SALUTATORY.

IT is quite time that New York City should have a newspaper devoted to real estate and building matters. The history of newspapers in the metropolis for the last fifteen years shows that journals established to represent great industrial enterprises have never failed, if properly conducted. The daily press has quite as much as it can do in giving current news; its commercial and trade reports are necessarily brief and imperfect; and hence have been called into existence such journals as the Chronicle, to do justice to financial interests; the Economist, to furnish information to the dry-goods trade; the Shoe and Leather Reporter, Tobacco Leaf, Telegrapher, and other organs, devoted to specialties, which cannot be adequately represented by the daily press.

The Real Estate and Building interests of the metropolis are enormous and widely ramified, and demand vastly more attention than they have heretofore had from the press. It is only recently the prices paid in the transfers of real estate have been published, but the daily papers do not give the names of the buyers and sellers, in which most of the interest centres.

In the RECORD we propose to supply this omission; not only so, but, in addition, we shall also give all the official facts in connection with the great mortgaging interest. This information is, of course, of supreme interest to all who deal in Real Estate.

We also propose to give very great attention to Building Material. So far, the lumber, stone, brick, marble, cement, and other interests connected with the building trade, have been almost wholly overlooked. No city paper gives lumber statistics, or the facts connected with the stone, iron, and brick trades, beyond a carelessly-compiled Price Current. This is good, so far as it goes, but it does not go half far enough. We intend to make this department as near perfection as it is possible to get it. Hence, not only real estate dealers and owners must take this RECORD; it will be indispensable to the architect, builder, mason, carpenter, lumber merchant, brick and marble dealer, cement and lime trader, seller of paint and putty; in short, every one who deals in any thing which enters into the composition of a house.

The RECORD will also be a medium between the buyers and sellers of real property. Now this class of advertisements is divided between the different daily papers, and a purchaser must look through all of them to get what he wants. Hereafter, when a man desires a house, or wishes to sell one, he will naturally do his business through the RECORD. By so doing he will save money, and reach just the class he wishes to deal with.

Heretofore, architects, lumbermen, paint-dealers, brick-sellers, iron-manufacturers, etc., have had no means of reaching the public through any paper of their own; now, however, they have an organ, and they must see to it that it is properly supported.

THE BUILDING SEASON.

EVERYTHING indicates that the gloomy and severe reign of Winter is broken at last, and that a bright and early Spring is already upon us. Simultaneously with this, the black and portentous political clouds which have for months past been hovering over us, paralyzing trade and checking enterprise, if not entirely passed away, have to a great extent lost the terrors which pervaded them. Whatever other interests may be affected and kept in abeyance during the important changes which the country is undergoing, it is pretty certain—from the real nature of things—that building at least must go on, without any material reduction over the efforts of past years, if not with a positive increase. Nothing is more clearly written in the book of Fate than that, to meet the constant increase in our population and resources, we must go on building, and rapidly too, until we have not only covered every square foot of Manhattan Island, but laid tribute the opposite shores of the East and Hudson Rivers for our overflowing numbers. In this view there is no safer or surer investment than in improved real estate, and well our capitalists know it.

One thing should, however, be borne in mind, in order to avoid the errors of many during past years, and that is, that there is a season not only for building but for preparing to build, which it behooves the building proprietor to look after as narrowly as does the agriculturist the proper time for plowing and sowing. Those who have not already wisely prepared their plans, so as to be ready for the commencement of settled and favorable weather, should lose not a day in doing so. It is the habit of many who intend building in the spring to allow the long and dreary winter months—during which their plans should be drawn and matured—to glide away in useless inactivity, and only just a day or two before they wish to actually set their masons and bricklayers at work they come rushing in upon their architects, already overburdened by the engagements of just such loiterers as themselves. Some people seem to imagine that architects have some sort of magic machinery by which they can stamp a set of plans and specifications at a moment's notice; or that they can get all the drawings they need for the grandest building just as readily as having their likeness taken by sunlight at the nearest photographer's. They seem to forget that the plans of even the cheapest building (and the cheaper the building the more thought and trouble it frequently gives the designer, to make ends meet) are a matter of time, deliberate study and calculation, involving an infinity of experiments and changes in form before they come perfected from the architect's hands.

This practice is as short-sighted as it is inconvenient, not only to architects and builders, but to those employing them. By getting plans prepared at so late an hour, the architect, instead of devoting—as he could easily have done during the long unoccupied winter months—all his own time and personal skill in maturing the work of his client, is compelled to hurry it through as best he can by aid of assistants. But there is another and most important feature, and that is, that delay may prove a pecuniary loss to the employer. It cannot be doubted that a contract made during the dull winter months, or at the early commencement of the season, before work has been largely distributed among contractors, would be taken at far more advantageous terms to the proprietor than at later period, when contractors have their ha full with other engagements. We have in eye, at this moment, parties who we kn are going to build this season, but who h not yet even got their plans prepared; de ing from month to month in the vain that labor and material will fall in pric that they can thereby effect a better ba Such parties, we fear, will find them disappointed. Neither labor nor materi likely to fall in price under an increas mand for them; and the contractor wh week or two, will be over head and work, is certainly not going to u work at any less rate than he would h manded a month or two ago, when b was dull and his energies unemploye all those who intend to build this season take this word of advice, and proceed at once to the preparation of their plans and contracts.

ARCHITECTURE AND BUILDING.

It must be evident to every one who has ever thought upon the subject, that there is no country in the world where progress in all the industrial pursuits of life is being made on a more solid, rapid, and extensive scale than our own; and in no one branch of industry is this more apparent than in that of architecture, building, and all their collateral and multitudinous ramifications. Forests are felled, and, in a decade or two, are supplanted by large and wealthy cities, which in the old world would have required whole centuries for their development. Long-established and vast emporiums of commerce like our own, in order to keep pace with the advancing spirit of the age, have to perpetually destroy their old land-marks, pulling down the modest efforts of past and thrifty generations, to supply their places with the costly palaces of wealth and luxury demanded by the present condition. The huge tide of emigration which has, for the last quarter of a century, been steadily flowing from Europe to the shores of this continent, only increases year by year in volume and power; and for every new-comer a home must be provided,—from the palace of the millionaire to the hamlet of the laborer.

It is a very remarkable fact that for interests so vast and diversified as those of the building trade, involving so incalculable an amount of capital and labor, and embracing so large a variety of varied industries, there should be—at the present time—no well-organized and legitimate ORGAN. England has her Builder, her Building News, her Artizan, her Mechanics' Magazine, her Civil Engineer's Journal, and a host of other able publications exclusively devoted to questions connected with this important branch of human industry. But we—with infinitely larger interests of the kind at stake—seem to have been content to leave those interests entirely unrepresented and unprotected by any publication devoted to them.

It is to meet this great desideratum that the "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" now takes the field; with the earnest desire and hope of supplying at least a portion of so great a need. It is not—as our very title will discover—the object of this journal to devote itself exclusively to architecture and building, but we intend to make them prominent and important features; and not so much in the character of a field for æsthetic discussion and illustration of architecture as a Fine Art, but as a nucleus collecting and expounding all such useful, specific, practical and commercial facts as may be considered essential to builders, architects, and real-estate owners, in the pursuit of their various interests and avocations. A regular and reliable record of the current market prices of all building labor and material; notices of impending architectural competitions or building contracts in every part of the country; descriptions of public buildings of magnitude and importance; a record of buildings in progress or contemplated; a record of all new inventions directly or indirectly bearing upon building interests; a publication of all changes or litigated cases that may arise under our Building Laws; miscellaneous, scientific, and practical items, both foreign and domestic, bearing upon building pursuits; these and all kindred subjects that can in any way concentrate useful information for builders and architects, in a way not hitherto open to them, will receive our earnest attention.

It is, we hope, almost needless to remind our readers, that in order to make a new and untried publication like this as useful to them as we propose and wish it to be, much, very much, must depend upon their own hearty will and co-operation. We will laboriously till the soil and plant the good seed, but upon the healthy showers of their patronage and the sunshine of their smiles must largely depend to what extent we shall see that good seed come to fruition. In one important particular our readers can, if they will, be of much service to us and to themselves:—we mean in freely communicating to us whatever of useful or practical information they may possess, and which they think can best subserve the purpose of such an organ. Our columns will be ever open, not for lengthened discussions, but for the publication of whatever can advance the knowledge and protect the interests of our patrons, or afford them facilities in their various pursuits.

ONE PRICE.

TEN CENTS is very cheap for so large and costly a sheet as this is, and we will doubtless be compelled to double the price after the first month. Those who wish the paper will find it to their advantage to send in their subscriptions at once. The low price is merely to insure a large subscription list for the benefit of our advertisers. When that is secured, transient purchasers, after the first month, must pay twenty cents a copy.

WOMEN AS REAL ESTATE OPERATORS.

THE list of real estate transfers and mortgages published in this week's RECORD reveals one very curious fact, which we submit to the consideration of Miss Susan B. Anthony and her confreres of the Revolution. It is the large number of women who buy and sell real estate, as well as give mortgages or loan money on the same. It is now some fifteen years since the Woman's Rights agitation succeeded in making women equal with men before the law in ability to hold and convey real estate; and vast quantities of real property have since then passed into the exclusive possession of women. It will be noticed that a great many of the transactions are between women.

It is very natural that women should wish to own their own homes; and laws [illegible] courage them to do so are a public b[illegible] is not likely that the gentler sex [illegible] take kindly to real estate speculation [illegible] buying property with a view to its enhance[illegible] value in future years. This requires a certain kind of imagination, patience, and foresight, which women do not possess in as marked a degree as men. We say this in fear and trembling, with the terrors of Mrs. E. Cady Stanton and George Francis Train in mind; but we are sure a careful analysis of our lists will show that women deal in houses rather than in unimproved lots. With the temper of American men for trade, it would not be surprising if fifty years from now found the bulk of the real estate, in this State, in the possession of the women. As whoever owns the land possesses what is under it, to the centre of the earth, and all between it and the zenith, it follows that the male sex in time may be as absolutely in the control of the females as the Egyptians were in the power of Pharaoh after Joseph's famous real estate operation.

STAMPS ON DEEDS.

THE World calls attention to the many deeds recorded in which the consideration is put down as "nominal," and urges the Revenue officials to make inquiries, and see if there is not some fraud in these transactions. We doubt if there is intentional fraud, but it is certainly true that there is a good deal of carelessness in affixing stamps corresponding, as required by law, to the amount of the cost of transfer. Lawyers should be more careful, and persons who accept deeds should see to it that the right number of stamps are affixed, as required by law; otherwise the titles are rendered invalid.

SUPERINTENDENT JOHN A. KENNEDY.

A COMMITTEE of Jews are now in Albany, trying to induce the Legislature to pass a law abolishing the office of Superintendent of Police. The object of this proposed enactment is to get Superintendent Kennedy out of office for his recent raid upon the Jewish children during the Purim Festival.

If the story which reaches us is true, the Superintendent is sure of his place for many long years. It is understood that, by the aid of his detectives, he has been enabled to compile a certain mysterious book, which, if it ever saw light, would carry shame and terror into thousands of now happy homes. In this book, it is said, are recorded the private doings of leading officials, legislators, and influential citizens—men who control conventions and appointments, and who are a power in parties and the State.

The story, goes that when an Albany or Washington legislator, or official of any stamp, reaches the metropolis, a detective is immediately put upon his track. All his doings are noted. If he gambles, the sums he lost are put down; if he frequents brothels, the location and date are preserved, and even th[illegible]

ames of the women he consorts with are ecorded. Track is also kept of local dignitaes, and now Kennedy has in his possession cts which give him enormous power over dividual reputations. No matter how much e may be disliked, even by his official superiors, on the hint of his removal, Kennedy, so goes the story, has the power to bring swarms of the most influential citizens to his assistance. As for the Albany people, they come too often to New York, and act so badly when they do come here, that they are completely in Kennedy's power. It is safe to predict that the Jewish gentlemen will make no impression at the State Capital.

LOFTS TO LET.

THE above sign is uncommonly frequent in Broadway just now. Last year neither love nor money could procure a store or loft on that great thoroughfare after the 1st of April; but now at least one-quarter of the stores below Union Square are empty—one-third of them are to let, while nearly half the lofts in the street are in the market, and will probably be empty all summer, if not for the rest of the year. The frequency of this sign of stores and lofts to let on lower Broadway, shows two things: (1) That business has been ruinous for the last two years, and (2) That the best of the retail business is going up town or on the side streets. Time is coming, and is not far off, when Stewart's great store on Tenth Street will mark the lowest boundary of the best retail traffic in the metropolis. Broadway, below Union Square, will be given over to great warehouses and wholesale establishments by the end of ten years at the farthest. Move up town, Messrs. Retailers.

BETTER NEXT TIME.

SEVERAL of our departments are not quite up to the mark this week. Next time we hope to do far better than we have done this week. Our real estate and building material department will be far more complete in our next number than in the present issue. We are not ashamed of this paper by any means; it contains more matter of interest to real estate dealers and owners than was ever got into any one newspaper before, in this country. Our tables are of vital interest to many large classes of merchants and property owners, and after a short time they cannot do without them. Send in your subscriptions.

BOGUS SALES.

THE present great rush to buy real estate is taken advantage of by certain unprincipled dealers to hold bogus sales and establish fictitious prices. We intend to make war upon this nefarious practice, and shall, if necessary, expose the auctioneers and others who lend themselves to this kind of trickery. Beware!

THE HOWARD HOTEL, at the north-east corner of Broadway and Maiden Lane, will be closed on the 1st day of May next, when the entire building will be converted into offices, according to plans prepared by Mr. R. Mook, architect.

MARCH OF IMPROVEMENT.—The elegant dwelling on the north-west corner of Broadway and Tenth street, owned and occupied by the late Peter Lorillard for a period of twenty years as his city residence, has at last given way to the march of improvement. The building has been partially demolished with a view of being converted into a magnificent store. It will be four stories high, have a frontage on Broadway of 53 feet, be 168 feet deep, and have an ell at the rear 50 feet long. The addition to the building will be of the same material as used for the house, viz., dressed freestone. The alterations are in accordance with plans prepared by John B. Snook, architect. The mason work will be done by Mr. John Demarest, the carpenter work by Messrs. Blackstone & Ryerson, and the iron work by George R. Jackson, Burnet & Co. The entire improvement is to be completed by the 1st of August next, when George Sloane & Co., ribbon merchants, now doing business at 593 Broadway, who have leased the entire building, will take possession of the same, for the transaction of their business.

CITY PROPERTY.—Real estate in the city is in great demand, and prices are daily realized which it was supposed would never be reached in our day. At almost every sale which takes place, from 200 to 300 per cent. advance in prices over those brought five years ago is obtained. A feverish anxiety appears to prevail to secure property on the backbone of the city (between the Fourth and Sixth avenues), above as well as below Central Park, say from 14th to 125th street; but the price of every inch of ground on the island is going up, and there is no telling at what point it will stop.

The following figures relative to the sales of building lots, at various points of the city, will convey the best idea of the prices now realized:

Four lots at the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and 39th street, $38,000, averaging $9,500 per lot.

Lots at the corner of Eighth avenue and 82d street have brought at auction about $4,200 each.

Seven lots, south-west corner of Eighth avenue and 116th street (Manhattanville), were sold for $18,000, averaging $2,571 per lot.

The white marble bank building opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, Broadway, on a lot 25x100 feet, has been sold for $126,000.

CITY RENTS.—Many retail dealers have resolved to quit their old stands, in the lower section of the city, where they have been paying heavy rents, and will move up town and pay greatly reduced rates, probably one-quarter their present expenses. This movement has naturally increased the rent of the up-town stores from $1,000 to $2,000 and $2,500, and induced many property owners in the upper wards to convert fine dwellings into fine stores and offices. This will have the effect of reducing the rent of stores down town, and even then they will probably be taken only by strangers, or traders who hope to derive some advantage from the business standing of the previous occupants. As for dwellings, not more than one-fiftieth part of the applicants can be supplied; consequently the people, as a matter of necessity, must move elsewhere, whatever inconvenience they will be occasioned thereby.

THE FUTURE MODEL VILLAGE.—The fut model village of New England, as I see it, sh have for the use of its inhabitants not merely town lyceum hall and a town library, but town laundry, fitted up with conven such as no private house can afford, and p a price to the operators which will enable to command an excellence of work su private families seldom realize. It wil have a town bakery, where the best of f bread, white, brown, and of all grains, sh compounded; and, lastly, a town cook where soup and meats may be bought, for the table. Those of us who have kept abroad remember the ease with which our fo eign establishments were carried on. CAN A CITY BE PLANNED?—That "whatev er is great is not made, but grows," is an axio of the fashionable philosophy that is sometim pressed against those who would anticipate future of great cities, and make provisio their coming wants. Hitherto it has bee quiesced in, only too patiently, by all p London's Cheapside and Piccadilly ar chance perpetuation of country roads; th ing ways of Boston are old cow-paths; of paper ruled into rectangles, without gard to the nature of the ground or the tion of traffic, is the plan of Philadelphia the three lack-thoughts combined have laid out New York.

We are glad to know that this reckless and idle policy is falling out of favor; and that thoughtful men are giving attention, both in Europe and here, to the important problem how to plan and how to build a city so as best to accommodate business and promote health. The recent report of the architects of Prospect Park in Brooklyn, some part of which we extracted last week in our columns, treats some of the questions included in this inquiry with an enlightened foresight. Others of them, and especially those which concern the dwellings of workmen, and the access of families to public amusements and recreations, begin to be carefully discussed in the English papers.

We shall not attempt any more to-day than a partial statement of the nature of the probl In matters of public economy, to start in is to find the solution. Difficulties are fa the way toward removal when they are k to exist. We have always accepted wi question the accidents of city growth as the control of scientific thought; let the clearly see how much evil that is in them be avoided by skill and prudence, an will soon be brought to bear upon them

The leading questions to be studied stated with reference to New York, as Towards what limits must the city gr is, what may be regarded as the form of the plot to be covered by it? How and what portions of this area will be requir for business purposes, for commercial excha ges, for manufactures, for markets and ret trade? What portions will be occupied homes? Where will the rich man's city pal stand? Where will the laborer's family res

So much being known, we may ask w will be the proper direction and length of great streets for conveying heavy goods to a from the markets? and how wide must th be? What avenues of communication needed between the sections for business a those for residence? How shall the latter nected with the great park, and with other althful and pleasant resorts? How should e smaller streets cut the greater, so as at once economize their utility, and to relieve them crowding?

hat is the best model for a street; for the of the surface, the material of the pave- for the sidewalk and the gutters? Ought treets in which families live to be much wi- han the travel in them requires? Is it best ve distinct ways for heavy and for light ve- s? Are rows of shade-trees a benefit to the ic health? and if so, what trees are the t useful and beautiful?

Does it add to the salubrity of a great city have many large, open places in its business rtions, as in Madrid? If so, would it not be ll to widen one or more of the great avenues trade so as to give a handsome promenade in middle, under rows of shade-trees, like the nous "Linden" of Berlin or the Maximilian eet in Munich? Is not the most comforta- form of a shopping street, for the retail de, that in which the sidewalk passes, by an hway, under the houses on either side, as in principal streets of Chester, Strasburg and ne, in Europe?

ught all the money and skill the city can give for "breathing space" be bestowed upon one great "Central Park"; or are a number of parks required in different sections for the good f the whole people? Can any means be de- vised to make such places attractive to those who need them most; and to bring to them ot country visitors, gay youth, and the drivers fine equipages only, but those who are suf- ing from the confinement of garrets and cel- from the close air of shops and factories? is not for one generation, perhaps, to solve ese questions and the many others which v in their train; still less do we propose newal of the city upon any plan which swers might suggest. But the careful f the subject in every aspect will show what errors have entered into our cas- growth; and by shaping each improvement, as it is made, according to the principles thus obtained, and for the gradual correction of such errors, New York will improve in plan still more rapidly than it grows in size; and will greatly hasten the natural work of those un- measured local and political advantages which promise, within a century, to make this the first city of Christendom. MR. PEABODY'S GIFT TO THE POOR OF LONDON.—The Trustees of Mr. Peabody's first gift of £100,000 to the poor of London, report for the year 1867 that the gift has been fully employed; that the sanitary condition of the houses built is excellent; that the deaths in them are much below the average, and due to ordinary causes; that good order, health, and general contentment prevail among the tenants; that the children are clean and happy, and that a beneficial influence is exerted over the working classes. Next year the second gift of £100,000 will be applied. The number of people accommodated in Mr. Peabody's houses is 1,583.

THE works for bringing the water of the Vannes to Paris are about to be immediately commenced. The cost of this undertaking is estimated at 20,000,000 francs.

THE large state quarries of Grand-Carreaux, France, have just been entirely buried by an earth-slip, and three lives lost.

BUILDING MATERIAL.—MARKET REVIEW.

LUMBER.—The opening of navigation will infuse a new spirit into this trade. At present prices are ruling moderately, without much activity. A fair stock is held in the yards and at the principal markets. At Albany, while there is sufficient to meet ordinary demands—after the season permits its transportation—it cannot be said that there is an overplus. A table giving present quotations will be found in another column. They will not vary much until communication with the leading markets is fully opened.

The pine lumber trade promises to be very valuable this season. Last year the amount shipped from the Saginaw valley was about 500,000,000 feet, which probably brought in the market above $7,500,000, while shingles, laths, staves, raised the amount to nearly $10,000,000. From the neighborhood of the Cass river, a branch of the Saginaw, from 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 feet of lumber will be drawn this year. Probably ten per cent. more pine will be brought from the Saginaw district this year. Supply from Canada will probably be increased in an equal proportion. This increase is to be attributed to the erection of new mills, the facilities which the late snows afforded for drawing, and the assistance the heavy freshets have given in aiding the transit of the lumber to the market. The importance of the Saginaw valley trade will be apparent from a consideration of the following figures: There are eighty-two mills engaged in the trade. Their capacity is 826,200,099 feet. The manufactured lumber 5,422,573,290 feet; the unsold lumber on dock amounts to 50,294,629 feet; the logs in boom, 17,304,695 feet; the manufactured laths, 58,870,875. The capital invested amounts to $3,437,590. The business on the Bay shore is undoubtedly promising. In 1867 the quantity of lumber cut was 84,979,772 feet. The quantity on dock unsold was 8,979,772. The laths cut were 22,389,800. The returns of the Custom House at East Saginaw and Bay City show that 353,001,930 feet of pine lumber, 12,000 feet of walnut, 798,720 of oak timber, 9,340 pieces of oak timber, 44,175,591 pieces of lath, shingles 44,350,000, staves 5,206,472, shooks (bundles) 10,468, hoops 1,330,000, were shipped from the Saginaw valley. It is calculated that in eighteen years the entire supply of pine lumber in the Saginaw valley will be exhausted.

The quantity of black walnut shipped by way of Toledo last year to various ports was about 48,000,000 feet. Probably 30,000,000 or 35,000,000 feet will pass through Toledo this year. A quantity of bad wood was, however, forced on the market this year. The market will not exhibit much variation from the prices of last year.

There were shipped from the Saginaw region between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 staves. The total number manufactured in Northern Michigan was 9,816,725, of which 8,209,659 were shipped.

In Saginaw last year thirty mills turned out 90,953,000 shingles, and six mills on the Bay shore manufactured above 23,000,000. The shipments were 84,500,000.

FANCY WOODS.—There is a sufficient stock in the market to support a moderate demand. The prospects of an increased business this season are fair. We quote St. Domingo Mahogany, crotches, at 25 @ 50c. per foot; Mexican, 11 @ 20c. Rio Janeiro Rosewood ranges from 5 @ 8c.; Bahia, 2½ @ 6c. Satin Wood (log) we quote at 17 @ 30c.; Mansanilla Cedar, 8 @ 10c.; Mexican, 10 @ 14c.; Florida, 50c. @ $1.50.

SLATE.—The supply of Roofing Slate on hand is not large, but there are indications that there will be a brisk demand for it on the opening of navigation. The prices will then probably range higher than our present quotations. There is an increased demand for floor-tiling slate, as a mixture of purple slate and white marble makes a very handsome floor for halls, restaurants, and public buildings. A new use of slate in building is for stationary wash-tubs and sinks, for which it is well suited.

GLASS.—In another column will be found the list of prices per box of fifty feet lately agreed on by the dealers in English and French Glass. The discount to the trade is 40 per cent. on French Glass, and from 35 to 40 per cent. on English. There is the usual spring demand.

HAIR.—There is a full stock in the market. Cattle's hair is quoted at 10c. ℔ lb.

LIME.—The demand for lime will shortly increase, owing to the renewed activity in building. It is quoted at present at $1.50 ℔ bbl. for common, and $2.00 for finishing.

CEMENT.—Quotations at present nominal, at $1.75 for American. The opening of navigation will produce considerable effect on this branch of trade.

PAINTS AND OIL.—White lead and linseed oil are in good request, and likely to be higher. An active demand for all kinds of painting materials has set in with the moderate weather. The stocks are not large. Some grades of dry paints will be scarce.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" is published every Saturday at No. 37 Park Row, Room 31. It furnishes the following information:

1. All the Real Estate Conveyances during the week in New York and Kings Counties, with the names of buyer and seller.

2. All the Mortgages entered for the same period in New York and vicinity.

3. The Judgments entered in the two counties against delinquent or unfortunate debtors.

4. A list of the recent bankrupts throughout the United States.

5. Full information respecting the local real estate market.

6. A complete and accurate report of the market for building materials.

With one exception (real estate) all the above are new features in the newspaper business. It is a singular fact that so far the great building interest of the nation has been so inadequately represented in the periodical press. This Record, therefore, is indispensable to the following occupations:

Architects,	Lumber Dealers,
Auctioneers,	Lime Dealers,
Builders,	Merchants,
Brick Makers and Dealers,	Metal Workers,
Bankers,	Marble Dealers,
Bill Brokers.	Paint Merchants,
Contractors,	Plumbers,
Cement Dealers,	Planing Mills,
Glue Dealers,	Plaster of Paris,
Hardware for Houses,	Real Estate Owners,
Hair,	Slate Dealers,
Insurance Interest,	Window Glass Dealers,

and a large number of kindred occupations. General advertisers will see the value of the RECORD as a business medium.

C. W. SWEET & CO.

WE are happy to say that the RECORD has proved quite a hit, not only in real estate and building circles, but among business men generally. It is conceded to be a neat, handsome sheet, and full of valuable, nay, of indispensable matter to the classes it especially addresses. It fills a niche not occupied by any other business paper, and affords an organ for trades which heretofore have not been able to use printers' ink in their business.

We shall be happy to act upon any suggestions made to us by our business friends. If there is any department that can be added to or extended for the benefit of special trades, let us know, and we shall spare neither money nor pains to perfect it.

We have done better this week than we did last, and expect to improve still more next week. Already we realize the necessity for more space.

OPENING OF THE BUILDING SEASON.

As the frost oozes from the stiffened earth, rendering excavation possible, everyone interested in building seems to arise from a condition of hybernation, and, ceasing to suck their thumbs, assume a natural briskness. Pat, with his pick and spade, commences the work for the foundation, boring large holes with the rapidity of an army of moles, and creating an atmosphere of dust irritating and often impregnable. The stone mason is just at his heels, and piles up his foundation so rapidly that it tometimes seems as though the substructure was completed ere the spade had finished its work. Then down go the beams for the first floor; a day or two of bustling hod-carriers ensue, and away toward the clouds is heard the singing clang of the mason's trowel as he creeps skyward at the rate of a brick at a time. Hurry, hurry is the word—no time to be lost. Other jobs on hand. Everybody is rushed, for the season for building has arrived, and is bur limited. This leads to a review of what is to be done this year in the matter of house-building, so far as statistics have been gathered up to the present time. At the office of the Superintendent of Buildings, there have been received from various architects 182 plans, representing 353 houses, some of the plans being for as many as six separate buildings. Of these, eighteen have been rejected for non-compliance with the buildings laws, the chief cause being an insufficient strength of walls. These plans represented twenty-four buildings, which leave the number to be erected 329. This includes all classes of buildings, as follows: of first-class buildings 41, 2d do. 54, 3d do., or tenement houses, 13; first-class stores, 7, 2d do. 4, 3d do. 4; school-houses, 4; churches, 2; public buildings, 20, and factories, 28; stables, 18. For comparison we publish also the plans submitted and approved for the same term last year. Total number 192, comprising of first-class dwellings 20, 2d do. 37, 3d do., or tenement houses, 96; first-class stores, 14; 2d do. 5, 3d do. 6; factories, 37; school-houses, 3; stables, 21.

It will be seen that in the aggregate of plans the number this year falls short of the figures of last year, and that there seems a general indisposition to invest in a better class of houses. Last year, up to March 26, plans had been submitted for 96 tenement houses, and 20 first-class dwellings; this year the figures stand, of the former, 13; of the other, 40; in the erection of second-class dwellings, intended for more than one family, the increase is quite as notable. But a sad falling off is noticeable in the matter of factories and workshops, which is another proof of the deplorable stagnation existing in that branch of industry. The erection of workshops should never fall off; our population increases incessantly, enhancing the demand; and only an unhealthy condition of circumstances can tend to weaken the domestic source of supply.

Another feature worthy of notice is, that notwithstanding the great inducements offered to builders on the West side of the city, and the impetus given to move in the direction of the new Boulevard, the great majority of the buildings contemplated, will be erected on the East side, the 19th Ward seeming to be the chosen locality. This may be readily accounted for on the theory that people do not care to pay two or three or ten times as much for a plot of ground as for the house they erect upon it. The demand for small, one-family, moderate-priced houses is almost universal, and such can not be erected on the West side of the city and insure anything like a respectable return on an investment. Hence it is that while few very costly houses are built on the East side of the city, still fewer moderate priced houses are built on the West side. It appears almost an impossibility to give any data respecting an average price for erecting buildings, as the cost of the house seems altogether contingent on the price of the lot wheron it is put. We give however a list of some of the various classes to be erected in different localities, and which may partly subserve the purpose:

First-class stores. Thomas st., near Church st. Owned by Luke Otten, to cost $15,000.

William st., near Ann st.; Mrs. Thomas' estate. Dimensions, 28.4x24x103, to cost $24,000.

48 Franklin st., 25.10x100. John C. Buttre, $35,000.

319 Pearl st., 23.6x100. W. W. Thayer, $9,500.

50 & 52 Franklin st., 49.4x100. Five story warehouse, William Watson, $65,000.

42 Frankfort st., 25x107.3. John Brooks, $30,000.

80, 82 & 84 Bowery, 25x100. Store, factory, etc., Wm. Sheave, $20,000.

First-class dwellings. A house on 155th st., near 10th av., is to cost $3,000. No. 207 7th av., $3,500. Lexington av. and 49th st., two houses, 51.6x78x22.5x51.6, to cost $25,000; built for H. Brunges. In 54th st., near Madison av., Mr. D. W. Berkley will build a house

22.6x100.5, to cost $35,000. 46th st., near Lexington av., J. C. Donnelly puts up a 16.8x 100.5, to cost $13,000. Madison av., near 84th st., 22x79. John Weber, $18,000. 60th st., west of and near Lexington av., 20x100. John Glass, $26,000.

Factories. In Sheriff st., near Grand, the Messrs. R. Hoe & Co. will erect a factory 125x 100, at a cost of $50,000.

Public buildings. One of the two houses of this class in the list above is to be built as an office for the Commission of Charities and Correction at the corner of 11th st. and 3rd av., on a lot 78x100; house to be 78x53 and two stories high. A stable 30x53 to be built on the rear of the lot.

Churches. Of the churches to be erected one will be in 42nd st., between 8th and 9th avs.; will be 100x100, to be known as the Church of the Holy Cross, and to cost $90,000.

The other goes up in 37th st., West of Broadway, to be 75x100, and built of stone.

One more little item which will probably be received with pleasure. The prospects at present are, that Broadway, which for years past has proved little better than no thoroughfare, will be open for this season, insuring a pleasant stroll without danger of falling bricks, or suffocating eddies of pulverized mortar and lime—in other words few improvements are projected.

BUT little over a month since a gentleman bought two blocks of the Talman estate, on the west side of the Central Park, for $200,000; last Wednesday he sold one of the blocks, that bounded by 10th and 11th avenues, and between 66th and 67th streets, for $172,000. The purchaser was Mr. Wm. Bloodgood. This shows the enormous and rapid advance of West side property.

STEAM ROADS IN NEW YORK.

THE Senate Committee, with the unanimous consent of the Senate, have reported adversely to all the steam transit roads, with the exception of the Arcade and Central Tunnel; these two roads will probably be combined, and unless they are smothered by weight of opposing capital, the line of their route will soon ring with the busy notes of preparation. The Arcade plan, which is to be a four-track road (two tracks outside for way, and two inside for through passengers), will traverse the whole extent of the west side of Broadway, (under ground) to Union Square, turning to the left and continuing on past the west side of the Central Park, terminating at the Harlem river. The Central Tunnel plan commences on the easterly side of Broadway in City Hall Park, crossing in front of the old City Hall, then on through the easterly part of the city, finally connecting at the Harlem bridge at the termination of the Third avenue. The incorporators bind themselves to build and complete the work within two years or forfeit severally the sum of $300,000, which amount they are required to deposit with the State Comptroller; so far—so good. Now, if all the incorporators of the companies that have been thrown out, form a combination of their several schemes, and agree upon a general plan for a belt-road, underground or elevated, as the exigences of the case may require, with cross-town branches to all the principal ferries, they may yet be successful. The combined capital of the whole can be much more profitably employed, and the whole thing will work more harmoniously than if it were done by piecemeal. Let them do this, and let them do it this time without the doubtful aid of rings, cliques, or lobby-agents; they can, if they will.

Each and every railroad bill that has been before the Senate this session deserved to be defeated; not for their own demerits, but for the corruption which they carried with them. The combination of the Arcade and Central Tunnel routes is good enough, but the public, like Oliver Twist, "still cry for more." There may be a few capitalists and owners of real estate down-town, who will object; but let them consider the myriads that live north, east, and west of them, who will be benefited by it. The increased value of real estate uptown alone will more than pay the cost of the roads in one single year; they (the roads) will all pay from the start, and the public will be generally benefited by them.

A QUESTION OF TASTE.

SEVERAL very good friends, whose opinion we value, have doubted the propriety of our publication of the mortgage and judgment lists. They argue that although there are public records, and as such accessible to any one who wishes to see them, yet as they represent private transactions they should not be printed, especially as they may affect the personal credit of worthy men.

To which we answer:

1. That as these lists are a public record, made so by express law, and very wisely, as we think, we have a clear legal right to put them in print for public information.

2. Not only have we a legal right to give this information; we have a moral right also, as the publication is clearly in the interests of public morality and sound trade. People whose property is heavily mortgaged, or who cannot or will not pay their just debts, should not stand upon the same footing with dealers whose real estate is not encumbered, and who are in every way solvent. Poverty is no crime, and misfortune is sincerely to be pitied and alleviated, but the poor and insolvent should not be asking for credit and imperilling other people's property after having lost their own.

3. These publications are far less objectionable than those of the Mercantile Agencies. These last pry into purely private affairs for the purpose of retailing the information to New York merchants for a consideration. Undoubtedly they are the means of doing a vast deal of good, by preventing insolvent dealers from obtaining credit they would be sure to misuse. It is in the interests of trade to have the exact status of every would-be merchant known, and this is why these lists of judgments and mortgages are conducive to public morality.

REAL ESTATE SALES IN NEW YORK CITY.

WE give below the aggregates of the official transfers of real estate in New York City, from Jan 1, 1868, to March 25, inclusive. It will be seen that there has been a steady increase, and that the sum total represents over thirty million dollars. It should be borne in mind, however, that this is somewhat less than the actual amount of money that has changed hands, as there is a reprehensible practice in vogue of recording conveyances for "nominal" considerations. It should also be remembered that the dates given do not correspond with actual sales during that week, as the record of the transactions is often weeks after the closing of the sale. Then, again, property often changes owners several times before being recorded. We have no doubt the actual sales for the first three months of this year will foot up $50,000,000. The highest record for any one day was about $1,500,000.

SUBURBAN property is in very active demand. Scores of people are looking up permanent homes in Elizabeth, Newark, Orange, as well as in Kings and Westchester counties. New York is stretching out its hands in every direction. These movements of our population over the two rivers will not close until one of the many projected steam roads is built to the upper end of New York Island. When that is done we may expect the rapid growth of the opposite shores to be checked for a time, while the Island above Fifty-ninth street will be built up as if by magic. A steam underground road to the Central Park, with a branch on each side of the Park to the Harlem River, would add 100,000 people to our population in a year. Let us have a steam road this season by all means.

AMONG the many who have made fortunes by the recent active movements and rise in the price of real estate in this city and vicinity is Mr. W. Jenning Demorest, husband of the famous modiste, Madame Demorest. Mr. Demorest has long been known as an energetic and successful publisher, but some sixteen months since he became interested in property on the west side of Central Park. So successful was he, that he extended his operations, and has not only realized a handsome competence, but bids fair to become the greatest real estate operator in the metropolis.

schemes embrace not only New York, but gs County and the Jersey shore. The old estate operators had better look out; Mr. emorest is a Geo. Francis Train in energy, Daniel Drew in astuteness and pertinacity, nd a Cornelius Vanderbilt in the mingled prudence, audacity, and wise economy which distinguishes that great operator.

NEW CENTRAL EAST SIDE THOROUGHFARE.—The great question of relieving Broadway, nd the lower part of the city, by means of nother main thoroughfare on the east side, s again agitating the public mind. Two of our ontempararies have taken up the theme. One dvances the theory, that a direct connection n be made with the Third avenue, by extending Centre street northwardly to Fourth street out one-third of a mile, through a region ere it would not interfere with any important uilding, and bending at Fourth street into a escent or quadrant, to meet the Third or ourth avenues, at their junction, and by widening Centre street at the lower end, by moving e Park railings back a few feet, at the Register's office.

The other contends that Elm street is preferable, on account of being located upon higher ound, claiming that it thereby affords better cilities for drainage, and a more solid foundation for building, and consequently proposes o convert Elm street into a main thoroughfare, cutting through one block between Reade nd Chambers streets, and through the Park, est of the new Court House, and between City all and the Hall of Records in Park Row, idening and extending Elm street northward, lso Marion street, and then cutting through cross Jersey street into Mulberry, then through n the line of Mulberry from Bleecker to Lafayette place, emerging from the latter to Astor ace and Fourth avenue. A simple examination of a map of the city, and a careful consideration of the value of the land to be acquired and the property to be demolished, the olidity of the ground and the capabilities of rainage, and that which is of more importance han all the rest, the direct continuity and horoughness of the route, will unquestionably tamp the Centre street route as the most feaible, practicable, economical, and desirable oute of the two. Broadway must be relieved f those vehicles that carry the produce from he markets, the merchandise from the wholeale houses down town, and the materials for anufacturing and building purposes, which re daily required for the denizens of that poulous and busy region which lies north of the ooper Union. That route, therefore, which is ost thorough and direct in its connection with he Third and Fourth avenues is plainly the est. The statement of our contemporary who avors the Elm street route, that the ground is o low in some parts of Centre street for rainage and good foundations, is evidently a istake, as there are some very heavy buildings eady erected on the lowest part, for instance he Toombs, the New Haven Railroad depot, arle's Hotel, and many others. The Elm street oute would be good, if there was no other etween it and Chatham street; but as it is, here is simply this difference: a direct central horoughfare can be made through Centre street to the Third and Fourth avenues; through Elm street it is impossible. The public want a thoroughfare.

WIDE VS. NARROW STREETS.—The World, in discussing the desirability of wide streets for business purposes, puts forth some very curious facts, and proves, by examples, that the most prosperous business streets for retail trade are the narrowest, and that the most convenient streets for wholesale trade are also narrow. Now it must be borne in mind, that the streets are made for traffic as well as business.

The retail merchant chooses a narrow thoroughfare because he knows that the passer-by, no matter on which side of the street he may be, can easily see the articles which he has exposed for sale, or, in his own words, he has a better opportunity for "catch custom." The wholesale merchant chooses a narrow bye street (always near a main thoroughfare) because he knows there will be less interruption to the loading and unloading of goods by passing vehicles, and because the rent of buildings on narrow by-streets is lower. But you will never catch his carman (with a load on) travelling through a narrow street if there is a wide one on the line of his route; thereby proving that the wide streets are the favorites for traffic, and the narrow for business purposes.

It is generally the case in every modern city, that at least one main thoroughfare, and that the widest, is used by the fashionable portion of the community, for a promenade; hence the prosperity of the retail stores on Broadway; and an inquiry will prove that they are almost entirely patronized by that class.

The streets in the old European cities that have not been remodeled are, in a majority of instances, very narrow. In London, for instance, (in the city proper), there are still many narrow streets, some of them not more than fifteen feet wide, but they are all side streets; the main streets, such as High Holborn, Fleet street, St. Martins, Le Grande, Bishopsgate street, and several others, were (as far back as the year 1616) comparatively wide. Most of the German cities present the same facts. Old Rome itself, and if the plans of the ruined cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum can be taken as proof, they too, had wide main thorougfares and narrow by-streets; but they exhibit more regularity of plan.

In Asiatic cities, such as Stamboul, Beirut, and Damascus, the streets are so narrow that the occupant of a bazaar on one side of the street can light the pipe of his neighbor across the way; but still, even there, the streets where the caravans arrive and depart are much wider than all the rest, and it must be understood that they have very few vehicles.

The strees in India are much wider; in Delhi there is a main causeway about sixty feet wide, and all the other streets are, as a general thing, wide enough for three elephants to traverse side by side.

The principal cities of China have some wide streets, (especially Pekin), also some very narrow ones. But the widest (old) streets in the world will be found around the ancient halls of the Montezumas.

It appears, therefore, very plain and apparent, that the main thoroughfares of every city should be reasonably wide; business streets may be narrow, if they are thoroughly drained and kept clean.

EAST RIVER BRIDGE.—The subject of a bridge across the East River is again being discussed by the committee of the Common Council of the city of Brooklyn. At a meeting on Saturday, the 21st inst., Mr. McCue, the Corporation Counsel, who is also Secretary of the Bridge Company's Finance Committee, stated that the directors were ready to subscribe one million dollars, and other capitalists stood ready to advance four million dollars on the bonds of the company, when the city shall have expended three millions, and the company one million, on the work, also that parties stood ready to contract, giving good security, for the building of the bridge within five years. He also advocated making the bridge toll-free for foot passengers. This looks like business, but the city authorities seem disposed to delay the matter. There is no reason for delay. The project has been thoroughly discussed, and the plan pronounced by competent engineers to be practicable; and there can be no doubt of its success.

A NEW map of the upper part of the city has just been issued by Hamilton E. Towle, C. M. and M. Engineer and City Surveyor, No. 78 Cedar street. It beautifully delineates the whole of the upper part of the city of New York, from Fifty-seventh street to King's Bridge, showing the west-side improvements, with dimensions, elevations of grade and distance. It is very complete, thoroughly accurate and minute in its details, and very delicately and artistically finished, and reflects great credit upon the author. The price is $5.00.

REAL ESTATE.—Considerable excitement and activity have prevailed amongst operators in real estate during the past week. A very large proportion of them having manifested the utmost anxiety to secure lots around the Central Park and along the line of the new Boulevard proposed to be laid out by the Central Park Commissioners from the south-west corner of Central Park to the upper end of Manhattan Island. A similar spirit of speculation has also been manifested in the neighborhood of Prospect Park, Brooklyn. Such extraordinary high prices have been realized for eligible building sites, that it seems incredible that any speculators can expect to make money out of their operations; nevertheless they may thoroughly understand what they are about, and real estate may continue to go up, up!

Mr. Frank Queen, publisher of the Clipper, has purchased a building and lot at the corner of Centre and Leonard streets (formerly belonging to the Lorillard estate), for $36,000. It is stated that Mr. Queen intends erecting on the site a fine building, at a cost of about $60,000. Two lots in 63d street, near Madison avenue, each 25 by 100 feet, have been purchased by Mr. A. F. Holly for $4,850 each. A lot on the corner of Seventh avenue and 53d street was also purchased by Mr. Holly for $7,050. The same gentleman purchased another lot in 53d street, 150 feet west of Sixth avenue, for $3,100. Mr. T. Van Zandt purchased a lot in 86th street, 168 feet west of Avenue B, for $1,200.

EAST RIVER TUNNEL.—The bill for a tunnel across the East River has been defeated in the Senate. Good! let us have the bridge first. A tunnel is useless, except as a connecting link with an underground railroad; when we get an underground railroad we will talk about the tunnel.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?—Peter Cooper, as Chairman of the Citizens' Association, complains, upon the representation of several architects, of the building law, and states that it is oppressive, especially in enforcing the unnecessary (as he thinks) application of iron shutters to buildings of a certain class, and objects to the system of presenting plans to the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and to the stamping thereof, and after charging the Inspectors with neglect of duty, pitches into the clerks of the office for making mistakes; he then states that the discretionary power vested in the Superintendent is too extensive, and not only burdens him (the Superintendent) with a heavy duty, but gives a great deal of dissatisfaction to those who are subject to it; and finishes up with the remark, that he has some more complaints to make, but the Association will not allude to them at present. How is it, gentlemen?

FIFTH WARD MUSEUM HOTEL.—The building long known as Riley's Museum Hotel, at the south-west corner of West Broadway and Franklin street, and considered one of the most noted landmarks of the city, may now be numbered amongst the things that were; Mr. John Kerr having purchased the property, with a view of erecting on the site three fine stores. Mr. Thomas Riley first established a drinking saloon there in 1826, and subsequently added a restaurant. In 1835 Mr. Riley enlarged the premises, including a large hall in which politicians of every shade have assembled and advanced their respective views on the affairs of the State and Nation. Mr. Riley collected together many objects of interest, comprising specimens of natural history, Revolutionary relics, gold, silver and copper coins of every description, etc., and displayed them to advantage in cases provided for them in his bar-room, and thus attracted thousands of strangers to see his curiosity shop and patronize his bar.

Y. M. CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION. — Several buildings at the Southwest corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-third street have been demolished, preparatory to the erection of the new hall designed for the Young Men's Christian Association, which will be built of free stone and Nova Scotia stone, five stories high and basement. It will have a front of about 80 feet on Fourth avenue, and 175 on Twenty-third street. It is understood that the ground floor will be fitted up for fine stores, and the upper floors for rooms and hall of the Association, offices, etc. It is expected that the new building will cost about $400,000. The ground cost $75,000; and $125,000 was offered for it immediately after it was purchased.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO.'S NEW BUILDING, now in the course of erection on Broadway, Leonard street, and Catherine Lane, on the site formerly occupied by the Society Library, then by the Appletons, and lastly by Chittenden & Co. and others, will be an immense structure; three stories under ground, and four above the street surface. The building will be 60 feet wide on Broadway and 71 feet wide in the rear. It will be 196 feet deep on the Leonard street side and 197 feet 3 inches deep on the Catherine Lane side. The Broadfront will be of White marble. The basement walls are four feet thick, of stone, lined with brick. The front porch will rest on piers 13 feet by 8. The entire building will be constructed in the most substantial manner and fire-proof. The plans were prepared by Griffin Thomas, Esq., architect; the mason work is being done by John T. Conover; the carpenter work will be done by Thos. Gardiner, Jr.; and the iron work by the Messrs. Cornell.

THE tenders for the general formation of the new park at Sefton, Liverpool, ranged from a little below £75,000 to £85,000. The lowest of eleven was accepted by the municipal authorities. The work will be pushed forward with great vigor.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

A LEADING dry-goods house of this city has purchased the Moffat Mansion, formerly occupied as the seat of Mahoney's government, and the firm has rented it as a fashionable boarding-house. The same firm has purchased the entire front on Broadway, between Eighteenth and Ninteenth streets, and will commence the erection of a marble dry-goods store, extending the entire length of the block now occupied by two-story frame and brick houses of mean appearance.

The house carpenters of the Eastern District of Brooklyn have resolved to demand, on and after the first Monday in April, $3.75 per day, and to quit work on Saturdays at 4 o'clock.

THE "GROSVENOR MANSIONS," just erec in Victoria Street, London, on the estate of t Marquis of Westminster, is a splendid block residences on the Parisian plan, laid out flats, and each flat containing all the requi ments of a separate house, but entirely sep ated. These buildings, from the skill of th planning, are altogether different from what known as the "Tenement House" among u being, in European cities, occupied by famil of the highest distinction, even nobles, a arranged with the utmost luxury and conven ence. Some of these flats in the Grosven Mansions rent for over £300. No great city the world is so deficient in residences for pe ple of moderate means as New York; and it therefore strange that, with so many exampl before us of what is done successfully in Eur pean cities (for such buildings are demande faster than they can be built), our builders a capitalists have not yet been able to meet imperative a demand.

