the 1,000 metres race at the Lycee Saint Sulpice, winning the race in 1m. 5s. and beating the second man by nine seconds. During the Winter of 1884-85, Hagen won a 5,000 metres race at Christiania in 9m. 56s., being fi

Later on he won a 5,000 metres race at Christianslia in 9m. 56s. On March 6, 1886, he competed with Alex Paulsen in a five mile race in front of 15,000 spectators, the track was one and one-half miles in circumference. Later on, being in better condition, visited Christianslia and challenged Hagen to another race, which was one of 25,000 metres, coming off at Christiania, Feb. 28, Hagen winning the first in 6m. 41s., and the latter two races being considered as the last of the season, which was one of 16,42s., and the mile in 3m. 46s., the latter two races being considered as the last of the season. The mile was won by the same man, who also won the 16,42s. In 1886-87 he engaged in his initial profession at the Olympic Club, and not long afterwards was matched with the famous Hagen.

In 1888 he defeated John Owen Jr., his clubmate, at one mile by about four feet by Wager Swayne Jr. in the 220yds. run, the latter event equalled, and run 220yds. around a curve in 22s. At the Canadian championships games, same year, he won the 220yds. race second a barn in 22s., and finished so close to Luther Cary in the "hundred" that many thought that he was the winner of the race. He was before the record committee of the A. A. THE NEW YORK CLIPPER ANNUAL.

HARRY M. JEWETT.—No amateur athlete in America is better known than the Western runner whose portrait graces a page of this year's annual. He was born in Omaha, Nebraska, in 1858, and engaged in his initial profession at the Olympic Club. The name of every opportunity afforded him to engage in friendly matches with his fellow members, having become very proficient, he accepted an engagement as instructor to the club. He was the time of the annual New York Clipper Annual, the most celebrated, and his chest measurement is 39

WHAT NEW YORK HAS TO SAY OF "THE FENCING MASTER:"

"The Fencing Master" from beginning to end is a brilliant pageant.—HERALD, Nov. 15.

The curtain was rung down amid storms of applause and a general feeling that "The Fencing Master" was as good, better, and even better again than we had looked for from the successful creator of "Robin Hood."—THE WORLD, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" is a credit to its ingenious and well meaning authors, and the performance is worthy of it and them.—TRIBUNE, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" is a genuine and emphatic success.—TIMES, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" attained a positive degree of success.—THE SUN, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" made a very great success, and there is no doubt of its having a long run at the Casino.—MORNING JOURNAL, Dec. 15.

"The verdict of "The Fencing Master" is one of pronounced success and delight.—RECORDER, Nov. 15.

The packed audience testified their delight in the whole performance.—THE MORNING ADVERTISER, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" is a brilliant success. It is a great go.—THE PRESS, Nov. 15.

"The Fencing Master" is an enormous success. Art and materialism meet upon a common ground and unite in a purpose.—FRANK LESLIE'S WEEKLY, Nov. 19.

The production was thorough in every respect. "The Fencing Master" is an instantaneous success.—DRAMATIC TIMES, Nov. 19.

Melodious and humorous throughout, "The Fencing Master" is great.—MARINE JOURNAL, Nov. 19.

"The Fencing Master" is a go. Yes, and a great go.—SPORT, MUSIC AND DRAMA, Nov. 19.

"The Fencing Master" was so enthusiastically applauded as to thoroughly appreciated as "The Fencing Master."—DIAMATIC NEWS, Nov. 19.

"The Fencing Master" is a worthy successor to "Robin Hood."—NEW YORK CLIPPER, Nov. 19.

A splendid success. A brilliant production, excelling any the Casino has produced since the days of McCall.—CORRESPONDENT CHICAGO TIMES, Nov. 19.

Wholesome, cleanly, bright and cleverly constructed, "The Fencing Master" is a fitting companion to "Robin Hood."—NEW YORK MERCURY, Nov. 20.