A NEW system of paving footpaths has bee tried in Paris on the Boulevard de la Chapell where iron frames, measuring three feet squar have been laid, into which, by means of hole bored in the frame, are encased blocks of pop lar, forming a capital pavement, poplar having been selected instead of oak. The latter wood, from its non-absorbing qualities, was found o jectionable. The system presents a pleasi appearance, and looks well. On each side the footpaths are small conduits, by whi rain water is drained off to the side sewer.

BUILDING in "Concrete" is just now making a great stir among the builders and architect of England. At a recent meeting of the Archi tectual Association, expressly to discuss th subject, Mr. Tall, who has lately patented a new process, made some startling assertions He said that in any clay country, with brick even as low as 20s. per 1,000, he could build co crete houses at half the expense of bricks. I on the other hand, there was no clay, bu gravel, stone chippings, clinkers, or anythin of that sort, he would undertake to crush th stuff and use it up with the concrete at much less cost than brick work.

A REPORT of the Committee on Street Pavements, in favor of paving 124th street, from First to Fourth avenue, with the "Fiske concrete pavement," is in the hands of the Mayor. The Committee recommend the pavement as being hard, smooth, and durable as stone pavement, and yet easy for horses. The outside cost they recommend is $2.60 per square yard. The Mayor holds the report for one week, to allow of petitions and opinions in the matter.

A CORPS of Civil Engineers have been busily engaged of late in surveying a route for a railroad between Freehold and Squankum.

WHEATON College, Illinois, asks $50,000 to erect a new College building. It is designed to erect a four-story building, with a front of 235 feet. The wings are to contain laboratories, a cabinet, gymnasium, dormitories, and a domestic hall. The centre building is to contain a chapel for religious exercises, and rooms for lectures and recitations.

MORE men are out of employment in New Albany, Indiana, at the present than at any time since 1861, when the breaking out of the rebellion so prostrated business. Not a single contract has yet been made by the ship-carpenters for building steamboats the coming season.

THE Delaware and Raritan Canal will be opened for navigation on Monday, the 23d inst.

PROPOSALS for the erection of a new female grammar primary school were opened on Monday, the 16th, by the 16th Ward Common School Trustees. Thirty-one proposals were received for the different branches of work required. The contracts, subject to the approval of the Board of Education, were awarded to Peter J. Vanderbilt, mason and carpenter, $31,213. Painting, John Bennett, $1,375. The school is to accommodate 2,500 scholars, and to be ready for occupancy by May 1st.

THE large rubber mill of the Lambertville Manufacturing Company, New Jersey, was burned on the 13th inst., with nearly all the machinery. The loss is estimated at about $40,000, upon which there was a pretty large insurance.

AT Charlestown Navy Yard 500 workmen have been discharged.

A PASSENGER train passed over the new Delaware and Lehigh iron bridge at Easton, Penn., on Saturday, 14th. The Lehigh and Susquehanna Railroad is complete.

THE workmen at the New York Central R.R. workshops at West Albany struck on Saturday, the 14th, for increased wages. The strike is reported to become general both on this and the Hudson River R. R.

THE President of the Central Pacific R. R. denies that that road has purchased the San Jose and other roads.

THE Camden and Amboy Company are stated to have bought the Raritan and Delaware Bay railroad.

THE Cleveland and Toledo Railroad bridge across the Maumee river at Toledo, Ohio, which was recently endangered by an ice gorge, is now all right, and the trains are running as usual.

THE Hannibal & St. Joseph, Mo., Railroad Company sold 164,000 acres of land during the month of February.

THE Board of Directors of the Toledo Peoria & Warsaw Railroad have decided to extend the road from La Harpe Station to Burlington, Iowa.

ST. PATRICK'S Roman Catholic Cathedral, on Mulberry street, was dedicated on Tuesday morning with very grand and inspiring solemnities. The most Reverend Archbishop John McCloskey officiated, assisted by a large body of the most distinguished Roman Catholic Clergy.

A POST-OFFICE Savings Bank is soon to be established at Ottawa, Canada.

THE Quidnick, R. I. strikers have resumed work at the old prices.

THE Springfield Republican says:

"Prominent North Andover manufacturers contemplate building a magnificent hotel for summer tourists on the borders of Silver Lake in that town. If they do it, the next thing in order will be to put a steamer on the lake, which has a one thousand acre surface, and then there will be a fashionable watering-place."

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

THE Real Estate market has been very lively and animated during the past week; the attendance at the several salesrooms being unusually large. Some very notable sales have been effected, amongst them the property on the north-side of Twelfth street, belonging to the Arden estate, which was sold for $40,000; another piece, No. 347 Marion street, north-side, brought $20,000; and another, situated on the corner of Fourth and Charles streets, brought $40,000; two lots on the east-side of One hundred and Seventeenth street were sold foe $2,000 each, and were not full lots at that. An examination of our corrected list of sales will show conclusively that every description of real estate is steadily advancing in value. Upown property seems to be eagerly sought by operators. In Brooklyn the sales have been very heavy—over one thousand Prospect Park lots having changed hands, besides, a long list of others. Some of the most notable is the Union Hotel property situated on Atlantic street, near South ferry, which brought $15,950; the lot is 20 by 40. From present appearances there is no doubt the sales of real estate will be very extensive this season. There is great inquiry for small suburban houses. The property in New York and Brooklyn that has changed hands since the first of January amounts to the enormous sum of $20,000,000.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICK.—As the Spring advances and the frost gradually disappears, builders are resuming active operations. The natural result is, the brick trade, which has been comparatively dull for a few months past, receives a fresh impetus, and at the present writing dealers are unable to fill the constantly increasing orders, having little or no stock on hand. The receipts of late have pretty much all come from the Long Island or New Jersey yards, and being scarcely equal to the current demand, the quantity of brick now here is very small. Under this state of affairs sellers, of course, have a great many advantages; prices for the moment ruling quite strong, and, in fact, we hear of a few parties anxious to obtain a supply, who have offered a slight improvement. There should be no fears be entertained, however, that any higher rates are about to be established; for even those most deeply interested in having prices advanced, predict a speedy turn in buyers' favor, and within the next ten days it is thought that quotations will be considerably reduced under the influence of more liberal arrivals. Except in a few isolated cases manufacturers do not intend commencing operations until May 1st; many being hopeful that by thus delaying the production to the latest moment, prevailing rates can be sustained for several weeks. They have apparently overlooked the generally admitted fact, that the supply of old stock in nearly all the yards up the Hudson is larger than has been known for many years, and not only ample for all immediate calls, but would probably supply nearly double the usual active demand which takes place at this season. The river is also now fully opened, and a large fleet of vessels is actively engaged in loading; indeed, a few have already arrived from some of the lower yards, and by the first of April we shall probably see the stocks at this point begin to accumulate. Taken altogether, the immediate prospect is favorable to the interests of builders, and before our next issue it is to be hoped that contracts can be effected upon more reasonable terms. At this present time common Hard Brick of all kinds are very scarce, but particularly the light or salmon, used for filling and rough work. These are selling generally at $8.00@$8.50 per 1,000, with a few as high as $9.00. A very good substitute not only for the above, but for some of the better grades, second-hand brick from old buildings, which, if well cleaned, frequently commands outside figures. We next have hard brick of a quality that may be classed fair to which is suited to party walls, rears, etc. On prices stand at about $10.50@$11.00 for Jersey, and $13.00 for North River, with a few very extra trifle higher. We now come to the Croton which the aggregate of sales is smaller, as these mostly for fronts. The quality varies considerable grades are quoted respectively at $18.00@ 20.000 per 1000. The highest on the list is Philadelphia front, which are selling to a very fair extent though the preference shown for brown stone by a certain class of people rather interferes with this trade. The present rates are $38.00@$40.00. The above quotations, in all cases, are strictly cargo prices, and for smaller lots, as a matter of course, higher figures would have to be paid. The production of bricks for 1867, according to information obtained from a reliable source, was about 275,000,000 common hard by the North River yards, value $3,025,000; 100,000,000 do. by yards on Staten Island, Long Island, and New Jersey, value $1,100,000; and Croton brick 40,000,000, value $800.000. Total number 415,000,000, valued at $4,925,000. The amount made this year will undoubtedly be fully equal to if not in excess of the above figures.

BRICK.—The demand is fair at our quotations.

CEMENT—is steady.

GLASS.—The market is steady. The prices and sizes of French, English, and American Glass are fully given in another column together with the rates of discount. More activity might be expected had the season hitherto been more favorable to building.

HAIR.—The market is fully supplied, with a fair demand.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The demand is fair, and dealers hope for a moderate share of business.

LUMBER.—The activity in the Lumber market, which it is natural to expect at this season of the year, has not yet set in. The demand for houses all over the country is very large—probably more so than in any former year. The prospect of a fair foreign trade is good. If the market depended on these circumstances dealers would have little to complain of. Compared, however, with the transactions of former years, those of this Spring will be moderate. Two causes may be assigned for this. Owing to the tightness of the money market, and a general want of confidence, large capitalists have been unwilling to, and the smaller capitalists have been unable to invest. The weather has been so unusually severe that it also has contributed to prevent the erection of many edifices that had been planned, and in some instances even contracted for. The effects of these circumstances have been, undoubtedly, to keep down sales. The stock, at present, in the yards is considerable; large dealers complaining that much of their winter stock yet remains undisposed of.

Our total exports of lumber for the week ending March, 24, were 270,591 feet, valued at $9,347, of which amount the Argentine Republic took 185,000 feet, valued at $5.272.

At Albany the stock is probably about eighty-five millions; the amount at the canals is generally overestimated. The circular given in another column will be found to contain valuable information.

At Darien, Ga., shipping timber is still arriving, but there is less demand. Mill timber is much wanted, but it is not arriving freely.

The quantity of timber inspected at Wilmington for the past twelve months was 23,777,864 feet. The quantity of lumber inspected during the same period was 5,797,789 feet.

LATHS.—A fair demand at $3.00@$3.25.

LIME.—There is an active market for lime. Rockland lump has increased 25 per cent.

METALS.—Tin, steady; demand moderate. Zinc, steady; stock, light. Lead, steady.

PITCH.—We quote at $3.50 per barrel.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The demand is active. Stocks are fair.

SLATE—Unchanged. The tendency of the market is upward. A movement is on foot to favor the immigration of slate miners, so as to make the manufacturers independent of those at present engaged in the quarries, who cause much inconvenience by their frequent strikes.

SPIRITS OF TURPENTINE.—The market for spirits of turpentine is firm, with an upward tendency. We note sales on Friday of 100 barrels at 61c.

The quantity inspected at Wilmington during the past twelve months was 75,473 barrels, and 125,654 barrels of turpentine. There have been recently at Wilmington sales of 100 barrels at 58½c.

TAR.—There has been inspected at Wilmington during the past year 29,878 barrels. Our present quotations are $3.25@$3.50 per barrel.

THE ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

WM. M. GEATWICK & Co.'s CIRCULAR AND PRICE CURRENT.

GENTLEMEN:—In presenting to you the annexed Price Current of the Lumber market, it is proper that we should connect with it certain facts which are of interest to all dealers in surveying the field of operations for the ensuing year. The Albany trade opens with a stock of about 80,000,000 feet, which, though in excess of the spring stock of 1867, does not show an increase with each dealer, but is caused by the fact that our district, by the addition of new slips, is one-quarter larger than it was a year ago. This stock is well assorted, and with the exception of Hemlock boards, a reasonable amount of all articles in our schedule may be found, while nothing is in excess. The amount of Lumber held over at the mills in Canada and Michigan, is fully up to the usual amount, but from the 30,000,000 feet held on the Saginaw River, Michigan, not 2,000,000 feet will come East, as it has nearly all been bought during the winter by Chicago and other Western dealers. Of Michigan Lumber, therefore, the early receipts of dry will be light, and we predict for this character of Lumber greater firmness than may be shown in any other description. The amount of Lumber on the canal, frozen in last fall, has been largely overestimated, as by actual count there are only twenty-four loads, while not more than one-half of them are consigned to Albany. The accounts from manufacturing districts represent the winter as having been favorable for logging, and the stock from Canada and Michigan will therefore be about an average. The manufacturers, however, show great firmness in their prices, and the present Albany quotations are barely sufficient to yield an ordinary profit over actual cost. We have received extensive information from the consuming districts, East and South, all representing the general feeling much improved during the last few weeks, and we think we shall be approved by dealers generally, when we say that the indications for the business of the current year are certainly favorable. The river is now free from ice. Shipments have commenced, and dealers will move to the district this week. It is not possible, to-day, for us to give the opening rates of freight, but they will not be high.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A neat, handsome, well-located brick cottage in Orange, New Jersey, for sale for something less than $8,000. It is handsomely furnished, but of course, the furniture, if needed, would be extra. The lot is 75x140, and is filled with shade and fruit trees. A fine barn and tool-house go with the property. The house has thirteen rooms, and is very convenient. Business, compelling the present owner to come to the city, is the only reason for selling. It is about five minutes walk from either the Orange or Brick Church Stations. For particulars inquire at house, Elm street, near Hillyer (yellow brick cottage), or of D. G. Croly, World office, N. Y. City.

DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE.

NEVER was a grander field open to artistic developments than is now presented to our architects in Domestic Architecture. This branch of the art is entirely of modern growth. In the palmiest days of Grecian magnificence—the age of Phidias and of Pericles—while such buildings as the Pantheon were being erected for the instruction and astonishment of mankind, the private residences of Athens were mean to a degree that would now shame one of our youngest Western towns. In England, and over the whole surface of Continental Europe, while those gorgeous cathedrals were rearing their noble and awe-inspiring proportions to the sky, the dwellings of the people who frequented them were comfortless and wretched, devoid of all art or embellishment. Art, in those days, was given up entirely to religion, and devoted all its energies to the erection of temples and objects of worship. So rapidly has civilization advanced in later periods of the world's history that only between three and four hundred years ago the highest nobles, and even monarchs, considered as the rarest luxuries what is now within reach of our present mechanics.

But modern civilization has completely changed the aspect of things. By the general spread of education, by the invention of labor-saving machines, and the importance given to mechanical skill, but, more than all, by the gigantic strides of Commerce, the condition of the whole world has been altered, and a new rank in the social order created. Merchants, by bringing the remotest ends of the earth in contact, by exchanging their products, and accumulating into their hands the wealth hitherto wielded only by monarchs or priestly domination, made themselves felt as a power and ultimately obtained the reins of progress. By them the titled and the privileged were humbled and the masses lifted up from their deep abasement; and many a crowned head has bowed before the "merchant prince," for aid, as humbly as did Antonio to the immortal Jew on the Rialto. By uniting themselves with both the higher and the lower grades of society, the merchants formed the necessary links that now irrevocably bind together the whole modern social system. Under their encouragement manufactures of all kinds sprung up; useful inventions were fostered; literature was diffused; men began to acquire, not only a taste for the comforts and luxuries of life, but the means of obtaining them; and, finally, the fine arts received an impetus they had never done before, in the records of man. During the time that merchants were the leading men and princes in Venice, Florence and Genoa, Italy was the school of art. Under their fostering care Genius seemed to spring everywhere spontaneously from the soil, and flooded the world with wonders that will remain models of art to the end of time. It was equally so with Holland and Flanders, when they were recognized as commercial centres; and when England became the mistress of the world's commerce, we saw again the Fine Arts transport themselves thither, and diffuse themselves among the people to an extent unparalleled in their former history.

But where and in what era of the world has Commerce held such sway, and her "merchant princes" more wealth, power and enlightenment, than in our country at the present time? It is true we are not able to boast of the concentrated glories of hereditary Chatsworths, Balmorals and Holyroods,—for the very genius of our institutions is opposed to such existencies—but, as far more than an offset, where are princely fortunes to be found in such abundance and scattered so promiscuously as over the boundless surface of this continent? Where, in the whole world, can more genuine liberality and legitimate ambition be found allied to wealth? and where can artists be found more absolutely unfettered by conventionalities, in any new field of invention that may open itself to their artistic genius? We repeat that never before was a wider scope presented to the architects of any country than to our own, at the present time, in the display of Domestic Architecture.

That the tasteful appreciation and knowledge of the Fine Arts among our rich merchants and capitalists have not always kept pace with their wealth and liberality is best proved by comparing the results of their outlay with those of their prototypes in the old commercial cities of Italy; by taking many an expensive house in Fifth avenue, for instance, and contrasting them (artistically and inventively) with those of similar cost chosen at random in the streets of Genoa; or by placing one of our any latest and most conspicuous specimens of domestic architecture—that at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue—alongside of any of the thousand marble palaces of Venice, that probably never cost anything near its outlay. Architecture is a thing of cultivation, not of spontaneous growth; with well-recognized principles that cannot be neglected. Not only should our architects be well-instructed in art, but those who employ them should also cultivate a knowledge of it, in order to enable them to choose between good and bad artists, and thus to promote instead of corrupting public taste. We have all the elements in our favor. To say that we have hitherto done the best that we could, in our public and private buildings, would be a sorry compliment indeed to the architects of this country; but we have abundant evidence, from many a genuine work of art among us, as well as the boundless future before us, that the Fine Arts generally—and Architecture especially—are about to start here on a career unparalleled in the annals of the past. With the new impetus created by the demand for costly residences up-town,—especially in the neighborhood of our beautiful Central Park,—with the manifest thirst in the public mind for a higher standard of art than that to which we have been hitherto accustomed, and with all the blunders and shortcomings of past efforts to warn us from their imitation, men of even advanced years will yet live to see the domestic architecture of New York rival, if not surpass, in splendor that of any of the proudest old Capitals of Europe.

BOGUS NEWSPAPERS.

ONE of the greatest frauds upon the business community is the publication of circulars and advertising sheets under the name of newspapers. It is an imposition on the public, who occasionally buy such papers by accident; a nuisance to the business community, who are incessantly canvassed to patronize these humbug sheets; and a clear case of fraud upon the advertisers, who get no return for their outlay. We have one such concern in mind now. Its contents consist (1) of advertisements; (2), of the sales to which the advertisements refer; and, (3), of notices of the sales about to take place as per advertisements, and nothing else. These papers cost next to nothing to get up, and their circulation, too, is limited to the business men who advertise with them. Of course, these fraudulent sheets must get out of the way when a real live paper comes into life devoted to the same interests. It is wisdom for them to die as soon as possible, and to make no fuss about it.

AMONG the many important transfers of real estate to be found in our columns of this week, may be noticed that of Margaret J. Thomas to H. B. Claflin, 10 lots, in 66th st., 275 ft. e. of 10th av., 265x112, for $70,000; also 8 lots on 72d st., n. s., 250 e. of 10th av., 204x100, sold by W. Thomas to same purchaser for $32,000. J. M. Koeler bought of B. Lawrence 16 lots on 2d av., w. s., between 54th and 55th sts., 200.8x200, for $91,250. The old church property, corner Beekman and Cliff sts., so well known to most of our citizens, has also had to succumb to the march of improvements, and was sold for $145,000, Mr. Wm. E. Dodge being the purchaser. The size of the lot is 128.5x134.9.

WE intend before long to take up the question of Life Insurance, with a view to expose the trickery of that whole business as at present conducted. We believe that more than half the companies in existence are frauds upon the community—that they will never pay the dividends they promise, nor can they pay them; while in many instances we do not believe they ever intended to pay them. No healthy business can afford to pay twenty-five per cent. commission to their agents, as many of these companies do, and deal honestly by their customers. We invite facts pro and con from such of our readers as are interested in this business.

OUR friends will be pleased to learn that so far the success of the RECORD has been very great. We printed two thousand copies of our first number, as the New York Printing Company will testify, and since then our circulation has steadily increased. Business men find it is indispensable.

WAGES ought to come down some this spring. They are altogether too high in view of the reduction of the price of everything, save food, compared with the rates of last year. There would be thousands of additional houses put up in this city and vicinity this spring were wages even ten per cent. lower. It is idle to complain of high rents so long as the mechanics insist upon so large a share of the labor fund. Laborers must be content with less if they would secure cheaper homes.

THE NEW PARK BANK.

No building has ever yet been erected in New York which attracted—and justly—more attention and commendation than the Park Bank, now in progress on Broadway near Ann street, and we regret that our limited space forbids that extended description which it merits.

It has a frontage on Broadway of 59 feet 4 inches; running back to a depth of 159 feet, and bending in shape of an L to another frontage on Ann street beyond the Herald Building. The portion fronting Broadway will be five stories high, besides cellars and basement, making a total height of 104 feet from the cellar floor to top of roof. This will be devoted, on the basement floor, to two spacious offices entirely cut off from the remainder of the building, and in the other stories to large and well arranged rooms adapted to Insurance and other business purposes. The Ann street front will be only three stories, besides cellars and basement, and will also be used above the first floor for offices, etc.,—the rooms from both being approached by wide and handsome staircases. The whole of the space in the rear of both Broadway and Ann street front building, will be occupied by a one-story structure for the Great Banking Room,—a superb apartment 90 feet long by 56 feet wide and 40 feet high, covered over entirely by a huge ornamental dome of rich ribbed iron filled with thick plate glass. This room, with all its adjuncts, will be most sumptuously decorated, and in its complete shape will doubtless surpass anything of the kind ever erected among us.

The massive and durable construction of this building in all its parts, from foundation to roof,—its ingenious adaptation to every purpose intended,—and the manifest traces of design throughout, are all worthy of note; but the exterior effect is the feature in which the general public are most largely interested, and this, as far as the design reveals itself, is most satisfactory. The style selected by the architect is the Roman Corinthian, and he has divided the front, which is of pure white Tuckahoe marble, into large and pleasing compartments, by projecting columns and with openings of unusual size and boldness, that give a colossal air to the general proportions of the building, and completely dwarf everything in their immediate neighborbood. In the centre stands the grand entrance door-way, approached by a handsome flight of steps through projecting double columns on each side. These columns extend, in two tiers, two stories high, and terminate in a rich broken pediment garnished with fine sculptured figures of imposing proportions. The enormous windows on each side of the entrance are 15 feet high and 11 feet wide, divided each by a massive mullion surmounted by a bracket—a conceit which had been better avoided—and above these, on the other stories, are circular-headed couplet windows of large and pleasing proportions. The fifth or upper story is to be covered by a handsome Mansard roof, the large central dormer of which will be flanked by caryatid figures, producing a highly pleasing and picturesque effect.

Unquestionably the distinguishing feature of this building is the bold and appropriate introduction of genuine sculpture as a handmaid to architecture. It was this that gave a glory to all the works of ancient Egypt, Greece, and Rome, as well as to all the examples of modern European architecture that most challenge our admiration; and it is really astonishing that our architects should have so long neglected this important feature, squandering money upon the repetition of costly and unmeaning ornamentation that could have been far better concentrated upon two or three pleasing objects of genuine high art. We look upon this conspicuous blending of sculpture and architecture as a new and most important era of art in this metropolis. Although not the first attempt of the kind, it is the first upon a sufficient scale of magnitude to fix and model public taste. The first and most conspicuous effort in this direction was in the "Institute of Fine Arts," at 625 Broadway, erected just before the war, in which the architect, Mr. J. R. Hamilton, boldly introduced the three allegorical figures of ARCHITECTURE, PAINTING and SCULPTURE supporting the arches of his second-story window, and blending in the construction of his edifice. This structure—now converted into a furniture store—attracted considerable attention at the time, and formed a prominent object in that portion of Broadway; but the hint was not followed, and it has been left to the architect of the Park Bank to inaugurate, upon a far more imposing scale, what we fully expect to see henceforth stamp a palatial character upon our civic architecture.

The architect of this very creditable structure is Griffith Thomas; the contractor, Mr. J. T. Smith; the marble masons, Messrs. Maston and Hull; the carpenters, Messrs. Smith and True; and the ironwork, both cast and wrought, by Messrs. J. B. and W. W. Cornell.

WOOD PAVEMENT.—The wooden pavement laid down last Fall in this city appears to have stood the test pretty well this winter, and there is not much doubt it will ultimately supersede the stone in streets where the traffic is not very heavy. The experiments have been confined to the Nicholson pavement. There are several other methods of paving streets with wood, which have been patented. Why not give them all a trial? It is impossible to tell which is the most durable until this is done. Give them, each and all, a fair field and no favor.

THE inconvenience suffered in New York during the recent heavy weather, from the accumulation of snow in our streets, attaches a peculiar interest to a discussion which lately occupied the leading English architects and builders. The sewers appear to them the most convenient place for throwing in the snow. As the heat of the sewage and sewer air is about 70° to 80°—according to the statement of Mr. John Phillips, C.E.—the snow will almost immediately thaw. This opinion derives confirmation from the evidence of Mr. Lovegrove, surveyor to the Hackney Board of Works, who writes, "each shovelful was carried away by the stream and quickly dissolved." Mr. Gadd, road surveyor of Croydon, stating his experience at Brighton, writes, "I needed nothing to thaw it, for long before it had reached the next manhole it had disappeared." Some other architects, not entirely satisfied that the heat of the sewer would be sufficient, suggest the addition of a small portable boiler to the ordinary dirt carts, in which it is proposed to carry the snow to the shafts.

There can be no question at all of the importance of this matter. We can use no language too strong in insisting on the necessity of our citizens, but especially those interested in real estate, taking proper steps to secure some remedy for the great inconvenience entailed on us all during the winter months. Whether experts will agree with the English architects or not, it is at least certain that some means ought to be devised to quickly remove the snow from our thoroughfares.

BUILDING in concrete is attracting some attention now in England. The value of concrete has been known from a very early period. It was employed in the construction of the famous abbey of Reading, in which it lasts to the present day, while the stones with which it was faced have been picked out. In this age it was employed in the construction of the harbor at Dover and the breakwater in Brighton. Its great strength was recently shown by subjecting a small piece, three feet in length, eleven inches deep, and four and a half inches thick, to a pressure of thirty-six hundred weight. The result was entirely satisfactory. It is not probable, however, that it will come into general use unless it can be shown to be far cheaper than bricks. To insure its success two points must be insured: the foundations must be properly secured, and equal care must be taken in mixing the material. The use of concrete for floors is considered desirable, but many authorities in the matter consider its utilily for roofing questionable. It is right to state, however, that one gentleman warrants that a concrete roof, only two inches in thickness, will remain water-proof for ten years. A builder may object to using this material, as it requires an addition of machinery to his plant, and also to some extent skilled labor. It is maintained, however, that very little experience will make an intelligent workman competent to prepare concrete properly, and that the machinery will more than repay its cost in cases where six or more houses are erected. The rough appearance of a concrete building will have to be concealed by ornamental tiles, or stucco work.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

THE new steam pumping engine, which is about to be constructed at Ridgewood, is to be very highly ornamented, and will have a capacity for raising ten million gallons of water in sixteen hours. Four bids were received in all for the work, viz.:

Messrs. Rogers & Carroll, New York, $185,000
Messrs. Woodruff & Beach. Hartford, 175,700
Proprietors of the Allaire Works, N. Y., 147,500
Messrs. Hubbard & Whittaker, Brooklyn, 129,750

There is a very wide difference in the bids. Messrs H. & W.'s being $55,250 lower than the highest, and $27,750 below the next lowest bidder. Messrs. Hubbard & Whittaker will undoubtedly get the job, as they are in addition to being the lowest bidders, residents of Brooklyn. They state that they have ample facilities for doing the work, and are ready to give all the necessary security for the fulfillment of the contract. It will take about fifteen months to finish the work.

THE Common Council has directed the Comptroller to sell at auction to the highest bidder, the property belonging to the city, comprising over four full lots on Myrtle avenue, between Canton and Hampden streets. The city has had a clear title to it for the last thirty years. It has hitherto been occupied by squatters.

THE Assessment Committee of the Board of Aldermen have taken up the petition of Rosetta Bedell, a daughter of the late John Jackson, which represents that the petitioner is the owner of 71 lots of ground on the Jackson Farm, in the Seventeenth ward, and that the expenses attending upon the nonpayment for many years of city taxes and assessments upon the property are so enormous that she will not be able to pay them, unless the city will consent to receive the taxes only, without default or interest. The Committee agreed to report favorably on the application.

NICHOLAS WYCKOFF, ESQ., President of the Williamsburg City Bank has offered to cede to the city the gore of land on Broadway, between Throop avenue and Gwinnett street, on the condition that no building should ever be erected on it, but that it should be maintained as an open space at the continuance of the above named streets. The Committee of the Aldermanic Board for opening streets have resolved to report in favor of the city accepting the cession.

IN consequence of the objection of the residents on Brooklyn avenue, the route of the new railroad from Williamsburg to Prospect Park, has been changed so that on leaving Tompkins avenue it will continue on through Fulton avenue to Hudson avenue, thence along Hudson avenue to to East Warren street, and so on to the Park.

SEVERAL extensive sales of property are recorded in our Brooklyn transfers of this week. Among the most important are one block of 46 lots, bounded by Washington, Milton, L sts. and E. River, purchased by Mr. Jno. Englis from W. Smith, price $91,000; a piece of property on Myrtle ave., 20.6 e. of Ryerson st., sold for $76,120, purchased by Ellen Fearn from V. G. Hall; on South 5th st., s. s., 35 ft. w. of 5th st., the property belonging to Meth. Epis. Church, was sold to the Central Meth. Epis. Church for $20,000.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE winter has been very favorable for Minnesota lumbermen. The cut of logs, this season, is estimated at 70,000,000 feet—38,000,000 on Rum River, and 32,000,000 on the Mississippi.

IN the week ending March 14, the sales of real estate in Chicago footed up $757,098, probably the largest week's work on the city records.

LAWRENCE, Mass., is said to be architecturally one of the most imposing cities in New England.

RENTS in Louisville have declined more than twenty-five per cent. this spring, and yet there are many untenanted dwellings in the city.

THE Kankakee (Ill.) Gazette says 500 new buildings will be erected in that place the coming season.

THE real estate changes in Louisville last week amounted to $260,000. In New Albany (Ind.) they were $10,288.

ILLINOIS imported enough lumber last year to build a three board fence twice around the world and once around herself.

TWENTY-TWO thousand dollars have been subscribed toward the erection of a new Wesleyan University at Bloomington, Ill. The building is to cost $50,000.

THE Albany papers complain that real estate in that city is declining in value. A house that was sold about a month ago for $5,025 was resold Friday for $4,500. In Troy the value of real estate is going up all the while.

SOME statistician has counted 42 buildings in course of erection in New Albany, Ind.

THE Mutual Benefit Building Association, of Hamilton, Ohio, filed its certificate of incorporation on Friday. The object is to raise money to be loaned among the members for securing homesteads. The capital stock is $400,000, divided into shares of $200 each.

A QUARRY of fine building stone has been discovered on Bulger Creek, 26 miles west of Des Moines, Iowa, on the line of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific road. It is said to be equal to the best stone yet developed in the State, and of inexhaustible quantity.

A NEW method of making white lead has been discovered. The metallic lead is first granulated, and then placed in a barrel of beech or hornbeam wood (not oak) with one-fourth its weight of pure water. The barrel is made to rotate about 30 or 40 times in a minute, a current of air passing through at the same time. After the lapse of several hours, the lead will all be oxidized, when a current of carbonic acid is to be substituted, and the rotation continued some hours longer. At the end of this time all the lead will be found connected with the pure hydrated carbonate, the true white lead, and can easily be separated from any unoxydized metal and washed and dried.

THAT valuable piece of property in South Carolina, known as the Kalmia Mills, including 4,259 acres of land, was sold on Saturday, in Charleston, to the Messrs. Langley, of New York, for $140,000.

THE cost of the original capitol at Washington City was $1,400,000. The additions, now nearly completed, will cost $12,000,000.

DURING the ten months last past upwards of fifteen hundred persons in Virginia have been declared bankrupts.

THE master builders of Hartford, Connecticut, have repudiated the Bricklayers and Plasterers' Union, and will not hire men belonging to it.

THE new Canadian public buildings at Ottawa, the capital of the dominion, it is reported, have already cost $2,745,012, and they are not yet completed. To finish them, $500,000 more, it is said, will be required.

THE bankrupt law has now been in operation about nine months, and during that period there have been filed in New York 2,000 petitions; in Massachusetts, 825; and in Pennsylvania, over 1,200.

THE dirty blue color so frequently seen on dead wood, has been found to depend upon a new coloring matter called xylindein, which is produced by a kind of fungus.

THE lumber season in Maine is reported to have been universally good. More logs were cut and hauled in February than in whole winters for many years past.

IN Cedar County, Mo., mines of copper and antimony have been discovered. Rich deposits are expected.

THE Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune says the lumber trade is opening briskly this spring. The home demand is large, and heavy orders are daily received from points along the lines of the different railroads.

THE aggregate building improvements in Toledo for the past year are estimated at two millions, an increase over the previous year of one million. The aggregate number of buildings erected during the year were 1,322, an increase over the previous year of 367. The city has a population of 31,651.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

THE PARIS OBSERVATORY.—The question of the expediency of removing this important establishment to some more eligible place is now engrossing the attention of the Academy of Sciences.

THE total quantity of gold exported from New Zealand from the year 1853 to 1866, inclusive, was 3,059,451 oz.; chrome ore, 5,306 tons, 3 cwt., 2 grs.; coals, 290 tons; copper ore, 2,374 tons, 8 cwt.; iron sand, 161 tons, 13 cwt.; plumbago, 7 tons.

AT a recent meeting of the Clyde Trustees, held in Glasgow, it was resolved to ask for borrowing powers to the extent of £600,000 in the bill for the formation of a new Graining Dock, which the trustees intend to bring before Parliament.

A LARGE new cotton factory is about to be erected in the neighborhood of Quebec, at a cost of $300,000, and giving employment to fully 3,000 workmen.

A NEW line of telegraph is shortly to be laid from the Tyne to Denmark.

A RAILWAY CARRIAGE, moving with a friction 6lb. per ton, would, if set in motion at the top of a straight plane falling 100 feet, and connecting at the bottom with a straight level line, runs a little more than seven miles by its gravity alone.

THE PIVOT BRIDGE at the crossing of the Alexandria and Cairo Railway and the Nile is 160 feet long, giving two openings of 60 feet each. There are two iron pivot bridges, one at Chicago and one at Galena, which are each 230 feet long, giving two openings of nearly 100 feet each.

ALTHOUGH the roadway of the new Westminster Bridge is of great width, it is not, as has been stated, the widest of any bridge in the world. The Schloss Brucke, at Berlin, has a much greater width of roadway; as has also the new bridge by which the Boulevard Sebastopol is carried across the Seine, in Paris.

AUTHENTICATED facts justify the belief that marine steam-engines will yet be worked with an expenditure of 1lb of coal per horse-power per hour. In this case, a vessel like the Great Eastern, working 12,000 effective horse-power, could run seventy days, or to Australia and back, with 9,000 tons of coal, being at the rate of 128 tons a day.

WHEN iron, arsenic or antimony are exposed to the vapor of bromine they enter upon combustion.

NEW YORK JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

IT is now proposed to furnish builders with ready-made walls and ceilings, in the form of slabs, to be used as a substitue for lath and plaster. These slabs are made of cane fibre, a cheap material obtained from the cane of the Southern cane-brakes, by disintegration effected by the explosive force of steam, and costing about ten dollars a ton, which is mixed with clay, rosin, size, and other cheap materials. The cane fibre is also made into paper of various kinds.

AN improved pewter is prepared by first melting two and four-tenth parts of lead, and, after skimming it, adding one part of tin, stirring the mixture continually with a wooden stick until it begins to cool. The alloy has the density of 9.64, and melts at 320 degrees Fahrenheit. It may be rolled cold, and the plates do not crackle when bent. It takes a good polish, and does not tarnish on exposure.

AN alloy, made of one-third silver and two-thirds aluminum, is manufactured into spoons and other articles, which resemble silver very closely, and have many valuable properties, as hardness, lightness, retention of high polish, etc.

TO STAIN WOOD A BROWN COLOR.—The wood is first painted with a solution made by boiling one part of catechu with thirty parts of water and a little soda. After drying in the air, the wood is again painted with a solution of one part bichromate of potassa and thirty parts of water. By varying the strength of the solution, different shades of color can be produced.

A PUBLIC-SPIRITED citizen of New Hampshire proposes to be one of five to build fifteen houses this season, to rent at six per cent. on the bare cost, giving the tenant the privilege of buying and paying what he can, and if he is unable to complete the purchase, refunding him the money paid in, with six per cent. interest.

A SILVER WIRE, one-thirteenth of an inch in diameter, it is said will sustain 137 pounds. A wire of lead of the same size will sustain 28 pounds, and a wire of tin 36 pounds.

THE people of Buffalo are to have a breakwater for their harbor, which will require 27,000 cords of stone, and cost $3,000,000.

CINCINNATI is said to have more houses in proportion to the number of inhabitants than any other city of its size in the world.

AMHERST College is erecting the Walker Building in honor of the donor, who gave $22,000, for the purpose.

THERE are 90,000,000 feet of logs in the Menominee river.

BALTIMORE wants to build a new City Hall at a cost of $1,000,000.

HON. JOHN WENTWORTH, of Chicago, on his return from one of his first sessions of Congress, it is said invested his mileage money in land in that city. He has since sold portions of it for $400,000; and $100,000 worth is still left.

THE lumbermen of Hannibal, Mo., expect to sell 30,000,000 feet of lumber this year; last year they disposed of 20,000,000 feet in all.

THE Portland, Me., papers are advocating the erection of an Opera House. It is proposed to have it 190 feet in length, 85 feet in width, and 3 stones high.

IOWA proposes to build a new State House at a cost of $2,000,000.

PITTSFIELD is to have a new union depot 200 feet long.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

FROM lack of economy in the reduction of ores, it is estimated that the aggregate loss on the production of bullion in the United States for the past year will reach the sum of 25,000,000 dollars.

IN reporting on the preventable diseases of the industrial classes, the "British Medical Journal" calls attention to the condition of certain workers among metallic and mineral dust. The amount of consumption and other lung diseases, caused by the inhalation of irritating particles, is excessive among engineers, machinists and stone-cutters.

A TABLE published in the "Moniteur" shows that the highest price of land in Paris is generally for places in the neighborhood of the Theatres. Near the new Opera House the value of property has risen nearly 100 per cent.

A FRENCH scientific antiquarian has published a work in which he attempts to prove that Solomon's Temple was furnished with lightning rods.

PLASTER.—An English writer complains that such a really beautiful building material as Portland cement is not used in more common sense ways. As, for instance, in a brick building, if there is wall panelling, the face of the panel might be plastered, and the wall surface would then show the true principle of construction, the panelling being treated with some impressed ornament, and, if color be required, tiles or terra cotta embedded in the cement. There would be no practical difficulty in doing this, and the thinnest walls would then be as weatherproof as the thickest, by being covered with this imperishable material—for so it is, if properly mixed and laid. Some of the older timber-framed houses of Chester and Shrewsbury are covered with lime and hair, and a large embossed scale pattern worked upon the face of the plaster. Some nice effects of color are produced in old houses in Kent and Sussex by two coats of different colored plaster, parts of the outer coat being scraped off whilst still wet, and then filled in, thus revealing the pattern by the variation of tint. The prevailing idea as to room ceilings seems to be an elaborate cornice bounding its junction with the wall, and a still more elaborate 'flower' in the centre; and, although this may be a very tasteful arrangement, it does not contain the essence of all that can be done in this feature, and one cannot help wishing sometimes that the ceiling was divided into simple panels; even a simple ribbed moulding would do; a pattern in the centre of the panels, if you can afford it; if not, leave the bed plain. This would give a much greater scale to a room, and would do away with the necessity for so many plaster flowers growing upside down. The eighteenth century fashion of arranging a room with a low skirting, a dado at the height of the chair-backs, and the space below left for panelling or other decorations, whilst the space above may be papered or otherwise decorated, is one which certainly gives great dignity to a room, adding to the apparent height of wall, and, in fact, giving us something else than the eternal paper-hanging.

GLASS PAINTING.—Horace Walpole is accredited with the honor of first having brought ancient painted glass into favorable notice, but the subsequent elucidation and advancement of the subject is due in a large degree to the labors of Charles Winston, an English amateur in the art, who devoted thirty years of his life to the study of glass painting, published two exhaustive volumes upon that topic in 1857, and died in 1864. Winston's object was to investigate the varieties of ancient glass painting, and to reduce them to a few classes or styles, in the same manner as has been done with regard to Gothic architecture. On the general subject of painted glass, a few brief notes, based on the researches of Mr. Winston and others, may be useful to the student. We are inclined to agree with Mr. Winston in thinking the term "painted glass" the more correct expression than "stained glass." For a glass painting, as he observes, may be entirely formed of painted glass—that is, glass painted with an enamel color—but it would be impssible to execute a glass painting merely by staining the glass. Most glass paintings are formed by combining the two processes of enameling and staining; and, moreover, as regards color, the same general principles apply to glass painting as to any other. Our great teachers, the Egyptians, were acquainted with the art of glass blowing upwards of three thousand years ago. They made glass both white and colored, opaque and transparent. The exact date of the application of glass painting as an art is uncertain, but we know that it was in vogue at least as early as the tenth century. The different varieties or styles of the art which have successively prevailed in this country have been arranged under five classes. There is, first, the Early English, which extends from the date of the earliest specimens extant to the year 1280. Then followed the Decorated style, which flourished for the next hundred years. One of the most distinctive features of this style is the natural form of its foliaged ornaments. It was superseded by the Perpendicular style, but the exact date cannot be fixed with certainty, the change being a very gradual one. The Perpendicular windows, however, are easily distinguishable from the Decorated, by the form of their details, the greater breadth and delicacy of their coloring, and their more refined and finished execution. Mr. Winston assigns about a century and a half as the period of its duration, being of opinion that it terminated with the use of Gothic ornamental details about the year 1530. This, in its turn, was succeeded by the Cinque Cento style, so called from the ornaments of this style of glass painting resembling those of the Italian architecture of the sixteenth century. It prevailed for about fifty years, or until the introduction of the "Mosaic Enamel mode" of glass painting, about the middle of the sixteenth century. This style is considered more ornamental and less severe in its character than the Perpendicular, though the early Cinque Cento examples bear so striking a resemblance to the contemporaneous Perpendicular windows, that it is not always easy to distinguish them. The change in this case also was very gradual. The decade between 1525 and 1535 Mr. Winston calls the golden age of glass painting, the gorgeous Cinque Cento style having then reached its perfection. The Intermediate style he dates from the middle of the sixteenth century to the present time. This style, from its long duration, includes many varieties. These the author of this work classes under two heads; the first comprising the glass paintings executed between 1550 and the revival of the Mosaic system, which took place some forty or fifty years ago; the second those which have been executed since that period.

A NEW INVENTION IN RAILROAD IRON.—On Wednesday the 18th inst., a large party of the most prominent railroad men of the West were invited by Mr. J. C. Hilton to visit the Union Roilling Mills on the south branch of the Chicago River, to examine and test the new combination of steel and iron which Mr. Wm. Leighton has invented, and which he claims will obviate the difficulty hitherto experienced in the use of rails made wholly of iron or steel; the ordinary iron rail is too soft to stand the wear and tear of active travel, its average durability is about five months. The celebrated steel rails overcame the difficulty, as far as presenting a good hard surface was concerned. But the atmospherical influence in winter causes them to crack and fly, and it is found that they cannot be depended upon in that season. The difficulty arises from the fact, that the steel rails are formed of cyrstallized metal, and are consequently not so tenacious as wrought iron, which is fibrous. A judicious combination of steel and iron, such as Mr. Leighton has invented, may probably overcome the difficulty. His mode of combining the two metals is as follows: The steel is shaped like a V, upon which is placed a saddle-piece of iron made to fit it, and upon these are piled other pieces of iron, five layers in all—forming a mass seven inches wide, eight inches high, and seven feet long; the whole is then placed in the furnace at the bottom, to prevent decarbonization. In one hour the mass is taken out, passed through the Rolls, and presto, out comes a perfect rail, so arranged that the steel is made to pass round the head of the rail, so as to form a perfect clamp, immovable from the rail in case the welding should prove defective.

The examining committee, after witnessing the process and the tests, were so thoroughly satisfied, that they requested Mr. Leighton to place some rails on the line of the Chicago and North Western Railroad, where it will be subjected to the fluctuations of temperature, and will be reported upon by the officers of that road, at a future day. Mr. Leighton is entitled to distinction for his ingenious method of combining the metals, and worthy of all praise for his perseverance; but he must not be too sanguine of complete success—it is possible that the face of the rail may batter down and chip on the edges, as steel-faced hammers often do.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

MUCH dissatisfaction is expressed with the architectural designs at the Royal Scottish Academy's exhibition. A survey of the designs convinces our writer that architecture in Scotland is in a backward state.

A LONDON publication argues that, to insure the complete incombustibility of structure, it should be composed altogether of fire-proof material; and says that in the construction of the roof, there should be an under-sheeting of iron to make it fire proof, as roofs are more capable of extending fire than any other part of the building.

THE annual meeting of the Architects' Benevolent Society of London, showed the receipts of the year, including the amount carried forward from the previous account, to be £366, and the disbursements, £319. Fourteen applicants had been relieved during the year, and eighteen new members joined.

THE official residence of the new Lord Mayor of London has been repaired at an expense of £3,000 and was under the supervision of the city architect, Horace Jones.

THE subject of washing public buildings is attracting considerable attention in London. St. Paul's Church, Covent Garden, has recently had one of its fronts washed by a new Parisian process, which consists of forcing a jet of water warmed by steam against the smoke-hued stone, and so, with the help of a scrubbing-brush, removing the dirt.

The elm-piles under the piers of London Bridge have been in use more than 700 years, and are not yet materially decayed.

Beneath the foundation of Savoy Place, London, oak, elm, beech, and chestnut piles and planks were found in a state of perfect preservation, after having been there for 650 years.

While taking down the old walls of Tunbridge Castle, Kent, there was found, in the middle of a thick stone wall, a timber curb which had been enclosed for 700 years.

A GERMAN engineer states that oxide of chromium is the best substance for polishing steel. The article can be easily prepared by heating bichromate of potash to redness. It is also used for painting on porcelain.

THE Building and Land societies of London, generally, show a prosperous condition. The receipts of the Bradford Third Equitable Benefit Building Society, increased from £202,851 in 1866 to £231,647 in 1867; members increased from 3,711 to 4,090, and the shares from 10.126 to 11.772. The receipts of the Leeds Permanent Benefit Building Society in 1867 were £203,-147 10*s.* and the payments £211,032 5*s.* The number of new members, 2,043.

THE extended use of alkaline silicates in Germany for the preservation of building materials, both stone and wood, is attracting attention abroad. The cost is but small, and the immunity it gives from fire is complete. According to the expired, and almost forgotten, patent of De Wylde, the woodwork is first saturated with a very dilute solution of silicate of potash, as nearly neutral as possible, and, when this has dried, one or two coats of a stronger solution are given. When lives are lost by fire almost daily, it seems strange that such means of protecting wooden staircases and flooring should be neglected.

THE new transparent cement, which has been called "coaguline," is said to be rapidly growing into use as an article of commerce and scientific application. Its adhesiveness and tenacity are remarkable. Glass, leather, wood, stone, ivory, bone and minerals can be pieced and joined by it, and so tenacious is it that it will resist a strain of 224lbs. or more. Heat or cold, fire or water, are successfully resisted by coaguline, and so far as its durability has been tested the cement is perfect. For piecing glass or crystal its uses are admirable, because its transparencyrenders the junction imperceptible, and its adhesiveness, in fact, makes the broken glass or crystal as good as new.

THE experiments now in progress at Woolwich Arsenal on the manufacture of gas from a mixture of Trinidad bitumen and coal remind us of the recent use various waste materials for the purpose in Germany. Among these are the residues of the manufacture of paraffin, and the refining of petroleum oils. With each of these materials a large quantity of permanent gas of a highly illuminating power was procured. Another substance experimented with was the waste grease from the woollen manufacture, which yielded a smaller amount of gas. From a review of all the experiments, however, it is concluded that the use of bituminous oils, in combination with coal or peat for the production of gas, offers no advantages, as regards price, over ordinary coal gas. In small works it may be profitable when manufacturers use up their own waste products.

MARKET REVIEW.

BUILDING STONE.—There is a fair amount of trade doing in dressed stone of the various descriptions, but for the rough stock we find rather a quiet market, cutters being as yet unable to decide as to the amount required for the coming season. Most of the quarry companies have fixed their rates or are about doing so, and with some agents already in town, it is likely that contracts will soon begin to be made. We insert a table of quotations for standard work, but for fancy figured, or complicated patterns it would be impossible to give any comprehensive idea of values.

BRICK.—During the past week the arrivals have been very large from all quarters, and at the present writing the supply offering is liberal. Prices are without any decided decline, but the market exhibits very little strength, and in order to effect sales easily some shading in buyers' favor has taken place. Manufacturers hold out for high prices with considerable tenacity, but they cannot withstand the influence of the plentiful supplies, both present and prospective, which, being well distributed among the various dealers, opens competition and enables builders to take advantage of any disposition that may be shown to realize. The weakness has been most noticeable on the common hard brick, fronts holding their own with comparative steadiness.

CEMENT.—The supply was quite sma dullring the past two or three months, but manufacturing has again been resumed, and stock will soon begin to come forward with more freedom, the first cargoes of the season having arrived during the week. No immediate accumulation of stock is looked for, as receivers calculate that it will require at least a month to fill back orders. The amount manufactured and consumed last year was 950,000 bbls. The prices for the present season have been fixed at $1 65 per bbl. for Rosendale, delivered on board vessel at Rondout, and $1 75 do. do. at New York. Roman Cement is occasionally called for, but so seldom as to make it nearly a nominal article. The last sales were at $9 00 per bbl. in a jobbing way.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The supply of no one description is large, but still there is plenty offering to meet all immediate necessities, and at about previous figures the market remains steady.

GLASS.—For window glass of the various sizes there is a very fair demand, though at the moment the mediums appear to attract rather the most attention. Dealers are not pressing sales, and the market has a steady tone. Two cargoes of French have recently arrived in a very badly damaged condition.

HAIR.—A good, steady business is doing; but on the common grade, or cattle hair, prices are lower by about 5c. per pound. Mixed and good hair are unchanged.

LIME.—Receivers are still asking and obtaining about former figures, and a very fair amount of business is doing. The arrivals, however, have of late been quite free, and the stock is evidently accumulating, though there is a disposition manifested at the moment to give no estimates as to the probable amount here. The supply is composed almost entirely of Rockland; and no Glenn's Falls is looked for until the end of this month. The Rockland lime has become the favorite in this city, and is now almost universally used, while the Glenn's Falls, though of whiter color, has less strength, and finds most favor in the suburbern towns.

LATH.—The supply is fair, though not unusually heavy, and with a steady demand prices are sustained. We note sales of 1,300,000, mostly at $325, though some are said to have been sold at a trifle easier rates. The annual consumption is estimated at about 100,000,000.

LUMBER.—There has been a trifle more life at the yards during the past week, but, as a general thing, the market shows no activity worthy of special note. Dealers appear to be looking for a very good season's business, and the majority have a rather large though well-assorted stock on hand; but, unless trade picks up pretty soon, buyers must gain some advantages—the natural result of a dull market being to shade somewhat on figures, no matter how strong the reasons for holding out firmly. No important cargo sales are reported, and, in fact, they have scarcely begun to move as yet, at the Eastward, the very severe winter and late spring operating unfavorably. From Albany a few vessels are en route, and we hear, while writing this article, of an arrival at this point of a load of black walnut flooring seven-eights to two inches in thickness. From this time forward the receipts will probably slowly but gradually increase, and as the weather becomes more open and settled, we hope for a corresponding increase of the demand. In the Western markets business appears to have opened quite lively; and from Chicago we learn that the lumber trade is gradually but surely improving, and, at former figures, dealers experience little or no difficulty in consummating sales, the aggregate of transactions footing up large. At latest dates the demand was principally for common stock, of which but a small supply was on the market. The Saginaw Enterprise of the 27th ult. remarks:

"We learn of a sale of 500 M feet of green lumber, yesterday, at $5.50, $11.50, and $35, to Chicago parties; also, a sale at Bay City of 3,000,000 feet at $5 50, $11, and $35, to Eastern parties; also, a sale of 4,000 feet of day lumber at $6.50, $13. and $38 for cull's, common and uppers to Buffalo parties. There is but little, if any, dry lumber now on the river unsold."

The exports from this port for the week have been unimportant.

The receipts of lumber for the year 1867 were as follows: At Chicago, 851,746,000 feet; Albany, 386,883,955 feet; at Troy, 195,478,600 feet; at Bangor, 184,926,708 feet; at St. John, New Brunswick, 213,186,490 feet. Total 1,832,221,753 feet, which was quite an advance over 1866 though it is thought that this year's production will in the aggregate be lighter.

The exports from this port for 1867 were 20,934,743 feet, including 5,631,383 feet to Argentine Republic; 796,395 feet to Africa; 165,923 feet to Antwerp; 2,678,314 feet to Australia, including N. S. Wales; 1,434,000 to Brazil; 1,430,568 feet to Cuba; 121,992 feet to Central America; 4,257,420 feet to Cisplatine Republic; 95,368 feet to Chili; 472,554 to Canary Islands; 569,339 feet to China; 16,500 feet to Egypt; 11,000 feet to Gibraltar; 16,500 feet to Guiana (British); 575 527 feet to Hayti; 27,076 feet to Hamburgh; 109,294 feet to Honduras (British), 38,319 feet to Japan; 258,770 feet to Mexico; 301,410 feet to New Grenada; 58,900 feet to New Zealand; 663,711 feet to Peru; 274,139 feet to Porto Rico; 49,775 feet to Dutch West Indies; 90,280 feet to Danish do.; 18,098 feet to French do.; 688,185 feet to British do.; and 94,052 feet to Venezuela. The Portland market is at present very quiet, but prices steady. The latest quotations were as follows:

METALS.—Tin plates are without much activity, and the tendency of prices rather in favor of the buyer, though no actual decline can be quoted. Lead is selling to about the usual extent at 10½c. for Bar, and 12c. for Sheet and Pipe. Zinc continues in very light supply, and with a good demand former rates are sustained; one or two lots Sheet having been taken at 11⅛@11¼c.

NAILS.—Cut have sold rather slowly, as the supply is ample for all immediate wants, the market shows some signs of weakness, large parcels being quoted at about 5⅛ @ 5¼c. ℔ lb.

PITCH.—There has been a fair demand for city, with sales at $3.37½ in yard, and $3.50 delivered.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The demand continues good for all grades of paints, and we note strong, steady feeling on most kinds. The stock of white lead has become greatly reduced, and many manufacturers are selling ahead of production. Linseed oil is in good demand, and prices generally well sustained. We hear of several large sales at $1.17 @ $1.18 in casks and $1.20 @ $1.21 in barrels, but retail lots command higher rates. For April delivery nearly 20,000 gallons have been sold at $1.20 ℔ gal.

SLATE.—The season thus far has been rather dull, though, as a general thing, dealers seem sanguine of an early improvement in business. Scarcely enough is doing at the moment to affect prices, and we make no alteration in our figures. The supply now on hand at this point is ample for any ordinary demand, and before any serious reduction takes place it is hoped that fresh stock will begin to come in. This, however, will be regulated in a great measure by the amount of skilled labor offering; and to supply deficiencies quite a large number of Welsh workmen are now being imported. Of old stock at the quarries the supply is larger of the common grades than for the past four years, while good grades, on the contrary, are in very light supply. This may be partially accounted for by the fact that every year developes a more thorough knowledge of quality on the part of buyers; and slate that would formerly have been taken as good on the mere statement of sellers is now thrown out, and something better insisted upon. Pennsylvania furnishes us with the finest stock, and Vermont with the poorest, though some of very good quality comes from the latter State.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—In view of the comparatively small supply on hand, and the probability that we shall receive none of the new crop until the middle of May at least, holders have advanced their views considerably, and are pretty firm at the improvement. The postponement of the removal of the tax also tends to strengthen the market. At the improvement buyers are operating only in lots to suit immediate wants; and in small lots the sales making were at 66 @ 68c. Exports 88 bbls. for week, 2,399 since Jan. 1st, and 7,077 same time '67. Imports 1,065 bbls. for week, 8,230 since Jan. 1st and 8,575 same time '67. Stock 2,820 bbls.

TAR.—The demand is good for all grades, and prices remain steady, though in some few instances holders have seemed rather more inclined to realize. Sales of North County at $2.87½ @ $3.00 ℔ bbl., with small lots at $3.25. Wilmington at $3.00 @ $3.50, and very choice thin do., delivered, at $3.75 @ $4.00. The stock on hand is 2,283 bbls., against 4,766 bbls. same time last year, and 14,516 same time 1866. The exports for the week were 63 bbls., for the month of March, 248 lbs., since Jan. 1st, 1,663 bbls., and same time 1867, 662 bbls. The imports for the week 375 bbls., since January 1st, 4,985 bbls., and same time 1867, 5,120 lbs.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The heavy auction sales seem to be over for the season. There is as large an attendance at the Exchange Rooms as usual, but the bidding is spiritless to what it has been. It is supposed that about one-third of the reported sales are bona fide; the others are to establish a price or to prevent property from being sacrificed. We do not give detailed reports of these sales because (1) they are not reliable, as will be seen by the above explanation, and (2) because they are already done to death in the daily press. We give what no daily or any other paper can give, and hence furnish our readers with exclusive news.

MAINE LUMBER MARKET.

On account of the rain and thaw of two weeks since, the amount of lumber cut this winter on the Penobscot will be very much diminished. Teams have usually remained in the woods, and done good business until the tenth of April, while this year nearly all the teams have already been obliged to come out. On the west branch of the Penobscot there are not over eight inches of snow, where there usually are four or five feet at this season. It is said that there will be a fall short of eight million feet on the west branch from the amount anticipated, and that on the Mattawamkeag and the Passadumkeag there will be from ten to fifteen millions short. There were cut last year on the Mattawamkeag seventy-seven million feet of logs, while this year the amount will be twenty-eight millions or less—a deficit from that source alone of forty-nine millions. In addition to this, owing to the small amount of snow to feed the brooks, some of the drives will be in danger of being hung up.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

For the Week ending March 31, 1868 (Albany Argus).

THE season has opened well. The demand thus early has been active, and the prospects of the trade are good, unless there should be an overcrowding of stock. The demand is mainly from the country, from the East, from New Jersey, and Baltimore and Philadelphia. The stocks at New York, which moved slow early in the year, are rapidly decreasing. The weeks' sales have been very free, including some large lots of clear Lumber; one house is reported as having disposed of 1,000,000 feet.

Should the present demand continue the yards will be bare before receipts can reach us by canal.

Freights have opened very active, especially to the South and East. We quote:

To New York, per 1000	$	@	1 75
To Bridgeport and New Haven		@	2 25
To Norwich and Middletown		@	3 00
To Hartford		@	3 50

The Boston quotations and those to Norwich and Middletown are, for the present, nominal.

The shipments of the foregoing articles by Canal and C. & T. R. R. are shown elsewhere, but they include but a very small portion of the quantity shipped to the interior; the Wabash and Michigan Southern Railroads transporting large quantities, but the figures we cannot obtain.

TO CAPITALISTS.

ALSO, FOR SALE,

A new 5-story marble building, 50x100, in Walker street. Rented for $25,000. Price $180,000.

ALSO, FOR SALE,

A fine Broadway store, well rented.

ALSO, TO LEASE,

A Broadway lot, east side, 50 feet, south of Howard street, 30x98, to lease for 21 years at $10,000 ground rent.

ALSO, FOR SALE,

A 50 feet front corner house in 5th avenue, below 14th st.

ALSO, FOR SALE,

A first-class full-sized house and lot, with extra lot and stable, in 5th avenue, below 14th street. $125,000.

All desirable investments. Inquire of
HOMER MORGAN,
2 Pine street.

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.—A neat, handsome, well-located brick cottage in Orange, New Jersey, for sale for something less than $8,000. It is handsomely furnished, but of course, the furniture, if needed, would be extra. The lot is 75x140, and is filled with shade and fruit trees. A fine barn and tool-house go with the property. The house has thirteen rooms, and is very convenient. Business, compelling the present owner to come to the city, is the only reason for selling. It is about five minutes walk from either the Orange or Brick Church Stations. For particulars inquire at house, Elm street, near Hillyer (yellow brick cottage), or of D. G. Croly, World office, N. Y. City.

MARBLE MANTELS.—A LARGE STOCK on hand, all ready for setting up in buildings, which must be sold in the next 30 days at any price, on account of rebuilding.
A. KLABER,
134 East Eighteenth street, near Third avenue.

ARTESIAN AND PETROLEUM WELLS.—The Great Earth-Boring Machine is now sinking an artesian well at Mott Haven, opposite the Harlem Railroad Depot, and the public is invited to witness its operation. This machine will bore a true and perpendicular hole, from 9 to 24 inches diameter, to a depth, if desired, of 3,000 feet. Further particulars on application to the Earth-Boring Machine Company, 126 & 128 Chambers street, New York.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED by the Committee on Buildings of the Board of Education, at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education, corner of Grand and Elm streets, until WEDNESDAY, the 1st day of April next, at 4 o'clock P.M., for altering and repairing the building, etc., on lot No. 174 Mulberry street, near Broome street. Plans and specifications of said alterations and repairs can be seen at the office of the Superintendent of Buildings and Repairs, No. 146 Grand street, third floor. Two responsible and approved sureties—whose names must accompany the proposal, for the faithful performance of the contract—will be required from the successful bidder. The Committee reserves the right to reject any or all the proposals offered, if deemed for the public interest to do so.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" is published every Saturday at No. 37 Park Row, Room 31. It furnishes the following information:

1. All the Real Estate Conveyances during the week in New York and Kings Counties, with the names of buyer and seller.

2. All the Mortgages entered for the same period in New York and vicinity.

3. The Judgments entered in the two counties against delinquent or unfortunate debtors.

4. A list of the recent bankrupts throughout the United States.

5. Full information respecting the local real estate market.

6. A complete and accurate report of the market for building materials.

With one exception (real estate) all the above are new features in the newspaper business. It is a singular fact that so far the great building interest of the nation has been so inadequately represented in the periodical press. This Record, therefore, is indispensable to the following occupations:

Architects,	Lumber Dealers,
Auctioneers,	Lime Dealers,
Builders,	Merchants,
Brick Makers and Dealers,	Metal Workers,
Bankers,	Marble Dealers,
Bill Brokers,	Paint Merchants,
Contractors,	Plumbers,
Cement Dealers,	Planing Mills,
Glue Dealers,	Plaster of Paris,
Hardware for Houses,	Real Estate Owners,
Hair,	Slate Dealers,
Insurance Interest,	Window Glass Dealers

and a large number of kindred occupations. General advertisers will see the value of the RECORD as a business medium.

THE ARCADE RAILROAD.

THE important riddle has at least been solved, how to avoid the overcrowded traffic of our down-streets, and afford the people of New York safe and rapid transit from one end of the island to the other. It has long been manifest to everybody that it is as impossible for the city to remain as it is, as for a full-grown man to wear the garments of his childhood. Peculiarly located as New York is, on a long and narrow slip of land, shut in by a broad river on each side, and consequently unable to expand but in one direction, the time has arrived at last when she must increase the surface for traffic in her main arteries, whether by suspending herself in air or burrowing in the bowels of the earth. The latter idea has hit the mark. Among all the plans and schemes hitherto suggested, there is not one which so completely covers the whole ground, and will prove so useful, practicable, and grand as the proposed Arcade Railroad, the bill for which has already unanimously passed the Assembly, and only awaits the decision of the Senate to become a fixed fact.

This railroad scheme is entirely novel in design, and far surpasses anything of the kind ever yet attempted in any of the great capitals of the world. It has nothing in common with the tunnel roads under the streets of London—which, however, are perfectly successful as far as they go—because this scheme provides such an abundance of light, air, and ventilation, as to be available as much for commercial as for travelling purposes. This scheme may be thus briefly described: It is proposed to build a street under the whole width of Broadway to Sixty-fourth street, and along Ninth Avenue to near Fort Washington, for locomotion and trading, in every respect as accessible and convenient as the present thoroughfares. The upper street will thus be a sort of continuous bridge, running the whole length of the city, with convenient ramifications, supported by a combination of iron columns and groined brick arches, so powerful in construction as to do the work of the solid earth itself. Those portions of the buildings on each side which are now nothing but buried cellars, will be converted, as if by magic, into handsome and well-lighted store-fronts. The way light is obtained for the lower street is by leaving the usual area of five feet, as now, to the upper street, protected by railings, and all open except at doors; while the sidewalks will be relaid with four feet of patent lights next the street. This will give ample ventilation, and light enough for people in the lower street cars to read comfortably. At each block convenient stairways will lead from the upper to the lower street. Here four tracks will be laid: the two inner ones for rapid trains, for through travel, going from the Battery to Harlem in about thirty minutes, and the outside tracks, next the sidewalks, for slower cars, stopping as often as passengers require. The cars will be propelled by steam, air, or other motive power; but, if by steam, in such a way as to emit neither steam, smoke, nor sparks.

It needed but the locomotive horrors of the past winter to convince our people of the splendid change when this plan is carried into effect. The myriads of daily toilers down-town will be able to go to and from their homes, in the remotest suburbs, in all seasons, without crowding and without loss of time. Winter and summer alike will be shorn of their terrors. People will fly the storms of winter by taking refuge in the Arcade below, and it will prove a delicious resort for shopping and promenade during the sweltering days of midsummer. Upper Broadway thus relieved of its crowds of carts and omnibuses, with all its mud and slush running down the hollow columns into the sewers below the lower street, will be so clean and airy as to surpass every other commercial thoroughfare in beauty, and not require the humane efforts even of Judge Whiting to give us a "salubrious atmosphere;" and then at nightfall, when this interminable perspective of columns and arches is brilliantly lit up by gas, the scene will be beautiful and tempting beyond anything yet conceived in the construction of cities—more like a picture in the "Arabian Nights."

Vast and important as this scheme is, there is nothing whatever in its execution that is not easily within the range of modern art. If the elder Brunel could tunnel under the Thames, fighting quicksands and inundations inch by inch, our engineers and architects have a comparatively easy way before them. The plan is approved by our most eminent engineers, architects, and builders; we have the talent, energy, and capital necessary; property-owners in the thoroughfares thus altered will be largely benefited, so will the whole population: all it needs is the consent of the Senate, and it is scarcely possible to think they will check the grandest scheme ever concocted for the improvement and adornment of a great commercial city.

THE NEW POST-OFFICE.

THERE is much public curiosity and interest felt respecting the proposed new post-office, and it is strange that, in a matter of such great and general importance, public information should have been so long withheld. Some months have now elapsed since an open competition was invited among architects for designs for the structure; in response to which a large number were sent in, and the whole exhibited for a brief period at the Underwriters' Offices, on Broadway. Of these designs there were but few that could be classed even above the most ordinary mediocrity, and only two or three that could really claim anything like distinct merit. But the examiners were morally pledged to award the money prizes according to the terms of their offer—even if only to varying grades of inferiority; and we presume this portion of the programme has at least been carried out. It turned out, however, that no one plan embraced, in the view of the judges, all the requirements of such a building; and after the awards were made in their ratio of merit, no one plan was determined upon for actually carrying it into execution. Postmaster Kelly made a journey to Europe, during which, it is said, he obtained much additional light as to the most improved workings of the system, and on his return an entirely new arrangement was entered into with the five most prominent architects in the competition, and a new design formed out of their accumulated ideas. We have not much faith in this joint-stock conglomeration of thoughts in preparing a plan, and think it just as possible for too many architects to spoil a design as for too many cooks to spoil a broth. But the purport of our present remarks is that this last design—whatever it may be—has never yet been in any way made public, and that consequently the community have no means whatever of knowing the merits or demerits of a structure, for which they must, nevertheless, be prepared to meet so enormous an expenditure.

The latest public intimation was that Congress had appointed a committee to visit New York, to report upon the validity of the site, etc.; and meanwhile it is understood that the plans are in the hands of A. B. Mullett, Esq., the Supervising Architect at Washington, who is preparing his report upon them. Rumor says that, while the elevation is creditable, the plans are altogether unworthy of a building of such magnitude and importance. But be the design good, bad, or indifferent, it is earnestly to be hoped that the Congressional Committee will not fail to condemn, in toto, the idea of locating such a building in so monstrously inappropriate a spot as the south end of City Hall Park—inappropriate not only for the requirements of the building itself, but for its destructive effects upon the commerce, convenience, and even health, of our city. If Broadway is already so overcrowded in that portion of the city as to make it all but impossible for people to move about their business, has anyone pictured the terrific dead-lock to which we shall be perpetually brought when, to our present redundant traffic, is added the myriads of carts, wagons, and bustling confusion necessarily attendant on the Post-office Department? Besides, why wilfully and gratuitously select the most inconveniently-shaped piece of ground that could possibly have been found on the whole island—like a sugarloaf laid broadside—and this, too, in one of the very few miserable little holes misnamed "parks," that, in spite of former miscalculations, are still left the city for breathing? At the moment that New York is crying aloud for more air—at a time when other European cities are knocking down whole districts in their most crowded portions for this same indispensable object—here are we going to deliberately plant this monstrous edifice, to shut out what little breathing space we have, and clog the wheels of commerce, when many other places up-town, far more available for the building itself, and far more adapted to the rapid expansion of the city northward, are openly inviting us. We hope the whole scheme will be killed. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Better pay architects for experimental plans two or three times over than, with eyes wide open, persist in placing this huge building where it cannot fail to be an eye-sore, nuisance, and intolerable incubus upon the city for generations to come.

THE RISE IN REAL ESTATE.

The enormous increase in the value and sales of real estate, and the speculative spirit evinced by capitalists in purchasing it, afford matter for comment and discussion in every commercial city of the North. The press, from New York to San Francisco, is teeming with accounts of its wonderful and rapid appreciation. The Real Estate Circular, of San Francisco, remarks, that never in the history of that city were real estate transactions so large, prices so high, or purchasers so generally eager, as during the month of February last, the sales for that month having reached the unprecedented number of 614, and the amount $2,669,875. The Chronicle of Chicago, in its summary of sales of real estate for the week ending March 26th, remarks that prices are just as firm as ever in that city, and that holders are just as confident that prices will continue to advance as steadily in the future as they have done for the past six years. A Boston correspondent of a morning journal of this city, states that the value of real estate in the vicinity of the new Post Office has increased fifty per cent. since the first of January, and that a corner lot on Congress street, which was offered in the market four months ago for $27,000, cannot be purchased for double that sum now, and a lot on the corner of Water and Devonshire streets, which was bought two months ago for $150,000, would now sell easily for $200,000. It is needless to add that real estate in the cities of New York and Brooklyn have also increased in value to an unparalleled extent, eclipsing all other cities in the ratio of increased value, and in the number of sales, as a reference to our statistical columns will show. The cause of this rapid advance in real estate, one says, is due to the fact that there is no other outlet for capital, for the reason that the manufacturing interest of the country are paralyzed; another, that shrewd financiers smell repudiation afar off; and another states that it is merely a period of speculative excitement in real estate, similar to the mining stock excitement a few years ago. All these causes have some effect upon the real estate market, there is no doubt; but they did not start the ball a-rolling, they are only the froth of the wave. The great cause is attributable to the fact that the number of dwellers on this sphere of ours is increasing. We find thousands packed in the same space that used to accommodate hundreds, and myriads where we used to find thousands; not here alone do we find it so, but in every commercial city of the civilized world. Ask the Englishman, the Frank, the Russian, the Austrian, the Prussian, the Greek, or our new-found friends, the Japanese—they will all tell you the same tale: increase of population, increase of price of real estate. The Building News mentions, as a striking instance of the increase in the value of property in South London, that in 1855, the Angell Town estate, North Brixton, yielded £300 yearly. The rateable value of the houses built upon it is now £27,620.

HOW LONG WILL HIGH PRICES CONTINUE?

The speculative tide which has governed real estate for the last three months, appears to be nearly, if not quite, at the flood; and take it as it stands to-day, it has reached an altitude which few if any of us expected, and still its course may continue to be onward and upward for some time to come. But the indications are that it has about reached its mark. Now is a good time to sell; it is rather doubtful that better prices will be reached this season, not that there is any fear of a disastrous reaction, such as affects the stock market periodically, but property in some localities has realized prices which border on the fancy, and holders who have bought for speculative purposes will do well to turn them over. Those who have bought for their own use and behoof will not be materially affected by a fall in prices, as it will be certain to pick up again next season. Real estate, like articles of merchandise, is liable to fluctuate in price; but it is always the last thing to go up, and the last to come down. Dry goods, leather, grain, building materials, labor, and all kinds of merchandise and produce, have each had their rise in price—and now solid old real estate takes its turn. It is possible that every article of merchandise may sooner or later return to the old fashioned prices in vogue before the war, but real estate, go down when it will or how it may, can never reach old fashioned prices again. All the real estate on this island, every foot of it, is bespoke by the next generation; it will be wanted by them, not for dwellings, but for business purposes; they will erect their habitations far away out in the suburbs, and by that time they will have a cheap, quick and effective means of transit. And the legions of mechanics and laborers, instead of living in five-story tenements, will lodge in some village twenty miles away, and travel to and from the city, at the rate of forty miles an hour and at a cost of one cent per mile.

Those will be the golden days for real estate: prices that are thought to be enormous now, will then dwindle into comparative nothingness. This whole country is bound to be the great commercial centre of the world, and the city of New York the world's metropolis. San Francisco is also sure to become the future entre port of the Pacific, and may possibly rival New York. The Pacific Railroad, when finished, will give us the monopoly of the shortest route to the East. Our central geographical position, the vast extent of territory which we control, and the natural productions of the country, which rank amongst the richest and are the most varied and inexhaustible in the world, are positive assurances of our future greatness. The future is before us, bright, brilliant, and promising; the past has had its joys and, unhappily, its sorrows. "Let the dead past bury its dead." With a united country our national debt will be a small matter; as to repudiation, that word might have been in Uncle Sam's dictionary once, but Young America has scratched it o it. Be not afraid, this is the veritable land of promise, and New York will be the New Jerusalem.

WHAT IS SAID OF US.

From every side we are encouraged by the encomiums of business men, who say the Real Estate Record supplies an indispensable want. Insurance people tell us that in time it must be kept on file in every insurance office in this section; lawyers admit that our judgments and mortgages are a necessity for them; banks also; bill brokers; all who lend money; people in business of all kinds, especially those interested in building materials, say they cannot do without the RECORD. The following is a specimen of the kind of letters we receive:

NEW YORK, April 4, 1866.

Editor Real Estate Record:

HAVING subscribed for your valuable paper, the "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE," we have found it to be the very thing we were so much in want of. It saves us a great deal of trouble and expense by bringing to our office and under our notice in a most compact and convenient form, that very information which would otherwise have been imperfectly ascertained after much trouble, time, and expense.

We think no real estate office is complete without it. It must recommend itself also to the members of the legal profession; and we have no doubt that it will soon have its place on the files in every lawyers' office.

We write to inform you that we have received only the first and third numbers of the RECORD, and have not seen the second number; at the same time we have taken the opportunity of expressing our opinion of your enterprise, and of wishing you every success.

Yours, respectfully,

S. B. GOODALE & Co.

REAL ESTATE FOR THE YEAR.

The recapitulation of our previous report of the amount of sales of real estate, from the 1st of January to the 25th of March, and the amount of sales from that date to the first of April as given below, shows conclusively what rapid strides the market for real estate has made in the short space of the three months last past. In January the sales amounted to $7,746,210, which was considered a very fair opening. In February they amounted to $8,889,950, this indicated a healthy market. But it was reserved for the month of March to tell the story, the sales for that month having reached the unprecedented amount of $16,629-147, nearly eclipsing the amount sold in January and February combined. The month of April has thus far opened well, but, (unless appearances are very deceitful) it is doubtful if there will be any further increase. The market is beginning to show symptoms of steadiness, if not decline.

Total amount of sales (as previously reported)—

January 1st, to March 25th,	30,375,342

NEW DRY-GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.

A new store is being built at the corner of the Bowery and Bleecker st., for Messrs. Sugden & Bradbury, and will be opened shortly as a retail dry-goods establishment. The building is about fifty feet front by one hundred deep, three stories high, with an iron front. It is being built in the best manner, and will be finished in the most appropriate style. The two young proprietors graduate from the store of Messrs. Lord & Taylor, being relatives of Mr. Lord, who owns the land and starts them in business for themselves. With so advantageous a beginning, they will undoubtedly rise to a high position as business men. The new store will be an ornament and a great improvement to that section of the city.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

THE City Railroad Company are about to put down a set of patent chilled iron switches at the foot of Fulton street, in lieu of the turntable. Under the present system it costs $3,600 a year for the labor alone required to turn the cars on the table, and place them on their proper track. The cost of a complete set of patent switches is about $5,000. They require no personal attendance, and require less room.

SIX thousand eight hundred and five carriages, one thousand seven hundred and ten equestrians, and thirty-one thousand seven hundred and fifty persons visited Prospect Park during the week ending Saturday, April 4th.

LAND near Glen Cove is worth from $400 to $1,000 per acre.

A MINORITY report on the subject of the proposed contribution by the city of three millions of dollars towards the construction of the East River Bridge, was presented by Alderman Fisher at the regular weekly session of the Board of Aldermen, showing the reasons why the minority do not agree with the majority. The report states, first, that municipal corporations ought not to aid private enterprises by the investment of the public funds on credit. Second, the very feasibility of the project which is conceded. Third, the insufficiency of grounds on which it is considered impracticable to individual or associate effort. Fourth, the unreasonable addition to the public debt and taxes. The Board will take up the matter on Monday afternoon next.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE Croton water-works improvements include a new seven and a half feet main at High Bridge, capable of delivering 60,000,000 gallons a day; a storage reservoir, twenty-four miles above Croton Dam, 600 feet above tide water, flooding 300 acres; and a service reservoir, at Carmansville, holding 10,794,000 gallons, from which water can be forced 324 feet above high tide.

THE vane upon the New York Custom House, it is said, weighs twenty tons; inside of the dome it has an indicator thirty-seven feet long, and over one hundred feet above the heads of the people below. The shaft running up through the roof is forty-six feet long. The arrow outside, which shows which way the wind blows, is made of wrought iron, and is twenty-four feet long, and the feathered end is four feet and a half wide and ten feet long.

THE Lewiston (Me.,) Journal says that Messrs. Norton & Abbot have just purchased a 15-horse Power Steam Engine, and Capron's Patent Brick Machine, at a cost of about $4,000, and will commence at once the making of brick with the new machinery in their yard in that city. Mr. Norton claims that this machine will make brick of a quality equal to pressed brick, as cheap as ordinary brick are made in the ordinary way. Its capacity is about four millions in seven months.

THE MASONIC TEMPLE. The whole cost of the Masonic Temple in Boston, dedicated last June, has been $418,532 03. The cost of the furniture, including organ, has been $35,000, making a total cost of $453,532 03.

CHICAGO has invested $2,000,000 in street railroads, but, they have paid no dividends for some years, the officers say.

THERE are 295,476 acres of salt marshes in New Jersey.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THERE are in the city of Oshkosh, Wis., 2,159 dwelling houses; 220 buildings occupied for the sale of goods; 101 manufactories; 12 churches, with a membership of 3,259, and 1,365 Sabbath school scholars; 127 streets; population, 12,370.

ABOUT 325,000 feet of rock-maple, birch, bass and dogwood are transformed, annually, into bobbins, spools, cleaners and skewers for cotton, at a single works in Lewiston, Me.

A BOSTONIAN offers to build a bridge to East Boston, worth one million dollars, if he can have the tolls, which will be $500 per day.

THE value of the church property in St. Louis is $2,499,825.

A NEW City Hall is proposed for Cincinnati at a cost of a million dollars.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

In 1848. a piece of land in New York, known as the Talman estate was offered for sale by its then owner for $6,500, without finding a purchaser. Recently it was sold by auction, in lots, and realized $1,240,300.

The fine property on the south-east corner of Third avenue and One hundred and Twenty-fourth street, measuring 41.6 feet on the avenue by 80 on the street, has just been sold by Mr. Monroe, to the corporation known as the Harlem Savings Bank, for $16,000, and a new first-class building for the bank is about to be erected thereon.

The market for real estate during the past week has not exhibited so much spirit. The auction sales have been numerously attended, but the bidders appear less anxious than they did a week or two ago; there have been fewer knock-downs, and less inquiry; nevertheless all the property sold realized very fair and remunerative prices, with the exception of some lots of Brooklyn property, which were sold very cheap on Monday last. Amongst the most notable is a plot of twenty-three lots, 12 on 37th street, and 11 on 38th street, 25x100.2, to Rufus Lott, for $2,500.

WE understand that one of the heaviest lumber houses has just purchased sixteen lots on the North River front, between 21st and 22d sts., and will shortly carry on a portion of an extensive business in that locality. The consolidation of different houses in the same trade, is beginning to be considered of advantage to each, and will be specially so in this instance.

MARKET REVIEW.

BUILDING STONE.—The demand is not very brisk at the moment for the finer qualities, but still the yards manage to keep a pretty full force of men at work, and dealers generally anticipate a good steady trade during the season. No essential change has occurred in value ssince our last, though in a few weeks, when it is known what the cost of the rough material will be, some slight alterations may be decided upon. The value of labor, also, has considerable influence upon the market, as the stone-cutters are liable at any moment to inaugurate a strike, and the trade unions being so well organized as to render resistance almost useless during the busy season, employers generally find it advisable to make the best terms possible, and get the additional cost from the consumer; though, of course, where contracts have already been made this cannot be done. The favorite for private residences is, of course, the free stone, of which there are several varieties. The most commonly used, however, is the well known brown stone, which not only makes up entire fronts, but is largely used in brick houses in the shape of sills, lintels, stoops, etc.; and of these we give a full table of quotations in another column. The brown stone for this market is received mainly from the State of Ohio, the principal quarries being the Berea and Black River. From Connecticut there is received a lighter shade of free stone, but of light tints the favorite is probably that from Dorchester, New Brunswick, which has a very neat effect if proper architectural taste is displayed in the arrangement of the fronts of buildings. The latter class of stone has recently found considerable favor with banks, insurance companies, and for large wholesale stores, though it faces many very elegant mansions in the upper section of the city. On regular standard plain work all grades of free stone sell at about the same figure, though when a bidder desires to elaborate the cost can be run up to almost any extent. Marble is coming more into use for large public buildings of grand proportions, where a display of fine and attractive work is sought for, and in many instances is preferred for stores; but for private residences there is comparatively little wanted. A bed of fine marble runs from the southern to the northern end of Westchester County, and from this New York draws its principal supply. Granite, without making much display, enters largely into the composition of buildings, and the business in this class of stone is on the increase. A law, passed some few years ago, makes it necessary that granite blocks at least a foot thick shall be placed under all columns and girders; while for enclosing bank vaults, and like purposes, it is invaluable. It also has a decided preference with builders for use as sill-cornices for stores, and other points over which there is a large amount of travel, being so little subject to wear from friction. As a flagging it is also increasing in favor, and when properly laid makes a sidewalk at once durable and ornamental, and in the end cheaper—seldom, if ever, getting out of repair. Granite is quarried for this market in Maine, Connecticut, and Massachusetts, and as that from the latter State generally brings the highest price it is probably the best in quality. The price of granite in the rough varies from 75c. to $1.50 per cubic foot, according to the size of the block. The granite cutters, during the past week, struck for an increase from $4.00 per day to $4.50, and finally compromised at $4.25 per day of ten hours, and nine hours on Saturday, out-door work. The blue stone sold here is mostly in the shape of flagging and curbing, for which there is generally a good steady demand the year round, though at times with an unusual number of new streets being opened and graded, more activity occurs. There is, however, a large amount used for other purposes, such as coping, sills and lintels on factories, stables, the rears of second-class dwellings, etc., and for pier plates, where the work is not unusually heavy. Of native stone, or bastard granite, used for foundations, there is sufficient on this island for many years to come, as a visit to the upper wards, or to the immense quarries on the East River, at foot of 43d street, will sufficiently prove to any one who may be curious upon the subject; though during an unusual heavy demand last year the facilities for getting stock out were so restricted that it was found necessary to send to Connecticut for a supply. The prices of the inferior stock or common building stone, varies very materially, according to the locality where the delivery is to be made. Below 34th street, or thereabouts, a load will cost from $3.00 to $4.50; while from 42d street up, there is no regularity of prices whatever, rates sometimes being even below the expense of quarrying and carting. Base and pier stone, however, have a standard grade of values, and these we have embodied in our table of quotations. The stone market is seldom subject to violent fluctuations, but we shall watch prices with care, and keep our readers posted on any changes that may occur.

BRICK.—The brick sloops are making trips to and fro between the yards and this city with great regularity, and the stocks begin to accumulate quite rapidly. This, coupled with a continued moderate demand, has a weakening effect, and we again note a falling off in prices—the market closing rather heavy even at the decline. The fact is, bricks have been relatively very much higher than other building material, and now that the first rush of the season is over and builders feel better assured that the supply will hold out pretty well up to the middle of May, when the new production commences, it is absolutely necessary to reduce prices, in order to induce any fair amount of business. Manufacturers complain of the scarcity of derible wood, but it is probable that a sufficient quantity will be on hand when it is required. The estimated receipts of bricks at this point, since the opening of the season, is 10,000,000 of all kinds. Very few Philadelphia fronts have come in as yet, but purchases have been made, and arrivals looked for in a few days. During the week 15,600 bricks were exported to New Grenada.

CEMENT.—The price remains unchanged, but we note a more active market; the larger arrivals being quickly disposed of upon landing; and, in fact, manufacturers are selling close up to production, without difficulty.

FOREIGN WOODS.—We make some advance on figures for cedar, for which the demand at present is quite active; but otherwise the market is without change to note. The greater bulk of this class of woods is sold at auction, and importers seldom allow much stock to accumulate on their hands. Receipts, 42 logs Mahogany and 132 logs Cedar, from Grand Cayman. Shipments, 858 logs Cedar to Bremen.

GLASS.—The demand for window glass has been comparatively light during the past week, but the market retains a steady, firm tone, on all grades. The arrivals have been moderate, but unless an unexpectedly active inquiry should spring up dealers generally have an ample supply to meet all present calls. A better trade is looked for at an early day, and it is thought that business will gradually increase as the summer advances. The imports for the week were 8,775 packages, value $22,177; and 134 do. Plate, value $21,661.

HAIR.—We find a fair amount of activity in this market, but considerable irregularity. The common cattle hair is in ample supply and freely offered at about last weeks rates; if anything, the tendency rather in buyers' favor; but mixed hair is quite firm. Goat hair has become very scarce, and the high figures at which the small supply on sale is held prevents buyers from operating. One of the principal causes for the reduction of the stock of the latter style of hair is the improving demand from mattrass makers, who use it to mix with better qualities, and willingly pay prices far higher than builders can afford to do. This, of course, increases the demand for the lower grades, and the business is now principally mixed and cattle.

LIME.—The demand during the past week has been quite brisk, principally from wholesale dealers who have been stocking up in view of an anticipated good business to commence at an early day, and the sales made have considerably reduced the supply in the hands of receivers. Prices have been more in buyers' favor; and while no decided falling off can be quoted on common, the rate of lump is reduced to $2.00 per bbl. for large parcels. Of North River ground we hear of a few arrivals per railroad, which has sold on a basis of our quotations.

LATH.—There is an improving demand for Eastern lath, and with but a moderate supply to offer, holders are obtaining better prices, the market at the present writing being very firm at $3.50 per M. For parcels to arrive there has also been some inquiry, and bids were made well up to market rates. Sales of 500,000 on private terms.

METALS.—With the exception of a still further reduction in the supply of zinc, and a consequent stiffening of rates, we have no important features to advise under this head, the business being mostly in job lots at previous figures.

NAILS.—The demand has been moderate for all descriptions, and prices are not very strong at 5¾@5¾c. per lb. for cut 4d and 6d.

PAINTS AND OILS.—There is an active jobbing demand for all descriptions, but particularly lead and zinc bases; and with the supply of pure leads and oxide zincs very greatly reduced, prices have been advanced the general market closing very strong. Linseed oil at the present time is selling mainly in small parcels, dealers being well supplied by lots contracted for some time back, and now in course of delivery. Prices, however, are quite firm at $1.18@$1.20 in casks, and $1.21@$1.23 in bbls. There has been shipped from this port during the week 139 packages paint, valued at $1,676, and 332 gallons linseed oil, valued at $450.

PITCH.—The market is quiet and unchanged with small sales at $3.37½@$3.50 for city, and $3.50 for southern.

TAR.—We find rather less doing in this market since our last, but the majority of holders are still steady at $2.87½@$3.25 for North county, and $3.00@$3.50 for Wilmington. The receipts at this port have been as follows: For the week, 1,735 bbls.; since January 1st, 7,184, and same time last year, 5,970. Exports for week, 100 bbls.; since January 1st, 1,204 bbls.; and same time last year, 732.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—There has not been a very heavy amount of business doing, and on wholesale parcels prices rather droop, but on retail lots no important concession has as yet been made. The removal of the tax begins to have some effect, and unless the supply runs unexpectedly short no further improvement is looked for. We quote at 66@67c. in large lots, and 68c. from second hands. The receipts for the week were 585 bbls. Since Jan. 1, 9,287 bbls., and for same period last year 9,863 bbls Shipments for week 300 bbls; since Jan. 1, 3,141 bbls., and same time last year 7,094.

SLATE.—We have nothing new calling for special note under this head. The weather has been unpropitious for out-door work, and the call upon the yards in consequence has been mostly for small parcels necessary to fill out contracts and finish up uncompleted jobs. The receipts, however, are insignificant, and dealers remain firm.

LUMBER.—We cannot say there is a decided improvement for the week, but the market certainly has assumed a more cheerful and healthy tone, and from a large proportion of the yards reports come of a much better business, the sales slowly but surely increasing. Desirable stock, say 1@1¼@1½ inch, is quite scarce, and this interferes somewhat with free sales, but as large purchases have been made at Albany the supply will probably soon be increased. The shipping demand is also growing larger, though comparatively little stock has come out as yet. We note sales for export of 600,000 feet white pine shipping boards at $28.00 ₱ M.; 136,000 feet white pine timber at 24c. per foot; 60,000 feet Eastern spruce to arrive at $19.00, and 65,000 feet do. on private terms. The receipts at this port coastwise during the week include 1,484 parcels lumber from New Orleans, 70,075 shingles from Wilmington, N. C., 135,350 do. from Washington, and 4,440 staves from Beaufort. The exports for week ending April 7, were as follows: To Dutch West Indies, 9,000 feet; to British West Indies, 12,000 feet; to British Australia, 84,809 feet; to Hayti, 25,019 feet; to Mexico, 2,104 feet; to New Grenada, 24,571 feet; to Brazil, 292,363 feet; to Cisplatine Republic, 156,356 feet, and to China 19,730 feet. Total 625,952 feet, valued at $21,162. There was also shipped to Hayti 150,000 shingles, valued at $883. The aggregate of staves shipped to all points was 202,300. Our advices from the East and West report a temporary lull in business, owing in a great measure to unfavorable weather; but, as a general thing, the tone of the market was steady, and in some cases rather better. Opinions differ somewhat as to the amount of timber cut during the past winter, but nearly all agree in placing the figures rather below last year. From East Saginaw, Mich., we learn: "A large number of logs are detained in all the inferior streams for lack of water to float them.

IT is estimated that there are about 10,000,000 feet of logs on the south branch of Bad River; on Beaver Creek and other tributaries about 5,000,000; on White Creek 12,000,000; on Sucker Creek about 7,000,000, and on the Little Salt something over 2,000,000. This will make an aggregate of 36,000,000 feet of logs which cannot come down the present season unless there is a heavy fall of rain, and that within a very short time. There is no possibility of an overstock, and present prospects indicate a considerable falling off from last year's supply.

At the south trade appears to be rather dull, and prices somewhat unsettled. Considerable lumber has been going from the port of Savannah, but mostly on back orders; and at the moment, shippers are taking nothing, their bids being far below the views of mill owners. Only a few rafts of timber have recently arrived at Savannah, from whence we have dates to 3d inst., but even these were not wanted, and the supply is ample for all present demands. The nominal quotations were for lumber as follows: Ordinary sizes, $20 @ $22; difficult, $24 @ $30, and narrow flooring boards, $21 @ $23. Mill timber dull at $7 50 @$10 per M; large sizes $11 @ $12. Shipping timber small, $11 @ $14; do. large $15 @ $20.

From St. Johns, New Brunswick, we have reports to March 28, as follows:

FREIGHTS.—There is little to note in regard to the state of the freight market this week, except that a few charters have been effected for Liverpool, fixing the rate of freight for the moment, so far as that port is concerned. The charters referred to are as follows: New ship MORNINGTON, about 1,350 tons, just launched, deals, 72s. 6d.; HELEN MORRIS, 1,285, now in Boston, 72s. 6d; VIRGINIA, 930, to arrive from a Southern port, deals, 72s. 6d., birch, 27s. 6d.—all for Liverpool.

West India freights are quiet, with but few transactions. The charters reported are: ANNIE, 193, at 25c and $7.50; CAMBRIDGE, 173, same rates; KING BIRD, 149, at $7.50; ALVA, 158, at $7.25; TROPIC BIRD, 139, shooks under deck, 24c., lumber on deck, $7.20—all for Cardenas or Matanzas; CHEVIOT, 215, north side Cuba, $7.75.

Coastwise freights without any material change. The following transactions are reported: LOUISA, 117, Newport, for orders, $4 75; VILLAGE BELLE, 70, at $3.60, and ELEANOR JANE, 72, at $3.50, both for Boston.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

For the Week ending April 7, 1868 (Albany Argus).

From a large number of the principal towns and villages along the Hudson, as well as New York City, there has been quite a large attendance of buyers throughout the week, and the market generally has presented an animated appearance. Several pretty large transactions were reported, and the stocks have become materially depleted, with no possibility of any increase until the opening of the Eastern Division of the Erie Canal. On clear lumber prices have somewhat improved, and all styles are extremely firm, closing rather buoyant. There is a regular, steady sale of stock for New Jersey and for the East, though from the latter direction the inquiry is scarcely so active as last week. The movement of cargoes down the river is increasing, and vessels are loading as fast as circumstances will allow.

Freights continue active at full previous figures, and the closing rates are as follows:

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN.

A neat, handsome, well-located brick cottage in Orange, New Jersey, for sale for something less than $8,000. It is handsomely furnished, but of course, the furniture, if needed, would be extra. The lot is 75x140, and is filled with shade and fruit trees. A fine barn and tool-house go with the property. The house has thirteen rooms, and is very convenient. Business, compelling the present owner to come to the city, is the only reason for selling. It is about five minutes walk from either the Orange or Brick Church Stations. For particulars inquire at house, Elm street, near Hillyer (yellow brick cottage), or of D. G. Croly, World office, N. Y. City.

HARLEM PROPERTY, IN 120TH STREET, n. side, 100 feet west of First avenue, for sale. A three-story brick-house, high stoop and basement, 16½x44, situated on lot 16½x100.11, with a gore adjoining on which is a stable. Price, $13,000. For particulars apply to

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" is published every Saturday at No. 37 Park Row, Room 31. It furnishes the following information:

1. All the Real Estate Conveyances during the week in New York and Kings Counties, with the names of buyer and seller.

2. All the Mortgages entered for the same period in New York and vicinity.

3. The Judgments entered in the two counties against delinquent or unfortunate debtors.

4. A list of the recent bankrupts throughout the United States.

5. Full information respecting the local real estate market.

6. A complete and accurate report of the market for building materials.

With one exception (real estate) all the above are new features in the newspaper business. It is a singular fact that so far the great building interest of the nation has been so inadequately represented in the periodical press. This Record, therefore, is indispensable to the following occupations:

Architects,	Lumber Dealers,
Auctioneers,	Lime Dealers,
Builders,	Merchants,
Brick Makers and Dealers,	Metal Workers,
Bankers,	Marble Dealers,
Bill Brokers.	Paint Merchants,
Contractors,	Plumbers,
Cement Dealers,	Planing Mills,
Glue Dealers,	Plaster of Paris,
Hardware for Houses,	Real Estate Owners,
Hair,	Slate Dealers,
Insurance Interest,	Window Glass Dealers,

and a large number of kindred occupations. General advertisers will see the value of the RECORD as a business medium.

THE LIFE INSURANCE HUMBUG.

"LIFE is uncertain. Death is sure!" says the insurance agent, as he stalks into your place of business, like a bird of evil omen, and tries to scare you into the belief that you really ought to get your life insured; and if you give him any encouragement, a dialogue, similar to the following, generally occurs:

AGENT.—"Now, really, sir, from your appearance you ought to be insured. How old may you be, sir?"

GENTLEMAN.—"Oh, about thirty-five."

AGENT.—"Humph. Under the most favorable circumstances, you will probably not live to be more than twice that age. Only think of it, half your life gone for a certainty, nay, more than half, for according to the mortuary tables the average age is but forty-five years, so that you may actually be upon the brink of the grave even now."

GENTLEMAN.—"Do you think I look like a dying man?"

AGENT.—"No; but appearances are often very deceitful. Why, sir, I insured a gentleman one day, for $20,000, who was the very picture of health, and that day week he was a corpse, and the last words that he spoke were these: 'Do not grieve for me, dear friends; I am quite contented to die; I have robbed death of its sting by getting my life insured; go thou and do likewise.'"

And with this kind of argument he has succeeded five times out of ten in disposing of his policies. But the eyes of the people are beginning to open. They begin to wonder how it is, that men who were once too poor to pay their grocer, can now ride in their barouche, and drive a la tandem to the races, occupy the best pew at church, a box at the Opera, and dwell in a superb brown stone mansion away up among the crême de la crême of society—and all out of the income they derive from the percentage they are allowed on the premiums that they collect from the insured. Mind you, these men are but the agents, who are supposed to get the crumbs merely. Now, is it reasonable to suppose that these life insurance companies can afford to pay to their agents the heavy percentage they do, ranging, as we have been assured it does, from fifteen to twenty, and, in some instances, to twenty-five per cent., said percentage being allowed not only upon the first premium, but upon every dollar that is paid in upon each and every policy that has been issued through the instrumentality of the agent. Can they afford to do this and prosper? The idea is preposterous. Why, if every person that is now insured should live to the full age allotted to man, always supposing that they, the insured, pay all their premiums promptly to the end of the term agreed upon, the profits would not admit of such a heavy percentage, unless they should happen to invest their funds in a mine that would produce a nugget of gold as big as a sugar loaf for every single dollar so invested; for it must be borne in mind that the officers of life insurance companies draw big salaries, and spend enormous amounts annually for advertising purposes, some of which are of the most costly description. Some few weeks ago, a gentleman in our hearing, while riding in one of the Brooklyn cars, said to a neighbor, with whom he was conversing on the subject of insurance: "Do you see that large mansion surrounded by trees, that one with an observatory on the top of it?" pointing in the direction. "I do," said the other. "Well, that was all bought out of percentage on policies of life insurance, and the present owner, a year or two ago, had judgments against him to the amount of fifty thousand dollars; he did not own a dollar in the world; he is rich now, however, and has also paid off all his debts." In view of such revelations as these, it is no wonder that such eminent authority upon life insurance as Elizur Wright should say: "Never since financiering became an art or a science has any scheme been invented whereby fraud can be rendered so respectable and secure as this life insurance, with the most noble and indispensable object in the world; its methods are inscrutable to the public, and its ways past finding out. If the government does not, in a thorough, scientific, and comprehensive manner, watch the companies or set them to watching each other, twenty years cannot roll away before all the frauds on the treasury, of which we now hear so much, will be eclipsed and made insignificant by those of life insurance. One ounce of prevention now is better than one thousand 'pounds' of cure then." A man like Mr. Wright is not liable to make such remarks as these without having good grounds for believing that fraud in life insurance does exist, and that, too, to an alarming extent. Mr. Wright says the government should watch the companies; but in order to get the government to do so, the people must agitate the matter, and the way to do it is to call a meeting at once, and let every policy-holder attend that meeting; then appoint a competent committee of investigation; and if the report of the committee is not satisfactory, send a delegation to Albany with a petition, calling upon the government to investigate the matter, and to enact such laws as will compel each and every life insurance company to give full and ample security for the payment of all policies that are now and may be hereafter issued by them. A movement like this will shake all the rotten concerns to their very foundations; and if the earth in reality should gape and swallow them, it would be a fit retribution for all the misery they will cause to thousands of poor families who have and are daily stinting and impoverishing themselves in order to keep their policies paid up, with a full belief that if their natural provider should be taken away from them prematurely, they would have a certain amount of money to assist them in their hour of distress. This is the staff they lean upon. A staff that in majority of instances is sure to break when its help is most needed.

REPORT ON THE NEW POST-OFFICE.

IN our last issue we made some remarks about this building, which now appear almost prophetic. We expressed our fears that by the unwise employment of so many architects about the same design nothing satisfactory could result; and what we then treated as only probable has already been fully realized. Since then the report of the supervising architect of the Treasury Department, Mr. A. B. MULLETT, has been presented to Congress, and, judging by this report, the builders of Babel were in no greater quandary by the confusion of tongues than the five architects of our Post-Office seem to have been by their confusion of ideas.

The report is certainly one of the most scathing criticisms that we have ever seen upon a public structure; and while the very withholding of these plans from public inspection—of which we complained in our last—prevents us from forming any counter opinion, we are sorry to say that Mr. MULLETT'S objections throughout seem fortified by such irresistible arguments and data as to leave very little doubt that the present design for the Post-Office is a huge blunder, from beginning to end.

According to the report, the building is much larger than was originally called for, or than is at all necessary. It so completely covers the ground belonging to it as to have left no provision at all for light to its whole northern front, in the event of the remainder of the Park being ever built over, against which there is no guaranty. The whole arrangement of the interior courts for receipt and delivery of mails is condemned as inconvenient, expensive in working, bad for the distribution of light, destroying the quietude necessary for the courts above, and even affecting the stability of the building by constant vibration. The rooms for courts and officers of judiciary are described as equally bad in arrangement, the most ordinary provisions for courts of law having been omitted altogether; without any private entrance or private rooms for judges, a library or consultation room for the circuit or district court, provision for witnesses, or even access from the courts to jury-rooms without passing through the public corridors. Then again the building is made to cost considerably more than a million dollars over what Mr. MULLETT proves, by elaborate estimates, the same building could be erected for, solid and fireproof, if treated in the usual manner. This in ordinate excess of cost is caused by the absurd introduction of iron everywhere, not only for structural, but ornamental purposes, and where it is of no possible use. Thus we have not only iron interior partitions covered with wrought-iron laths, but wrought-iron fencing to all exterior walls, iron panelled ceilings, iron door and window frames, and even iron architraves and surbases. Some idea of the inordinate use of this material may be gleaned from the fact that in a building proposed to cost over three millions and a half, the carpenter's work is estimated at only $102,000, or less than three per cent., and this including scaffolding and centring!

If the people of New York already felt themselves sufficiently outraged by the proposed destruction of that invaluable little space about the City-Hall—no matter by how good and beautiful a building—what will be the popular indignation when it becomes generally understood that this space is to be encumbered by a huge pile of malformation, distinguished for nothing but its egregious costliness and want of adaptation to its purpose. There is now but one cure for us, and that is for Congress to strenuously resist all appropriations for the purpose until our Post-Office authorities are able not only to procure us a better building for our money, but—what is of equal importance to the city—a better locality on which to erect it.

THE TERRIBLE CALAMITY IN CHICAGO.

THE accounts which reach us, of the awful occurrence at St. Mary's Church, Chicago, on the night of Good-Friday, by which, owing to some unaccountable panic, the whole crowded congregation rushed for the doors, causing the death and serious maiming of many people, give but another painful example of the little caution used for the provision of proper means of escape in just such emergencies. We are told by the Chicago Tribune that "to preserve quiet, the doors of the church, which open inwards, had been closed." When shall we have some law rigidly prohibiting all places built for large accumulations of people, whether theatres, lecture halls, or churches, from being constructed with doors "which open inwards?" Common sense alone might point out the danger of such an arrangement, even if this last catastrophe at Chicago had not just added one more to the horrid list of tragedies which have periodically shocked the whole community, from the heart-rending destruction of the old Richmond Theatre down to the present time.

WE see that several trades are on partial strikes. The carpenters of Orange, N. J., demand $3,50 per day, and, as a consequence, building is at a stand still in that beautiful town. Masons still get $4.00 per day in the suburban towns, and other workmen in the same proportion. With labor at these prices, and the cost of material still high, there is not much show for cheap houses or moderate rents this year. When all the elements that enter into the composition of houses, are costly, there can be no reduction in prices. A stoppage of the demand for houses or general poverty, may cause a reduction of price; but when that occurs, labor will be unemployed and willing to make concessions not now dreamed of.

FUTURE HOMES OF THE POOR.

A great amount of architectural talent and inventive genius has been devoted to contriving efficient plans for an improved mode of building habitations for the working classes. As long ago as 1851 the subject called so loudly for improvement, that the late Prince Albert himself took up the theme, and invented a new style of building, so constructed, that a number of families might live in the same house without being obliged to come in contact, each having a separate means of egress and ingress. Those of our readers who visited the World's Fair, in Hyde Park, will probably remember that there were several of these buildings erected on the ground. They were called model houses. Since that time there have been hundreds of plans suggested, and a great many new houses have been built, which certainly are very much more comfortable and healthy than the old, particularly those which have lately been erected by the managers of the Peabody fund in the city of London. There is also a system of building tenement houses in vogue in the city of Paris which is very highly spoken of. These houses are called flats, and it is stated that the most fastidious nobleman can dwell in them, surrounded by all the elegance that his taste and station may require, although the occupant of the floor above may be a chimney-sweep or a scavenger.

Our own tenement houses have at present very little to recommend them; in fact it is only lately that they have become at all fit for human beings to live in. The Health Commission has done a great deal towards improving their sanitary condition, and the very able and efficient Superintendent of Buildings has done, and is doing, all he can to make them comparatively safe in case of fire, by compelling the landlords to attach fire escapes to every tenement, as the case requires. These fire-escapes have been the means of saving several lives already; but still there are many frame buildings unprovided with them —buildings which bear all the outward appearance of a private dwelling, but in which, in reality, there are as many families as there are rooms. We refer to such man-traps as those which were consumed by fire last Tuesday in Rivington street, in which no less than four persons were so badly burned and injured that their lives are despaired of, and one little girl, eight years old, was burned to death. Such scenes as these are heart-rending in the extreme, and rank among the leading horrors connected with the present tenement-house system. But not all the plans for model houses or Parisian flats, that are, or may ever be, in existence—be they never so perfect, nor all the fire-escapes that may be applied, howsoever ingenious and practicable they may be, backed up by the most thorough and efficient Health Commission that ever had the sanitary care of mortals—can ever effectually stop the ravages of fire or the spread of pestilence, until the habitations of the working classes of New York are spread over a wider area of ground—to the North, East, and West, not skyward, like so many miniature Babels. The daughters and sons of toil of the present day believe in breathing fresh air, and sleeping in comparative security. The dangers of labor are quite hazardous enough; why should their homes of repose be interrupted by the constant dread of fire, and their lives made short and miserable by diseases contracted through living in the fœtid atmosphere of an over-loaded tenement, where live human beings are packed nearly as close as dead herrings in a barrel. Why should they be compelled to see their offspring degenerate into sickly, puny beings, and all for the want of that which God ordained should be free to all, when there are thousands of acres lying within an area of twenty miles, upon which suitable homes might be built, and which they would eagerly occupy, if there was cheap, quick, and ready means of transit. This they must have sooner or later, for more reasons than those already enumerated. Before fifty more years shall have been added to the calendar of the past, every foot of ground on the Island of Manhattan will be required for business purposes exclusively, and the hundreds of thousands of operatives that are now domiciled within the city limits, with their increase, will be compelled to find homes in such places as New Rochelle and Yonkers, Brooklyn, Astoria, and Jamaica, and away over the Hudson in the vicinity of Orange Mountain. But in order to make these and kindred places available for homes, bridges and tunnels will have to be built across both rivers at convenient points, for instance, across Buttermilk Channel, from Atlantic street, Brooklyn, to Governor's Island, from thence across to the Battery, connecting at that point with a steam railroad, the Arcade for instance; another, as in contemplation, at Fulton Ferry; another from South Seventh street to Grand street, New York, which would make a continuous thoroughfare from the North River to East New York, connecting at that point with the route of the Jamaica Railroad; another bridge will be needed from Astoria to Blackwell's or Randall's Island, and from thence over to New York, in the neighborhood of Fifty-seventh street. All these weather bridges or tunnels must be connected with steam railroads, elevated or underground, as the topography of the several routes may, upon survey, indicate. This is the age of lightning, and in order to keep pace with it, we must travel at lightning speed. England, whom we have been accustomed to look upon as an old fogy, wedded to old-fashioned ideas, is to-day far ahead of us in the matter of locomotion, her system of pneumatics and steam railroads, the termini of which are all located in the heart of the city of London, has relieved the metropolis of thousands of families who heretofore lived in filth and squalor, in such localities as St. Giles, Spitalfield, and Shoreditch; and the rookeries in which they lived have long since been torn down, and splendid stores have been erected on their sites.

England has bridged and tunneled the Thames, and connected the Island of Angelsea with the mainland by means of an iron tubular bridge. She has established a thorough system of pneumatics and city steam transit roads. Why can't we do so, too? There is capital enough ready and willing to embark in each and all these projects, and there is engineering talent and inventive genius enough in this country to accomplish anything that mortal man can do. Combine these elements with a little leaven of our proverbial Yankee pluck, and do it. It must be done, and when it is done, this city of New York will be, what she will then deserve to be, the metropolis of the world.

WOODEN PAVEMENT.—The tax-payers of this city and Brooklyn seem to object, as a general thing, to paving any more streets with Nicholson pavement, until that which is already down has had a more thorough test. Many opinions have been publicly expressed, pro and con, as regards its merits and demerits. Amongst the most weighty are those of a morning contemporary, who says, that after a shower of rain it upheaves to such an extent that the surface is raised at least four inches above the grade, and the statement of the Superintendent of Streets of the city of Boston, who says, in a communication on the subject, that the city of Boston gave the Nicholson pavement a thorough trial several years ago, and it proved an entire failure, for the reason that it will not stand heavy travel, and that it is more slippery than any other pavement; so that, after trying it in several streets, they were obliged to abandon it as expensive and worthless.

That wooden pavement will ever compete successfully with stone, in point of durability, is very doubtful, but that it has some good qualities that stone does not possess is unquestionable—for instance, its noiselessness and the mellow surface which it presents to the feet of horses; but whether its good qualities will outbalance the bad, in comparison with the Belgian or any other pavement. is a grave question which cannot be decided but by actual experiment. The public of New York and Brooklyn have given it a fair opportunity to prove its merits; it will take time to do this, and the tax-payers know it; therefore they object, most emphatically, to being driven, against their will, into the purchase of any more, until that which is already down shall have proved satisfactory. They also object to being confined to any one wooden pavement, especially as that one seems to be governed by the corrupt rings of the Aldermanic and Councilmanic boards of the two cities. The Nicholson may have some good points, but the belief is pretty strong that there are other new methods of paving streets which are superior to it.

To those who wish to subscribe for and obtain a perfect file of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, from our first issue, we take the opportunity of impressing upon their minds the necessity of sending in their subscriptions immediateiy, as we have now left only a few copies of our first number, and after they are disposed of it will be impossible to obtain any more. Do not neglect this, but secure a file immediately.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

The Litchfield property will probably soon be annexed to the Prospect Park. The extention bill has passed the Senate, and there is no doubt it will soon become a law.

The contract for the new Pumping-Engine at Ridgewood, has finally been awarded to Messrs. Hubbard & Whittaker, of the Burdon Iron Works, who will commence the work immediately.

Mr. Roland Oliver Ingersoll, the opponent of the East River Bridge scheme, has turned up armed with the original document, in which he states Mr. Roebling estimated the cost of the entire work to be $3,000,000 two years ago. Mr. Ingersoll wants the job himself, but he would prefer to build a tunnel.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE real estate sales in Chicago week before las, amounted to $750,000.

BY an application two or three times repeated of acetic acid to the surface of plaster or cement, it can be made to take a coating of oil.

DURING the first quarter of 1867, 1,223 transfers of real estate were recorded in Cincinnati, while for the same period of 1868 there were 1,107 transfers. For the same time in 1867 were recorded 670 mortgages, while in 1868 the number for the first quarter was 584.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The market has been dull and sluggish, with no visible signs of improvement; in fact, the speculative season may be considered about over. The sales rooms of this city and Brooklyn have been rather numerously attended, but very few speculators exhibited any inclination to purchase, especially was this the case with New York property. Some very valuable and desirable property was offered, the most notable being a part of the estate of the late Daniel Devlin. Several of these lots were knocked down apparently as a feeler, after which the property was withdrawn from the market.

Messrs. Muller & Wilkins, however, disposed of a number of very valuable pieces, realizing (according to the present pulse of the market) very fair and remunerative prices: one of the most notable being a large three-story brick factory building, and three lots of ground on the west side of First avenue, twenty-four feet eight inches south of Twenty-ninth street, for $24,100. Mr. A. J. Bleecker also sold some very desirable west-side houses and lots, the most noted being No. 824 West 42d street, 17x50x1, to Jas. Head, for $12,800; No. 145, West 49th st., 22.05x100,4x1, to Jas. Williams, for $13,780, and No. 149 West 26th street, 15.11x55.6x2, to Mr. Sedgwick, for $15,500. Mr. D. M. Seaman also effected the sale of some very fine property, consisting of a two-story and attic brick house, 25x50, and lot 25x100, all modern improvements, No. 112 West Houston street, to Henry Tholl, for $17,500: also the three-story and attic brick house and store, No. 42 Carmine street, lot measuring 19x80, house 19x40, to Matthew Mallory for $12,150. Another fine piece was sold by E. H. Ludlow & Co., stituated at No. 134 East 39th street, consisting of a brick house and lot, with coach house and stable in rear—coach house 24x50, house 24x65—for $24,000.

The market for Brooklyn property has been more lively, and as a general thing realized better prices, than New York property. The sales by auction have been rather numerous, the bulk having been disposed of by Messrs. Johnson & Miller, who have sold about four hundred lots in all, principally unimproved, and by Messrs. Wyckoff and Little, who succeeded in disposing of some very desirable business lots situated on Fulton and Classon avenues, one lot on Fulton near Classon avenue realizing in the sum of $5,000. The lot measured 20x114.4 and was purchased by Mr. Ward. Messrs. Waterlow, auctioneers of this city, New York, have just sold two lots on the northeast corner of Ninth avenue and 36th street, to the Northwestern Dispensary, for $16,500, cash. The lots measure 50x100, on which will be erected immediately a very fine brown stone building covering the whole front on 9th avenue, 50 feet, and 85 feet deep. The first floor will comprise two fine stores each 25x100. The second floor is intended for a public Hall. The third floor will be occupied by the Northwestern Dispensary; and the fourth floor will probably be used for a Masonic lodge. Work on the building has already commenced.

We understand from Messrs. Ogden & Co., lumber dealers, that the property situated on the North River front, (between 21st and 22d streets), which we stated in our last issue was purchased by a lumber firm, was purchased by them individually, for the purpose of extending their business, and that they have no idea or wish to consolidate with any other firm.

Real Estate in Chicago continues to be very active, one hundred and ninety-six warrantee deeds having been placed on file in one week. There is a great demand for dwelling houses, but rents are not much higher, except in desirable localities on the South and West.

IMPROVEMENTS EAST OF BROADWAY.

Several large first-class stores are about to be erected east of Broadway; the most notable are the following:

A large first-class double store (No. 50 & 52 Franklin st.) for Wm. Watson, Esq.; Architect, J. Wall, Esq.; Contractor for the entire work, Mr. Jessie W Powers. Messrs. Moore & Bryant, we understand, will do the mason work, and Geo. R. Jackson, Burnet & Co. will furnish the iron work. The store will be finished by the 1st of November next.

Another first-class store will be erected on the lot No. 48 Franklin st., adjoining the above, by the same parties, for Mr. J. C. Buttre. Plans by the same architect.

Charles Zinn & Co., have made a contract to erect a first class store on the south side of Walker st. (No. 85) to be commenced immediately. Architect, Henry Lembach; Marc Eidletz, mason; Hennessy & Gibson, carpenters; Geo. R. Jackson, Burnet & Co., iron work.

The same parties will erect a first-class store on the lot next to St. Matthews' Church, Walker st., for Dr. Gescheidt. Several other first class stores will also be erected in Howard street, east of Broadway, during the coming summer.

The Express says, that "from present appearances, it is not probable there will be many removals in this city on the 1st of May—for the reason that but comparatively few houses, or parts of houses, are to let on this island, the parties occupying them concluding to hold on for another year. That is what the real estate agents say, and they ought to know. Rents above 14th street, on the whole, are about last year's mark, but below that line there are indications of an advance.

"On the other hand we are told there are more dwelling houses to rent and for sale in Brooklyn, just now, than has been the case for many years, and at prices not near so extravagant as those on Manhattan Island. Jersey City and Hoboken have but few dwellings in the market—but as many new ones are in course of construction, the supply bids fair, by and by, to equal the demand.

STUDENTS of architectural history may feel interested in the prize offered lately by the Belgian Academy of Science and Art for the best "Inquiry respecting the period at which the architecture of the Low Countries was affected by Italian influences, with indications of persons to whom such influence is attributable, and citations of works in illustration of the same." The premium offered is 1000 francs.

MARKET REVIEW.

BUILDING STONE.—In one or two instances we hear of rather more activity, particularly in the free stone yards, but the orders thus far received have been mostly in a small way; and cutters, as a general thing, are not driven. The granite dealers are quite busy, but their attention at the moment is given principally to cemetery work, for which the demand is active, as usual at this season of the year. Prices are without change to note.

BRICK.—The arrivals during the past week have been rather moderate, transportation being interfered with by the stormy weather, and as a consequence, the accumulation of stock is temporarily checked. This has given sellers a slight advantage, though there is no improvement in prices, except on the very best qualities of North River hard; the market closing steady, with a fair trade doing. Our estimates of receipts since the opening of navigation, published last week, we, upon more thorough inquiry, conclude to have been much too small; and instead of ten million, there has been at least double that amount, and probablynearer twenty-five million brick landed this spring. These, with something like thirty million still at the yards, and which are now available at any time, will give us an ample supply until the new production commences, and prevent an upward tendency to prices. Since our last, we note additional exports to New Grenada of 17,000 brick.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—A large proportion of the business in the articles heading these remarks is done by contract, and, of course, at prices governed altogether by the thousand and one shapes, sizes, and circumstances under which they are to be constructed. Still there is in existence several factories who have standard sizes, and are well patronized by city builders, as well as doing an extensive shipping trade, and in its proper columns will be found a table of quotations. At the present time trade is quite active, a fair amount of stock going into the interior and to foreign ports; while city work is much in demand. Some manufacturies are actually driven to complete contracts falling due between now and the first of May, particularly on store work.

CEMENT.—Business in this market is good; in fact, very lively, and though the receipts are daily showing a slight increase manufacturers state, that they have all they can do to supply the demand. There is, therefore, no surplus stock on hand, and no accumulation looked for during the next two or three weeks.

FOREIGN WOODS.—There has been a fair amount of business doing at the yards; and, as a general thing, prices remain quite firm, some of the better qualities rather working upward. At auction the following lots were disposed of: 415 logs Mansanilla Mahogany—a lot of old stock—at 6¾@7¼c. per foot, about all it was worth; 42 logs Cuba Mahogany, at 11@13c., very fair quality; 100 logs Nuevitas Mahogany, fine, at 14@14¾c.; 38 logs Mexican Mahogany, ordinary quality, 8½@11¼c.; and 100 Port au Platte Crotches at 20½c., usual terms.

The receipts have been 962 pcs. Lignumvitæ; 172 logs Rosewood; 3 do. Satin Wood; 286 do. Mahogany, and 70 do. Cedar. The shipments 23 bundles Mahogany to Antwerp.

HAIR.—Goat hair continues scarce and high, very few builders giving it any attention. Mixed and common, however, are selling to a fair extent, and the market is steady, at full previous rates.

GLASS.—We hear of only a small jobbing business in French window, enough probably being taken by dealers to prevent any very heavy accumulation of stock. Importers, however, still appear to feel confident, and though no large operators have yet made their appearance, they are expected as soon as means of transportation become more extensive. The amount of stock now on the way to this port is said to be light, as present prices give little or no margin for profit.

LIME.—Notwithstanding the persistency with which a large number of the daily and regular commercial papers continue to quote the market strong at the opening prices of the season, we beg to assure our readers, that at the decline noted in this column last week, lump is still plenty, and furthermore, receivers have now reduced the rate on common 25c. per bbl., bringing the quotation down to $1.25. The supply in the hands of receivers is quite moderate at the moment, and at ruling prices a fair, steady demand about exhausts the stock upon arrival. The Glens Falls lime is coming in in small quantities by railroad, and has thus far sold at about the same rate as Rockland.

LATH.—The inquiry has continued very active throughout the week, and the stock being small and easily controlled, holders have been successful in establishing a still further advance, with sales of 1,500,000, at $3.75 per M., leaving the market nearly bare. Several cargoes, however, are daily expected, and no further improvement is looked for in fact some dealers predict an early reaction, as current values are only justified by an unexpected light supply.

LABOR.—The supply of unskilled labor now in the city is large, but this has no effect upon the wages of experienced workmen, all trades now being banded together in so-called protective unions, who fix the rates at which members shall work; and in the majority of cases "Bosses" find it to their interests to accede to the terms proposed. At the moment there are no strikes in the city, the most recent being that of the granite cutters, who demanded $4 50 per day, and compromised on $4.25. In the suburban towns, however, there appears to be a movement for higher wages. At Orange the carpenters struck; but in some cases their requests had been complied with, and no important delay occasioned.

The stone-cutters of Newark, New Jersey, struck for $4.50 a day, being an increase of fifty cents a day.

The Brooklyn bricklayers have struck for $5 per day, and as there are many builders who are under contract to finish their houses by the first of May, much annoyance is expected,

The stone-cutters of Auburn, N. Y., at a meeting held last Thursday, resolved that no apprentice be taken for a term less than three years, and no two be taken by any one firm at the same time.

LUMBER.—At the yards the volume of business has been comparatively light since our last, the variable and unpleasant weather having the effect to induce buyers to hold off for a few days. Dealers, however, do not appear to be at all alarmed, and are quietly awaiting the good demand which they say is sure to come before many weeks have passed. In a few instances stocks have slightly augmented, but as a general thing the supply remains about as before. The shipping demand has been rather more active, but principally for small lots to fill out cargoes, though a scarcity of desirable vessels interferes somewhat with this trade; and were room more plenty larger lines could probably be sold. Eastern Spruce is not in large supply, but the stock is probably ample for all immediate wants. Southern yellow pine is scarce and held a little more confidently. The most recent sales are as follows:—540,000 feet Eastern Spruce at $20.00@22.00; 400,000 feet do., to arrive, at $20.00@$21.00; 90,000 feet Florida yellow pine, at $30.00; 80,000 feet Georgia yellow pine flooring, to arrive, at $33.00; 120,000 Cypress Shingles, 20 to 24 inch, at $15.00@$25.00; and 180,000 Cedar do., at prices not made known. The shipments have been as follows;

The shipment of staves was 37,160 against 202,300 last week. There has also been shipments from Mobile to Barcelona of 3,200 feet lumber, and 1,200 staves; from Wilmington to Cardenas, 115,000 feet lumber, and from Wilmington to St. John, P. R., 137,238 feet lumber. The receipts coastwise at this port have been as follows:—From Port Royal, S. C., 45,550 feet; from Jacksonville, Fla., 92,000 feet; from Pensacola 94,442 feet yellow pine lumber; and from Newberne, N. C., 201,000 shingles.

Our advices from all sections of the North and West indicate a brisk and lively business, with great firmness, and, in fact, in many cases considerable buoyancy to prices, based principally, it would seem to appear, upon an anticipated short supply. The past winter has undoubtedly been favorable for logging, and a large amount of timber has been cut, but the sudden falling of the water in nearly all the smaller streams, has left millions of feet unavailable for the present season, unless some unexpected freshet should come to the relief of lumbermen. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writing from East Saginaw, Mich., under date of March 31, 1868, remarks:

"The past winter has been remarkable for even temperature—average twenty-six degrees Fahrenheit—and for protracted sleighing. Good sleighing is a feature of vital importance to the main business interests of this section. But the 'breaking up' of winter has been unexpectedly early, and is a matter rather uncommon.

"About the middle of March we had a little rain, and since then some warm weather during the days, but freezing at night.

"In the lumber camps on the main streams everything has been lively for the past ten days, but those who were operating on the tributaries are, in technical language, 'hung up;' the water, having fallen rapidly, left some of them some way down the stream, and others, unable even to make a start toward running; their logs remain where they have been all winter, on their banking grounds. This is not a sensational report, but simply facts as they stand. There is good reason to predict an unusual degree of firmness on the part of manufacturers of lumber. The above cited state of affairs is a strong support in favor of high prices during the coming season.

"Below are the quotations of a few sales made on contracts, for 'new cut' mostly:

"March 20—3,000,000 feet, sold at $5.50, $11, and $35.

"March 21—1,000,000 feet sold at $5.50, $11, and $35.

"March 24—500,000 feet sold at $5.50, 11.50, and $35.

"March 25—400,000 feet sold at $6. $12, and $35.

"All of the above is yet to be manufactured, and in making these contracts, the feature of an advance of from $2.50 to $5.00 per thousand feet effected the bargain. There was one exceptional sale, which is no criterion to judge by. It was 400,000 feet of dry strips at $8 for culls, $16 for common, and $40 for uppers.

"Over three-fourths of the last year's sawing, which was wintered over on the mill docks, was purchased by Chicago dealers at good prices, ranging from $6, $12, and $33 to $6.50, $13, and $37.50. The general opinion now is that what lumber is manufactured early outside of contracts, will readily command $6, $12, and $35 to $37.50. A few contracts were made early (in February and before), at prices lower than above quoted, but they are 'the last o their race.'

"In getting out the logs and running them to the mills there is a continual outlay, and when a man having a lumber camp in good running order, finds his funds running short, he will dispose of one-quarter or one-half his products at a ruinous figure in order to get the remainder through. In this way a few sharp bargains have been driven, and contracts made at low rates.

"The usual cry of 'short crop' pervades the valley, and there may be more in it than is at first supposed.

"The mills generally along the river will not commence sawing until the middle of April. No boats in yet from any port, though we look for two in this week from Detroit."

The Chippewa Union and Times reports the operations in the Chippewa valley as follows:—"Number of logging camps, 87; number of feet put in, 84,000,000; number of men employed, 1,103; number of teams employed, 336."

At some points of the West the supplies of timber have become greatly reduced, and mill owners are anxiously awaiting fresh arrivals. The Detroit Post says:—"There are not logs enough to keep the mills running three weeks; at Saginaw but 8,000,000 feet; on Belle River none; at Port Huron about 15,000,000. Should the dry weather prove typical, or nearly so, of the entire spring, lumber will be scarce and dear. Except they have the usual spring freshet, the logs cannot be got down. Thirty days ago the market was cleared of a stock for the western market, St. Louis, Omaha, Cheyenne, and other points on the Pacific road.

The Minneapolis markets remained firm, with a good steady business doing. There was at latest advices some prospect of an increased supply; the Tribune of the 9th inst. stating that "the smaller streams have probably broken up, judging from the quantity of ice which passed this point last Sunday. It is expected that the logs are in the drives.

The quotations are unchanged, and same as in our last issue.

The Toledo market shows a few important changes in buyers' favor, which are noted in the following table of quotations:

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50@$53; Second Clear, $45@$48; Box $40; Stock Boards, $22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $11@$12; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45@$48; Joints, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and

Reports from Milwaukee indicate an active business doing in all styles, and prices generally very firm, closing as follows:

Clear Plank, $55; Second Clear Plank, $50; Clear Boards, $50; Second Boards $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $28; Common Siding, dressed, $23; Stock Boards, $19; Common Boards, $16; 16 feet Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $7.50@8.00; Shingles, best sawed, $4.75@5.00; Posts, $12.50@30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$14; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

A letter from Grand Rapids, Ohio, of recent date remarks as follows:

"The running of lumber is the great business in this part of the country, now the Wisconsin river is at a good stage of water for rafting. The Wisconsin River Improvement Company estimate that there are about sixty millions feet of lumber above the Grand Rapids to go out this spring. The men are busy on the various log drives. Some of the small streams are beginning to fall now, as there has been no rain for two or three weeks, and the water is all from the melting snow. The weather is colder again, so that the snow does not melt so fast, the water seems to be about on a stand now. The spring opened so early that there were not many rafts of lumber ready, so that it is passing over Grand Rapids rather slowly; it will be crowding along in a few days.

"The prospects for all of the lumber getting out on this freshet is rather poor, unless we get rain soon, or to get the logs in to the mills."

Chicago was at last accounts receiving only a moderate supply, and with quite a brisk demand, prices remained firm on all qualities, at the following quotations:

The Eastern lumbermen have also suffered from the early and rapid breaking up of winter, and in some sections the decrease in the production is very heavy. The following was published early in the month:

"The warmth of the sun has been so potent in the Maine woods, that there is not snow enough left for further logging operations, and teams which usually stay on the Penobscot until the middle of April, are already coming out. Last year, 77,000,000 feet of logs were cut on the Mattawamkea, while this year the amount will be somewhat less than 28,000,000.

The Portland market is not very active, but the general range of prices is sustained without difficulty. We quote as follows:

The Southern markets are moderately active, but compared with other sections of the country, the amount of business doing is small, and prices have less tone, though there is little disposition to make any material reductions. At Wilmington the supply of lumber was ample for the rather light demand, but prices steady as follows:

Pine Steam-Sawed Lumber—Cargo rates—per 1000 feet.

Prime River Flooring	15 00	@	18 00

Timber had arrived with more freedom, and the mills were taking all prime lots readily at full rates, but inferior qualities found a slow market. A few rafts recently sold were on a basis of $5.00@$7.00 per M. for Inferior to Ordinary Mill; $7.50@$8.00 for Fair do.; $8.50@$9.00 for Prime do., and $10.00@$11.00 for Shipping do. Shingles were in good demand for shipment, and with a small stock and light arrivals prices ruled firm at $3.00@$3.25 for Common, and $4.50@$5.00 ℔ M. for Contract.

From Charleston we learn that the stock of lumber is small, and holders, as a general thing, firm at $13.00 per M. for River Flooring Boards, and $10.00@$12.00 per M. for Scantling and Plank. Timber is also scarce, particularly shipping and good mill qualities, and these are stiff at $11.00@$12.00. Common grades selling to a very moderate extent at $5.00@$6.00.

At Savannah the market was dull, and prices without important variation, closing at $7.00@$11.00 per mill timber, $11.00@$14.00 for small Shipping, and $15.00@$20.00 for large do. Lumber, $20.00@$22.00 for ordinary sizes, $23@28 for difficult sizes, and $20.00@$22.00 for flooring. The Republican makes up the following table of METALS.—For tin plates there is very little demand at the moment, prices remaining about as before. Lead is somewhat easier, and not freely inquired after. Zinc continues in very fair request, and with an unusually small supply of sheet offering, prices are stiffening, with no good stock now offering under 12c.

NAILS—The market continues dull and gradually working downward, the closing figures on cut being 5c@5¼c. for 4d. and 6d. The exports of nails for the week were 291 kegs, valued at $1,005, against 581 kegs, valued at $4,294 last week.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Dealers, generally, are doing a good steady business, and at the full figures of last week the market remains extremely firm. The scarcity of white lead continues, and in first hands there is said to be no stock whatever. Extreme rates could readily be obtained for any fair amount of stock were it offered, and for future delivery some advance has already been bid, though manufacturers and importers refuse to enter into any very large contracts. Linseed oil has been rather dull, and with several weak speculators manifesting a disposition to realize, prices have weakened, wholesale lots showing a slight decline, and closing heavy and unsettled. On strictly prime oil, however, in small parcels, there is considerable firmness, and no important concessions can be obtained. Crushers rates are $1.17@$1.18 in casks, and $1.20@$1.21 in bbls. Retail figures in table. Exports for week 13 packages Paint, value $302, 30 gallons Oil, value $52., and 500 bbls. Oxide Zinc, value $6,360.

PLUMBING MATERIALS.—This market shows a good degree of activity at present, both in the city and country trade, and the majority of dealers are well supplied with orders. There is also considerable coastwise and West India shipment, though, probably, not more than is usual for the season. To quote all the articles under this head would consume too much valuable space in our paper, and we, therefore, deem it advisable to omit a table. To those interested, however, we would recommend that they send to the wholesale houses from whom they have been in the habit of purchasing, and obtain a revised price list, as recent reductions have been made on the following articles: Brass work, plumbers' copper ware, iron ware, and earthen ware, and galvanized iron boilers and stands. A newly-patented water closet has recently been introduced, of much less complicated construction than any heretofore in use, and selling at a reduced cost attracts considerable attention.

PITCH.—We have nothing new to advise in this market. A fair steady trade is doing in small lots, the latest sales realizing $3.25 for Southern, and $3.37½@$3.50 for city.

SLATE. — The continued unfavorable state of the weather still interferes seriously with this branch of trade, not only here, but at the quarries, and from all quarters we have reports of a light business. There is, of course, something doing, but only in what may be called a retail way, as those parties who are in want of large stock prefer waiting until a better assortment is offered. On choice and desirable grades, which are unusually scarce, prices remain firm, but the common qualities are somewhat unsettled, and rather heavy. A few car loads have arrived during the week from both Vermont and Pennsylvania, but mostly of inferior quality, and old stock.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—This market has remained in a very dull state, the only demand being for such parcels as would supply immediate necessities. Prices favored the buyer throughout the week, and on wholesale lots are lower, closing at about 61½c. In a jobbing way, however, the range is higher, and holders insist upon 66c.@67c.; some as high as 68c. The Wilmington market has also been very dull, and prices declining. The receipts at this port for the week were 290 bbs.; since January 1st, 9,105 bbls., and for same period last year, 9,600 bbls. The exports for week, 19 bbls.; since January 1st, 2,711 bbls.; and for same period last year, 7,304 bbls.

TAR.—The demand has been more active for all descriptions: and without any decided improvement prices are stronger. Sales at $2.87½@$3.25 for North County, and $3.25@$3.50 for Wilmington. The receipts at this port have been as follows: For the week, 835 bbls; since January 1st, 7,550 bbls.; and for same period last year, 7,740 bbls. The exports for the week, 51 bbls.; since January 1st, 1,815 bbls.; and for same period last year, 775 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The volume of business has been somewhat less than last week, owing to the very unfavorable weather. Still the attendance of buyers from all sections continues large, and considerable purchases are made from day to day at full previous figures. The shipments are free, and a large fleet of vessels are actively engaged in, loading, causing some reduction of the stock. Seasoned lumber, it is anticipated, will be scarce during the early part of the season, owing to large sales made in Michigan for the Chicago market.

MELLOURNE, AUSTRALIA, January 24, 1868.

The arrivals at this port had recently been very large, the demand was light, and, in order to realize, forced sales had been made, resulting naturally in lower prices on all descriptions of timber. The shipments to the port of Melbourne, for the past two years, have been at a loss, and as everything indicates that the result this season will be as bad, if not worse, we would advise more caution on the part of shippers, as it is evident that the consumption of that market has been greatly overrated. The latest sales were at £9 5s. per 1000 feet for shelving; £9 5s. @ £9 7s. 6d. for White Pine T and G flooring; £14 2s. 6d @ $16 2s. 6d for Clear Pine; and 9s. @ 9s. 6d. per 100 lineal feet, for 6x⅞ Spruce flooring.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" is published every Saturday at No. 37 Park Row, Room 31. It furnishes the following information:

1. All the Real Estate Conveyances during the week in New York and Kings Counties, with the names of buyer and seller.

2. All the Mortgages entered for the same period in New York and vicinity.

3. The Judgments entered in the two counties against delinquent or unfortunate debtors.

4. A list of the recent bankrupts throughout the United States.

5 Full information respecting the local real estate market.

6. A complete and accurate report of the market for building materials.

With one exception (real estate) all the above are new features in the newspaper business. It is a singular fact that so far the great building interest of the nation has been so inadequately represented in the periodical press. This Record, therefore, is indispensable to the following occupations:

Architects,	Lumber Dealers,
Auctioneers,	Lime Dealers,
Builders,	Merchants,
Brick Makers and Dealers,	Metal Workers,
Bankers,	Marble Dealers,
Bill Brokers.	Paint Merchants,
Contractors,	Plumbers,
Cement Dealers,	Planing Mills,
Glue Dealers,	Plaster of Paris,
Hardware for Houses,	Real Estate Owners,
Hair,	Slate Dealers,
Insurance Interest,	Window Glass Dealers,

and a large number of kindred occupations. General advertisers will see the value of the RECORD as a business medium.

WE call attention to the Real Estate Information Bureau which we have opened in connection with the RECORD office. Through this Bureau we propose to furnish news which will be found indispensible to all who contemplate purchasing property in New York and Kings Counties. To applicants we will furnish the following information:

Given a described house and lot, we will tell who was the last owner; the last recorded sale; the value of the property; whether incumbered or not; what the value of the adjoining property on either side; what would be a fair estimate of its actual market price.

All who are interested in Real Estate will see at a glance how important correct items of this kind would be to those who are about to purchase real estate, and who wish to have some correct data before paying out their money.

Our readers can see from the kind of news we furnish in the RECORD that we can give this information better probably than any one else in the city. We ask agents, property holders, banks, and private purchasers to try us and see if we do not give satisfaction. The following will give a rough idea of the kind of transcript we will furnish to our customers:

The house and lot 250 feet west of 13th Avenue, in 199th Street, was last owned by John Smith, who, 1864, paid $7,500 to John Brown for same. The house on right side, at last sale in 1868, sold for $6,500; that on the left side for $5,600 in 1867. The house now owned by Smith is incumbered with a mortgage of $3,500, now due. The assessed value is $4,000 in tax books. In view of recent increase of values in that neighborhood, Smith's house is worth about $8,500. Property appreciating in that part of the city.

If more information is needed it will be given. Elsewhere will be found our advertisement of this new enterprise.

THE MANSARD ROOF.

NOWHERE is Fashion more imperative than here, and every new idea—from the facing of our houses with hideous brown stone, to crowning our ladies with still more hideous sacks of horsehair—is followed with the utmost avidity, until the thing becomes so overdone that sheer nausea begets a change. A notion, however good, will sometimes vainly knock for years at the door of progress without gaining admission, but, once admitted, we rush to the other extreme and follow up the notion until it is literally "played out." The very popular Mansard or "French" roof, now in such universal use, bids fair to become another illustration in point.

Every one can remember the very recent birth of this new feature in our architecture. It is true that the Mansard roof—so common not only in France, but all over Continental Europe—was nothing intrinsically novel to us, for it was to be seen scattered frequently enough among our suburban residences; but as a controlling feature in our city architecture it appeared almost unknown. The prevailing fancy seemed to be to do all we could to hide our roofs; whereas now everybody seems to be striving which can make it most visible and prominent. Height of frontage seemed to be the ultima thule of architectural sublimity, and each builder was anxious to elongate his narrow twenty-five feet frontage so as to make his cornice overtop his neighbor's, if only by a few inches. Now we are not content with letting a Mansard roof tastefully supplant our over-topping fifth or sixth stories, but we must, forsooth, have it to every little two or three story shanty, where the effort should be to elevate rather than to depress the already too low frontage of the building. One very grotesque instance, among many others, occurs to us at the moment. It is the entrance to a bathing establishment on Sixth Avenue near Thirtieth street. Here, in a little narrow two-story and attic building, with stories so low that a passer-by could almost light his cigar from one of the roof windows, we have all the paraphernalia of turrets, Mansard roof, dormer windows, etc.; a lilliputian attempt at making a sort of brick Tuileries palace out of a space that could be entirely swallowed up by one good-sized entrance archway. This sort of "architecture" may do very well in sugar, upon some fanciful wedding cake, but it is quite out of place in any thoroughfare of a great city.

The rule to guide us is that the Mansard roof is always more or less available where we are dealing with inordinate height in city buildings; but it is not at all necessary, indeed sometimes even prejudicial, when the building is already too low in contrast with its neighbors. Properly introduced and treated, this mode of terminating our buildings is exceedingly beautiful and picturesque. In too many cases, however, our architects destroy that very lightness and airiness which form its principal charm, by the introduction of excessively heavy ornamentation, instead of light and graceful ornamental iron-work. Look, for instance, at the roof of the Herald building, or, still more conspicuously, the roof of Mr. Stewart's new residence on Fifth Avenue. In both these cases the ridge moldings and those encasing the hips look solid enough for the construction of a railway bridge. Upon the whole, the Mansard roof is a great relief to us after the monstrously heavy and clumsy cornices with which we used to terminate our buildings, and cuts the sky line in a far more agreeable manner. But this, like everything else in a tasteful profession, requires judicious handling; and what in the hands of one man can be made an enduring beauty, becomes, in those of some untutored bungler a mere eye-sore and unmeaning absurdity.

THE "CENTRAL UNDERGROUND RAILROAD."

THE public may congratulate itself upon having made at least one good stride in the right direction, towards getting a mode of steam transit up and down town, instead of the present wretched modes of conveyance. The bill for the "Central Underground Railroad," better known as the "Brown Tunnel Road," after passing both Houses of the Legislature, has been signed by Governor FENTON, and thus becomes a responsible incorporation. This road is intended to run from City Hall Park, through City Hall Place, and through Mulberry and Bleecker Streets, Lafayette Place and Fourth Avenue, to Madison Square, then under Madison Avenue to Forty-second Street, and eventually to the Harlem River. It is placed in the hands of men whose names are a sufficient guaranty for its fulfilment, and as they have agreed to forfeit $300,000 to the city in the event of it not being completed as far as Forty-second Street within the next two years, it is evident they intend to push it with vigor.

This scheme is altogether different from the "Arcade Road" which we advocated in a former number, and although it does not meet the measure of our necessities altogether—being adapted to assist travel only on the eastern side of the city—the public will welcome it as a good instalment. Not only will it in itself largely aid the city in its present overcrowded condition, but, long before its completion, its success and practicability being put beyond all doubt, other roads will be started for the western and other portions of the city. The good work being now fairly launched, all we need is a little time—for we have all the other elements at hand—to make New York one of the very best cities in the world for convenient locomotion among its inhabitants, instead of being, as it now unquestionably is, one of the very worst.

Our subscribers are hereby informed that our terms of three dollars for six months only applies when the subscription is paid in advance. Our terms for those who do not pay in advance is at the rate of four dollars for six months, or seventy-five cents per month. Up to the 15th of May we will accept three dollars for six months from all who are now on our books and who have not paid, or who will pay the three dollars before that time. We publish a costly and valuable paper, and cannot afford to give it at the same price as mere advertising circulars.

Single copies of the Record will hereafter be fifteen cents.

The conveyance lists are so exceptionally heavy at this period of the year, that we are compelled to cut down our reading matter. After May we hope to have more room.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

About one half of the new sea wall around the Battery is finished.

The following bill is now before the Legislature at Albany, and has a fair prospect of becoming law:

Sec. 1. Hereafter it shall be unlawful to use in the building of any public institution, leaden pipes for the conveyance of water for domestic and culinary purposes, or either.

Sec. 2. No leaden pipe shall hereafter be used used as a supply pipe from street mains to dwelling houses or other buildings.

The interest evinced in the science of hygiene as a means of prevention of avoidable diseases and death, has induced the introduction of this bill prohibiting the use of leaden pipes and cisterns for the reception and distribution of water for domestic purposes.

It was stated that the action of lead upon water is the too frequent unsuspected cause of disease and death, and that the use of leaded pipes and cisterns is incompatible with safety to health. Distinguished authorities were cited in support of the bill, and the general feeling seemed to favor the measure.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

The Safe Deposit Company have a new iron front building in course of erection on the corner of Front and Fulton streets, Brooklyn, the height of the building will be 40 feet and contains two stories. The lot is irregular in shape; its greatest depth is 61 feet 6 inches, and 70 feet front, 35 feet on Fulton and 35 feet on Front street; John French, mason, and Samuel Booth, carpenter. Iron work will be furnished by the Continental Iron Works.

The bill for the Wallabout Improvement has passed both houses of the Legislature, and will no doubt receive the signature of the Govenor. A direct thoroughfare from the Western to the Eastern District is therefore likely to be accomplished some time this year.

The co-operative carpenters of Brooklyn, at a recent meeting held in room over the Post Office, adopted a series of resolutions in favor of eight hours' labor and four dollars per day.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

GEN. SCOTT'S house, at Elizabeth, N. J., has been sold for $11,900.

THE new Methodist Church at Washington is to cost $200,000.

A CHICAGO proposition is to build a residence block for twenty families, each family to have separate suits of living apartments, all heated and supplied alike, with a kitchen and laundry for use in common.

IF people wish to measure, in a practical, definite manner, the injury inflicted upon the material interests of the South, they have only to watch the sales of property in that section. In Pickens District, South Carolina, at a recent sale of land, three hundred and sixty acres sold for $36, two hundred for $29, one hundred and fifty for $47, three hundred for $21, ninety for $14, two hundred for $10, sixty for $11.20, one hundred for $9. A report from the Agricultural Department, compiled from answers to a circular sent to the Southern States, shows the falling off in the value of lands to be from 20 per cent. in Louisiana to 60 per cent. in some of the other Southern States. In Virginia, it is stated, at 27 per cent., in North Carolina at 50 per cent., in South Carolina, Alabama and Arkansas at 60 per cent., while in Florida, land was actually unquotable. Forced sales show a much more ruinous depreciation in the price of property than that stated in the report alluded to, and it can be asserted with entire certainty that the value of land in the States named above is less by from two-thirds to five-sixths than the ruling cost previous to the war. In some districts nine-tenths of the value of property has been swept away. Of the real and personal property, probably three-quarters have disappeared. To show the extent of the loss, it is only necessary to state that the value of the real estate in the ten Southern States was, in 1860, at a fair estimate, near three thousand millions of dollars. That property could not be sold to-day for twelve hundred millions, and has lost eighteen hundred millions of its value.

THE Astor estate is valued, by one who professes to know, at about $144,000,000.

A TRACT of coal land, containing 361 acres, known as "Partnership," in Rush township, Schuylkill county, Pa., formerly the property of the New York and Lehigh Coal Company, has been sold for $130,250 to John M. Maris, of Philadelphia.

THE Pacific Railroad bridge across the Missouri has been located at Omaha. The main high bridge will be 2,500 feet long, to be built on high ground in the southern part of the city. The structure will be of granite foundation and the superstructure of iron. The estimated cost is nearly $2,000,000. It is to be finished in about two years. The company will commence work as soon as possible. The granite is to be hauled from the Rocky Mountains.

DURING the recent freshet in Ohio, more than two hundred thousand feet was secured in small quantities by farmers and citizens in Port Clinton, between 400 and 500 pines logs were also secured between that place and Moor's Dock.

THE land occupied by the new South Church, on Summer street, Boston, has been sold at auction for $173,348.

IT is said the average size of 1,800 farms in California is 666 acres. Massachusetts has 38,000 farms, averaging 94 acres; New York 196,000, averaging 116 acres; Ohio has the next largest number of farms—179,000, averaging 114 acres; Rhode Island has over 5,000 farms, averaging 96 acres.

PORTLAND, Me., is to be supplied with water fron Lake Sebago. The building at the Lake terminus will require 900,000 bricks.

ST. LOUIS has some important sales of real estate. Over one hundred thousand dollars' worth of property was disposed of at a single sale, one day last week.

THE total valuation of real and personal estate in Cincinnati, is $10,589,654, an increase of property over any preceeding year of more than $2,000,000.

THE total valuation of real estate in Philadelphia, is reported at $445,563,317, and the total number of buildings is stated at 108,182.

THE chimney of the Dunnell Print Works, at Pawtucket, R. I., built last year, is 131 feet high, 11 feet 8 inches in diameter at the base, and 7 feet 8 inches at the top. It contains 163 cords of stone and 170,000 brick, and cost about $7,000.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The market for New York Real Estate has been steady during the past week, prices continue to be governed by the same standard of valuation that characterized the sales of the preceding week; Brooklyn real estate has, however, been more active, and in greater demand. The increased value of real estate in these two cities is founded on a healthy basis, the chief corner-stone of which is the steady increase of the population. Those persons who have purchased at what may be considered high prices, will have no reason to think they have paid dearly for their whistle if they hold on to their purchases until next spring; by that time some comprehensive plan for a cheap, quick, and ready mode of steam transit will probably be devised and in course of construction. When that is accomplished the advance in value of real estate will throw the most extravagant prices of the present day entirely in the shade. We have to record, however, some very notable auction sales of some very choice pieces at the Exchange Salesrooms, by A. J. Bleecker & Son:

House and lots No. 18 W. 54th st., house, 32x70; lot, 112.6x½ bl., to W. B. T. Lane for $128,000 110th st.—House and lot, s. s., 405.9 e. 4th av., 18.9x45x100, to Chas. Gillespie for $10,200. 122d st., House and lot 193.9 e. 2d av., 18.9x45x100, James Finlay for $8,750. 2d av.—House and lot No. 1046, 20x42x63, to S. S. Gotie for $13,750. House and lot, 20x55x100.5, No. 154 W. 45th st., to Geo. Roberts for $28,900. House and lot 18x80, No. 39 79th st., s. s., e. Madison av., to J. B. Square for $23,000; and the house and lot adjoining, 18x80, to J. L. Thompson for $22,500. Messrs. Muller and Wilkins also made several sales, the most notable the building and lot, n. e. cor. Delancey and Christie sts., Nos. 20, 22, and 24 Delancey st., 75x100, for $45,100; stable and lot, No. 323 W. 21st st., 25x98.9 for $20,000. Sheriff's sales by the same parties, April 22d, of house and lot No. 372 Wes 45th st., 16.8x100 5, for $2,600; 2 lots, s. s., 46th st., 325 feet west of 9th av., each 25x100.4, for 1,100 each; 1 undivided fifth part of lots 179, 180, 181, and 182 in Depeysten tract, parcel No. 43, between 11th & 12th avs. and 113th & 114th sts., for $165 each; Lease for 10,000 years made by City of Brooklyn to E. and D. Bigelow & Co., for lot No. 25 on assessment map, $100. House and lot 25x48x65, No. 332 E. 57th st. to H. Armstrong for $19,250.

Messrs. Johnson & Miller, auctioneers, No. 25 Nassau street, added quite a number of sales to the list of New York sales, the most valuable being the property situated cor. West Broadway and Franklin sts., 20x50, to Mr. McKnight for $21,500, and Lexington av., cor. E. 55th st., 29.5x100, vacant lot, to M. McKnight for $10,600; Fourth av., cor. E. 45th st., 25 5x100, vacant lot, to M. McKnight for $8,100; Seventh av., near W. 34th st., 2 lots, each 24.8x100, to H. J. West for $8,000 each; W. 34th st., between 9th and 10th avs., 2 lots, each 20x98.9, to Mr. Sullivan for $5,500 each; E. 13th st., s. s., 395 ft. from Avenue B, each 25x103.3 (coalyard), to Mr. Sullivan for $3,800 each; W. 43d st., cor. 11th av., 3 lots, each 25x100, to Close & Morrison (coalyard, with fixtures, scales, etc., as last), for $3,500 each; 2 lots on W. 43d st., near 10th av., 25x100.5, to Edward Murray for $2,600 each; W. 44th st., near 10th av., 2 lots, each 25x100, to McKnight for $1,800 each; W. 55th st., near 11th av., 1 lot, 25x136, to McKnight for $2,200; W. 54th st., near 11th av., 1 lot 25x131.7, to H. Mitchell for $2,000.

This firm also disposed off a large number of Brooklyn lots, situated in the Eastern District, and belonging to the estate of the late John Donohoe, comprising 73 pieces in all. They brought very fair prices; but property in the Eastern District has never kept pace with other localities. A very desirable two-story brick building and lot, 27.9x82, s. e. cor. S. Sixth st. and Dunham place, was sold to Mr. McKnight for $6,000. On Wednesday this same firm disposed of upwards of three hundred lots (all bona-fide sales) located in the eighteenth ward; it was a very lively sale, and the prices realized were good, proving conclusively that the bulk of the speculators had concentrated their attention on Brooklyn property. The following are some of the most notable:—House and 4 bks. of ground, on Grove and Ralph sts., 50x195, to M. Fitzpatrick, for $5,100; house and 4 blks. of ground, adjoining on Grove and Ralph sts., the same, to Mr. Ausley for $5,000; 5 lots, cor. Bushwick and Margaretta sts., 100x100, to Mr. Farrell for $500 each.

On Thursday the same firm sold forty-five pieces of South Brooklyn property, all of which realized very good prices. The following are the most notable:—

House and lot No. 343 Degraw st., 3 Story Brick, all improvements, 20x40x100, 3,900 M. J. Mathews. House and lot South East corner of Carrol and Van Brunt sts., 3 Story Brick, 20x40x60, 7,000, Wm. Farlee. House and lot No. 63 Dean st., 3 Story Brick, all improvements 20.10x40x100, 6,500, J. Williams. 4 lots on Pacific st., s. s., near Grand Avenue, each 18.8x110 each, $850, Charles Rogan.

Brooklyn has kept pace with New York step by step, and bids fair in the future to rival her in population if not in importance. There is in New York 142,625 building lots of 2,500 square feet, less the property taken for Central Park. In Brooklyn there are 152,762 building lots, enough for a population of two millions.

The following table of assesed valuation of Kings County real estate from 1858 to 1867 will show the rapid increase in value:

Real Estate of the whole County from

1858	$ 92,933,407	1863	$104,921,920
1859	94,756,314	1864	108,997,536
1860	97,241,707	1865	112,189,643
1861	93,581,424	1866	120,128,865
1862	99,223,971	1867	129,493,066

The above figures are from the official record, and showd that the increase in valuation in ten years amounts to the large sum of $36,509,659.

The following is a comparative list of the kind of buildings erected in New York and Brooklyn:

FINISHED IN 1867.

New York public buildings	26
Brooklyn public buildings	12
New York stores and warehouses	817
Brooklyn stores and warehouses	108
New York first-class dwellings	658
Brooklyn first-class dwellings	1,164
New York dwellings less than three stories	261
Brooklyn dwellings less than three stories	1,106
New York tenement houses	486
Brooklyn tenement houses	226
New York Houses of Worship	26
Brooklyn Houses of Worship	19
New York Manufactories and Work Shops	298
Brooklyn Manufactories and Work Shops	149

The following is a comparative list of buildings in course of erection but unfinished on 1st of Jan., 1868:

New York Public Buildings	20
Brooklyn Public Buildings	5
New York Houses of Worship	13
Brooklyn Houses of Worship	12
New York Stores and Warehouses	82
Brooklyn Stores and Warehouses	28
New York first-class Dwellings	465
Brooklyn first-class Dwellings	478
New York Dwe lings less than three stories	42
Brooklyn Dwellings less than three stories	398
New York Tenement Houses	149
Brooklyn Tenement Houses	34
New York Manufactories and Workshops	86
Brooklyn Manufactories and Workshops	149

It appears from the above statement, which is also official, that there were unfinished in New York in 1867, 2,073 buildings, and in Brooklyn 2,786. But if we take the dwellings, leaving out the tenement houses, we find that there were finished in New York 819 dwellings and in Brooklyn 2,272. And in January there was in course of erection in New York 507 dwellings; and in Brooklyn 771. This shows conclusively that it is not alone on the assessors' books, that the valuation of real estate is increasing. It shows also that Kings County keeps pace with New York in the number of first class dwellings and workshops erected, and while the number of tenement houses erected in New York are four times as many as Kings County for the same period, the number of dwellings less than three stories, is eight times more in Kings County than in New York. The number of buildings devoted to public worship are about equal. But the public buildings and warehouses are four to one as against Brooklyn.

Whilst real estate is increasing so rapidly in value, real estate in other cities is not at a stand still. The journals of Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and San Francisco come us teeming with accounts of the rapid appreciation of real estate.

Every northern city of any consequence has its list of new buildings and its wonderful sales or real estate to talk about.

The Insurance Chronicle of Chicago states that the aggregate amount of property conveyed by warrantee deeds that were filed during the week, ending Saturday, the 14th. shows the enormous sum of $862,088, the number of deeds being the same, and the amount of property conveyed being $258,107 greater than last week.

The American and Gazette of Philadelphia states that new factories, churches, schoolhouses, and public buildings are multiplying in all directions. There appears to be an influx of people from all parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland, seeking places to commence business of some sort, and adds that if there were ten thousand new houses erected this season they would all be occupied.

In order to show the rapid increase in the value of real estate in New York, we give an account of that piece of property situated on the west side of Broadway, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. It comprises the front of the whole block on Broadway, measuring 190 feet on that street, with a depth of 100 feet on 18th street, and 171 feet on 19th street. This property has been in the possession of Mr. Hoyt, of Hoyt, Sprague & Co., of this city, for the last twenty years, and cost him orignally about $20.000, about two years ago Mr. H. offered to sell it for $350,000, and not finding a purchaser, he withdrew it from the market, and held it until about a month ago, when he succeeded in disposing of a part of it, which measured 82 feet front on Broadway, and 171 feet on 19th st., to Mr. Arnold, of Arnold, Constable & Co., (a leading dry goods house of this city), for the enormous sum of $375,000. Mr. Arnold is about to erect a large marble building, to be used as a dry goods store, upon the site, and Mr. H. intends to build another store of the same kind and description on the plot which he retains; he has already refused $400,000 for it; at least so we understand.

We observe that the fine new mansion and grounds belonging to the late Hon. John A. Cross will be offered for sale by Messrs. Johnson & Miller on Tuesday next. The house is situated on the corner of Myrtle and Clinton avenues, Brooklyn, one of the most delightful locations to be found anywhere in the country.

James M. Miller, Auctioneer, will sell on Wednesday, April 29, at Exchange Salesroom, under direction of D. P. Ingraham, Jr., Referee, some very valuable property situated in University Place, Fifth avenue, 10th, 11th streets, and Broadway.

MARKET REVIEW.

BUILDING STONE.—The demand has been very good for all kinds, during the past week, though the prompt execution of orders was in a measure prevented by the unfavorable weather. Prices generally remain about as before, though we make a few alterations in our table. For blue stone in its various forms; there is a very brisk inquiry, and though the quarries are in good working order, they are scarcely able to fully meet the present call. All of that now being taken is not for immediate use, a large proportion going to stock up yards in which the supply had become depleted during the winter months.

BRICK.—We find little or no change in prices since our last, but a continued steadiness on the finer qualities of which the supply has become somewhat reduced. Every effort is being made to force up the market, but thus far without success, and we see no reason to believe that any material advance can be effected this season. Bricks are plenty notwithstanding the repeated assertions in certain quarters to the contrary, and are now selling at unusually high rates, which in connection with the rapid approach of the time when the new production is to begin, leads builders to hope that the highest point has been touched. The receipts have been fair, and about equaled the demand, so that we have no important change in the stock on hand. The shipments for the week are 21,000 valued $452 to New Granada.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—We have nothing new worthy of special note to advise in this connection. The demand at the moment is very good from the local trade, but for shipment the operations are somewhat restricted, owing partly to the very small margin for profit between the foreign and our own market.

CEMENT—The stock is disposed of from day to day about as fast as received, and sometimes vessels are sold out before they reach the dock. Of course, while this state of affairs continues, no reduction in price can be looked for and we still retain previous figures.

FOREIGN WOOD.—A good steady retail business is doing, and we note considerable strength to the prices on all kinds. For Cedar there has been some speculative inquiry and higher rates demaned; and prices are very irregular at the moment and must be considered as somewhat nominal. The shipments during the past week include 178 logs Mohogany to Gibraltar, and 221 pieces Rosewood to Havre. The receipts, 426 logs of Rosewood, and 250 logs Cedar.

LATH.—Sellers have retained the advantage throughout the week, and with a continued good demand have disposed of about 2,250,000 at $375, and this figure is still current as we write. Very little confidence in the strength of the market is expressed, as the present inquiry is thought to be well supplied and quite a number of cargoes are daily looked for, some already over due, and with more liberal offerings, the buyer will immediately gain the advantage. To the Danish West Indies 10,000 were shipped during the week.

HAIR.—We make no change in our table of quotations but the market at the moment is very strong for all kinds and the demand is not fully met. This is owing principally to small supply of merchantable lots, dealers finding it impossible to dry their stock with any rapidity, during the recent wet and unsettled weather.

GLASS.—Importers and dealers all unite in calling the market dull, but at the same time they speak hopefully of the future, and generally predict a lively trade when the season shall have become fully opened. In the meantime, on the few small sales making full former rates are realized, and prices remain firm in view of the light receipts and not over abundant stock on hand. The imports for the week were 1,033 packages valued at $1,953, and 41 plate valued at $7,522.

LIME.—The arrivals continue comparatively moderate, the demand is very good and at the late reduction this market remains steady and uniform, with no pressure to operate from either buyer or seller. Since the opening of the season the receipts of Rockland at this point have not been far from 100,000 bbls. pretty much all of which is now distributed among the wholesale dealers leaving probably 15@ 20,000 bbls. in the hand, of receivers. Of other kinds the stock is very small, though receipts are daily increasing and we shall soon have more of an assortment, though as a general thing there is no difference in prices.

LABOR. No changes have taken place in rates demanded by the various classes of workmen since our last, though some are preparing for a strike. At a recent meeting of the Slate Roofers' Protective Union, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we consider the action of the boss carpenters in reducing our wages, in the midst of an extreme winter, as both selfish and unnecessary; be it therefore

Resolved, That we, the slate roofers of New York and vicinity, consider our present rate of wages insufficient, and that on and after Monday, May 4, we request our old rate of wages, viz: $4 per day; and that we quit work at four o'clock on Saturday, as all other mechanics now do in the building line. The Carpenters of Orange, New Jersey, have been quite successful, and are nearly all resuming work at the advance demanded, and the same be said of the carpenters of Newark, though the stone cutters at the latter place still remain on strike. The Bricklayers of Louisville, Ky., have struck for $5 per day.

The journeymen plasterers of Washington, D. C., who have been on strike for several weeks for $5 per day, are being partially successful, and many have gone to work at that figure.

The question as to whether Trades Unions are of any actual benefit to the working classes, is now under discussion in England, and those who take the negative are forming societies called Free Labor Associations, in order to give the subject a practical test. A recent meeting at Liverpool was so greatly interfered with by the friends of the Trades Unions, that no business was transacted and a free exchange of views rendered impossible.

LUMBER.—Another week of stormy and uncertain weather has had a depressing influence upon business, and we find but few of the yards doing more than a moderate retail trade. Prices, however, hold their own quite firmly, and from present indications we shall probably see no very important concessions granted during the early part of the season at least. Eastern spruce of desirable qualtity is quite scarce, and just at the moment particularly inquired after, at about $20 @ $21, though anything really up to views of buyers would probably bring $22. Southern pine is firm, but business restricted for want of stock. For black walnut there is a good steady trade at very full prices, as this wood is now used in the majority of house work, in the place of mahogany. The shipping demand continues rather moderate, and seldom from those who operate with a view to realizing any large amount of profit, as the ruling rates in the South American, West Indian, and Australian markets, are too low to allow of any margin. The few thousand feet, therefore, exported from week to week, are mostly such lots as are required to fill up vacant freight room, and generally goes on vessel's account. The supply of lumber in New York is understood to be quite large, which is probably the case, but it is mostly made up of old and dead stock, not wanted, and very difficult to work off; and that of merchantable quality now offering has been raked and scraped together from all quarters in order to have enough to hold out until the new cut is received. The same state of affairs is said to prevail at Albany, and the majority of the good stock there early this spring has since been sold out partly on New York account, but largely to Eastern and Jersey buyers. The opening of the Eastern end of canal, may bring forward some stock, but until navigation is fully resumed the receipts will be small. We hear of very few vessels coming down to this city during the week. Most of the cargoes leaving Troy and Albany are destined for towns along the river. The sales reported since our last, embrace some 1,100,000 feet Eastern spruce at $20 @ $22; a cargo of 126,000 feet do., at $19, nearly all short scantling; 60,000 feet Southern yellow pine flooring, at $30 @ $33 —the outside for Georgia.

The shipments of lumber have been as follows:

	This wk. Feet.	Last wk. Feet.	Since Apl. 1, '68. Feet.
Brazil	32,110	8,000	332,473
British West Indies	6,000	8,606	26,606
British Australia			84,809
British Honduras	25,000		25,000
China			19,780
Cisplatine Republic	76,039		232,395
Cuba	10,000	35,145	45,145
Dutch West Indies			9,000
Hayti	16,000		41,019
Mexico		6,000	8,104
New Granada		23,000	47,571
Venezuela		13,127	13,127
Total feet	165,149	93,878	884,979
Value	$5,751	$2,780	$29,616

There has also been shipments of 25,000 shingles to Hayti; 185,570 staves mostly to England and the Continent. 58 logs of maple to Liverpool, and 25 logs Black Walnut to Bremen. The shipments from other ports were as follows: From Baltimore to Cuba 61,000 feet lumber; to Porto Rico 45,167 feet; and 2,208 bundles shingles. From Wilmington to Porto Rico 119,000 shingles; and 132,000 feet lumber; to Cardenas 100,368 feet lumber; to St. John 43,000 feet lumber, and 18,000 feet timber. From Charleston to Barcelona 91,000 feet lumber. From Savannah to Buenos Ayres 456,773 feet lumber; to Liverpool 220,572 feet timber, and 26,000 plank. From San Francisco to China 83,000 feet lumber, and to Callao 162,460 feet. Staves have been shipped to the extent of 131,445 from New Orleans; 35,680 from Charleston; and 7,285 from Baltimore, nearly all to Liverpool and Havre. The coastwise receipts at this point have been 350 spruce piling from St. John, N. B.; 2,500 bundles shingles from Richmond; 60,000 shingles from Wilmington, and 160,000 feet yellow pine from Jacksonville.

The western markets all continue firm, and as a general thing, somewhat sparingly supplied, some of the mills being unable to turn out stock for want of logs. A warmer sun and considerable rain, however, is opening many streams, and logs will soon begin to move down with more rapidity, though the smaller tributaries it is feared, lack sufficient depth of water to float out all the stock awaiting the freshet. We present our usual weekly reports from various sections, with corrected quotations where important changes have occurred.

At Minneapolis trade is good, prices on all grades firm, and the general tone of affairs appears more encouraging. The following, from the Tribune of April 11th, is of interest:

"The lumber mills at the Falls are being overhauled, after the inactivity of the winter season, and put in fine working order, preparatory to the annual hoisting of gates. It is expected that all the mills will get in operation during the coming week, and there are logs enough in the pond to keep them supplied until the drives from Coon Creek and Anoka can be brought down.

The stage of water is said to be "just right," and the lumbermen pray that it may remain so. The work of hanging the booms is nearly accomplished, and logs could be received at any time. At Coon Creek there are 1½ million feet, and at Anoka about 8 million feet, of last year's logs, that were carried beyond "low water mark," by the freshet, and were again rolled into the river during the winter. But a day or two is required to run these logs down to the Falls, and then before the stock is exhausted the upper country will be heard from.

A heavy body of snow, varying from one to three feet in depth, still remains in the pineries, and if it should be carried away suddenly, might cause trouble, though we believe that the large number of additional piers that were put in last winter, and other precautions that were taken, will enable the lumbermen to withstand a "reasonable freshet," without injury.

At Saginaw, Mich., business is good, and from the prices obtained it would appear that buyers are determined to have stock at almost any reasonable cost. The Enterprise of the 11th inst. remarks.

"Considerable activity prevailed in the lumber market during the past week, and lumber has moved off quite lively. The figures obtained are sellers' and buyers appear well satisfied with those as are now established. Sales embracing between four and six million feet of green lumber have been reported, the price of which has been almost uniformly $6, $12 and $35 for the three grades. We learn of one purchase by Estabrook & Mason, of 200,000 feet of plank at lower figures, and two sales of uppers at $36; one of these sales was actually made, while the second was expected to be closed up last evening. Buyers have been here during the week from Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo and Albany, but none from Chicago or Cincinnati. Chicago dealers want dry lumber, and there is none in the market. The last, or about the last—230,000—was sold by Grant, Brown & Co., from Crow Island, for $6 50, $13, and

$38. Grant & Saylor sold 500,000 feet of green lumber to Toledo parties at $6, $12, and $35. Paine & Catlin sold half a million at the same rates,

From Toledo, reports come to us of an active market, but considerable scarcity of green Lumber, any parcels of which when offered were readily disposed of at full prices. We give the latest quotations as follows:

The Chicago market continued quite active, or as much so as the moderate receipts would admit of, and all desirable cargoes, such as strips and piece stuff, found a ready sale at full prices, whenever offered. Among the latest transactions we note a cargo about 65 per cent strips and the balance mixed at $17.00; two cargoes Joist, Scantling, and boards, $15.00; and a small lot of Sawed Timber at $18.00 A deck load of Shingles, about one half each sawed and shaved, sold at $3.50. We make a few alterations in the yard quotations as, follows:

The Eastern markets are becoming more active, and shipping stock in particular is changing hands in larger quantities. Some few concessions have been made, which are noted in our table below, but as yet figures remain pretty strong. The ice on the rivers is gradually breaking up much to the delight of lumbermen, and in some sections on the upper Kennebec in particular the logs are running quite freely. The mills as a general thing were at latest advices receiving more timber, and in consequence many had already commenced operations. All would probably soon be under full headway.

At Troy there has been a fair amount of trade doing, though the general market was scarcely so active as last week. The assortment has been considerably reduced by recent pretty free purchases on account of New York dealers, though good desirable stock could still be picked to some extent. Of Hemlock and Spruce the supply was probably the smallest, though Clear Pine was rather scarce. Prime qualities of Shingles came in slowly, and were wanted. On prices there was no variation to note, and last weeks figures as printed by us are still current. Shipping was brisk and freights active at $1.75 to New York, $2.25 to Bridgeport and New Haven, $2.75 to Norwich and Middletown, $3.25 to Providence, $3.50 to Hartford, and $3.50 to Philadelphia.

In the Southern markets there is still a fair amount of business doing, but the demand is not in all cases met freely, owing to the lack of stock. A want of means and the difficulty of obtaining credit has prevented many lumbermen from working to any extent, during the past winter, and the number of feet cut will in all probability prove to be quite small. In some sections the demand for local use is very good, and exhausts a large proportion of the lumber at the mills, and from a recent letter from Georgia, we learn that in certain portions of that State flooring boards are remarkably scarce and sell quickly at $25.00 per M. At Savannah the shipping demand was rather moderate, though for mill use a steady trade was doing, and as a general thing the sales were at full previous figures. We quote at $7.00 @ $11 00 per M. feet for mill timber, $11.00 @ 14.00 for small shipping do., and $15.00 @ 20.00 for large do. Lumber $20.00 @ 22.00 for ordinary sizes; $23.00 @ $28.00 for difficult sizes, and $20.00 @ $22.00 for flooring. The Republican makes up the following table of

At Charleston, the lumber market was firm, but being scantily supplied, remained in rather a dull state. Timber of both mill and shipping quality, if prime, found a good market, but inferior grades were rather neglected. We quote River Flooring Boards at $13.00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10.00 @ 12.00. Mill Timber good $11.00 @ 12.00; and common to fair $5.00 @ $7.00. City sawed lumber $20.00 @ $25.00 per M.

The Wilmington Lumber market, was at latest accounts rather dull, buyers having pretty well supplied all immediate necessities, and prices remained without change to note, viz:

Pine Steam-Sawed Lumber—Cargo rates—per 1000 feet.

The arrivals of Timber were fair, and a moderate amount was being taken day to day for mill use. Prime qualities were sparingly offered and met with ready sale; but the common grades were somewhat neglected and began to accumulate. The latest sales were at $5.00@$7.00 per M. for Inferior to Ordinary Mill; $7.50@$8.00 for Fair do.; $8.50@$9.00 for Prime do., and $10.00@$11.00 for Shipping do. Shingles arrived very slowly, and with a continued active shipping inquiry, prices advanced somewhat, closing firm at $3 25@3.50 for common; and $4.50@$5.00 for contract.

The Knoxville Republican says:

The prospects of the lumber trade in this region, as far as we can learn, are not as flattering as we could hope to be able to report. The pressure on the finances of many of our lumbermen during the winter prevented their taking out as heavy a stock as they would otherwise have done, and the failure thus far to get to market that which is ready, has made the prospect still more discouraging. During the past few weeks the Red Bank Navigation Company have been bracketing for the purpose of getting out a part, at least, of the lumber waiting, and we believe, with partial success. To-day we have nearly a rafting stage in the creeks, and with the natural water and efforts of the Navigation Company, the lumbermen are sanguine of getting a goodly portion of their lumber to market."

METALS.—Tin plates of all grades continue extremely dull, and importers generally are complaining of the great difficulty of effecting sales. Under this state of affairs prices naturally are heavy and to some extent nominal. Lead is not very active but steady at our last figures. Zinc remains steady but is less buoyant than last week, arrivals of desirable widths having given buyers rather more advantage.

NAILS.—The supply now offering is largely in excess of the demand, and prices are very heavy. The very best brands of cut can be bought at 5c; small lots 5¼c. and large parcels 4¾c. At these figures manufacturers are not very anxious to operate, as the majority can only sell at a loss. The exports for the week were 320 packages, valued at $2,153 against 291 packages, valued at $1,005, last week.

PAINTS AND OILS.—We have no change to advise in prices for the various grades of paints, but note a continued good demand both from the local and interior trade, with some light increase of the shipping inquiry. The slight excitement occasioned by the reduced stock and advanced cost of pure lead, has pretty well subsided, and though there is no material addition to the stock, dealers have sufficient to supply all immediate demands. Linseed oil has been freely offered throughout the week and meeting with only a slight demand, prices have gradually worked downward and close very unsettled. Some of the common grades are offered very low, while prime qualities command extreme figures. Crusher's rates are now about $1.15 @ $1.17 in casks, and $1.18 @ $1.19 in bbls., with retail lots at higher figures. The exports for the week were 335 packages Paint, valued at $3,630; and 123 gallons of Oil, valued at $158.

PLUMBING MATERIALS.—No further changes have taken place in this market since our last, with the exception probably of a trifle more life; and few if any dealers now complain of a lack of business.

PITCH.—The demand has been very good, and prices are rather firmer on desirable lots, though without actual advance, and we still quote at $3.25 for Southern, and $3.50 for City. The exports for the week were 181 bbls.; since January 1st, 1,244 bbls.; and for same time last year 1,034 barrels.

SLATE.—There is very little if any increase of activity with dealers in this city, the business being mostly confined to the sale of a few squares at a time, as wanted by slaters for immediate use, and the market generally presents a stagnant appearance. At the quarries, however, we learn that more life begins to be shown, and in some quarters the season's work has fully commenced. This is particularly the case, at the Chapman quarry in Northampton County, Pennsylvania, everything being in prime working order, and the production amounting to nearly one hundred squares per day. Early last week the workmen were generally prepared to strike for last Autumn's wages, viz., $3.00 per day, but by prompt and judicious management, the movement was nipped in the bud; and the quarry owners are now congratulating themselves upon having obtained a reduction; the rates agreed upon being, $2.50 per day, or equivalent thereto, some of the work being done by contract at a certain price per square. In other sections the quarries have yet to be cleared of water, &c., and no regular engagements have been entered into, but the above price will undoubtedly be generally adopted for this season's work.

Our quotations remain without any important alteration, but it is hoped by those interested, that the reduced cost of production will, ere long enable consumers to operate at more advantageous figures. The receipts at this point continue small, only an occasional car load coming in from day by day, and until the canals are in full working order no important increase of the supply is looked for.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The amount of business doing has not been very heavy, but the market has ruled much stronger owing to the light supply both present and prospective. Prices are decidedly better and close still in buyer's favor, though somewhat unsettled. We quote at 67½ @68¾ for wholesale lots, and retail parcels range up some as high as 70 cts. From Wilmington we learn that the arrivals both by river and rail are remarkably light, and with little or no stock in first hands prices rule strong. The receipts at this port for the week were 365 bbls. Since January 1st, 9,470 bbls.; and for same period last year 10,600 bbls. The exports for week 2 bbls.; since January 1st, 2,713 bbls., and for same period last year 7,304 bbls.

TAR.—A good fair business has been done, and prices remain very strong. On Wilmington Tar there is a slight advance in consequence of the reduced supply here and the moderate arrivals at the South. We quote at $2.87½ @ $3.25 for North County, and $3.50 @ $3.62½ for Wilmington. The receipts at this port have been as follows: For the week 1,909 bbls., since January 1st, 9,470 bbls., and for same period last year 8,380 bbls. The exports as follows: For the week 45 bbls., since January, 1st, 1,937 bbls. and for same period last year, 735 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

THE Evening Journal reports the market for the week ending April 22, as follows:

"There has been a fair trade during the week, principally with New York and Eastern buyers. The assortment in market is somewhat broken, though most kinds can be found by visiting the different yards. One and a quarter inch clear Pine are quite scarce, and other thicknesses are in small supply. Shingles of all kinds are scarce. Prices remain as before, and are firmly held. During the ensuing week there will be arrivals of Shingles and Lumber by boats frozen in last winter on the Eastern division of the canals."

Freights continued very steady for all points, but particularly for the Connecticut river; very few vessels offering on Eastern account.

DR. CHARLES MACKAY, formerly American correspondent of the Times, has written a work advocating the introduction into London of our system of street railroads. He considers the objections brought against this progressive step, untenable. One great argument in favor of the measure is derived from the fact that, while in New York and Brooklyn, in the year 1866, 70,791, 625 passengers were carried over 11,700,000 miles of road built and kept in repair by the railroad companies at their own expense, the London Omnibus Company alone carried 41,334,600 passengers over 13,000,000 miles of street kept in repair by the city. The saving to the rate-payers is evident.

TUESDAY, April 28,
At 12 o'clock, at Exchange Salesroom, 111 Broadway, New York.

NEW YORK PROPERTY.

Peremptory Administrator's Sale of Valuable Leasehold Property, No. 284 and 286 East Twelfth street—Two three-story and basement houses, 20x40, lots 100, with large brick stable, 40 feet square, with lease on the whole for 21 years from May, 1868, at yearly ground rent of $180.

119th street—North-side, 75 feet west of Avenue A, two lots.

FIRST-CLASS BROOKLYN PROPERTY.

Peremptory Sale, by order of the Executors of the late Hon. John A. Cross, of the splendid new mansion and beautiful grounds. Finely located on the south-east corner of Clinton and Myrtle Avenues, on the terrace adjoining the residence of John Halsey, Esq.

This elegant house was built by the late Mr. Cross, for his home, in the most substantial manner, without regard to cost. It is entirely new; has never been occupied. Its location, is unexceptionable; surroundings first-class. The grounds consist of eight full lots; the entire front on Myrtle avenue, with a depth of 100 feet on Clinton avenue and Hamilton street. Dwelling, 40x46, with extension, 20x28; conservatory, bay windows, piazzas, &c.; it is replete with every modern convenience. The first story is most superbly finished in black walnut; the mantles are of the most elegant design and finish; the rooms large; ceilings high; pantries in abundance. It is warmed throughout with Morris & Tasher's celebrated hot-water heater. Everything that thought or experience could suggest to make this one of the most desirable, comfortable, and convenient residences in the City of Brooklyn was adoped in its erection.

There is connected with the property a fine brick stable on Hamilton street, about 35x40, built in the best manner, and fitted up with furnished apartments for coachman.

The grounds are filled with fine shrubbery, principally evergreens of twenty years' growth.

As the property must be sold, the attention of all who wish to secure a first-class residence in all its appointments is called to this sale. It is seldom that such an opportunity is offered. The terms will be unusually liberal. The Myrtle and Clinton avenue lots are daily advancing in value. Persons wishing to examine the property will please call on S. L. Husted, Esq., one of the executors, at his residence, N. E. corner of Myrtle and Clinton avenues, or apply to the Auctioneers, 25 Nassau street, N. Y.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO., AUCTIONEERS AND REAL ESTATE BROKERS, No. 7 Pine street, New York.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The "REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS' GUIDE" is published every Saturday at No. 37 Park Row, Room 31. It furnishes the following information:

1. All the Real Estate Conveyances during the week in New York and Kings Counties, with the names of buyer and seller.

2. All the Mortgages entered for the same period in New York and vicinity.

3. The Judgments entered in the two counties against delinquent or unfortunate debtors.

4. A list of the recent bankrupts throughout the United States.

5 Full information respecting the local real estate market.

6. A complete and accurate report of the market for building materials.

With one exception (real estate) all the above are new features in the newspaper business. It is a singular fact that so far the great building interest of the nation has been so inadequately represented in the periodical press. This Record, therefore, is indispensable to the following occupations:

Architects,	Lumber Dealers,
Auctioneers,	Lime Dealers,
Builders,	Merchants,
Brick Makers and Dealers,	Metal Workers,
Bankers,	Marble Dealers,
Bill Brokers.	Paint Merchants,
Contractors,	Plumbers,
Cement Dealers,	Planing Mills,
Glue Dealers,	Plaster of Paris,
Hardware for Houses,	Real Estate Owners,
Hair,	Slate Dealers,
Insurance Interest,	Window Glass Dealers,

and a large number of kindred occupations. General advertisers will see the value of the RECORD as a business medium.

C. W. SWEET & CO.

REAL ESTATE NEWS AGENCY.

C. W. SWEET & CO., proprietors of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, have opened, in connection with their paper, an agency, through which they propose to furnish extremely valuable information for the benefit of Real Estate dealers, owners, and operators. Persons about investing in Real Estate, usually wish to be informed touching the following points:—

1st. Who the actual owner of any piece of property may be, and whether any incumbrance is existing against it.

2d. What the actual value of said property was at the last sale.

3d. What price the property adjacent and within same block has sold for within the past few years.

4th. An intelligent, unbiased estimate of the value of the property at the present time; the future prospects of the same; whether there are likely to be any improvements, and of what kind, in the street where property is located; and such other information as will be likely to affect the value of said property.

Real Estate dealers, will at once see the immense value of the class of information we propose to furnish, particularly to those who now buy in the dark without any reliable data to guide them, but who, by means of our agency, will have every light which official records, transcripts of sales, etc., can furnish. We have peculiar facilities for furnishing this class of information, having in our possession maps, books, etc., gotten up exclusively by us, which contain every piece of property in New York and Kings counties, with the names of owners, and other information accessible to no other firm or persons in the United States.

OUR readers must bear with us for a week or two, until the number of conveyances fall off, when we will try and give much more reading matter. At this season of the year the transfer lists are very heavy, and as they are of supreme importance we must give them, regardless of any other but building news matter.

As soon as we have room we intend to add several features to the RECORD which will add very greatly to its value.

Our subscribers and patrons will bear in mind that we have moved from Room 31 to Room 25, in the building No. 37 Park Row. It is on the same floor and more accessible.

OUR INFORMATION BUREAU.

We find we have met a real want in the information we propose to give touching the prices of real estate. Nearly every one who has bought houses, with whom we are personally acquainted, tells us that before purchasing they would have given, some twenty-five, and others one hundred dollars, if they could have gone to any place where they could have found out the previous history of the property they were purchasing. Said one gentleman to us, "I was offered a piece of property in Seventh Avenue for $18,000. I wanted to buy, but before doing so was anxious to know what the previous sale had been. I was curious to find out also the record of the sale of the property on either side, also the city assessment; but after inquiring, I could not get the information, and so I bought the house blindly."

This experience is that of scores of other people. Remember, then, that we agree to furnish all possible information about every piece of property in New York and Kings counties. Tell us the location of a house or lot, and we will tell its history; what it sold for at last recorded sale; what the adjoining property sold for; the city assessment; the incumbrances, together with a careful valuation of the real value of the property. We also search titles, and make out careful abstracts of titles when called for. Our charges will be found moderate, and our information accurate and reliable.

BOGUS NEWSPAPERS AGAIN.

In a previous issue we called attention to a class of advertising circulars, misnamed newspapers, which are now in existence, some of which pretend to give Real Estate statistics, but which in reality do nothing beyond advertising sales of property, by certain dealers, and the puffing of one particular dealer. The appearance of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, however, has shown those interested in real estate how utterly worthless those sheets were; hence it is not wonderful that we should enlist the interest of business men, and that confidence in the bogus journals should decrease in like proportion. Daily we receive letters of commendation, and not unfrequently notes of inquiry regarding the business affairs of these circulars, which we would not pretend to answer. The following query, however, coming as it does from one of the best houses down town, seems too pertinent to be thrown aside unnoticed. It is whether the numerous reports and puffs which appear in a certain journal, in regard to sales of real estate by a particular party, come from disinterested reporters or are paid for by the line?"

With regard to this matter, all we have to say is, that the owners of advertising circulars have a perfect right to puff themselves and their business. This is what advertising circulars are published for. "You pay your money and you take your choice."

THE COMMERCIAL CITY OF THE WORLD.

[From the Toledo Commercial.]

THE future of New York is a theme almost as attractive to the imagination as anything in the region of fable. It is estimated that at the present rate of increase, the city will, in eighty years, contain a population of sixteen millions. The increase in rents and in the value of real estate indicates the rapid growth and the prospects of the city. Dwelling houses which in 1863 rented for $800, now rent in some instances, for $2,200. The rates for business houses are enormous, though real estate agents say that the dull business of the present winter has somewhat diminished the demand for large stores, which last year rented for $40,000 and $50,000 a year. The increase in the value of real estate, however, is steady and prodigious. A lot on Fifth Avenue and Central Park was sold a year ago for $13,000; in December it sold for $24,000, and is now in the market at $25,000. A dwelling on Fifty-Eighth st., between Second and Third Avenues, purchased a month ago at $18,500, sold immediately for $20,000. A lot on Third Avenue, near Fifty-Ninth street, purchased a year ago for $60,000, sold within a few days for $70,000. The owner of a lot on Seventy-Seventh street and Third Avenue, which five years ago cost him $6,500, is now refusing $21,000. Another owner who two years ago paid $10,000 for a lot on Thirty-Fourth street and Sixth Avenue, refused only a few days since an offer of seventy-five thousand dollars. A five story house on Broadway, between Twenty-First and Twenty-Second streets, which was sold two years ago for $75,000, is now valued at $125,000.

It is said by experienced men in New York, that the West alone will soon demand every lot on the island for the accommodation of its trade. When the South is re-populated and placed again under cultivation, the demand for space must be greatly increased, and land on Manhattan Island will reach fabulous prices. What, then, may we not expect when the Mississippi Valley contains a population of one hundred million; when the Pacific slope teems with as many more, and when the great Union Pacific and Northern Pacific Railroads are completed? To this immense traffic is to be added, a great trade from Japan, the Russian Asiatic possessions, the Phillippine Islands, Eastern India, the Indian Archipelago and Australia to Europe. The report of the Commissioner of the Land Office shows that the greater portion of the lighter and more costly articles of trade, from the East to Great Britain, will pass over this continent when the Pacific Railroad is completed, the rapidity of transit counterbalancing the higher rates of railroad transportation and of transhipment at San Francisco and New York. A great portion of the teas and silks of China, it is expected, will thus reach England and France, and a corresponding quantity of the higher-priced exports of these countries will reach Asia, over our railways. Of these commodities, the amount imported by Great Britain, during the five years ending in 1864, were 541,428,329 pounds, valued at $206,000,000.

New York has the advantage of London in distances to oriental points. From London, by way of the Cape of Good Hope, to Calcutta, the distance is greater than from New York by way of San Francisco, by about one hundred miles. To Melbourne, in Australia, the distance is about 3,379 miles in favor of New York. Even when the Suez Canal is completed, which, it is stated, will be in 1869, the distances to five important oriental points will still be against London. From New York by way of San Francisco, and from London by way of the Suez Canal, the difference in favor of New York is as follows to the points named. To Melbourne, 379; Yokohama, 3,989; Shanghai, 1,914; Hong Kong, 314, and Manilla, 504 miles.

With her immense commerce by way of the Atlantic, with the vast region of the United States looking to her for supplies, and with the trade of Europe with the oriental world taking ship at her docks and train at her depots, New York will be the most important city on the globe, the very commercial centre of the world. Manhattan Island must soon be covered with masses of business blocks, and the immense population of the city must seek places to sleep beyond the river. Persons looking out for a rapidly growing city in which to locate and for a place to make investments in real estate, may turn to New York with confidence. Twenty years hence lots may be sold for as many guineas or eagles as will cover them.

ARNOLD & CONSTABLE propose to build a splendid store on Broadway, between 18th and 19th Streets. It is to be on the west side. Before they commence, it would be well to see if Broadway is not to be widened between Union Square and 59th Street.

Above the latter street, Broadway, under the name of the Boulevard, will be 150 feet wide. It certainly should not be any narrower below 59th Street. This improvement is very much needed, as is shown by the condition of Fifth Avenue on any fine day. Another fine wide approach to the Park has become a necessity, and the widening of Broadway should be commenced forthwith; at any rate there should be no doubt as to which side of the street should be widened.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

THE Building—for the New Market—bounded by Sixteenth street, Seventeenth street, Avenue C., and the East River, is progressing rapidly, and will probably be finished by the fourth of July. It will be 340 feet long, and 162 feet wide, and will have a roof composed of three arches, each measuring 54 feet square.

The Croton Aqueduct Department has been directed by the councilmanic board to advertise for bids to pave John street, from Broadway to Pearl, and the whole of Burling slip, with the McGonegal wooden pavement; also Bond street, from the Bowery to Broadway.

It is stated that the new Court House building will be so far completed on the first of May that the supervisors will meet there at that time.

Louis Philippe, of France, once taught school in an old house on Broadway, in this city, which will shortly be torn down in the widening of the Bloomingdale road.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE noted Benninghoff oil farm has just been sold for $80,000. Four hundred thousand dollars were offered for it last August.

AN offer of $52,000 was refused last week for some real estate at Worcester, which was sold at auction, on Wednesday for $42,000.

THE builders of the pyramids, it is ascertained from recent discoveries, were fed upon oysters—an illustration of the theory that fish diet is highly conducive to mental and physical vigor.

A year ago a man paid $1,000 for some land in Omaha. He has just sold it to a railroad for $36,000

THE Philadelphia Academy of Medicine are to erect a new building. They have raised the amount of $115,000, with which to commence work.

THE amount of sales of real estate in Des Moines County, Iowa, in the year 1867, outside of Burlington, was $721,398; and in that city, $515,830. The stamps in these transaction, amounted to $1,497

THERE are in the city of Oshkosh, Wis, 2,159 dwelling houses; 220 buildings occupied for the sale of goods; 101 manufactories; 12 churches with a membership of 3,259, and 1,365 Sabbath school scholars, 121 streets; and a population of 11,376.

IN NEW YORK, it is said, that about nine hundred persons own all the real estate, and of these there are ten persons who own one-tenth of the entire taxable property of the city. The total taxable value of New York in 1867 was $555,442,012, and these ten gentlemen are taxed in the aggregate upon $51,405,500. They are the following: Wm. B. Astor, $16,114,000; William C. Rhinelander, $7,745,000; Alexander T. Stewart, $6,091,500; Peter Goelet, $4,417,000; James Lenox, $4,260,000; Peter Lorillard (since dead), $4,245,000; John D. Wolfe, $3,997,000; M. M. Hendricks, $1,690,000; Rufus L. Lord, $1,500,000, and C. V. S. Roosevelt, $1,346,000. Together, these ten paid municipal taxes during 1867 to the amount of $1,182,326, Wm. B. Astor being taxed $358,140, a sum which, in itself, is a fortune. The assessment above given is said to be but one-half the actual valuation of the property, so that Mr. Astor is worth over $32,000,000 in real estate alone.

THE real estate market in Cincinnati is very active. During March, fully a million dollars worth of property were sold by auction. One firm sold $115,000 worth in one week of that month, another $133,100 during the entire month, and others averaging from $10,000 to $50,000. Suburban property is now attracting much attention, and many sales of that class are announced.

PHILADELPHIA has a total of 108,182 buildings. The statistics are a little curious. Of brick houses there are 764 one story, 16,762 two story, 58,367 three story, and 4,411 four story. Of stone houses there are 190 one story, 4,253 two story, 2,337 three story, and 106 four story. Of frame houses there are 1,071 one story, 11,510 two story, and 1,238 three story. Of houses five stories and over there are 654 in the city.

DAVY CROCKETT'S farm, of 1,300 acres, in Gibson County Tenn., is for sale.

THE Saginaw, Mich., Courier states that two hundred buildings are now being built in that city, the aggregate value of which, when completed, will be $500,000.

THE Otter creek marble quarries near Brandon, Vt., which were bought when discovered in June, 1866, for $30,000, have passed into the hands of Boston men, who have placed $250,000 in their treasurer's hands to develop it, and will begin in July to saw 10,000 feet a month.

ELEVEN architects in Chicago have building contracts for this season amounting to $2,500,000.

AT Chelsea, Mass., Wednesday, 102,990 feet of wharves and docks and 127,200 feet of flats, with several buildings, appraised at $85,000, could only raise a bid of $15,000, and the sale was stopped.

TOLEDO has appropriated 50 acres of land near that city for the Ohio State Fair, bought 600,000 feet of lumber for the building, and is to sink three Artesan wells to supply the water.

OVER 200 buildings will be erected in Rutland, Vt., the present season, three of which will cost about $100,000.

THE assessed valuation of the taxable property in Pittsburgh, Pa., is $17,578,477.

THE total valuation of real estate in the several Counties of Wisconsin, is $243,287,567.

THE real estate market in Cincinnati is still very active. Building material is much cheaper than last season, as for instance, brick which last season cost from $16 to $18 per thousand in the wall can now be contracted for from $12 to $14, and other departments of building in the same ratio. This creates a more active business among builders, and consequently vacant property is in more demand, with fair prospects of its enhancement.

SALES of unimproved property are still very active in Chicago. The amount of property conveyed last week was $676,691.

A Bangor correspondent says that the new crop of logs will probably not vary far from 125,000,000 feet. As the last year's supply about 80,000,000 feet was held over unmanufactured, so that there will be about the usual average, provided that the season is propitious and the logs are successfully driven to market.

THE Chicago Post gives the following list of buildings that are to be erected in that city during the ensuing season, the cost of which will be fully two millions of dollars: The most costly is a block of six marble-front houses at the corner of West Washington and Sheldon streets, the expense being $250,000. Unity Church, at the corner of Dearborn and Whiting streets, where the Rev. Robert Collyer will officiate, will cost $125,000. The Fifth Baptist Church, at the corner of Harrison and Sangamon streets, will cost $65,000, and the Methodist Church, at the corner of Jackson street and Fouth avenue, $45,000. Grace Episcopal Church, on Wabash avenue, will cost $100,000. The Dutch Reformed Church, on West Washington street, near Willard place, costs $75,000, and the African Bethel Church on Third avenue, $13,000. The First National Bank are erecting a building on the corner of State and Washington streets, at an expense of $200,000. A brick hotel, six stories high, costing $70,000, is to be built on the east side of Wells, between Randolph and Washington. Doctor Major is also building on Le Salle street, near Madison. The structure will be four stories high, and will cost $75,000.

A MINNESOTIAN has just purchased in Chicago a machine capable of making 25,000 brick in ten hours with two horses. With steam it will make 40,000 brick in the same time. The machine weighs 4,500 pounds and cost $1,000. It is about five feet square by eight or ten in height. Four trucks, for carrying away the brick, and twenty-seven moulds for bricks accompany the machine.

PROPERTY in Kansas City which three years ago sold for $250, recently brought the sum of $10,000.

REAL ESTATE IN CALIFORNIA.—A recent letter from San Francisco has the following relative to the real estate excitement in California: "We are in the vortex of another speculative and financial whirlpool, which bids fair to be as irresistible as the stock mania of 1864. Real estate is advancing at the most extravagant and inconsistent rates. The near completion of the Pacific railroad is the excuse, and the results of that enterprise are thus anticipated in the most exaggerated, ridiculous, and thoroughly Californian fashion. Prices totally incommensurate with a natural advance are asked and given. Lots that two years ago were worth $1,000, now are sold for $10,000 and $15,000. Blocks of land in remote and inconvenient localities, that could have been bought for $500, have been sold to homestead associations for $40,000 and $50,000. The newspapers are filled with flaming advertisements of real estate corporations even as they were once crammed with the prospectuses of mining companies. Of course some localities are more favored than others. Alameda and Oakland both expect to have the San Francisco terminus of the Pacific railroad, and hold their lands at fabulous prices. Oakland, which hitherto has been content to own a college, and has aspired only to be known as a literary suburb of San Francisco, is now fixed with an unhallowed passion for dollars and cents and commercial empire. A few tutors and professors who received their small stipend years ago in promises and college property, are now millionaires, and literature looks up through the good fortune of her representatives. The only real estate your correspondent ever owned was in this academic grove, and was a homestead which cost him $2,000, and which he subsequently disposed of for $1,500. As it has recently been sold for $8,000, he feels an accessson of dignity, equal to the advance, and that, with Dogberry, he is "one who hath had losses." Alameda, another rural village, is divided and sub-divided into homestead lots, with prices increasing in inverse ratio to the smallness of the division. Sharp speculators and brokers roam through the leafy avenues that were once sacred to Sabbath picnics and German rifle companies. The boats are thronged with hard-faced, avaracious money-getters, instead of smiling pleasure-seekers. We are all to become rich, and this prosperity will be brought to our doors by the first train overland from St. Louis. Let us trust it may. But in the meantime let us draw on the future whenever we can get our drafts cashed at a small discount.

In the City of London, the following reductions, by contract, have taken place in wages:—Masons from 6s. 8d. to 6s. per day; paviors 6s. to 5s. 6d.; hammermen, 4s. 6d. to 4s.; stone dressers, 7s. to 6s.; laborers, 4s. 2d. to 2s. 6d.

The model for the proposed international bridge across the English Channel from Dover to Calais, will, it is stated, be finished in about two months, when a series of practical experiments will be made, the distance to be spanned by this bridge is twenty-six miles.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

A very fair amount of business has been done in real estate during the past week. The auction sales at the City Exchange have been well attended, and some very choice and desirable property has been disposed of; but the prices realized indicate no diminution of valuation, rather the reverse, as the sales by the following auctioneers will show:

Tuesday, April 28th, by A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co.: 2 lots on n. s. of 57th st., 225 ft. w. of 10th av., each 25x100.5, $3,350 each; 1 lot on s. s. of 93d st., 227 ft. e. of 5th av., 25x100.8, Charles Muller, $3,050; 1 lot on n. s. of 62d st., 70 ft. e. of Lexington av., 25x¼ block, Charles Muller, $6,000; three-story brick-house in the front, and a three-story brick-house in the rear, and lot No. 45 Morton st., lot 23.5x79, Mrs. A. Smith, $14,500; 4 lots on the e. s. of 10th av., corner 53d st., each 25x100, B. G. Fairchild, $10,300; 1 lot on s. s. of 57th st., 100 ft. from 9th av., 25x100, V. K. Stevenson, $6,250; 1 lot adjoining, C. A. Crone, 6,000; 1 lot adjoining, C. A. Crone, $5,550; 1 lot adjoining, G. R. Whitehead, $5,450; 1 story brick building and lot No. 185 Elizabeth st., bet. Prince and Spring, lot 25x89, James Purcell, $8,600; 3 story brick house and lot on s. s. of 117th st., bet. 4th and 5th avs., lot 16.2x¼ block, George Doughty, $8,200.

On Wednesday, April 29, by the same: W. 47th st., house and lot No. 447, 18.9x50x¼ block, Jas. Archer, $16,800; 110th st., house and lot, s. s., 305.9 e. of 4th av., 18.9x45x100, Richd. Turner, $10,500; 122d st., house and lot, s. s., 175 ft. e. of 2d av., 18.9x45x100, F. Brady, $8,400; 100th st., 4 lots, n. s., 100 ft. w. of 8th av., 25x100, E. R. Pattieson, $3,100 each; 4th av., 4 lots, n. e. cor. 104 st., 25x100, Jas. C. Smythe, $1,500 each; 121st st., 6 lots, n. s., 26 3 ft. w. of New av., 25x100; New av., 6 lots in rear of above, Wm. Shangh, $1,475 each; "The Brooklyn Hotel," on Hamilton av., Brooklyn, 76.8x31.4x31.4, Emil Hammon, $39,500.

The number of pieces of Brooklyn property offered this week has been very small in comparison with last week; some very valuable improved property has changed hands however. Among the most notable is the Brooklyn Hotel property above mentioned, and the following, which were sold on Tuesday by Messrs. Johnson and Miller:

The elegant mansion, 44x46, with extension 20x28, on Clinton av. cor. Myrtle av., Brooklyn, plot 200x100, built by the late Hon. John A. Cross and most superbly finished, expressly for his own use; has never been occupied, and is one of the finest properties in Brooklyn.—C. W. Remington, $49,000. No. 284 and 286 E. 12th st., 2 brick houses, 20x40, lot 20x100, on leased property.—W. Lowe, $7,000. Two lots on 119th st., each 19x100, near avenue A. M. Farlee, each $1,750. Brickhouse and lot No. 59 Court st., Brooklyn, 26x40x98.7, 3-story H. S. B. S.—W. Mackey, $20,500. Brick house and lot No. 124 Clinton st., four-story, E. B. B. S., all improvements. H. Gray, $17,500. House and lot, 17.6x100, on Halsey st., n. Tompkins av., Wm. Fettretch, $4,100. 2 houses and lots adjoining the above, on Halsey st. Wm. Spence, each $4,150. House and lot on Hancock st., 17.6x100, commencing 100 ft. from Tompkins av. M. Nolton, $4,300. 4 houses and lots adjoining on Hancock st., same size. Wm. Spence, each $4,250. House and lot on Lafayette av., n. Lewis av., 3-story frame, high stoop, gas, water, &c. A. Barker, $6,000.

On Wednesday the same firm also disposed of a large number of lots, 175 in all, situated in the 18th and 19th Wards, all of which realized excellent prices, especially the corner lots. The following are the most notable:

Three story brick house and lot, 20.2x40x100 on Rutledge st., near Lee av., J. W. Stevens, $6,850; lots on Rodney st., s. s., 144 f. w. of Bedford av., 22.4x100, Wm. Blackerding, $1,500; 1 lot on Rodney st., adjoining, same size, Mr. Mills, $1,500; 2 lots on Keap st., n. s., each 22x100 on Lee av., Mr. Hall, each $2,300; 1 lot on Keap st., n. s., adjoining, same size, S. J. Thompson, $2,250; 2 lots on Keap st., n. s., adjoining, same size, Wm. Taylor, $2,250; 3 lots on Keap st., s. s., 169 ft. e. of Lee av., 22.4x100, Mr. Mills, each $1,500; 2 lots on Hooper st., s. s., 206 ft. from Lee av., 20x100, J. F. Thompson, each $950; 1 lot on Hooper st., adjoining, same size, J. F Thompson, $950; 2 lots on Hooper st., adjoining, same size, Mr. Weaver, each $950; 2 lots on Hooper st., adjoining, same size, Josiah Rover, each $900; 2 lots on Hewes st., n. s., 60 ft. of Marcey av., 20x86, J. J. Thompson, each $860; 2 lots on Hooper st., s. s., 234 ft. w. of Marcy av., 22.4x100, J. J. Thompson, each $950; 2 lots on Bedford av., e. s., 60 ft. of Hewes st., each 20x100, Mr. Weaver, each $1,750; 3 lots adjoining above, and being the s e. corner of Hewes st., each 20x100, Mr. Thompson, each $1,800.

Mr. William Kennelly also effected the sale of a splendid piece of Prospect Park property, consisting of about 16 lots, 155½ feet front, opposite the Park, facing the Lake and Point Lookout, and situated between Seely and Vanderbilt streets, near one of the main entrances to the Park, together with the buildings thereon, which are replete with all the modern improvements, were sold to John McNaught for $27,500.

James M. Miller, the well known auctioneer of this city, also disposed of several pieces of Brooklyn improved property, which consists of two houses and lots on the south-side of Hickory street, commencing 160 feet east from Nostrand avenue, were sold for $2,225 each; the houses are two-story frame, 20x25 feet, with extension, are in good order, water introduced, and have cellars under the whole house.

It also fell to the lot of Mr. M. to dispose of what must be considered as the crown of the market for this week, comprising the following very valuable improved property situated in the very centre of the city. The sale was made under the direction of the Supreme Court, and was consequently all bona fide sales. The bidding was very animated throughout, and the prices realized were very satisfactory, netting in the aggregate the large sum of $875,200.

By James M. Miller: 1 lot corner Broadway and 11th st., opposite St. Denis Hotel, 51 5 front, 103.10 n. s., 118 s. s., 19.6 rear, Chas. T. Appleby, $22,250; 3 gores adjoining, 73.8 front, 38.10 deep, 76.8 rear, C. T. Appleby, $25,100.

On Tuesday Messrs. Muller, Wilkins & Co., also succeeded in disposing of the following desirable pieces:—

Buildings and lots, s. e. cor. Broad and Front sts., being 46.10 on Front by 62.6 on Broad st., $54,350; Stable and lot No. 166 East 51st st., 20x100.5, $9,800; 1 lot, s. s., 77th st., 225 west of 8th av., 25x102.2, $6,000; 1 lot, w. s., 9th av., 25.8 north of 80th st., 25.6x100, $5,700; 4 56/100, acres situated on Hunts Point Road in Town of West Farms, Westchester Co., $5,100 per Acre.

The balance of the West Farms property was withdrawn and is at private sale. This is a very fine tract of land, and will no doubt rapidly increase in value. The same firm also disposed of the following desirable property:—

2 story brick store, 3 story frame dwelling, 3 story brick extension and lot, Nos. 252 and 254 Broome, bet. Orchard and Ludlow sts., lot 38.10x87.6, M. A. Ralman, $18,400; plot of ground with the 3 story building known as National Hall, cor. of 4th av. and 129th st., lot 100x99.11, J. Pell, $49,000; 2 story frame house and lot, s. s., of 129th st., 100 west of 4th av., lot 40x99.11, J. Pell, $14,750.

Mr. Joseph McGuire also disposed of some valuable pieces, the most notable being a four story brick house and lot, No. 88 2d av., 25 from 5th st., lot 21.3x100, Owen Murphy, $20,750; 1 lot on s. s. of 86th st., 125 from 1st av., 25x102.2, S. Brennen, $2,400.

The following are the most notable sales of New Jersey property effected by Messrs. A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro.: 4 acres unimproved property, situate at Bergen Point, Hudson Co., on 3d and 4th streets and Avenue V, to John J. Van Buskirk for $26,000, also 2¼ acres at Centreville, Hudson Co., situate on 62d street, for $5,180, to Sam. R. Zelbrunett.

Thus another glowing chapter is added to the already overflowing records of real estate transactions for this season, which has been one of the most remarkable in the annals of the two counties. A good market will doubtless continue for a few weeks longer, but it is quite evident that nearly all the speculative tracts and lots of unimproved land in New York and Kings have been bought up and will be held, for a rise, until next season. There is no probability of a further advance in value this year, neither is there any fear of a depreciation.

Real estate in every other northern city continues to hold its own. The following interesting sales of desirable store property occurred this week in the city of Boston:

The stores Nos. 89, 91, 93 Milk and 90 Congress streets, having a granite front on Milk street and Congress street. The stores and premises are under lease for four years and three months from the first day of April, 18 8, at $8,500. The first bid offered was $14 per foot, and the bids ran rapidly up to $19 90, at which price it was sold to Henry A. Whitney, the total sum being $133,111 10. Stores Nos. 141 and 143 Milk street were next offered—the first, on Milk street was started at $15 per square foot, and was finally sold to S. T. Parker for $20 10, or $22,867 10. Store No. 143 was sold to G. S. Dexter for $28,074 32. The sale attracted a very large attendance of capitalists interested in real estate improvements.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—There has been a steady, uniform market for all kinds throughout the week, and we make no essential alteration in prices. The receipts, principally from up the Hudson, are not very heavy, and about equal the demand, which with a fair accumulation of stock at the various receiving depots, prevents either buyer or seller from gaining any important advantage at the moment, and business runs along smooth and evenly. A continuance of such open fine weather as we have experienced during the week will naturally have a tendency to increase the inquiry, but a large supply is available at short notice, and all wants could easily be met. Philadelphia fronts have not commenced arriving as yet, though several lots are overdue, and are looked for at any moment. The old stock on hand is sufficient for present wants and prices remain steady at $40 00 @ $42 00 per M. The shipments for the week are 8,000 bricks, valued at $120 to British Honduras, and 39,000 do., valued at $507 to New Granada.

CEMENT.—The demand still continues very active from all quarters, but the manufactories are now pretty much all in full working order, and buyers are enabled to get a supply without much difficulty. Rosendale is selling at $1 75 per bbl., delivered here. During the week 462 bbls. have been exported, mostly to West Indies.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—The city trade is fair, but the demand from the country is quite active, and the shipments to the interior are liberal. For export there is nothing doing worthy of note, the West India, South American, and Australian markets being relatively lower than our own, and affording no inducement to shippers, or at the best so small a margin that few will take the risk of forwarding.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The retail trade continues fair, though not unusually active, and prices generally are well sustained. The wholesale market however is dull, as there is scarcely enough stock in importers' hands to work with. At auction we note sales of 500 logs St. Domingo Mahogany at 7c.@8c. per foot, usual terms. The receipts have been as follows: 161 pieces Mahogany from Laguira; 16 logs do. and 41 crotches from Porto Plata; and 1,422 pieces Lignumvitæ from Porto Plata. The Shipments as follows: To Liverpool 225 logs of Mahogany valued at $1,500; and 80 logs of Satinwood valued at $1,300.

GLASS.—The market is without new features if we except a little more doing in a jobbing way. The supply in the hands of importers has scarcely been handled during the week, and with no business, prices are nominally unchanged. The imports for this week are 12,072 packages, valued at $26,528, and 112 Glass Plate, valued at $17,048.

HAIR.—The demand has been very good and prices steady at full previous quotations. The stock of desirable parcels is still small, as the clear weather has been hardly continuous enough to admit of a large quantity being dried.

HARDWARE.—For all styles of builders' hardware there is a good local and country demand, and in many instances dealers find that a large portion of their orders are for this class of goods. Some recent charges in the discounts from list prices have been made, mostly in buyers' favor, and this has in a measure stimulated the demand.

LIME.—The demand has not been very brisk during the past week, and the market has rather a dull tone. Former prices are still asked and paid for retail lots; but with more liberal receipts, there seems to be a tendency to shade somewhat in buyers' favor, and no attempt is made to force large parcels.

LATH.—Immediately following the issue of our last report, further sales were made of 1,000,000 at $3.75 per M, but the receipts soon becoming quite liberal and dealers only buying to meet pressing wants, a decline of 25c. per M took place, and sales consummated to the extent $800,000 in lots at $3.50. At the close, the demand is very moderate, and, with some accumulation of stock, the tendency is downward, buyers refusing to bid over $3.25 per M.

LABOR.—The market continues to be well supplied, and all classes are working at previous rates, except the brown stone cutters, who have struck for $5, and eight hours per day. Common laborers are more inquired after, at $1.75 to $2.50 per day, according to ability.

LUMBER.—The few warm and seasonable days of the past week have had a very perceptible effect upon the retail trade, and in all directions we find business at the yards to have been good, in some cases very active. The supply on hand is fair and has been somewhat increased, but there is still a great scarcity of desirable stock, such as 1 to 1¼ inch; and with none at Albany to draw upon, we cannot look for any until the canal shall have become fully opened. Even then it is anticipated that the bulk of the receipts will be green, as but little seasoned lumber is known to be on the way. The Eastern Division of the Erie canal is opened to allow the stock nipped in the ice last winter to reach tide-water; but we understand that not more than twenty boat loads will come out, over half of which is consigned directly through to New York and the East, and will go into the hands of consumers immediately. Prices naturally are very firm and likely to continue so, as both the Canadian and Western markets are relatively $2.00 @ $3.00 per M. above our own. Eastern Spruce is still in small supply, and anything merchantable will readily command $20.00@21.00, and extra lengths $22.00. Southern Pine is quiet, but mainly from want of stock, and good lots, if offered, could readily be sold at $30.00, very choice probably as high as $35.00, for Georgia. We still find shippers complaining of the dulness of trade, and many that were last year at this time busily engaged in filling out large contracts are now handling little or nothing. Among the sales reported during the week we note 475,000 East Spruce at $20.00@$22.00 per M.; 300,000 feet Spruce shipping boards at $20.00; and 200,000 feet white pine shipping boards at $28.00@$30.00 per M. No Southern pine reported.

The shipments of lumber have been as follows:

	This wk.	Last wk.	Since Apl. 1, '68.
	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.
Africa	102,708		102,708

Value	$6,955	$5,751	$36,571

There has also been shipments of 242 bdl. Shingles to British Honduras; 125,000 Shingles to Hayti; 192,080 Staves, mainly to Cadiz; 250 tons Cedar wood to Bremen; 107 parcels Maple to Liverpool, and 25 logs Black Walnut to Havre. The latest reports of shipments from other points are as follows: New Orleans, 57,759 Staves to Cadiz, and 4,104 do. to Liverpool. Portland to Montevideo 6,020 Pickets; 30,000 Shingles; 6,000 Laths; and 250,471 feet of Lumber; to Barbadoes 26,120 feet Lumber; to Demarara 13,000 feet do.; to Cuba 464,251 feet do., and 20,000 Laths. The receipts have been as follows: From Musquash, N. B. 485 Piles; from Newberne 7,150 Staves; from Charleston 2,670 feet Lumber, and from Savannah 136,099 feet do.

From the West we learn that the activity in all sections shows little, if any, abatement, and in some cases business has decidedly improved, though considerable inconvenience was frequently experienced by the continued short supply of desirable grades. All mills with any logs on hand were working to their full capacity, and found no difficulty in disposing of the lumber as fast as produced. At Chicago the attendance of buyers has continued very large, and liberal operations were taking place from day to day at full, and rather buoyant figures. A recent report in one of the Chicago journals says:

"Not since the close of navigation, 1867, have the receipts of Lumber by lake been so large as during the past forty-eight hours. In short, the day just closed has been an active one at the Lumber Exchange Docks, and receivers of Lumber may justly consider this day as a criterion for the season of 1868. There was a large attendance of both country and local buyers, and as the offerings were suited to the requirements of the trade, business was brisk throughout the day. The major portion of the sales were effected at yesterday's prices, although a few choice cargoes commanded higher figures. We, however, quote the market firm at $14.00@$15.00 for common grades, and $16.00@$18.00 for good to choice mill run.

"There was a better inquiry for good qualities of Lath, and as the receipts were inadequate, dealers experienced no difficulty in obtaining former prices—$2.75@$3.00 per 1,000 afloat.

"'A' of Star-Sawed Shingles are coming in freely, and the market rules quite firm at $3.62½."

This was followed by several days at good steady business, and cargoes, as a general thing, found a market upon arrival. The yard prices were as follows, with an estimated increase of at least 50 per cent. in the amount of business doing over the same time last year:

First clear, 1 to 2 in., per m	$55 00@57 00

The Toledo market is firm, and a few slight alterations in figures are in sellers' favor. The latest quotations as follows:

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50; Second Clear, $45; Box $40; Stock Boards $20@$22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $12; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45; Joists, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and under, $16; do. Cull, 20 to 24 feet, $19@22; Cull Joist, $10.

Cedar posts, 18c.: Lath, $3.25; A 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $6; No. 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $5.50; No. 1, 18-inch Shaved Shingle, $7,

DRESSED LUMBER.—Clear and Second Flooring, $40; Common Flooring, $30; Common Siding, $17; Clear and Second Siding, $25; Stock Boards, $24; Common Boards, $18; Oval Batts, $35.

At Milwaukee a fair steady business was doing, and the market quite firm at the following figures, which show some fluctuation since our last.

Clear Plank, $55; Second Clear Plank, $50; Clear Boards, $50; Second Boards $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $28; Common Siding, dressed, $23; Stock Boards, $19; Common Boards, $16; 16 feet. Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $7.50; Shingles, best sawed, $4.50@4.75; Posts, $12.50 @30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$16; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

The Saginaw Enterprise reports the following:

"A sale of a cargo of lumber by Chapin, Barber & Co. to Chicago parties at $6.50, $13.00 and $38.50, is reported. Several sales at $6.00, $12, and $12.50 for common, and $35.00 and $36.00 for uppers, have also been reported. Lumber has an upward tendency.

From St. Paul, Minnesota, we learn of a very firm and quite an active market with about fifteen car loads of stock coming in daily, besides the recepts by barges. The figures were $14.00@ $16.00 for 2d and 1st Common Boards; $22.00@$24.00 for stock boards; $25.00@$30.00 for wagon box boards; $16.00, for joist and dimension, 18 feet and and under; $20.00@$24.00, for do. 20 to 30 feet; $35.00 for 1st flooring, and $28.00 for 2d do,

The Connecticut prices for hard green lumber on arrival at depots are as follows: Oak $17.00@$20.00 per M; Ash $20.00@$23.00 per M; Cherry $28.00@$30.00 do.; Walnut $20.00@$25.00 do.; and Poplar $17.00@$20.00 do.

We obtain the following from the Chatham, C. W., Planet, which will interest many of our readers:

"From the best information we can obtain, the quantity of lumber that will be exported the present season from this section, by which we mean this whole western part of Canada, will fall short of half last season's exportations. The depressed state of the Eastern markets, and exceeding scarcity of money which prevailed before and while sleighing lasted, contributed mainly to this result.

Prices rule about as follows: For the first quality, 12 inches and upward wide, sycamore, 4-4, $11; ⅝, do., $9; whitewood, 4-4, and up, $13; white ash, $12; white oak, $11; chestnut, $13: butternut, $14; cherry, $16; walnut, $22; hickory, $12. We have only found one instance in which a party had sold any seconds, that is, lumber of any of the above kinds under 12 inches wide, and he is to get half the price of first quality.

The Pittsburgh Commercial of a late date says:

"The whole production of boards on the Allegheny and tributaries, the present year, will fall below 120,000,000 feet. Close calculations have been made tending to show that the production will not much exceed 100,000,000 feet. The prospects are that the larger portion of this will pass on to the lower markets, and probably not over 30,000,000 feet of boards will be sold here this season. The most of the lumber rafted is now in market. A few rafts have been left "sticking" at different points above, but a fair rise in June will bring these down, with additional quantities, including the product of the mills operating, between now and the close of navigation. The amount of square timber is fair, but behind the usual spring receipt.

The most of the choice board rafts have already been sold at about $18 per M. Some few sold above, and some at a less figure. We quote at $16 @ $23 per M. Squared timber sells at 10c @14c. per cubic foot, as to quality.

There is nothing very fresh from the Eastern markets except that the mills have now pretty much all commenced working, and the production from this time forward will gradually increase. From a few points there is a complaint of a scarcity of logs, but mostly on the small streams, and where the old stock has all been worked up during the winter, though if the snow continues to work off in the slow gradual manner of the past few weeks, many lumbermen will not be successful in getting their stock down the streams. The amount of logs to the team cut during the winter, was fully up to, if not in excess, of the usual average, but the number of teams that went into the woods was so much less that the aggregate quantity of feet will be materially reduced.

It is estimated that 10,000 logs were adrift when the ice broke up in the Kennebec river last week. The most of them will be saved between Augusta and Gardiner. Had there been the usual amount of rain, much damage would have been done.

The Portland market remains firm and we repeat quotations as follows:

The Troy market has continued fairly active, and the shipments are pretty liberal, prices generally remaining firm on all qualities. Hemlock and Spruce were still in small supply, and clear Pine rather in difficult to find except in small quantities.

Freights were active, and rates steady at $1 75 to New York, $2 25 to Bridgeport and New Haven, $2 75 to Norwich and Middletown, $3 35 to Providence, $3 50 to Hartford, and $3 50 to Philadelphia.

The Southern markets are still as a general thing poorly supplied, particularly in the yellow pine districts, and the tendency of prices is rather towards a higher range. The closing figures at the various points are as follows: At Savannah: $8 00 @ $11 00 per M. feet for mill timber, $13 00 @ 17 00 for small shipping do., and $20 00 @ 22 00 for large do. Lumber $20 00 @ 22 00 for ordinary sizes; $23 00 @ 28 00 for difficult sizes, and $20 00 @ 23 00 for flooring; $35 00 @ 40 00 for white pine rough; $50 00 @ 55 00 for do. dressed; and $30 00 @ 35 00 for spruce pine scantling.

At Charleston: River Flooring Boards at $13 00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10 00 @ 12 00. Mill Timber good $11 00 @ 12 00; and common to fair $5 00 @ 7 00. City sawed lumber $20 00 @ 25 00 per M.

From the circular of E. R. Sneden, published at Saint John, N. B., under date of April 18, we obtain the following:

"FREIGHTS.—Our freight market for the past week has exhibited more animation than for some time previously. As the season approaches for the mills to commence working, shippers are more desirous of operating, and tonnage being in very limited supply, rates have slightly advanced. There being no immediate prospect of vessels offering to any increased extent, it is fair to presume that freights will be firm for some time to come, and a still further advance in rates not unlikely. West India freights are very dull.

"There is more demand for vessels coastwise, and rates slightly better. The following transactions are reported: Duke of Newcastle, 86; Violet, 56; Cindora Day, 68—all for Boston, at $3 75; Romp, for New York, at $5 50 for lumber, $1 10 for laths; Lydia May, for Philadelphia, at $5 00 and $1 00."

The rates to the North Side of Cuba were $7 00 @ 7 50. The shipments from April 9 to 17 were 209,000 feet boards, plank, etc., to Boston; 52,000 to Newport, R. I.; 159,000 to Matanzas; 150,000 to Cardenas; 205,000 to Havana; and 754,000 to Valparaiso.

METALS.—There has been a moderate trade doing in Tin Plates, but the volume of business is still very light, and market continues to present a dull appearance. The supply on hand is liberal, the receipts pretty large, and though no concessions have been granted, it would be useless for holders to attempt to force sales except at a decline. Lead is in a trifle better demand, and steady at 10c. for Bar, and 12c. for Sheet and Pipe. Zinc has again become scarce, and with a continued active demand prices have improved. Small lots from store bringing 12@12½c., while for future delivery 12c. has been freely paid. Lehigh being sold nearly two months ahead at this figure. The imports of Tin Plates during the past week were 22,525 boxes, valued at $137,995.

NAILS.—The demand still continues moderate, and for small lots from store manufacturers are only asking 5@5¼c. for the best cut, while common grades in a wholesale way can be bought much cheaper. Ruling rates, however, are relatively lower than the cost of production, and some reaction is looked for ere long. The exports for the week were 496 packages, valued at $2,630, against 320 packages valued at $2,153 some time last.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The inquiry for all descriptions of Paints continues very good; and, in fact, is considerably better than last week, and prices rule strong and buoyant. The city trade buy with freedom, and from the country large orders are daily received, but the export demand has been rather less active. Oxide Zinc is very scarce, and Lehigh is in brisk demand at 9½c. Rochelle Ochre is offered to some extent to arrive, but parcels on the spot are in short stock. Glue is without change. Linseed Oil continues in a very dull and rather unsettled condition, though on the whole prices tend downward. Some crushers refuse to offer their stocks except at former outside figures, but there are many holders who are anxious to realize, and from these purchases can be made on more reasonable terms. Some lots being reported as low as $1.13. Crushers' rates may be quoted nominally at about $1.14@$1.15 in casks, and $1.17@$1.18 in bbls. The retail market, of course, feels the influence of this depression, though on very choice qualities holders are pretty steady. We note exports for the week of 55 packages Paint, valued at $3,047; 60 gallons Linseed Oil, valued at $82, and 1,500 gallons Paint Oil, valued at $960.

PITCH.—The market continues very fairly active, and with a not over abundant supply, prices on the better grades are a trifle firmer, closing quite steady at $325@$350 per bl. for Southern, and $3 50@$4 00 do. for City. The receipts for the week were 563 bbls. The exports for the week were 40 bbls. Since Jan. 1st 1,284, and for same period last year 1,106 bls.

STONE.—There has been considerable activity in free stone during the past week, as cutters were anxious to take advantage of the favorable weather and finish up contracts before the 1st of May, but at the close, a strike of the workmen has seriously interfered with operations. Common building or foundation stone is rather dull at the moment. Contractors and builders in most cases having but just completed old jobs, and not being prepared as yet to resume active operations for the summer. Blue stone is steady and quite active, and all that comes in disposed of. The production will fall off somewhat, as a strike of the workmen at the quarries has caused the discharge of about one third the number employed. There has been shipped during this week 211 curbstone to Cuba.

PLASTER OF PARIS.—There has been one or two cargoes of blue Nova Scotia received and a sale said to have been made at $5.00 per ton, but the market is as yet too lightly supplied for rates to be fully determined, and quotations must still be considered as somewhat nominal.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The buoyancy in prices noted at the close of our last report, has been still more decided during the week under review, and we quote a rapid advance of fully 13 cents per gallon on wholesale lots, with much business at the improvement. The stock on hand and expected for the next two or three weeks, is very small, and there is not probably a straight lot of 100 bbls. in the hands of any one party. This of course gives sellers all the advantage, and accounts for the strong upward turn to the market. We quote at about 80 c.@81 c. in a wholesale way. Retail dealers are demoralized, and ask all the way from 82 up to 85 cents. The receipts for the week are 222 bbls; since, Jan 1st., 10,135 bbls. for the same period last year, 17,061 bbls. Exports for the week 17 bbls. since January 1st, 3,619 bbls., and for the same period last year, 7,338 bbls.

SLATE.—The city retail trade has improved somewhat since our last, and though the volume of business is still only moderate dealers, feel more cheerful, and begin to hope that the season is about opening. Prices remain essentially the same on all grades. At the quarries the state of affairs is somewhat unsettled. At the Chapman quarry everything is working smoothly, and the production well up to an average, but at Peach Bottom quarry the men are on a strike, the result of which is awaited with some anxiety at other points ere operations are commenced. From Vermont we have no definite information this week, but it is understood that very little work has thus far been accomplished. The receipts at this point are still light, and all desirable lots coming in find a ready market.

TAR.—The market has been rather less active, though in small lots the aggregate of business is very fair. Early in the week the receipts were somewhat larger, and the improvement on Wilmington noted in our last was lost, but at the reduced figures holders have since been firm, and the close is steady for all kinds. We quote at $2.87½ @$3.12½ per bbl. for North Country, and $3.31½@$3.50 do. for Wilmington. The receipts at this port have been as follows: For the week, 563 bbls.; since January 1, 9,779 bbls., and for same period last year, 7,782 bbls. The exports as follows: For the week, 1,071 bbls.; since January 1, 3,008 bbls., and same time last year, 745 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

THE market continues to be only moderately supplied, and prices generally have an upward turn, closing quite firm. The Evening Journal, of the 29th inst., makes the following report:

"A few boats have arrived per canal of those detained by ice last fall, but more lumber will be received during this week, adding to the supply several articles much wanted, such as clear pine and shingles. The sales during the week have been fair, not large, as the assortment has been broken. Prices have been firm, with an upward tendency at the mills, and unless the balance of the logs are run to the booms, there will have to be an increase to the present figures of our market to save dealers from loss."

Freights were active and rates very firm, with a continued scarcity of vessels for the East, to transport the purchases made within the past two or three weeks.

REAL ESTATE NEWS AGENCY.

C. W. SWEET & CO., proprietors of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, have opened, in connection with their paper, an agency, through which they propose to furnish extremely valuable information for the benefit of Real Estate dealers, owners, and operators. Persons about investing in Real Estate, usually wish to be informed touching the following points:—

1st. Who the actual owner of any piece of property may be, and whether any incumbrance is existing against it.

2d. What the actual value of said property was at the last sale.

3d. What price the property adjacent and within same block has sold for within the past few years.

4th. An intelligent, unbiased estimate of the value of the property at the present time; the future prospects of the same; whether there are likely to be any improvements, and of what kind, in the street where property is located; and such other information as will be likely to affect the value of said property.

Real Estate dealers, will at once see the immense value of the class of information we propose to furnish, particularly to those who now buy in the dark without any reliable data to guide them, but who, by means of our agency, will have every light which official records, transcripts of sales, etc., can furnish. We have peculiar facilities for furnishing this class of information, having in our possession maps, books, etc., gotten up exclusively by us, which contain every piece of property in New York and Kings counties, with the names of owners, and other information accessible to no other firm or persons in the United States.

EAST AND WEST SIDE ASSOCIATIONS.

OUR city real estate owners have at last hit upon a plan to protect their own interests, and at the same time help forward all needful metropolitan improvements. It is by the formation of local organizations, having in view needed sectional improvements, and the correction of existing municipal evils. The first of these associations formed, was the West Side Association. This was composed of gentlemen who owned property west and north of the Central Park, and who naturally desired to make the most of that beautiful section of the city. What really called the organization into existence, was the law passed to cut up all that part of the city into rectangular streets, such as obtain between 14th and 59th streets. This plan, which does well enough, perhaps, on a comparatively level piece of country, would not only have been absurd, but ruinous to a section like the west side, where there were great inequalities of surface. The property owners were organized to resist this plan, and they succeeded in time in putting that district under the control of the Central Park Commissioners, and the result is now that the west side has been laid out in accordance with its topographical peculiarities, and will make in time the most charming locality for residences in the vicinity of any city upon the globe.

Their success has induced the west side owners to keep up a permanent organization to add further to the attractiveness and value of their property. Sewerage, opening of streets, paving, and the like, are all attended to; and the unjust extortions and assessments of the local officials are prevented by an organization which commands respect if it does not always succeed in its efforts.

The happy results derived from the organization of the West Side Association, has led to the formation of an East Side Association, also an East River Improvement Association, an account of which will be found in our real estate market. These gentlemen have definite and worthy objects in view, and deserve and will no doubt achieve success.

We hope in time to chronicle a North-End Association, a Middle Section Association, and a Down Town Association. When these come into existence, as they ought to do, New York city will for the first time be on the road to really good government. Heretofore our property owners have not acted together; indeed, while the city was growing, and new streets opening every year, property changed hands so rapidly that there was no permanent holders of the soil. When the Island is built up, and our citizens have local habitations, more attention will be paid to taxation and other matters directly affecting real estate. Then we will have a noble system of piers and wharves, steam roads where they are needed, streets parallel with Broadway, a wise and cheap ferry system, an abolition of overcrowding nuisance in our city cars. In a word, with the property holders organized as they should be, we will have good local government. Success, then, to the East and West Side Associations, also to the East River Improvement Association. They are steps in the right direction, and their example should be followed.

DEFEAT OF THE ARCADE.

THE Arcade road failed in the State Senate, and more's the pity. It was an original and splendid scheme, one worthy of the great metropolis, and which would have beautified our noble city. But the wealthy owners of property upon Broadway defeated it by their money. A meeting was held; the funds subscribed and the senatorial cattle were purchased.

Instead of blaming these poor creatures, why is not public indignation rather directed against those rich merchants who tempt these weak and corrupt legislators?

It is idle to talk of any road really being of use to the metropolis which does not use the line of Broadway. That is the backbone of the city; along its pavements flow the tide of travel up and down the city. To accommodate the people the steam road which will give relief will be under Broadway; and we have yet a lively hope that it will not be a noisome tunnel road, but a light, airy, and cleanly arcade, such as that which has just been defeated by the money of the Broadway property holders.

REDUCTION IN RENTS.

THERE is no disputing the fact that there are more vacant houses in New York than there were before the first of May. Somehow or somewhere a portion of our population have disappeared. True, summer is coming on, and the birds of passage have taken flight to their rural haunts, but this cause will not account for all the vacant houses, especially the vacant furnished houses.

The fact is rents have come down some, and will probably come down more. The losses in business for the last two years have told upon the means of our citizens, and they cannot pay the paper money war prices. The reduction is not pleasant to landlords, but it is wholesome.

THE New York Herald, last Sunday, copied our building material report without giving us any credit. This shows neither enterprise nor honesty. The Tribune likewise "appropriated" another idea of ours. We gave a short time since the sales for the year. These the Tribune copied, adding the sales for the month of April. Go ahead, neighbors; take all you want, only be honest and give us credit.

PERSONAL.

MANTON MARBLE, the noted editor of the World, has been buying him a piece of property on the Kingsbridge road, near 135th street. It is 50 x 180, and cost him $11,000. This property is wisely selected, but the price seems high for the amount of land secured. However this northwest side of the city is destined in time to be the most costly property for private residences upon the globe.

LAND IN PARIS—The comparative value of ground in different countries and different localities is always a subject of interest. In a general way, "feet front" on Oxford street or the Strand in London, will sell for twice as much as in Broadway or on the Boulevards. The most valuable corner lot in Paris has just been confiscated to the ogre, "public utility;" the costliest block of buildings in the whole city has been given over to the hands of the demolishers, to make way for new streets, and we are thus let into the secret of what a jury of honest citizens consider the value of this most valuable of Paris property.

The figures I am going to give you are astounding. M. Didier, deputy in the corps legislatif, who was put into a madhouse the other day on account of this business, was awarded by the jury the sum of 2,300,000 francs, say $450,000 in gold, for the corner house and lot on the Rue de la Paix and the boulevard occupied by Tahan, vender of bronzes an small objects of art. The lot is of an irregular form, because the Rue de la Paix enters the boulevard at an obtuse angle; but it may be said to be 25 feet in width and 75 in length. It is admitted to be the most valuable lot in Paris, and the honest tax-payers when they walk over it hereafter in the course of the new street, will feel as if they were walking on pearls and diamonds. But this is not all; the occupants of the house were paid large sums for the derangement of moving, the breaking up of their leases, and the loss accruing from a change of location. M. Tahan, who had only three years' longer lease, got an indemnity of 190,000 francs ($38,000); another shop in the same house got the same amount, and the people on the upper floors gots smaller sums, say a total for the whole house of $100,000; making the total cost of this house and small peice of ground $550,000 in gold. The house on the corner opposite Tahan's, called the Dover Hotel, which also disappears in order to regularize the new square, an old house like Didier's, and occupying still less ground, got an indemnity for the house and lot alone of 1,350,000 francs, while three merchants in the house got indemnities, respectively, of 300,000 francs, (a traveler's outfitting store); 120,000 francs, (an umbrella shop); and 60,000 francs, a cigar-shop. So that this corner, which is less valuable than the other, cost the government a total of more than $400,000.

The young and prosperous American banking house of Bowles, Drevet & Co .was turned out of No. 24 Rue de la Paix, and took refuge at No. 12 of the same street, where they obtain a better arrangement of rooms on three floors of large wing buildings in the court. The municipality paid them 275,000 francs, indemnity. The famous candy shop of Boissier, next door to Tahan, on the Boulevard, occupying a front of eighteen feet and a depth of thirty, obtained an indemnity for being disturbed of 500,000 francs, or $100,000 in gold! The secret of this large indemnity for the lease of so small a store is shat Boissier's is the best bons-bons shop in Paris, and that each new occupant retires with a fortune at the end of ten years. The present owner demanded an indemnity of 1,830,000 francs, and is quite dissatisfied with the 500,000 awarded. In the same house a well-established store for infants' wear obtained an indemnity of 350,000 francs, and the total cost of the house, ground and lease indemnities was over $600,000.—Letter to the New York Times

DURABILITY OF TIMBER.—The durability of timber is almost incredible. The following are a few examples for illustration, being vouched for by Buffon, Du Hamel, Rondelet, and others:—

The piles of the bridge built by Trajan, after having been driven more than 1600 years, were found to be petrified four inches; the rest of the wood being in its ordinary condition.

Some timbers of an old bridge were discovered, while digging for the foundation of a house at Ditton Park, Windsor, which ancient records incline us to believe were placed there prior to the year 1396.

The durability of timber out of the ground is even greater still. The roof of the Basilica of St. Paul, at Rome, was framed in the year 816, and now, after more than a thousand years, it is still sound; and the original cypress-wood doors of the same building, after being in use more than 600 years, were, when replaced by others of brass, perfectly free from rot or decay; the wood retaining its original odor. The timber dome of St. Mark, at Venice, is still good, though more than 850 years old. The roof of the Jacobin Convent at Paris, which is of fir, was executed more than 450 years ago.

The age of our country's settlement does not enable us to refer to examples of like antiquity; but no good reason appears to exist why timber may not be as durable in America as in Europe. Many old white-pine cornices here exist, which, having been kept properly painted, have been exposed to the storms of more than 150 years. The wood is still sound, and the arrises are as good as when they were made; while freestone, in the same neighborhood, has decayed badly in less than 50 years.

A NOVEL and very effective mode of testing the value of a new ventilating apparatus has been tried in the hall of the Lower House of Representatives, Berlin. Three hundred men were supplied with cigars and ordered to "puff away." At the end of three hours the temperature was raised but one degree, and the atmosphere was comparatively pure. This result must have been satisfactory to the patentees, Messrs. Stumpf and Elsher, clearly showing the efficiency of their apparatus. Notwithstanding this evidence of its power, it may be doubted whether it will be equally effective in relieving the Chamber of superfluous legislative "gas."

WORKMEN'S WAGES in Paris.—From Mr. J. Ward's recently published work on "Workmen and Wages at Home and Abroad," we find that the general earnings of the Paris workmen in the different branches of industry may be seen from the following figures:—Carpenters, 4f.; joiners, 4f.; masons, 4f. 50c.; paviors, 4f. 50c.; plumbers, 5f. 20c.; wood-turners, 4f. 20c.; wood gilders, 3f.; cabinet makers, 3f, 50c.; lithographers, 3f. 50c.; stone cutters, 5f. 20c.; painters, 4f. 50c. The dead season in these trades varies from three to four months, and in the case of the painters five month, in each year.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The amount of business transacted this week was necessarily limited, as the great rush for improved property is, since the first of May, comparatively over. This is a very opportune time to take an extended view of the real estate market in this and several other of the large cities of the Union, as the past season has been a very lively and most remarkable one in the annals of the real estate market. During the past year several co-operative societies have been formed for the purpose of enabling its members to purchase lots at reasonable prices and by conveniently small installments. One of these, "The New York Co-operative Building Society," numbering at present between 350 and 400 members, has purchased about 400 lots, averaging each about $200, in the Eighteenth Ward, Brooklyn. The West Side Association, formed within the past year, has greatly contributed to the development of improvements, both public and private, within its boundries; and on Tuesday evening the East River Improvement Association held its third meeting, adopted articles of association, and elected an executive committee, consisting of the following gentlemen:—John Roach, George B. Jackson, D. D. Wright, H. W. Lowber, James R. Taylor, Ephriam Miller, Jr., Harvey C. Calkins, C. P. Rogers, T. F. Secor, John Dunon, Christian Metzger, Thomas T. Rowland, Erastus W. Smith, Benjamin F. Kreischer, Andrew Mills. According to the by-laws this Executive Committee shall be divided into the following standing committees of three: "On Legislation, and Removal of Obstructions from East River;" "on Docks, Piers, and Wharves;" "on Sewers, Pavements, and Regulating and Grading streets;" "on Ordinances and Laws;" "on Taxation, Assessments, and Finance." The object and business of the Society is set forth in the second article, which read originally as follows:—

The object of the association shall be to do such things as to the Association or its Executive Committee may deem proper for the general welfare of the real estate within the district of the city lying between Grand and Thirty-fifth strtees, and East of third avenue, and for the general improvement of the navigation of the East River.

Several gentlemen, who were present at the meeting, recommended the extension of the boundaries beyond Third avenue to Fifth avenue, so as to meet those of the West Side Association, as many influential men or large property holders, such as Mayor Hoffman and Peter Cooper, Esq., live between these two avenues. The clause of the second article referring to the boundary was therefore amended so as to read: "The district of the city lying south of Thirty-fifth street and east of Fifth avenue." The by-laws and articles are based upon and correspond to those of the West Side Association. Mr. E. M. Barnum, the secretary, read at the meeting a report of the improvements that have been made on Hell-Gate, and intimated that the association would petition Congress to make an appropriation of $2,846,000 for the purpose of enlarging the channel to such an extent that vessels of the largest tonnage may pass with as little danger as in entering the bay. Should this consummation of the present work be obtained, it is very evident that real estate along the East River would soon rise in value. All these associations have tended in a great measure to enhance the value of property, and, in anticipation of the erection or excavation of areal and subterranean railroads, even large farms in the vicinity of Central avenue and MacCombe's Dam, are being divided into city lots, and companies of speculators are anxiously endeavoring to purchase tracts of land in Weschester County, which, though now remote from the city, must undoubtedly within a few years be a suburban part of this great metropolis—for instance, the Stebbins farm in West Morrisania, which forms part of the Inwood estate, that comprises between 400 and 500 city lots, being part of the great Morris tract lying on both sides of Central avenue. Several hundred acres of land, in immediate proximity to this property, it is understood, have been purchased for a grant depot for the Pacific Railroad Company.

Gradual changes are being made in several parts of the city, as the aggressive wave of commerce is rapidly encroaching on the precincts of fashion; and localities that but a few years ago, were only inhabited by families of the wealthier classes, have gradually descended from that aristocratic status, and first becoming fashionable boarding-houses, and middle-class dwellings, swiftly became metamorphosed into tailoring and millinery establishments; and within the past year large retail dry goods establishments have sprung up where, only three years ago, many of our Knickerbocker families resided. This is preeminently the case with Union Square; and Madison Square, especially on Twenty-second street, shows signs of succumbing to ambitious shop-keepers and tradesmen, who seem determined to push their business places to the very verge of the most aristocratic quarters. The wholesale dry goods stores now extend to Canal street, which will soon become a large wholesale centre; and some of the brick dwellings on Lispenard and Church streets will soon be removed to make way for large, commodious warehouses. Property in the vicinity of St. John's Park is changing since its conversion into a railway depot, and the number of cheap boarding-houses is becoming gradually less, as the premises are wanted for factories, storehouses, &c. Real estate about Washington Square is not in much demand, although houses there fetch very high rents; this inactivity may be attributable to the questionable character of the contemplated junction of Fifth Avenue and Thompson street, which might not improve the park. There has been a considerable change in the Eighth ward, and the lower portions of Mercer, Greene, Wooster, Laurens and Thompson streets are undergoing considerable change, as many tobacco, notions, paper boxes, piano, artificial flowers, &c., factories are springing up; and the streets between Bleecker and Fourteenth are assuming the objectionable character which now distinguishes the upper portions of those streets at right angles to Canal. The renting business in moderately-priced houses has been fair, but in first-class high stoop, &c., houses, of from $3,500 to $6,000 the season has been poor. Until late years furnished houses rented well, but now they are a drug in the market; but owners hope that in the fall better prices may be obtained. Quite a number of people doing business in New York have gone over to Jersey City and Hoboken to live, as small self-contained houses at very moderate rents can be obtained, and the tedious ride in the city cars, from similar houses in up-town districts, is avoided.

Brooklyn property in the vicinity of Prospect Park has advanced during the year fully 20 per cent. on an average. Nothing was done in it this week; but next Tuesday and Wednesday Johnson & Miller will have a large sale of Eighteenth and Nineteenth Ward vacant lots, the former of which for working men may be purchased for $150 to $200.

Great activity prevails among builders in Philadelphia, and during the last four months 1,109 permits were issued, against 767 of the corresponding months of 1867, and the probability is that the whole number for the year will exceed 5,000. These are to be nearly all two, three, and four-storied dwellings, built of brick, in the Philadelphia style, at the estimated average cost of $3,000 apiece, which gives the sum of $15,000,000 to be expended this year on new buildings. The official reports show that there are in the corporate limits of that city 101,008 dwellings, independent of other kinds of buildings, of which 80,304 are of brick, 6,885 of stone, and only 13,819 of wood. The census shows that the city doubles its population every 20 years, and in 1870 it is expected to be 850,000. The number of dwellings does not keep pace with the growth of the population, for houses are in great demand and rents were never so high as they are at present.

Cincinnati is not so jubilant; as first-class dwelling houses have been selling there at prices that would hardly cover the cost of putting up the buildings. But, to counterbalance this, there is a fair demand for moderate and small houses, and in the value of these the decline has been comparatively light, while rents are well sustained. There is a prospect of great improvement, as the mania for country residences is subsiding on Mt. Auburn and Walnut Hills, where small houses are being built in every direction.

Boston shows a good report of real estate transactions within the past year, and building in the city and suburbs is unusually brisk. Among the improvements is the erection of a new grain elevator for the Boston and Albany Railroad. In Roxbury, Chelsea, and Woodlawn Cemetery, several large tracts have been sold for division into city lots.

SALES.

During April the auction sales of real estate in this city have amounted to 772 pieces of property, which were sold for $5,803,514; and in Brooklyn to 249 pieces for $978,779. There were 1,452 transfers, amounting to $23,853,183, and 194 leases, amounting to $497,981. The transfers in Brooklyn were 1,233, amounting to $7,610,017, and 69 leases, amounting to $52,432. The subjoined are the sales by the following auctioneers since our last issue:

Ansley for $1,000; 1 lot on Warren st., north-side, near Nevins st., 20x100, purchased by M. Farrell for $900. ASTORIA, by E. H. LUDLOW & CO.—about 14¼ acres of land in South Astoria were sold by this firm for $11,000. The sale was by order of the executors of the deceased owner. The total of Thursday's sales was $232,160, of which New York improved was $48,250; New York unimproved, $129,950; Brooklyn improved, $42,960; Astoria unimproved, 11,009.

SATURDAY, MAY 2d.—The valuable property of the Harlem Bridge, Morrisania, and Fordham Railroad Company at North New York, was put up for sale at auction. This property, especially the lot on the corner of One Hundred and Thirty-third st. and Fordham av., and the one adjoining, are the most valuable in the town, fronting as they do the new iron bridge at the terminus of Third av. The lot on the corner was offered for sale with the proviso that if deemed expedient by those representing the company that the other lots should be withdrawn, to be sold at some future time at the Exchange Salesrooms, 111 Broadway. The first bid was of $10,000, made by the Hon. J. B. Haskin, followed by $10,500 by Capt. Bowen, a wealthy real estate owner of Mott Haven. The bids were then of $500 advance until they reached the sum of $12,000, when they were continued in advances of $25, $50, and $100, until they reached the sum of $13,200, when the lot was knocked down to Mr. Haskin, who had bought it in for the company. It will be offered at some future day at the Exchange Salesrooms.

TUESDAY, MAY 5TH.—By James R. Miller: The three-story brick-house, 31x65.9x66.3 feet, on the northwest cor. of Fifth av. and Thirty-sixth st., with a two-story extension, 34.10x21.2, and one-story extension, 10.2x9 feet in the rear, and the stable adjoining, 14.11 front by 23.10 in rear, and 45.2 feet in depth, brought $129,000; the house covers the full front of the lot on Fifth av. The four-story house (No. 394) adjoining, on Fifth av., 18.4x65.9 feet, together with the lot, 18.4x92.2x100 feet, were sold for $48,000. A brick stable in the rear, 32.2x32.7x35 feet, together with the fee of the unoccupied part of the lot, 9x42.2 feet, fronting on West Thirty-sixth st., brought $14,000. The two-story basement and cellar, brick-house, 17.2x35 feet, on the south side of Monroe st., the first brick-house east of Classon av., with the lot, 17.2x100 feet, sold for $5,775. By A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO.: 4 lots, 25x100 feet each, fronting on Central av., and the 4 lots, same size, in rear, fronting on Inwood av., were sold to R. Botsford for $595 each. The 3 lots adjoining, extending through to either avenue, realized $520 each, and were bought by Wm. Aiken. A similar price was obtained for the 2 lots to the north of the above from A. Jackson. R. Botsford bought the 5 adjoining parcels for $500 each. The 2 adjoining strips brought $530 the single lot. T. Canfield secured the adjoining plots for $525 a lot. The 4 lots on the extreme north of this block, and like the preceding two, fronting on Central av., and two on Inwood av., were bought by John McKitskey. Wm. C. Higgins purchased a plot of land on the corner opposite the above for $885. A lot adjoining, 25.4x104.2x108 feet, and the lot on the north, were bought by A. Jackson for $525 each. The 2 lots adjoining, and the 2 lots in rear, fronting on Inwood av., were purchased by R. Botsford for $500 each. A tract of land, 200 feet front on Inwood av., and running back to Cromwell's or Doughty's Brook, embracing the Inwood Hotel, was sold to a Mr. Canfield for $7,500. Two lots, 25x100 feet each, on Findlay place, 109.6 feet from Central av., were purchased by A. Jackson for $500 each. The sales for Tuesday amount to $219,450.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6TH.—By A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO.: Two three-story brick dwelling houses and lots, Nos. 13 and 15 Lispenard st., between West Broadway and Church st., lot 49.10x100; purchased by A. T. Butler for $75,000. Three-story brick-house and lot, No. 30 Lispenard street, south side, 55 feet west of Church st., 19x69.10; purchased by Dye & Curtis for $21,500. Three-story brick-house and lot. No. 229 Church st., east side, between Lispenard and Canal sts., lot 18.6x50.5; purchased by Edward Wright for $20,000. Three-story English basement brick-house, stable and lot, No. 207 Lexington av. (old No. 181), east side, between 32d and 33d sts., house 24.9x40. lot 24.9x99.9; purchased by E. S. Bennett for $14,500. By JAMES M. MILLAR: Allendale, Bergen Co., property—One lot on Allendale av., 100 feet from Garrison st., 50x185; purchased by H. Jackson for $150. One lot adjoining, 50x198; purchased by H. Jackson for $170. By JOHNSON & MILLER: Cotton-factory at Hornsville, Herkimer Co., oonsisting of 22 buildings and 15 acres of ground; purchased by C. S. D. Delevan for $22,000: original cost, $90,000. By A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BRO.: Country seat in Plainfield, N. J., of John H. Evans, Main st., surrounded by 12 acres; sold to Isaac L. Platt for $55,000, including horses, carriages, carpets, etc., etc. Improved plot of ten acres, in Greenville, sold to Thos. Essop of New York for $25,000.

On Tuesday, May 12, A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., will sell 500 choice building lots, situated at Bergen Point, New Jersey. Those desiring to invest in Jersey property will do well to attend, as, without doubt, some fine bargains will be secured.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The arrivals during the past week have not been quite so large as usual, and with rather an improving demand, the stock has become somewhat reduced, particularly North River hard. This has given sellers more advantage, and prices are stiffer, nothing now being offered below $8.50 per M., and from this the range runs up to about $12.50, with a few extra fine in a small way at $13.00 The promising weather of last week was of short duration, and though the storms to which we are almost daily subject has no very important effect upon our city trade, it is thought that the production will be delayed, and no new stock is looked for before the first of June. In view of this, dealers feel more confident and talk of a strong market for several weeks to come, particularly as manufacturers do not intend letting their old stock come forward very freely. Fronts are selling steadily at former figures. A cargo of Philadelphia brick, the first of the season, arrived during the week. The shipments are 31,000 to Cuba, valued at $930; and 14,000 to New Granada, valued at $171.

CEMENT.—At $1.75 per bbl. the market for Rosendale continues brisk, and all coming in is easily disposed of. The city trade is pretty well supplied for the present, but dealers and agents are shipping stock coastwise with great freedom. The West India trade has opened a little more lively than usual, though there is nothing to indicate that the exports will exceed the average which is about 10,000 barrels.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—The market continues in the even tenor of its way, the production and the demand being about equal, and dealers still adhering to the rates fixed upon early in the season.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The market has been rather dull for most descriptions, and the only transactions we hear of are in small retail lots. Prices remain about as before. The stock in the yards is generally considered fair for all probable wants. The receipts have been as follows: 572 logs Mahogany from Minatitlan, Mexico; 13 pieces Mahogany from Fortune Island; and 800 logs Cedar from Cedar Keys. The exports 81 pieces Lignumvitæ, valued at $160, to Palermo. From Boston 112 sticks Boxwood were shipped to Liverpool.

GLASS.—French window has been rather more active, both with city dealers and on country orders, though the aggregate of business is still comparatively light. Dealers however feel more encouraged and exhibit less depression than during the past few months. The imports for the week are 432 packages, valued at $2,095; and 97 Glass Plate valued at $13,854.

HAIR.—For mixed and goat the market remains steady on the latter very firm, owing to the continued small offerings. Cattle hair, however, has come forward with more freedom, and to prevent a heavy accumulation of stock and effect sales easily, dealers have reduced prices five cents per bushel, bringing the rate down to 30 cents. At the decline there is a fair steady business doing.

LABOR.—There appears to be a growing feeling of dissatisfaction with present rates of wages among the various classes of mechanics, laborers, etc., and several strikes have taken place during the week. The men generally complain of the increased cost of house rent and the high price of provisions, rendering it very difficult in many cases to make both ends meet. Upon skilled labor the advance demanded has in most instances been paid, and the few master mechanics who still hold out, and refuse to accept the situation, it is thought will soon be obliged to succumb, as all the trade associations are thoroughly organized, and take good care of the strikers. Bricklayers are now getting $5 00 per day in the city, and can do better in the suburban towns. The house carpenters and joiners are standing out strong for $4 00 per day (former pay $3 50), and in most cases are being met by the "bosses." The Masons get an increase of 50c per day, making their wages $5 00. The common class of laborers have been on a strike in nearly all directions, but having no perfect organization, and their places being easily supplied, contractors have not very generally acceded to the terms proposed. For the best class of laborers the wages heretofore paid was $2 25 @ 2 50 per day, and the increase asked for was 25c. At the Prospect Park, Brooklyn, 800 men were employed at $1 50 per day, and all struck for $2 00; but not meeting with the success anticipated and many being absolutely without means to obtain the necessities of life, about 250 returned to work at the old rates.

LATH.—There has been considerable activity, but at a much lower range of prices, the weakness noticed in our last being followed by a still futher decline of 50 @ 62½c. per M., owing to the continued free arrivals and rapid accumulation of stock. The market, however, has since recovered a large portion of the decline and closes strong with some buoyancy. Sales were made of 2,500,000 at $3 25; about 3,000,000 at $3 00; and 750,000 at $2 87½, the latter the lowest point touched, and from this there was a quick rally to $3 00, which is now bid quite freely and holders generally asking 50c higher. A large proportion of the cheap sales during the past week were by parties who had odd lots and were without limits, but the majority of regular receivers were unwilling to accept concessions, having peremptory orders to pile out all not realizing $3 50 per M. It appears to be a very general opinion that lath cannot sell much below $3 50 per M. during the present season in view of the fact, that the steady production of the past year has pretty much all been consumed, and still dealers are poorly supplied, many having no stock whatever on hand, and the majority buying only from hand to mouth, and taking the chances for more reasonable terms. This taken in connection with the comparatively small supply and full price of timber, and the vast increase of building operations all over the country, leads manufacturers to hope that this Summer's make can easily be disposed of at full prices, particularly as a drouth is anticipated, there having been none for two years to interfere with the working of the mills. The difference between the views of buyers and sellers at the moment checks business, and the market at the present writing is quiet.

LIME.—We still note rather a slow market, buyers operating as a general thing only to the extent of immediate wants, and with cargoes dropping in every few days the supply again begins to accumulate pretty freely. Receivers are asking and obtaining previous rates, but evidences of weakness are apparent, and our quotations are barely supported.

LUMBER.—We find no change in the general tone of the retail business since our last. A fair amount of sales are making from day to day, and at most of the yards a healthier tone is noticeable, though operations are still greatly restricted by the poor assortment offering. An occasional cargo comes down the river, but there is very few of the spring purchases at Albany due here, New York buyers having refrained from operating at the high prices current, allowing country dealers to buy up pretty much all the merchantable stock. The canals are now open, however, and the winter's accumulation will soon begin to move freely, rendering it more than probable that in a few weeks the supplies will rapidly increase and contain enough desirable grades to enable our dealers to stock up for the summers's business on more reasonable terms. In the meantime prices here are well supported, and are likely to continue so, as long as our market shows a relatively lower range than at the source of supply. During the early portion of the winter there was a disposition in many quarters to force the market for black walnut, and in order to do so lower prices were accepted. This movement was based on the supposition that the supply would be large this season; but dealers now learn that there will not be more than an average, and having greatly reduced stocks on hand, are stiffening in their ideas very materially. The demand for Eastern Spruce and Pine continues good, and though the arrivals during the week have been larger, pretty much all was sold out at very full and in some cases rather better rates. A few lots of undesirable stock was run out at $20.00, but we find the bulk of the sales ranging well up to $21.00 @ $21.50, and the best $22.00 per M. Southern Pine is wanted, and a much larger stock than is now here could undoubtedly be disposed of at full and remunerative prices. It must be something very poor to sell as low as $30.00, and the majority of the bids are in the vicinity of $33.50 @ $34.50, the best $35.00. There has been some few purchases made by shippers, but the great bulk of the trade is of a local character. The large number of streets now being laid with the Nicholson pavement is draining our market of heavy amount of stock, and the sales on this account alone average 50,000 feet daily of three inch stuff. Among the transactions for the week we note 950,000 feet of Eastern Spruce at $20.00 @ 22.00 per M., a load of Canadian Hemlock Joist, 3x4, at 20 cents, 100,000 feet 1 inch White Pine Shipping boards, and 300,000 feet 1¼ and 1½ inch do., at $25.00 @ $30.00, 120,000 feet Georgia flooring and girders at $34.00, and about 75,000 pickets at $13.00 @ $14.00,

The shipments of lumber have been as follows:

There has also been shipments of 30,315 feet timber to Liverpool, valued at $13,641; 9,000 shingles to British West Indies; 64,000 laths to British Australia; 24,980 staves to Great Britain; and 401,300 do. to the Continent, mostly to Cadiz. The latest reports of shipments from other points are as follows: From Boston 25,672 feet lumber, 30,214 feet boards, 4,974 feet joist, and 75,000 shingles to Africa; 3,897 feet joist and 76,874 feet lumber to Cuba; and 12,000 feet black walnut lumber to British Provinces. From Baltimore 31,000 feet lumber to Humacao; 50,000 feet do. to Curacoa; 40,090 feet do. to Havana; 7,000 feet do. to St. Jago; and 24,000 staves to Demerara. From New Orleans 30,200 staves, mostly to Europe. From Savannah 1,133,481 feet P. P. timber, 8,939 feet lumber, and 31,098 feet plank to Liverpool. From San Francisco 50,000 feet lumber to Hong Kong. The receipts have been as follows: From St. George's, N. B., 475 pieces timber; from Newberne, 20,044 staves; from Charleston, 200,000 feet lumber; and from Savannah, 150,000 feet; the two latter lots to fill contracts.

Our reports from the West this week are somewhat conflicting in regard to the receipts of logs at the mills, but at the close, through private sources, we learn that recent rains have caused pretty heavy freshets in all directions, and that a much larger number of logs will come out than was expected ten days ago. This is not only the case on all the larger streams, but on many of the small tributaries the water has risen enough to allow the lumbermen to get out stock that was thought to be effectually "hung up" for this season at least. With this increase of supply the mills will be enabled to drive a heavy business, and we shall probably soon begin to hear of a more desirable assortment offering, though the bulk will lack the proper amount of seasoning. At the various shipping points business was very active and increasing, full prices being realized on prime grades. but on the common qualities some irregularity prevailed. The Chicago market has been more liberally supplied, but cargoes have not gone begging, and very few remained twenty-four hours after arrival without changing hands. A recent report in the Chicago Times after recording receipts for twenty-four hours of nearly 5,330,000 feet, says:—

"During last night and to-day there were upwards of 100 vessels, laden with lumber, entered the harbor, the greater part of which went on to the market. To say that activity was a prominent feature there but faintly expresses what we would say. Prices on coarse cargoes, owing to the heavy offerings of that kind, depreciated 50c., but on the upper grades were firm at yesterday's figures. Shingles and lath were unchanged."

For several days following the arrivals continued large, at times reaching nearly 9,000,000 feet, and on common stock the buyer retained the advantage, but all good cargoes were firmly held and not offered with much freedom. Common grades sold mostly at $14.00 @ $14.50, a few at $15.00, and good to prime at $15.00 @ $17.50, with choice at $18.00. The yards were doing a good trade at full prices as follows:

The receipts at Toledo were on the increase, but with a good steady business. Prices remained firm as follows:—

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50; Second Clear, $45; Box $40; Stock Boards $20 @ $22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $12; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45; Joists, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and under, $16; do. Cull, 20 to 24 feet, $19@22; Cull Joist, $10.

Cedar posts, 18c.; Lath, $3.25; A 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $6; No. 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $5.50; No. 1, 18-inch Shaved Shingle, $7,

DRESSED LUMBER.—Clear and Second Flooring, $40; Common Flooring, $30; Common Siding, $17; Clear and Second Siding, $25; Stock Boards, $24; Common Boards, $18; Oval Batts, $35.

The Milwaukee market continued quite uniform on all grades, and there was a steady sale from day to day of all desirable grades. The ruling quotations at latest dates were as follows:—

Clear Plank, $55; Second Clear Plank, $50; Clear Boards, $50; Second Boards $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $28; Common Siding, dressed, $23; Stock Boards, $19; Common Boards, $16; 16 feet. Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $7.50; Shingles, best sawed, $4.50@4.75; Posts, $12.50 @30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$16; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

The Cincinnati Times of April 30th remarks:—

"More than a million feet of lumber arrived at Sandusky last Sunday. The papers there speak of the prodigious extent of this trade at that point. So it is at all other shipping points on the lakes. There seems to be still room for lumbermen in the northern forests, as the prices still continue high, indicative of the rapid progress of central and western portions of the country."

The arrivals of green pine at Cincinnati were very fair, but only a moderate amount of business was consummated, buyers and sellers being too far apart in their views, and rendering prices somewhat doubtful, though some lots brought $23.00 @ $25.00 per M. Seasoned pine was dull, and offered on easier terms. Hard lumber quiet. The quotations were as follows:—Oak $17.00@$20.00 per M.; Ash $20.00@23.00 per M; Cherry $28.00@30.00 do.; Walnut $25.00@30.00 do.; and Popular $22.00@$28.00.

The St. Paul Press reports as follows:

"Our yards are all well stocked up now and ready to supply any demand that may be made upon them. The demand from points down the river is very heavy, and some of our dealers are getting heavy orders from below. The news from the lumber camps is very favorable, and indicates a prosperous and very fair drive. The logs from East and West Rum Rivers are being brought down now, and by Saturday night, if the weather continues favorable, nearly all the branches will be clear. News from the St. Croix and other lumber regions is equally favorable. Though the "drive" this season, will fall far short of last season, it is likely to be much more profitable to those engaged in the business."

Trade generally was good at St. Paul, and prices steady at $14.00@16.00 for 2d and 1st Common Boards; $21.00@ $25.00 for stock boards; $25.00@$30.00 for wagon box boards; $16.00 for joist and dimension, 18 feet and under; $20.00@24.00 for do., 20 to 30 feet; $35.00 for 1st flooring, $30.00 for 2d do.; $25.00@$30 00 for rough flooring; $40.00 @50.00 for 1st clear; and $35.00@45.00 for second do.

The Minneapolis Tribune says, latest advices from the logs are of the most encouraging nature. It is said to be the best season for driving that the lumbermen have had for years.

The following appeared in the Davenport (Iowa) Democrat of April 24th, but it is probable that the recent rains have materially changed the aspect of affairs in the sections referred to:

"We learn from William Renwick, Esq, who has just returned from a visit to the lumber regions, the following particulars in regard to the lumber prospects for the coming season. The water is so low, on Black river they have stopped running. From St. Croix the water is reported very low; also, low water in the Chippewa. The Wisconsin river is reported rising, and lumber running out. Twenty-eight million logs have been run into the booms on Black river. There is every prospect of a scarcity of lumber and high prices this summer."

The Saginaw Courier of April 29th contains a statement of the prospective operations of the mills in the immediate vicinity of East Saginaw the present season, from which the following are condensed;

Eight mills in South Saginaw expect to manufacture 20,500,000 feet of lumber, 1,300,000 shingles, and 1,500,000 lath.

Twelve mills in East Saginaw will cut 68,000,000 feet of lumber, 8,000,000 shingles, and 22,800,000 lath.

Nine mills in Saginaw City will cut 69,000,009 feet of lumber and 22,800,000 lath.

Seven mills at Florence will cut 27,000,000 feet of lumber, 3,000,000 lath, and 17,500,000 shingles.

Two mills at Carrollton will cut 15,000,000 feet of lumber.

Two mills at Zilwaukee will cut 18,000,000 feet of lumber, and 2,000,000 lath.

In addition to the lumber, lath, and shingles cut, several mills manufacture staves and heading to a large amount.

The Eastern markets are, as a general thing, pretty active, dealers shipping off all the old stock that is in anything like merchantable order, and the new cut as fast as practicable. Prices generally remain about as before, though some little irregularity has prevailed. The Portland figures are as follows:

The St. Johns News says that near the lakes of St. Francis and Aylmer, the Brompton Mills Company have cut an immense number of logs during the winter. At Upton and St. Liboire, Mr. Desmarais, of the latter place, caused over 2,000 cords of wood to be hewn. At Norton Mills, near the Vermont line, and on the track of the Grand Trunk, 18,000,000 feet of hemlock were cut and hauled out of the bush.

The St. John's Prices Current reports as follows:

Freights for West Indies are quiet. We hear of the following transactions: Marion, 135, Matanzas, lumber, $7.50; Active, 221, Cardenas or Matanzas, shooks 20c.; lumber, $5.60.

Constwise vessels are in demand at improved rates. The following charters are reported: Rough Diamond, 128, D. W, Clark, 115, and Mary Jane, 74—all for Boston, $4; Hannah D., 76, for Danvers, at $3.90. Freights to New York, Providence, and Philadelphia, $5.

The latest shipments to the United States were 137,000 feet boards, plank, etc., to Portland; 312,600 feet do. to Boston; 63,000 to Providence; and to Philadelphia 82,000 feet do., and 380,000 Lath.

An article in the Buffalo Express, after giving a history of the early lumber trade of that city, proceeds as follows:

Thirty years ago the greater proportion of white wood and hard wood was shipped as now to Albany by canal, and the average rate was then $4 per M. feet. The tonnage capacity of our canals in those days was insignificant compared with the present, both as regards the number of the boats and their carrying capacity. From 50 to 60 M. feet was then rather above an average load for a boat, while at present there are numbers of boats of 140 to 160 M. feet capacity. Much younger people than the "oldest inhabitant" can remember the size of those primitive canal crafts. Boats of a similar capacity can frequently now be seen in this city which have arrived from the lateral canals.

Gradually the area in which lumber was procured was extended by the demands of trade. Dunkirk, Erie, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Sandusky, and their immediate vicinities, at one time prominent ports of export, have ceased to be able to furnish lumber in any material quantity, and are now, especially in the matter of pine lumber, ports of mport relying on other sections for the supply of their local wants.

The larger portion of walnut, ash, and white wood at present comes from the northwest or Ohio and interior of Indiana, the greatest bulk finding an outlet at Toledo. The vicinity of Chatham, Canada, furnishes a considerable quantity of white wood, ash, and sycamore, which is chiefly exported to the United States, through the city of Buffalo. Pine, in moderate quantities, is still received in this city from Otter Creek, in Canada, but the Canadian forests, in that section, are about exhausted. In a very short time pine from the western portion of Canada will become a matter of the past.

It is scarcely necessary to mention the magnitude of the Saginaw pine trade, as most of the pine now consumad in the Northern, Middle and Western States comes from that region. The ability of the Saginaw country to supply the trade has, until the past few years, been considered unbounded, but the increasing demand has, in that region, also extended the area so much that the value of pine and timber lands has entered largely into speculation. So rapid is the exhaustion of the pine lands that logs are now floated down to Saginaw from a distance of over one hundred miles.

The destruction of our forests and the increase of our population render the future supply of lumber an interesting problem. This matter has not been lost sight of by Eastern people having small portions of wood land. They do not pursue the time-honored policy of hacking down every tree in view, but adopt the more economical plan of preserving them. On Long Island whole forests in miniature have already been set out. The wood, principally hickory, known as second growth, is very tough and elastic, and is used principally for ax and other tool handles.

There are mills now on the north shore of the Georgian Bay which export lumber to Chicago. Large quantities can still be procured in the vicinity of Green Bay.

The completion of the Buffalo & Washington R.R. will make accessible to this city an extensive and richly timbered country along the Alleghany, the value of which, in view of the present deficiency in that respect, can scarcely be estimated.

* * * * * * *

The wholesale trade of our city is almost entirely governed by the Albany, Troy and New York markets. The early trade on the opening of the Hudson River was very acitve and satisfactory at the two former places, so far as the amount moving was concerned, but the prices obtained were lower than the same grades can be replaced at on the opening of the Erie Canal. This was a very peculiar state of the trade, and cannot be accounted for on any sound business principle. Certainly there were exceptions, but those who held their stock at fair margins did not make sales to any extent. While the dry stock on hand was moving off at cost, and in some instances less than cost in the Eastern markets, the trade in the West was increasing in activity with advancing prices.

The great bulk of last year's cut in the Saginaw Valley will go to Chicago. The rate of freight from Saginaw to Chicago is $3.50 per M., while from Saginaw to Buffalo it is but $4.50 to $5, the usual difference being double.

The open weather and free navigation on the lakes has enabled a large number of lumber-laden vessels to reach Buffalo during the spring, and the accumulation of stock is reported large. This will be forwarded as fast as the boats can be started off on the canal, and in the course of a couple of weeks we may expect to hear of a much better assortment offering at Albany. A company is about to organize, under the title of the "Forestport, Oneida Company," to build a road from Forestport, Oneida County, New York, into the northern wilderness. It would afford an excellent method for developing the valuable lumber interests of that portion of the State.

The Phillipsburg Democrat says: "Notwithstanding the excessive cold and abundant snows of the past winter until now there has been no general freshet in the waters of the upper Delaware by which the lumber of a year's industry could find its way to the market. For a few days rafts have passed in considerable numbers, and with few casualties from the numerous bridges which obstruct this useful business. One feature of this trade becomes more and more apparent—that the supply of lumber on this stream is fast diminishing. The rush of rafts which formerly presented such a sight of so much interest and curiosity is no longer to be seen, and but a few years hence the teeming population of the Delaware will have forgotten the annual crowds of hilarious and rollicking raftmen that once enlivened its shores and disturbed the monotony of the said denizens upon its banks."

The Southern markets in all directions are firm; but with light receipts, there is not much activity at the mills. We annex the latest received quotations as follows: At Savannah: $8 00 @ 11 00 per M. feet for mill timber, $13 00 @ 17 00 for small shipping do., and $20 00 @ 22 00 for large do. Lumber $20 00 @ 22 00 for ordinary sizes; $23 00 @ 28 00 for difficult sizes, and $20 00 @ 23 00 for flooring; $35 00 @ 40 00 for white pine rough; $50 00 @ 55 00 for do. dressed; and $30 00 @ 35 00 for spruce pine scantling.

At Charleston: River Flooring Boards at $13 00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10 00 @ 12 00. Mill Timber good $11 00 @ 12 00; and common to fair $5 00 @ 7 00. City sawed lumber $20 00 @ 25 00 per M.

At Wilmington: Timber at $10 00 @ 12 00 for shipping; $8 50 @ 9 00 for prime mill; and $5 00 @ 8 00 for inferior to fair do. Lumber at $10 00 @ 12 00 for wide boards; $8 00 @ 10 00 for scantling; $15 00 @ 17 00 for flooring; and $20 00 @ 25 00 for West India cargoes.

METALS.—The demand for Tin Plates continues moderate, and holders generally are somewhat anxious to realize, causing a weak and depressed feeling to prevail, and on the few sales made buyers have had all the advantage. The stocks on hand are already pretty liberal, and during the week have been further increased by imports of 28,371 boxes valued at $196,893. Lead is selling to a fair extent, and remains steady at 10c. for bar, and 12c. for sheet and pipe. Zinc remains very firm and in good demand at full former figures. The offerings of desirable widths are very small, though it is rumored that there is a fair amount here in the hands of speculators who are dealing it out slowly in order to prevent any break in prices.

NAILS.—There has been a trifle more doing both for export and home use, but without change in prices, and 5 @ 5¼c. appears to be about all that can be obtained for the best cut. Clinch are moderately active and steady at 6⅝ @7¾c. The exports during the week were 1,401 kegs, valued at $7,808, of which 1,000 kegs went to British Australia, and the balance to the West Indies.

PAINTS AND OILS.—We have no important variation to note in the general range of prices on paints, though all kinds continue to sell quite freely and very little stock is allowed to accumulate. Paris White is quite scarce, and several lots have been sold, to arrive. Glue is more plenty and hardly so active but former figures are still retained. Linseed Oil shows no change in value since our last, but the depressed feeling lately so noticeable has almost entirely disappeared, and with more inquiry, the market at the present writing is steady. Crushers' rates are $1 14 @ 1 15 in casks, and $1 17@1 18 in bbls., with very choice in retail lots at higher figures. The exports for the week are 116 packages. Paint valued at $1,795; 357 gallons Linseed Oil valued $487; and 190 bbls. Oxide Zinc valued at $2,470.

PITCH.—The extreme rates of last week could not probably now be sustained, but the market is pretty firm and may be quoted for small lots well up to $3 00@$3 50 per bbl. for Southern; and $3 50@$3 75 for City. The receipts for the week were 435 bbls. Exports for the week 82 bbls.; since January 1st, 1,316 bbls., and for same period last year 1,131 bbls.

PLASTER OF PARIS.—The receipts are on the increase and the offerings more liberal, but the demand does not improve, rendering sales somewhat difficult. Prices are as yet very unsettled, but there appears to be some disposition to give buyers more advantage, and we quote at about $4 75 @ 5 00 per ton for blue Nova Scotia, and $5 00 @ $5 25 for white do. During the week 560 tons lump have been received.

SLATE.—A fair amount of business has been done at the yards, though hardly as much as usual at this date, the season being much later than usual and the assortment on hand rather poor. The demand from New York city is somewhat larger, owing to the prevailing fancy of builders for capping all sorts and sizes of houses with the Mansard roof; but the principle trade lays in the suburbs and in the interior towns. Prices generally are well sustained, and we note a confident feeling on the part of dealers in regard to the future, on the ground that if any business is to be done at all this season it must commence very soon; and coming upon a rather poorly supplied market, sellers gain all the advantage. This idea is also supported by the continued delay in the production, and though in some few sections the quarries are turning out nearly their usual amount, in the majority of cases very few squares have thus far been prepared for market. Continued pleasant weather, and a disposition on the part of miners to resume work without holding out for a high scale of wages, will have a tendency to settle the market somewhat, and we hope ere long to chronicle a more healthy state of affairs. Our receipts are still light, and mostly in small odd lots of last year's stock.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The receipts have been larger, the demand very moderate, and prices have taken the back track, declining with even more rapidity than they advanced last week. The falling off, since our previousre port, is plump 17c. per gallon, and even at this decline the market is very unsettled, with the tendency still rather in the buyers' favor. Straight lots are quoted at 64c., and and retail parcels 65 @ 65½c. The receipts for the week are 1,932 bbls. Exports for the week 21 bbls. Since Jan. 1st 3,640 bbls., and for same period last year 6,967 bbls. The stock in first hands is about 1,250 bbls.

STONE.—The strike of the workmen having been adjusted, the free-stone dealers are again quite busy, and many who have just finished up contracts due on the 1st of May find themselves with new work on hand in sufficient quantity to keep a full force going for some time to come. The granite cutters are also turning out a considerable amount of stock of all kinds; but the marble workers complain of a little dullness. For blue stone flagging and curbing there is steady, regular demand, and though the receipts are fair, stock accumulates very slowly. Prices generally are firm on all kinds, but without alteration to note.

TAR.—For the prime and choice grades there is a good demand at higher prices, but for the common qualities the market is rather dull and somewhat depressed. The stock is fair, but contains very little of desirable quality. We quote at $2 87½@$3 25 for North County; $3 50@$3 87½ for Wilmington, and $4 00 for choice do. The receipts at this port have been as follows: For the week 4 90 bbls.; since January 1st 10,050 bbls.; and for same period past year 8,690 bbls. The exports as follows: For week 33 bbls.; since January 1st, 3,046 bbls.; and for same time last year 770 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

Business has been quite dull during the past week, both buyers and sellers appearing to be willing to await the expected arrivals of new stock, in order to handle a better assortment. Many are looking for a decline as soon as the supply increases, but the majority of dealers generally appear confident, and no concessions have yet been offered. The receipts of the stock detained by ice on the Erie Canal were small, embracing only 2,013,400 feet lumber, and 434,000 shingles. Freights were dull, lower, and somewhat unsettled.

From the circular of William H. Gratwick & Co., of May 1st, we clip the following:

The eastern division of the canal was opened on the 24th ultimo, and during the week a few boats have arrived from those frozen in during the winter; but these have not been sufficient to replenish to any extent the assortment in the district, which has now become much broken.

The entire canal will be opened on the 4th inst., and a good assortment of lumber will arrive within two weeks from that time.

The business of the year has opened very auspiciously, and the testimony of all dealers is that more lumber has been shipped during the month passed than ever before in a corresponding month.

We have the pleasure of again calling your attention to the correctness of the views set forth in our last issue, in regard to Michigan pine. We therein expressed an opinion that Michigan lumber would show more firmness than most any other article; and a comparison of the quotations of to-day with those of a month ago, prove that our intimations at that time were entitled to some reliance.

The general feeling among dealers is good, which also agrees with our opinion as expressed in our April issue.

We hoped to give at this time the opening prices for the new stock of hemlock and spruce, but as these have not been decided upon by the dealers in this kind of lumber, we can only give an approximation to the figures. The prices on these articles, therefore, are liable to differ one cent either way, from our quotations upon the receipt of the the new stock.

We shall have a fine stock of Michigan lumber dry, as soon as boats can come from Buffalo—say in ten to fourteen days.

Our stock of walnut this year will also be large and well assorted.

A NEW business at the South is the manufacture of cane-fiber slate, designed as a substitute for plaster in walls and ceilings. The material neither warbs, cracks, breaks, nor crumbles.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE total real and personal valuation of Cincinnati in 1830 was $4,206,204; in 1840, $6,171,498; in 1850, $42,862,728, and now it is $137,000,000, with the expectation of $300,000,000 by the revaluation of next year. In 1841 it was estimated that the population of the city would reach 146,000 in 1860, but long before this date it had reached 186,000.

THE real estate market in Cincinnati for large houses is dull; but moderate and small houses are in demand, and the rents well sustained.

THE demand for houses and stores in Chicago is increasing. Notwithstanding the vast amount of building that has been and is being done, and while the rates remain about the same as last year, the demand was never greater than now. There is, possibly, less difficulty experienced in obtaining first-class residences, owing to the large increase of that class of structures, but the demand for houses of the medium class, renting at from $400 to $800 a year, has been very great. Small cottages readily bring from $25 to $40 per month; comfortable two-story houses rent from $800 to $1,200 per year, while first-class houses realize $2,500 per annum to their owners. Of stores there is no surplus in desirable locations, and rents range from $2,000 to $12,000 a year.

THERE were 7,000 houses built in Chicago last year.

THE new $100,000 building of the Brooklyn Art Association will soon be commenced.

THE real estate sales in Wapello County, Iowa, for the past year foot up at $758,329.55.

A YEAR ago A. D. Jones bought one hundred acres of land near Council Bluffs, Iowa, for $1,000. Lately he sold it for depot grounds for the railroad, at a profit of $35,000.

A NEW effective hydraulic cement has been made which is merely a basic hydrated oxychloride of magnesium, and is formed by adding a more or less concentrated solution of chloride of magnesium to magnesia. The magnesia may be very conveniently obtained by adding quick-lime to the mother liquor, that is the residue in salt works, which contains chiefly chloride of magnesium; magnesia will precipitate, and is to be calcined. Double chloride of calcium and magnesium will remain in the liquid; and if chalk or lime are added an excellent material for hardening common plaster on walls, etc., will be obtained; or the liquid itself may be used for moistening the materials in making the cement. Magnesium cement is extremely plastic, and forms a substance like marble. It takes color well, and it has such agglutinative power, that one part of it is capable of uniting twenty parts sand. It is, therefore, expected to constitute a means of rendering buildings easy where building materials do not exist.

THE Piscatequis quarries in Maine annually ship to Boston 20,000 tons of slate.

AT Denver, Col., a company has been organized to build a train-road into the mountains, of the South Pass as a means of bringing into the city lumber and all kinds of building materials.

A CEMENT bed has been discovered in Astoria, Oregon, which is said to equal in quality the celebrated Marin cement.

THE Northender says that rents have declined from ten to fifteen per cent in Harlem during the past week.

THE assessed valuation of Pittsburg is $17,579,000.

THE valuation of real and personal property for purposes of taxation in Maryland amounts to $492,000,000, of which $224,000,000 is assigned to Baltimore. The State tax is 19 cents and the city tax $1 20 on the $100.

NEWPORT, Vt., in the year 1867, shipped four hundred and two car loads of lumber, amounting to three million two hundred and sixteen thousand feet.

ABOUT six hundred permits were issued for new dwellings in Philadelphia last month.

THE amount of real estate transfers in Louisvill last week was $90,144.

PEREMPTORY SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY ON FIRST STREET, BY ORDER OF THE SUPREME COURT, IN PARTITION.

ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO.

Will sell at Auction, on

TUESDAY, MAY 19, 1868,

At 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Salesroom, 111 Broadway, N. Y.,

By order of the SUPREME COURT, under the direction of DANIEL P. INGRAHAM, Jr., Esq., Referee, the following described Real Estate, viz.:

FIRST STREET—The six lots of land, together with the buildings thereon, situate on the northerly side of First street, 84 feet 4 inches east of the 2d Avenue, as per diagram.

S. H. THAYER, Esq.,
Plaintiff's Attorney.

Maps at the office of the Auctioneers, No. 7 Pine street.

FOR SALE, ON BROADWAY, OR TO LET, near Wall street.—Probably the largest plot of property in one parcel on Broadway, between the City Hall and Bowling-Green, being in measurement about six and one-half City lots; located at the south-east corner of Broadway and Exchange place and on New street; offered by direction of the executors of Asa Fitch, deceased, to close the estate. This property is now offered at a large reduction of price heretofore asked; if not sold by first of May will be rented for business purposes. Terms of credit reasonable, or all cash. To new boards or banking institutions. Apply to

HOMER MORGAN,
No. 2 Pine street.

FOR SALE.—A TWO STORY AND BASEment frame-house, with 26 lots of ground, situated on Monroe street, between Ralph and Patchen avenues, Brooklyn. The neighborhood around is growing rapidly, and property appreciating in value every day. The house is within easy distance of two lines of city cars.

For particulars apply to
W. C. KAIN, 11 Wall street, Room 16.

BEAR IN MIND THE IMPORTANT FACT that the splendid Eighteenth Ward Lots to be sold by JOHNSON & MILLER at auction, on Tuesday, May 12, are nearer New York City Hall than Central Park. They are more accessible and can be reached in less time. They are on fine grades, free from rock, and in the midst of great improvements. At current prices an entire block will not sell for more than a rocky uptown lot. Quere, which offers the best chance for speculation. No one is asked to buy without examining the property. Call at once on JOHNSON & MILLER, 25 Nassau street, N. Y., or 157 Montague street, Brooklyn, and secure a map and a free ticket over the railroad to the ground.

500 BUILDING LOTS AT BERGEN POINT, NEW JERSEY,

AT AUCTION,

under the direction of A. D. MELLICK, for account of the New Jersey Central Land Improvement Co.

LEWIS R. WOOD, AUCTIONEER,
TUESDAY, MAY 12, 1868,
commencing at twelve o'clock, noon,
500 BUILDING LOTS,

beautifully located on high ground, near the railroad station, Bergen Point, distant from the city 30 minutes by Central Railroad of New Jersey. For maps and full particulars apply at the office of the Central Railroad, No. 103 Liberty st., or A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BRO., No. 26 Pine street, New York.

WHY GO OUT OF THE UNION TO NEW Jersey, and pay from $1,000 to $3,000 for a lot of ground in any petty village, when you can go to Brooklyn, the City of Churches, the centre of talent, intellect, and refinement, and buy better property within 30 minutes of four ferries, nearer New York City Hall than Central Park, for one quarter the price. In New Jersey the nod of Camden & Amboy is supreme law. Brooklyn, liberal and progressive, where the people, not monopolies, rule, is the place for investment. Look out and secure maps for JOHNSON & MILLER'S great sale of Eighteenth Ward property, at 25 Nassau st., N. Y., or 157 Montague st., Brooklyn.

REAL ESTATE NEWS AGENCY.

C. W. SWEET & CO., proprietors of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, have opened, in connection with their paper, an agency, through which they propose to furnish extremely valuable information for the benefit of Real Estate dealers, owners, and operators. Persons about investing in Real Estate, usually wish to be informed on these points:—

1st. Who the actual owner of any piece of property may be, and whether any incumbrance is existing against it.

2d. What the actual value of said property was at the last sale.

3d. What price the property adjacent and within same block has sold for within the past few years.

4th. An intelligent, unbiased estimate of the value of the property at the present time; the future prospects of the same; whether there are likely to be any improvements, and of what kind, in the street where property is located; and such other information as will be likely to affect the value of said property.

Real Estate dealers, will at once see the immense value of the class of information we propose to furnish, particularly to those who now buy in the dark without any reliable data to guide them, but who, by means of our agency, will have every light which official records, transcripts of sales, etc., can furnish. We have peculiar facilities for furnishing this class of information, having in our possession maps, books, etc., gotten up exclusively by us, which contain every piece of property in New York and Kings counties, with the names of owners, and other information accessible to no other firm or persons in the U. S.

Titles searched, and careful abstracts made at the lowest prices. This work will be done accurately and cheaply for regular subscribers.

ABOUT OURSELVES.

OUR readers will bear witness that we have done very little boasting so far; but we can now announce, without being open to that charge, that our subscription lists by this time embrace all the reputable Real Estate dealers and builders in New York and Brooklyn. Here and there, a slow or unenterprising firm has failed to subscribe for the RECORD, but the concerns who do any business cannot now get along without it.

Our price current and reports of building material were quite a novelty at first, and a few old fogy dealers, especially lumber merchants, objected to them. They said they did not want builders to know all about the markets. It made trouble. For when they had all the data, they objected to the prices asked, and demanded concessions. When ignorance is profit to the lumber dealers, they object to knowledge.

All this, of course, is absurd; the market quotations, as all business shows, facilitate trade, and in the end are as good for sellers as buyers. We pay a great deal of attention to our markets. They are full and accurate. No such markets were ever before published in a New York paper; and we are pleased to learn that our patrons appreciate our efforts. Nor is our circulation confined to Real Estate dealers and builders; the solid men of New York, the large owners of Real Estate, the people who invest their spare means in real property, find our journal indispensable to them. We have a well grounded hope that, before our first year is over, we will have a circulation of 10,000 among the best business men in this city and Brooklyn.

IMPROVEMENTS AT HELL GATE.

IN our market reports, which will be found elsewhere, we give a succinct account of the appropriations and progress since 1846 in the removal of obstructions from Hell Gate. The improvements contemplated in this locality are far-reaching in their character, constituting the pioneers which are opening the way to commercial results to which our people seem strangely oblivious. This supineness and apparent indifference to the opening of a source of business prosperity, may be attributable to the unwillingness of merchant property-owners to give countenance to any scheme which, though not depreciating the present value of their real estate, must prevent an increase of its inflated price—a price much above intrinsic value, and only sustained by the cramped condition of our commercial localities. The torrent cannot be stemmed much longer; and business on the lower part of the Island must, with the complete removal of obstructions at Hell Gate, be transferred to the north-east part. A wonderful transformation will then be effected in the waste districts along the East river; and noble docks, stately warehouses, and substantial wharves will spring up with the rapidity of a Western city on the line of the Union Pacific Railroad. Many of the sails which now whiten the Bay will be transferred to the Sound, and business have more space for its multifarious operations in bulky goods which now encumber the narrow streets of ancient Gotham. In addition to this increase of accommodation, the lower channel is easier of access from the ocean and considerably nearer the city than the tortuous Narrows, so that the commerce of the lower bay would find its way in by the Long Island Sound. This great desideratum may not be effected by the merchants of the present generation, who, for reasons before stated, cannot be expected to show much zeal in changing business localities. The effect on prices of real estate in the upper part of the city will be enormous, and water lots, which may now be readily purchased for $700 or $800, will be obtained with difficulty at as many thousands. Railroad business will receive a wonderful impetus, and the village hamlet along the Harlem River will teem with business activity and become a pre-eminently business locality. The Harlem River and the new Hudson River railroads will, in order to meet the increase of traffic, be obliged to construct branch lines in that part of the city where the Harlem debouches into the East River. The citizens of New York have hitherto been too apathetic to these accessible advantages, and this indifference is surprising when a single ship channel of twenty-six feet depth could be sunk for less than $3,000,000. As New York is the great commercial centre of the country, this ceases to be a mere local improvement, in the national interests involved, and Congress should be immediately memorialized to make all necessary appropriations; and it is to be hoped the East Side Association will bring sufficient pressure to bear so as to secure without further delay so desirable a result.

WE shall publish the mortgages up to date shortly, the pressure of transfers was so heavy about the first of May, that the mortgages were crowded out of last week's RECORD; nor have we been able to give them all this week. Next week will see us all right.

MR. F. J. TUOMEY, the Clerk of the Common Council, who has had the preparation of the finance reports of that body, has certainly acquitted himself with a great deal of credit. He makes one point in the finance report of 1868 which is certainly well taken. It is this, that, of the sum total levied upon the city of New York, over $15,000,000 per annum is for the support of officials, over whom the people of this city have no sort of control. Our city government is very wretchedly managed, but Albany government of city affairs is no improvement. There will be no thorough reform until voting for financial officials and municipal taxation is confined to property owners.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

AMONG the notable sales recently recorded in our columns, are the following:

Horace B. Claflin sold to J. N. Barker, the house and lot No. 340 Bowery, for $41,000—a good price.

The house and lot No. 153 Broadway, was sold to Mary E. Lydden for $50,000.

The north west corner of Broadway and 20th street, was sold to G. H. Warren for $275,000.

The old church, corner of Broome and Elizabeth, was sold to the German Lutherans for $115,000.

Ottenderfer Oswald, of the Staatz Zeitung, has bought the property on the corner of Chatham St. and Tryon Row for $200,000.

John Hoey has bought the south west corner of 5th Av. and 22d St. for $115,000. Express stocks must be lively.

Fred. Koneg has purchased the property on the south west corner of Broadway and Broome Street, for $320,000. The lot is 28x200.

Wm. Phillips has bought the property on the south east corner of Broadway and Bleecker, for $175,000. Lot 25x196.

Matilda S. Bartow is the purchaser of the property No. 16 E. 42d St. The name was erroneously printed Burton in our last issue.

THE Hoosac Tunnel, when completed, will be over 27,000 feet (five miles) long. Only 7,000 feet of the mountain has been penetrated. The project has cost Massachusetts $4,000,000 already, and will require $8,000,000 to finish it.

SUPREME COURT—KINGS COUNTY—SPECIAL TERM—MAY 8, 1868.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY JUDGE LOTT—IN FORECLOSURE.

David E. Wheeler vs. Charles Wood, Charles Parsons, et al.—This action is brought to foreclose a mortgage on the hotel and about 250 half-acre lots at Lakeland Station, Long Island Railroad, Suffolk County, and to have a prior mortgage for $7,500, held by defendant Parsons, declared paid, and to be no lien upon said premises. The issue as to the payment of Parsons' mortgage was tried in February last at Brooklyn, by his Honor Justice LOTT, and decision reserved. It appeared on the trial that L. S. Thomas, in 1853, agreed to sell the bond and mortgage to Garrit H. Striker, Jr., for $7,200, payable in installments. That the money was paid and Striker thereupon took a satisfaction piece, and some time afterward—six months or threabouts—substituted an assignment in place of the satisfaction piece, which was destroyed or not used. Testimony was given by Chas. Wood, the owner of the premises, and his clerk, Joseph R. Hunting, that they had paid the mortgage in full to Thomas as claimed. But this was contradicted by Wood's own affidavit and written admission and agreement, made at the time of the assignment to Parsons, and by Thomas who assigned to Striker. Plaintiff claimed that from the testimony and from the undisputed fact that a satisfaction piece had been executed and delivered by Thomas to Striker, and so remained for six months, the mortgage should be declared paid, and adjudged to be no lien upon the premises, at least so far as plaintiff is concerned. The Court, per Lott, J., held that the mortgage had not been paid; that it was still a good lien, and that the sum of $13,549 16 is due for principal and interest, and that defendant, Parsons, is entitled to have that sum, with interest and costs, first paid to him out of the proceeds of the foreclosure sale, and gave jundgment accordingly.

Everitt P. Wheeler, Esq., for Plaintiff; S. M. Parsons and A. H. Dana for defendant, C. H. Parsons.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

Two very important features in the Real Estate Market this week is the awakening interest manifested in the subject of removing the obstructions to navigation in Hurl Gate and other portions of the East River. Year after year this great natural thoroughfare to the greatest commercial metropolis of the New World, has been allowed to remain in such a dangerous condition as to constantly jeopardize, not only human life, but property amounting to thousands of millions annually. Owing to the magnitude of the undertaking, the accomplishment of the improvement has been retarded. It seems, however, that the East River Improvement Association are determined to grapple it in a manner which will insure success: that is, to memorialize Congress. It seems that, for twenty years, but little has been done towards the removal of these obstructions. General Newton, who had been sent two years ago by Secretary Stanton to make a survey of Hell Gate, has completed his work, and makes an estimate that to free all the channels to a depth of 24 feet each, would take six years and cost $5,000,000; to deepen them 26 feet, $7,000,000; to deepen all the channels to 24 or 26 feet, remove the debris as fast as blasted, build walls of division, &c, would take ten years and cost over $7,000,000 or $8,000,000, according to depth. This important question was first agitated in 1846, when the General Government authorized an examination to be made of Hell Gate; in February, 1848, Lieut.-Commanding C. H. Davis made a report, recommending the blasting of Post Rock, Frying Pan, Way's Reef, Shed Drake, and some other improvements, as, of sailing vessels entering, one in fifty sustained more or less injury by being forced on the rocks. In October, 1848, Lieut.-Comd'g D. D. Drake recommended a similar work, and showed in detail how it could be done. Hallet's Point, he said, should be, by all means, removed; for no one can form an idea of the number of vessels that go on shore during the course of a month. Over 50 went on shore during the two months he was there. An appropriation of $20,000 was made by Congress, and from August, 1851, to December, 1853, the work was prosecuted. August 19th, 1851, there was only 8 feet of water on Post Rock; by 16 charges, 12½ obtained, Sept. 3d; Oct. 18th, 16 feet by 85 charges; Jan. 3d, 1852, 19 feet by 234 charges; March 15th, 20¼ feet by 284 charges. At this time the money became exhausted, and the work accomplished was increasing the depth from 8 to 20¼ feet; 200 additional charges would have made 24 feet water. In October, 1852, it was found that only 18 feet, and not 20¼ feet, had been blasted, which was all accomplished simply by blasting without using a diving apparatus. Since 1852 no appropriation was made by Congress, and the work was suspended for want of funds. In 1856 a Commission was appointed to make a survey; and again, in July, 1866, Gen. John Newton, U. S. Engineer, was assigned to the duty of examining Hell Gate. In Jan., 1867, he made a very full and interesting report, and in Feb., 1868, a supplementary report, which shows the following table:

First Project—6 years—24 feet		$5,000,000
" " " 26 feet		5,723,000
Second Project—10 years—24 feet		7,738,000
" " " 26 feet		8,692,000
Third Project—omitting all improvements of middle channel	24 feet	2,675,000
	26 feet	2,846,000

If Congress makes this appropriation of $2,846,000, and the work is effectually carried out, it will be inconceivable what an amount of change will be effected in Harlem, Astoria, and all along the East River, and the impetus it will give to real estate.

Localities on the New Jersey Central Railroad find more demand, and during the last 18 months substantial buildings have sprung up everywhere along the route. Lots situated in the suburbs of Jersey City may be purchased at from $500 to $700, while lots in the business portions fetch from $7,000 to $8,000. On Wednesday, Messrs. A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro. sold $90,000 worth of property belonging to the Central Land Company. An interesting controversy has been inaugurated this week between these gentlemen and Messrs. Johnson & Miller, relative to the respective merits of Brooklyn and Jersey property. These polemical advertisements are instrumental in bringing before the public the advantages of unknown localities, and, in a great measure, this liberality of advertisement assists in the development of suburban real estate. Messrs. Johnson & Miller have, by their exertions this season, very materially assisted in developing the 7th, 8th, 9th, 18th and 19th Wards, as during the past season 1,500 lots were disposed of at actual sale. These lots have been sold at prices varying from $200 to $3,000. Good lots near Prospect Park brought from $1,000 to $4,000; suburban lots, 2½ miles out, averaged $300. Lots in the vicinity of the ferries, being principally used for business purposes, command large prices. Property in Brooklyn is very advantageously located, and when the two cities are brought into closer inter-communication, by the proposed bridges, some of it will fetch prices approximating to those of the 1st and 2d Wards of New York. Improvements on Long Island have been very considerable, and more property has changed hands in the last few months, at greatly enhanced prices, than at any time during the past five years. This is particularly the case at Flatbush, Flatlands, New Utrecht, Newtown, and Flushing. The sales are mostly of unimproved property, bought up in sections for country residences, valued at from $750 to $3,000 per acre, which is equal to about 16 city lots. Astoria property is very high and readily sold at from $500 for inland, and from $2,000 for water lots.

Comparatively few houses are still to rent, or at least advertised, but there are quite a number for sale. Demands for houses at from $15,000 to $30,000 continue good; but there are few of this style in the market. There is a slight decrease in the price of Central Park lots. Nothing at all is doing in Central avenue, where land is now selling at from $5,000 to $7,000 per acre. The farmers in this locality are greatly exercised over the advanced prices of real estate, and many who are now handling the plow may in a few years, after stepping into taste and large fortunes, be found in Paris and other refined places in Europe. Much building is going on through the neighborhood of Yorkville, but rents are reported as no higher than last year. A recent raise of rents by several landlords caused a number of persons to engage houses in New Jersey and on Long Island, and their places remain unfilled. In certain cases the landlords would be pleased to rent at last year's rates. Agents report sixty or seventy house in their district unengaged. Many new buildings are in course of erection in New York. Mr. Geo. Lake, of the dry goods firm of Lake & McCreery, has purchased the property on the corner of Broadway and 11th street, opposite Grace Church for business purposes. The Equitable Life Ins. Company propose to erect, on the corner of Cedar street and Broadway, an elegant edifice to meet the requirments of its growing business.

The San Francisco Real Estate Circular makes the statement that speculation in real estate was never so great in that city, and buyers are paying prices far beyond the most inflated prices which have yet prevailed. During the month of March the real estate transactions amounted to $2,825,943.

SALES.—The sales during the week were remarkably good considering the lateness of the season, and on Tuesday and Wednesday the Exchange rooms were quite as crowded as during the heaviest days of the season. The following are the principal transactions:

THURSDAY, MAY 7th.—By Muller, Wilkins & Co.—One lot on the southeast corner of 5th avenue and 59th street, 25.5x100; purchased by J. Goring for $33,600. MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The demand from all quarters has been very active since our last, the estimated daily sales reaching close up to one million bricks. This has, of course, made a heavy draft upon the supply in the hands of dealers, and with only moderate arrivals, sellers have retained the advantage throughout. In the general range of prices no a slight alteration is made, and it is only the commonest grade of Salmon that can now be bought at $9.00, few ranging below $9.25 per M. A few very good lots of hard brick are received, but the bulk of the arrivals continue of poor quality, and are the cause of considerable complaint from builders and masons. These inferior parcels, however, are mostly the drainings from the yards of the late fall manufacture and will probably soon be exhausted. While many receivers are sanguine of still higher prices we find that the majority show a disposition to sell along from day to day all they can dispose of, at ruling rates, taking advantage of any favorable opportunity for an advance, of course, but not attempting to "corner" or control the market by holding back stock. This is undoubtedly the wisest course to pursue at this season, more particularly so when we note the fact that manufacturers have not met with the delays anticipated last week, and are resuming operations, some already having commenced burning. We may, therefore, look for receipts of the new crop at an early day, when buyers hope to have the turn again in their favor. Fronts continue fairly active, with no variation in prices. The shipments are 46,000 to New Granada, valued at $602.

CEMENT.—We have nothing new to advise, the local demand continuing very fair, and the shipping demand good, preventing any great accummulation of stock, though dealers are not hurried quite so much as during the early part of the season. Price steady at $1.75 for Rosendale.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—The shipping trade is good in all directions, and dealers generally are quite busy. We also hear of some improvement in the local demand, though not enough to have any material effect upon the market. Prices remain as before quoted.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The demand is very fair, but no unusual activity prevails, and the market for all kinds is steady at about previous figures. The receipts are as follows: 68 tons Mahogany from Laguira; 339 logs do., and 37 logs Cedar from Minatitlan; and 41 sticks Cedar from Jacksonville, The exports are as follows: 208 logs Mahogany to Antwerp, valued at $1,486; 253 logs do. to Malta, valued at $1,200; and 38 logs to Palermo, valued at $454.

GLASS.—Trade has been good, in fact at times very lively, and the market has assumed a more healthy tone. Prices are without alteration, but much stronger, and where a few weeks ago holders were willing to allow rather more than the regular discount, in order to effect sales, they are now insisting upon the full figures of the list, less the usual deductions to the trade. This is most noticeable on the small and desirable sizes of which the stock has become considerably reduced, and many wholesale dealers have found it necessary to buy and borrow of each other to enable them to fill out orders. The arrivals are light, both present and prospective, and should business continue at all good there is nothing to prevent a higher range of prices.

HAIR.—There is nothing new of interest to advise. The fine and choice grades are scarce and firm, at full former rates, while cattle hair at the late reduction in price continues to sell to a fair extent, and the supply does not accumulate very rapidly.

HARDWARE.—Builders' hardware of all kinds has been in very brisk demand and prices generally well sustained. Many styles have sold well up to the production, and the supplies now on hand are small.

LABOR.—In most cases the strikes have been satisfactorially arranged, and the men are now working quietly and regularly, though the common laborers not having met with the general success anticipated, seem a little restive. The supply is ample for all present wants.

The laborers attending on masons and bricklayers struck for an increase of wages from $2.50 to $2.75 per day. A number of the "bosses" complied with the demand, and in these cases the men went to work.

LATH.—The arrivals have continued fair and the amount of stock now here is ample for immediate necessities. Business, however, has been greatly restricted by the difference between the views of buyers and sellers, and the aggregate of sales is small. Receivers generally are still under orders to make no contracts below $3 50, but as the bids seldom exceed $3 00, they have found it necessary to pile out a great many cargoes, though in some instances, by deducting the cost of handling, say 15 @ 20c. per M., they have induced parties rather pressed for a supply to purchase to a moderate extent. Buyers in most cases seem determined to confine their operations to absolute wants unless concessions are made, and until one side or the other gain some decided advantage the market will remain in an unsettled and nominal condition. The transactions since our last embrace about 2,100,000 at $3 00, $3 10, $3 15 and $3 35 per M., but at the moment it would be impossible to sell at more than $3 25 per M., and then only in a small way.

LIME.—The amount of business doing has been moderate and the market generally shows considerable irregularity. Lump is selling in a retail way at about previous rates, but common can be bought at easier figures, some lots going off at $1 10 per bbl. There is no fixed value, however, at the moment, and prices must be considered as more or less nominal, though from present indications we think an immediate improvement is not likely to take place. The arrivals have recently been pretty heavy, and with a goodly supply already on hand, receivers seem anxious to sell, particularly as the weather has been so wet and unfavorable.

LUMBER.—Our city retail trade presents no new features this week worthy of special note. With such stock as they have on hand dealers manage to do a pretty respectable business, but the assortment is too much broken up to hope for anything except jobbing sales, and this state of affairs must continue for some time to come. The receipts from up the river are very small, and cannot increase for the present, simply because the Albany market is depleted of all desirable grades, as the few cargoes still to be shipped are destined for other points. A great many boats, however, have left Buffalo, and are now hurrying forward as rapidly as they can get through the canal; and it is probable that by this time next week new stock will have reached tide water, and be on its way to this city, several cargoes being consigned directly through. The yards on the North River now monopolize the greater bulk of the retail business; the east-side dealers being largely dependent for their trade upon the shipbuilding interest, which at present is at too low an ebb to afford more than a mere nominal demand. Prices are reported steady and uniform on all merchantable stock, and we make no alteration in our table of quotations for the present, though some of the extreme figures are higher than anything now offering would realize. Eastern Spruce has come forward quite freely, but not in excess of the demand; and, in fact, many of the cargoes were sold previous to arrival, being principally taken by our local trade. Prices remain about as before, and generally very steady, though a few lots rather hurried off did not bring full figures. The extreme range appears to be about $19.00@$22.00 per M., the inside for short undesirable lumber, and the outside for small parcels very choice. The arrivals of Southern Pine have been more liberal, but this has had very little effect upon rates, as the supply is small and poorly assorted. Common to good may be quoted at about $30.00@$34.00, as outside prices with extra lots well up to $35.00 per M. feet. The shipping demand, though still rather light, and confined mostly to lots suited to filling out cargoes, shows some slight improvement this week, but the great bulk of the cargo sales are for home use. The principal transaction made public during the week embraces 1,100,000 feet Eastern Spruce at $19.00@$22.00 per M., mostly at $20.50@$21.50. Some sales of Southern Pine have been consummated, but we were unable to obtain particulars.

The shipments of Lumber have been as follows:

There have also been shipments of 172 pieces oak timber to Amsterdam; 21,033 feet timber to Rotterdam; 6,000 shingles to Hayti; 9,630 Staves to Great Britain; and 44,160 do. to the Continent. The latest reports of shipments from other points are as follows: From New Orleans 3,750 staves to Liverpool; 2,221 to Havre; and 279,000 do. to Bordeaux. From Mobile to Tarragona 53,973 staves. From San Francisco to Valparaiso 400,438 feet of lumber; and to Callao 557,000 feet do. From Savannah to Liverpool 36,933 feet P. P. timber. The receipts so far as reported, as follows: From Shulee, N. S. 350 piling; from St. Johns, N. B. 77,000 palings, and 350 spruce poles; from Galveston 37,146 feet lumber; from Jacksonville 370,000 feet lumber, and 120,000 feet flooring boards; from Pensacola 108,098 feet lumber; from Wilmington 102,000 feet do.; from Georgetown, S. C. 95,000 feet do.; from Beaufort 2,600 staves; and from Newberne 11,910 do.

The amount of stock now collected at Buffalo and being forwarded to that point for eastern shipment is said to be very large, those engaged in the trade taking advantage of the very low rates of freight on the lakes, to hurry in as much lumber as possible. Some vessels were found to pay so very poorly that the owners have discharged the crews, and laid up for more profitable times. From the West, the advices in regard to running of logs are still somewhat vague, though we have reason to believe, the booms are filling up rapidly, and that the mills in many sections will turn out a very heavy amount of lumber, all of which will probably be needed, but at rather easier prices. At Chicago business was very active, but the free offerings gave buyers some advantage, and hardly so much strength was exhibited. As a sample of the state of affairs, we give the following report from a recent issue of the Chicago Times:

"The market openened active this morning, and so continued the day throughout. The offerings were again heavy, and prices which have been weak for some days past depreciated 25@50c. On shingles, holders realized $3 75@3 87½ on "A" sawed and $1 50 on No. 1 do., and on lath $2 50. At the close this morning the river in the vicinity of the Exchange was crowded with vessels whose cargoes were yet unsold."

This was followed by a long list of sales, including cargoes of common mixed at $12 50; scantling and joist at $13 00; common strips and boards $14 00@15 00; good do. $15 50@$16 00; and choice do. $16 50—the latter rate where the proportion was 60 per cent and upward of strips. The receipts were larger than ever before known, footing up for the week ending, May 5th, 27,361,000 feet, but followed on the 6th and the three succeeding days by 30,490,000 feet, and more hourly expected. At the yards trade was good and full former rates realized. The following valuable information we obtain from the circular of Woolner & Garrick, published at Chicago under date of May 1st, 1868:

"On the 18th of January last, we sent out our annual report of the lumber trade for 1867, together with full and concise statistics for the whole season. We also expressed our views in regard to the coming year, and anticipated a very large supply, basing our calculations upon the then existing circumstances. At every point in the different pineries preparations had been made upon the most extensive scale, and everything was in readiness to gather a large crop of logs.

"We can now judge with more accuracy as to what Chicago may expect. The winter set in late, but the force in the woods was so large that this had but little effect upon the anticipations of the loggers, and, when we reported in January, everything was progressing with full vigor. However, the snow kept falling with such rapidity and so constantly, and was of a light and sandy nature, that it seriously interfered with the labor, and at many points it became impossible to break roads. There was in a great many localities decidedly too much snow. Thus the month of January and most of February passed, when another unforeseen and unexpected occurrence took place, namely: a sudden thaw and constant mild rains set in, which, within eight to ten days, dispersed nearly every vestige of snow, leaving the roads, to a great extent, impassable for all practical purposes, so that a great many camps had to be abandoned by the 1st of March. Since then no snow of any consequence has fallen, and of course this has had a tendency to curtail the expectations of manufacturers materially. Then again the snow melted with astonishing rapidity that the water was carried off on the surface of the ice without breaking up the piles of logs along the banks of the streams, thus producing the somewhat remarkable circumstance, that in spite of the snow, which far exceeded an average fall, the streams have not had sufficient water for a sufficient length of time to carry all the logs to the main rivers and the booms. We hear a great many serious complaints from various points upon this subject, but it is our opinion that it will operate rather to the benefit than detriment of the trade at large, and the falling off in quantity will be amply compensated by the price to be obtained for what does reach the market. Some points contributing lumber to this market will show a falling off from last year's exports, but others will increase their supply, and there is no doubt that we shall receive here fully sufficient for all probable wants. It may be somewhat difficult to form a correct estimate of the receipts to be expected, but we confidently believe that they will not vary much from last year, with a strong tendency to increase rather than diminish the supply; so that we look for about $500,000,000 or 900,000,000 feet. This may seem a large amount for any one place to dispose of; but the demand from all over the West and South will be fully equal to the supply. When we, a year ago, said that Chicago might look for 800,000,000 feet, our motives for so doing were attacked, but the facts afterwards bore us out and far exceeded our estimate; still the trade was good throughout the year, and the stocks on hand now are very small and much broken up. The stocks secured in the upper Mississippi region are decidedly smaller than last year, and the demand from across that river for good lumber in this market will materially increase. Our observations throughout Upper Canada, and especially in the Georgian Bay district, were that the snow was too deep to be advantageously used for logging, and much deeper than at any point on Lake Michigan, or along the west coast of Lake Huron. However, the preparations for securing logs were so extensive that, in spite of this drawback, we expect the crop will exceed that of last year considerably, and we also look forward to much larger shipments from there to this market, because it undoubtedly will prove more advantageous, as it certainly is a more natural outlet than any point East, especially for good grades of common lumber. We would again advise the mill-owners in Canada to send to this market only boards, the wider the better, or strips, six inches wide, all a good thickness; the more of short lengths—12 and 14 feet—there are in the former, and the less in the latter, the better it will suit the demand of purchasers here. The clear lumber, off the sides of the log, should be sawed into 1¼, 1½, and 2 inch. As we have already stated on several occasions last year, it will not pay to saw the white pine logs into 2x4 studding, joist, plank, or timber, as these articles can be obtained cheaper and fully as good from points on Lake Michigan. The quality of the logs secured on the Georgian Bay is generally satisfactory, and we hope the returns realized will prove remunerative to the manufacturer.

"The sudden disappearance of the snow and water, with the prospect that many logs will of necessity be kept back for another year, have already had the effect of brightening the hopes of those who have lumber to sell. Especially at Saginaw there is a marked improvement perceptible, and logs that were anxiously seeking purchasers at $7 are held stiffly at $9 and $10, and the higher grades of logs have advanced even at a greater rate. The same is the case with lumber, which was freely offered at $5, $10, and $30, and is now readily sold at $6, $12, and $35. The stock of logs there will not be equal to the capacity of the mills, consequently the price for sawing has somewhat reduced. Freights also promise to be low, all of which is for the benefit of the owners of lumber. All along the east shore of Lake Michigan the stocks are at least equal to last year, and the grade of logs satisfactory.

"The stocks helds held here on the 1st January last were considered rather large, but trade has been so very favorable that a large amount has been consumed, and prices have steadily advanced, especially for fencing, which, as usual, is very scarce in the yards. Clear lumber has also been more sought after, and is being held at a considerable advance compared with the close of last year. Cargoes arriving thus far have met with ready sale at very good prices, the demand, as yet, being in excess of the supply. The receipts are somewhat larger than last year up to this time, owing to the earlier opening of Green Bay and the Straits at Mackinaw; the latter opened on the 19th of April, five days sooner than last year. The month of April has been very boisterous and unfavorable to navigation, but at present the indications are very good. The principal demand for the next two months will again be for cargoes consisting largely of strips and boards, although this spring there is decidedly more inquiry than usual for scantling, joist, and timber.

"If the prospective demand for lumber to be used in Chicago is a fair criterion of what may be looked for from the country, certainly nobody need fear to glut the market, because there never yet has been anything to equal the improvements contemplated for the coming season. The farmer likewise feels independent, owing to high prices for his produce, and will want to purchase lumber freely. We expect to see high prices paid for cargoes for some time to come, but when the large fleets make their appearance they must naturally recede. We also expect considerable arrivals of the different kinds of hardwood lumber, which, in all probability, will meet with ready sale.

"The shingle market at present is very healthy, and the offerings are readily taken at our quotations. The prospects are that an ample supply will reach us, but the manufacturers of this article can control the market readily by stopping their mills as soon as prices will not warrant the sale. Shaved shingles are more and more going out of fashion, and only a strictly first-class article will command a fair price."

The Toledo market was fairly active and steady at the following rates:

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50; Second Clear, $45; Box $40; Stock Boards $20@$22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $12; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45; Joists, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and under, $16; do. Cull, 20 to 24 feet, $19@22; Cull Joist, $10.

Cedar posts, 18c.; Lath, $3.25; A 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $6; No. 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $5.50; No. 1, 18-inch Shaved Shingle, $7,

DRESSED LUMBER.—Clear and Second Flooring, $40; Common Flooring, $30; Common Siding, $17; Clear and Second Siding, $25; Stock Boards, $24; Common Boards, $18; Oval Batts, $35.

At Milwaukee a good steady demand prevailed, but with a rather more abundant supply, prices were somewhat heavy.

Clear Plank, $53@54 50; Second Clear Plank, $49@50; Clear Boards, $50; Second Boards, $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $28; Common Siding, dressed, $23; Stock Boards, $19; Common Boards, $16; 16 feet. Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $14.50@16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $7.50; Shingles, best sawed, $4.50@4.75; Posts, $12.50@30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$16; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

The Detroit Post, of May 2d, contains the following:

It had been expected that the month of April would settle the prices of lumber by showing the run of logs, but we are as much in the dark upon this point as ever. In the meantime, the stocks of logs at this point are running very low, and two or three of our mills have already been compelled to stop. In the large streams up the country the logs are, of course, safe, but the fate of the market is wholly dependent upon the issue regarding the immense amount of those "hung up" on the innumerable smaller streams. The prevailing scarcity and uncertainty with regard to the future has already caused a stiffening to the extent of $3 on upper and $1 on common qualities. Buyers thus far have been slow to take hold at the advance, but holders are very firm. All the lumber upon the market could be very readily disposed of at the nominal rates of two weeks ago. If the material can be obtained, the consumption of lumber this year will be enormous, and, even if the logs can be got down, the large demand will be likely to prevent a material decline in values, but the upward movement will be checked. On account of the favorable winter for logging, low prices were predicted, and, in consequence of this prospect, a very unusual number of building enterprises were put on foot, many of them by parties who had been holding back for two or three years. So far as this State is concerned, a slight advance in prices will be insufficient to check the demand. Our farmers have been usually prosperous in the high prices realized for their products, and building will be pushed forward freely. The inquiry is already very active, and, so far as concerns the whole country at large, it is doubtful if the trade has been in a more healthy condition at any time for many years past. In Chicago, there is a feeling of unwonted buoyancy, while the Eastern markets are all doing well. There is also a good inquiry for the Ohio trade. In Cincinnati, there is, perhaps, on the whole, the fullest stock of lumber in the country, although a few of the dealers are entirely out, and have been up here making their spring purchases.

"Inasmuch as important consequences hinge upon the prospect of getting out logs, we have endeavored to obtain reliable information upon this point. Making due allowance for exaggeration, we find that peculiar causes have conspired to invest the result with more than ordinary uncertainty. We have had one freshet, but unfortunately it came before the ice was out of the small streams, and the benefit was measurably lost. It must also be borne in mind that the unusually dry fall and winter has left the ground very thirsty, and it will therefore require a rather unusual amount of rain to afford the desired relief."

The Post also adds:

"It is no doubt safe to put the entire amount of pine lumber sawed in the State at fifteen hundred million feet! Such an immense amount would seem marvelous if it was not warranted by actual returns."

Cincinnati is well supplied, and rates rather weak on all except the very best stock. Hard lumber was quoted as follows:—Oak $17.00@$20.00 per M.; Ash $20.00@23.00 per M; Cherry $28.00@30.00 do.; Walnut $25.00@30.00 do.; and Poplar $22.00@$23.00. Soft Pine at $22.00@25.00 per M.

At St. Paul trade was good, but larger receipts gave buyers some advantage, though no actual sales took place. The rates were generally placed at $14.00@16.00 for 2d and 1st Common Boards; $21.00@$25.00 for stock boards; $25.00@$30.00 for wagon box boards; $16.00 for joist and dimension, 18 feet and under; $20.00@24.00 for do., 20 to 30 feet; $35.00 for 1st flooring, $30.00 for 2d do.; $25.00 @$30 00 for rough flooring; $40.00@50.00 for 1st clear; and $35.00@45.00 for second do.

The Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer contains the following:

"Our exchanges from up the river say that the lumbermen are having a most propitious spring campaign, which will indirectly benefit all classes of persons in that portion of the State. The minor streams and dependencies of the Susquehanna have been crowded with logs, the result of last winter's work, which the main river is now bearing upon its broad surface toward the lower lumber markets. The buzzing of saws and the ceaseless motion of machinery are also heard, night and day, converting logs into boards that soon find their way into market by means of the railways, which now pass through that section of the country."

From the East we learn that the mills are all well supplied with timber, and that the production is progressing very rapidly. The shipments, however, though up to the present time quite fair, have become greatly restricted, owing to the high rates of freight and the great scarcity of room offering. Shippers anxious to get their stocks forward, have telegraphed from Calais, Me., to have vessels sent out to load at $5.00.

The St. Johns, N. B., Prices Current reports as follows:

"The freight market has been more animated during the past week, with an improvement in rates. There is very little unengaged tonnage in port, and the prospect for the immediate future is that present rates will be fully maintained, with the probability of a further advance."

The rates were as follows: To Boston $4 00; to Providence $5 00; to New York $5 50; to Philadelphia $5 00; and to north side Cuba at $7 500.

The Southern markets generally continue steady, and business is becoming more active, but the want of funds is still severely felt and interferes very materially with free operations. The annexed rates are the latest received, and are undoubtedley low enough, as some of the most desirable grades have become scarce and are held with more confidence:

At Wilmington: Timber at $10 00 @ 12 00 for shipping; $8 50 @ 9 00 for prime mill; and $5 00 @ 8 00 for inferior to fair do. Lumber at $10 00 @ 12 00 for wide boards; $8 00 @ 10 00 for scantling; $15 00 @ 17 00 for flooring; and $20 00 @ 25 00 for West India cargoes.

At Savannah: $8 00 @ 11 00 per M. feet for mill timber, $13 00 @ 17 00 for small shipping do., and $20 00 @ 22 00 for large do. Lumber $20 00 @ 22 00 for ordinary sizes: $23 00 @ 28 00 for difficult sizes, and $20 00 @ 23 00 for flooring; $35 00 @ 40 00 for white pine rough; $50 00 @ 55 00 for do. dressed; and $30 00 @ 35 00 for spruce pine scantling.

At Charleston: River Flooring Boards at $13 00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10 00 @ 12 00. Mill Timber good $11 00 @ 12 00; and common to fair $5 00 @ 7 00. City sawed lumber $20 00 @ 25 00 per M.

The shipments from Charleston, from Sept. 1, 1867 to May 7, 1868, were 9,642,382 feet, of which 1,841,421 feet were foreign; and 8,300,961 feet coastwise, the latter including 4,039,938 feet to New York; 2,073,000 feet to Philadelphia; 1,254,820 feet to Baltimore; 78,000 feet to Hartford; 736,000 feet to Providence; and 119,203 feet to other ports. The Charleston News says:

"We are pleased to note that, notwithstanding the general depression in business, the lumber trade is still active, and shipments are being made to foreign and coastwise ports. The superiority of the Southern pine for building purposes has rendered it a prominent article of export, and cargoes of either timber or sawed lumber are readily engaged."

* * * * *

"As proving the importance of the lumber trade, we note the following shipments which were made from these mills during the past few weeks: The brig Manzanilla, from Rockport, Maine, came to this city, consigned to Messrs. Olney & Co. Her cargo of lime rock was soon discharged, and she took a return freight of sawed lumber, which will be returned to this port in the shape of a fine vessel, capable of carrying cotton to Liverpool. The schooner Wapella also took a full cargo of lumber to New Haven, and the brig George a similar freight to a port in Cuba. These are but three of many similar shipments, and though the trade bears no comparison with that of times past, it is slowly but steadily increasing.

METALS.—Foreign Pig Lead is dull and nominal at $6 87½@$6 40 gold. Lead bars steady at 10c., and sheet and pipe 12c. Tin plates meet with a very light demand and are only taken to supply the immediate wants of buyers. Prices generally are weak and unsettled, and in some cases have been reduced. The imports for the month of April were 96,450 boxes. Zinc of desirable quality continues scarce and with a very fair demand prices are firm. No Lehigh is offered below 12c.

NAILS.—The export and home trade continues very good, and the aggregate of business larger than last week in all styles of cut. Prices as yet show no decided change, but are quite firm at 5@5¼c. Clinch steady at 6⅝@6¾c. The exports for the week are 1,061 kegs valued at $5,767, against 1,401 kegs valued at $7,808 last week. There was also shipped to San Francisco 1,825 kegs.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The demand for paints is active, both wholesale and retail dealers doing a large business, and prices remain steady at full former figures. Linseed oil has been in good steady demand throughout the week, and though, at the present writing, no advance can be quoted, the market is very strong at $1 14@$1 15, in casks, and $$ 17@1 18, in bbls., with sales for June delivery at $1 17. The exports for the week were 18 packages Paint valued at $1 37. 60 bbls. oxide zinc valued at $7 74; and 283 gallons linseed oil valued at $4 03. To San Francisco there was shipped 104 packages white lead.

PITCH.—The market is fairly active and prices quite steady, with enough stock, offering to meet all demands We quote at about $3 25@$3 50 for Southern, and $3 50@ $3 75 for city. The receipts for the week were 195 bbls. Exports for the week, 26 bbls. Since January 1st, 1,342 bbls., and for same period last year, 1,301 bbls.

PLASTER OF PARIS. The market for lump continues unsettled, owing to the irregular manner of the arrivals, and though we retain former figures, they can only be looked upon as nominal. Several cargoes are due, and will propably come in with first favorable wind.

PLUMBERS' STOCK.—Business generally is very good, though the local trade is rather less active than before the 1st instant. Among the larger manufacturers a firm, steady feeling prevails at full previous rates and the price lists and discounts adopted in the early spring are still adhered to. With the smaller produces, however, there is considerable rivalry and competition, and in their endeavors to undersell each other, many have run rates down almost to the cost of manufacture, much to the benefit of retail dealers, though it is hardly probable that the consumer will feel the effect of this state of affairs. A fair amount has been taken for export, though the aggregate is not unusually large.

SLATE.—An improving demand is reported by dealers at the previous rates, the market remaining strong, and on some of the fine grades, which are scarce, rather buoyant. The arrivals have been a trifle more liberal, and it is thought will now gradually increase, navigation being opened in all directions. Among the parcels in, during the week, we notice a couple of loads of Peach Bottom, and one lot fairish quality from Vermont. The production is becoming larger, as many of the miners being without funds, have resumed work at the reduction in wages, made by the quarrymen early this spring. It is thought, however, by those generally pretty well posted, that as the season advances, and the workmen are enabled to lay up a little money, a strike for last autumn's rates will be made. Should this take place, it may have some effect upon values of the various kinds of slate, though no important changes are predicted until about the last of June or the first of July.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The depression noticed in our last report continued for several days, and a still further decline of 10c. per gallon took place, the rate going down to 54c. From this point, however, there was a reaction, and the market has since gradually recovered, closing at c. c.; and c. for retail lots, with a stock in first hands of about 500 bbls. The receipts for the week are 976 bbls. Exports for the week, 28 bbls.; since Jan. 1st, 3,668 bbls.; and for same period last year, 7,065 bbls.

STONE.—Freestone is in good demand, and the yards all show considerable life and animation. The quarries, particularly the Berea and Black River, are driving a full force, but frequently find their orders in excess of their ability to get out stock Granite is active, and marble is selling with more freedom. Blue stone is disposed of about as fast as received, and at full, steady rates.

TAR.—The demand continues fair, the supply of good qualities small, and prices are gradually working upward, closing quite firm, with holders rather inclined to withdraw their stocks. We quote at $3.25@$3.87½ for common to choice North Country; and $3.87½@4.12½ for Wilmington. The stock in first hands is about 4,500 bbls. Receipts for the week, 2,136 bbls. Exports for the week, 27 bbls.; since January 1st, 3,073 bbls.; and for same period last year, 2,882 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

THE Evening Journal reports as follows:

"Trade in the district is restricted by want of assorted stock. The receipts so far by the Erie Canal of newly shipped Lumber has been less than 2,000,000 feet, but before the week ensuing shall have elapsed a fair supply is expected. There was a fair attendance of buyers yesterday, but for the cause we have stated but little was done.'

Freights were dull, but rather more steady. We quote:

It seems we are to have a tunnel between New York and Brooklyn, but instead of being under, it is to be built on, the bed of the river. The charter for this enterprise was granted by the last Legislature. The tunnel is to be sixty feet wide, and will have accommodations for steam cars, vehicles of all kinds, as well as for foot passengers.

So as to keep up with our engagements, we give this week twenty pages of reading matter. This is more than we promised, or can usually afford, but we do it so as not to longer delay our mortgage reports.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

A SINGLE real estate house in Cincinnati sold during the month of April, property amounting in value to $886,618.92.

ELEVEN leading architects in Chicago have already made contracts to erect next year 165 marble buildings at a cost of over two and a half million dollars.

IT is again reported upon good authority that Taylor's Hotel, at Jersey City, is to be sold for $275,000 to Judge White, of Chicago.

THE four largest States in the Union are Texas, 274,356 square miles; California, 188,981 square miles; Nevada, 112,090 square mile; and Colorado, 104,500 square miles.

OF the 98,634,240 acres of land in California, about 65,000,000 can be cultivated, and 15,000,000 more used for grazing. At least 80,000,000 are available to support population, either by growing lumber or vines, if not for wheat raising or pasturage. But less than 2,000,000 are now cultivated, and less than 5,000,000 fenced in. About 5,000,000 have been segregated into farms preparatory to cultivation.

THE town of Fichbury, Mass., has voted to purchase a lot containing 28,000 square feet of land for $38,000, on which to erect a $50,000 soldiers' monument.

IN Boston, 457 dwelling houses and 24 stores are to be raised a perpendicular distance of 18 feet, and then underpinned, in carrying out a plan for filling in sixteen acres of low ground.

A gentleman in speaking to a real estate agent about the situation of an estate which he was about to buy in a level neighborhood said—'The country is exceedingly beautiful, and I do so admire a rich flat." "So do I," said the obsequious, but grinning agent.

A NEW AND GOOD IDEA.—Persons about buying real estate know how difficult it is to get any correct information touching the property offered to the them. Agents, sellers, and lawyers all seem combined to mystify the would-be buyer. Hence a great many sales are effected quite in the dark. But this need be so no longer. In connection with the Real Estate Record (a bright, useful, little paper, by the way) a bureau has been opened to give all possible information respecting any piece of property in New York or Kings County. The last actual sale, the money paid for property adjoining, the tax assessor's valuations, and an intellgent estimate based upon recent sales in the neighborhood—all this and more will be furnished by the new bureau. What a blessing this will be to prudent, cautious people, who want to invest in real estate, but who have not heretofore had the data that would justify any outlay of money. This agency will be indispensato savings banks, insurance companies, executors, and those who have money to invest in mortgages, and who must know all about the property before they do so.—From the Evening Mail.

A REAL ESTATE DECISION.—The Supreme Court of Maryland decided on Monday that where a real estate broker procures a purchaser who is accepted by the owner, the broker cannot be deprived of his commissions if the purshaser refuses to complete the sale because the title is found to be defective. It was also decided, in the same case, that where part of the purchase money is reserved by way of ground rent, the broker is entitled to his commissions on the whole purchase price, as well that which is paid in money as on that part reserved by way of rent.

THE Bangor Whig learns that the amount of lime manufactured at Rockland, during the year 1867, was 100,000 barrels, at a cost of $1 per barrel. There are some 40 patent kilns, which are capable of turning out about 100 barrels every 24 hours.

THE Chicago Insurance Chronicle for April 9, says: "Our list of deeds shows a greater number of buyers during the week, ending April 4, than in any week previous for a year past. One hundred and ninety-six warrantee deeds were filed during the week, against 182 the week previous, and 193 the week preceding. The aggregate amount of property conveyed, however, is less by $144,000 than last week, on account of the absence of any very large sales. In each of our weekly reports, for some months past, there has been several sales approximating to $100,000 each, but in this week's report there is but one sale which reaches $30,000, and the whole 196 average only about $3,000 each.

THE Second Congregational Society of New London, Conn., will build their church, to replace the one recently burned, after the plan of of the newly built Middletown church, which is 100 feet by 32, with a spire 175 feet high, and cost $60,000. The society have to raise $40,000 besides the insurance money.

THE Winona Republican says that the Minnesota Fence Company, of that city have already shipped 20,000 feet of their fencing material to Chicago via the Illinois Central Railroad for the adornment of property in the vicinity of Hyde Park.

THE Boston depot of the Boston and Maine railroad company is to be remodeled and extended to traverse streets, at an expense of $120,000. The extension will be of brick, 330 by 80 feet, and internal improvements will add $10,000 to the above contract.

THE sum asked for Breed's Island, Boston harbor, is $200,000. It contains 700 acres.—The Boston water-power company owns 2,310,000 feet of flats in the empty basin, 6,689,000 in the full basin, and 425,000 of made lands.

THE Bulletin says there will be 5,000 new dwellings erected in Philadelphia next year.

The real estate market was never more active in Boston than it is at present. Large sales are being almost daily made at prices that seem almost fabulous to the unitiated, but the men who buy the property, in most cases, intend to use it for buildiug purposes, and evidently know what they are about. There will be a great deal of building in the city the coming summer, both of business houses and places of residence, and some very fine and expensive buildings are in contemplation for this year and next.

ANCIENT THEATRE—The ancient theatre of Ephesus has recently been examined and measured. Its diameter was six hundred feet, and it would accommodate seventy-five thousand spectators. It is memorable for the uproar described in Acts VI., when the Ephesians accused Paul and the Christians in this very building. It was also the scene of Appolonius' miracles

REAL ESTATE NEWS AGENCY.

C. W. SWEET & CO., proprietors of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, have opened, in connection with their paper, an agency, through which they propose to furnish extremely valuable information for the benefit of Real Estate dealers, owners, and operators. Persons about investing in Real Estate, usually wish to be informed on these points:—

1st. Who the actual owner of any piece of property may be, and whether any incumbrance is existing against it.

2d. What the actual value of said property was at the last sale.

3d. What price the property adjacent and within same block has sold for within the past few years.

4th. An intelligent, unbiased estimate of the value of the property at the present time; the future prospects of the same; whether there are likely to be any improvements, and of what kind, in the street where property is located; and such other information as will be likely to affect the value of said property.

Real Estate dealers, will at once see the immense value of the class of information we propose to furnish, particularly to those who now buy in the dark without any reliable data to guide them, but who, by means of our agency, will have every light which official records, transcripts of sales, etc., can furnish. We have peculiar facilities for furnishing this class of information, having in our possession maps, books, etc., gotten up exclusively by us, which contain every piece of property in New York and Kings counties, with the names of owners, and other information accessible to no other firm or persons in the U. S.

Titles searched, and careful abstracts made at the lowest prices. This work will be done accurately and cheaply for regular subscribers.

THE NEW BOULEVARD IN COURT.

AN interesting case, involving the question of the right of the Central Park Commissioners under the Act of 1865, to open, lay out, and regulate the streets lying west of the Park, between 59th and 155th streets, has made its appearance in the General Term of the Supreme Court, before Judges Barnard, Ingraham, and Sutherland.

It was introduced by A. R. Lawrence, Jr., Esq., in the matter of the confirmation of the report of the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment of the New Boulevard. He contended that the Act of 1865 was in conflict with the first and second sections of article ten of the Constitution, as it vested powers in the Commissioners of the Central Park which, by the constitution of 1846, were vested solely in the authorities of the City of New York, relating to the exercise of all local powers; but that even if the Legislature did have the power to delegate these duties to other officers, it must be to such as are elected by the people, or appointed by the local authorities; that the Commissioners of the Central Park were not local officers, but were created and continued in office by special legislative enactments.

This question of the constitutionality of that Act of 1865, is a very important one, as upon a decision by the Court favorable to the view taken by Mr. Lawrence, the whole topographical character of the west side of the city may become changed. The expense that has been so lavishly laid out in beautifying it, and opening up magnificent avenues conforming to the natural elevation of the land, and thereby increasing the value of property in that locality, will then have been spent in vain, and the danger would be, a return to the present abominable system of rectangular streets and avenues, as applied to other portions of the island.

This was the only seriously important point raised in the argument, although other objections were made to the report, on the ground that the awards were inadequate and insufficient.

A further hearing of the case was adjourned until the 31st proximo.

As the number of conveyances fall off in New York and Kings County, we are enabled to bring down our lists of mortgages to a later date. We hope soon to be up to time. The recorded transfers of property, of course, are getting less and less every day, and will so continue until midsummer. It is remarkable, by the way, how heavy the Brooklyn conveyances continue to be. Property is still extremely active in that city; and at the present rate of progress, it cannot be long before Brooklyn will be the second city of the Union in population. Nay, if we do not have a steam city road, within five years Brooklyn will exceed New York in population, as it already does in size, and we may add—in the weight of its taxation.

WHAT has become of the elevated road up Greenwich street and Ninth avenue? It got an extension of time from the legislature, but we cannot find that anything has been done since the adjournment. The property holders west and north of the Central Park are deeply interested in the success of this road, as it is the only chance of a steam road they are likely to have for a couple of years. If practicable, it can be quickly constructed, and once built and in running order to the Harlem river, it will be worth fifty million dollars to up-town property within five years. The stream of population which now goes over the river to swell the census returns of New Jersey, would be directed up the line of this proposed steam road, and houses would go up as if by magic. The east side has got its so-called Central Tunnel road, and all that the west side has got is this experimental elevated road, to which we wish all manner of success.

THE Highland Bridge, which has had the sanction of the Legislature and Governor of this State, will, in its way, help to increase the value of real estate upon this island. It is to be placed across the river in the neighborhood of Peekskill, and will bring trains and freight to this city from the West, which would otherwise be taken to the Jersey shore. It will thus help New York, especially the upper end of the Island.

By the time this bridge is built we expect that an agitation will spring up for a bridge from Fort Lee to Washington Heights. This will be constructed just as soon as a steam road is built on the west side of New York Island. When this is done the splendid sites for villas on the west side of the Hudson above Fort Lee, will lead to the erection of a bridge over which steam cars will run to connect with the Northern New Jersey roads, as well as the new west side Hudson River road. Some of the most charming residences in the world will yet be constructed on the Palisades, which will be accessable to the business men of New York by means of the steam road on the west side of the city and the bridge over the Hudson at Fort Lee.

DURING the past month a very valuable privilege was granted by the city authorities to the New York Mutual Gas Light Company, incorporated in 1866.

It gave the company the right to open any streets in New York city and lay down gas pipes.

It was pretended by the originators of this company, that its object was to furnish cheaper and better gas to our citizens, now so outrageously imposed upon by the existing gas companies.

This was certainly a very laudable object; and we sincerely hope that this immense privilege is not to be swallowed up by the present gas monopolies, to the continued disadvantage of the people, as has been currently reported. We hope to hear that it will be un fait accompli, and that the New York Mutual Gas Company will soon be in actual existence, furnishing and supplying us with first rate gas.

IT is estimated that the value of the new buildings to be erected in Boston the present year, will range between ten millions and fifteen millions of dollars. The Transcript says: "One of our widely-known architects is making plans for new structures, the whole of which will cost about a million of dollars." The Traveller says the West End Improvement Company, organized with $2,500,000 capital, desires this year to complete Boylston street to Brookline, and run