Lavish and artistic in detail, good music, abounding in melody and written with the elaboration and finish of an accomplished musician.—BILL Nye, in NEW YORK WORLD, Nov. 20.

"The Fencing Master" is a success—the absolute, unqualified and overwhelming success.—NEW YORK TRIBUNE, Nov. 20.

"The Fencing Master" was so enthusiastically applauded as to thoroughly appreciated as "The Fencing Master."—DIAMATIC TIMES, Nov. 19.

Magnificently cast, superbly staged, "The Fencing Master" will be a success in every city in the United States.—MORNING JOURNAL, Nov. 19.

"The Fencing Master" is a distinct and an overwhelming success.—TUBE, FIELD AND FARM, Nov. 19.

I wish you could have seen the house when it welcomed the dainty Tempest. A more charming vision never burst upon a metropolitan stage. Classed among the financial wonders of the day was the Manager J. M. Hill's production of "The Fencing Master" at the Casino.—Howard's letter to THE BOSTON GLOBE, Nov. 19.

There is not a man in Buffalo who is held in higher esteem than our well known and popular favorite, who is a member of the Buffalo Press Club, a Mason of the thirty-second degree, and also of the Upper of the Mystic Shrine, besides being now the leading German dialect comedian of this country.—SATURDAY TIDINGS, Buffalo, March 12, 1892.

The play is clever, and "Pete" is more than clever.—NEW YORK DAILY NEWS, March 4, 1890.

Pete Baker has been wonderfully successful at Heuck's this week. He is certainly regarded by the playgoers of Cincinnati as the leading German comedian of the day.—CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL GAZETTE.

The handsome face, graceful acting and sweet voice of "Pete" Baker, which have been seen, admired and heard in Chicago time and again, attracted a large house to the Haymarket Theatre.—CHICAGO JOURNAL, Oct. 1, 1889.

Mr. Baker stands at the head of German dialect comedians; his singing is charming, his dancing graceful, and his acting natural.—CINCINNATI ENQUIRER, Feb. 13, 1892.

"Pete" Baker is the best German dialect character comedian on the stage today, and his play, in its class, cannot be surpassed.—KANSAS CITY GLOBE, Nov. 19, 1889.

He stands alone as the leading German dialect comedian in America. There is none more magnetic, more deserving of the success attained, than "Pete."—COMMERCIAL GAZETTE, Cincinnati, Dec. 23, 1891.

Mr. P. F. Baker is one of the best German dialect stars in the country.—THE WORLD, New York, March 4, 1890.

Mr. P. F. Baker, as an actor, singer and dancer, has never been equalled in this city.—NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, Washington, D. C., Nov. 16, 1888.

Formally dedicated to the public on Monday, November 21, 1892, by the great London success (Arthur Law's Comedy Drama), "DARTMOOR," headed by J. H. Gilmour.

This magnificent new temple of Thespis has been erected at a cost of over $100,000. It is, beyond doubt, the handsomest edifice devoted to amusements in Cincinnati, or any other Western city; and the interior is a model of beauty, comfort and harmony. The decorations are elaborate in tone and finish, and the auditorium when lighted up is as bright as a poet's dream.

The stage is a marvel of mechanical perfection, practical in every particular, painted frame, sectional floor, ample height of 74 feet in the clear to the gridiron, 27 feet under the girders, 44 feet in the clear, 72 feet from wall to wall, and an extra scene room in a separate building adjoining.

Dressing rooms and the comfort of the player folk have not been overlooked. Every convenience and elegance, including running water, hot and cold.

IT IS THE SAFEST THEATRE IN THE COUNTRY, and can be emptied in two and a half minutes, having ample means of exits on all sides.

To the enterprise and public spirit of Messrs. TIMOTHY HAYS, President and JOHN SULLIVAN, Secretary and Treasurer, the citizens of Cincinnati are indebted for this truly magnificent family resort. Following is a list of the most prominent aids:
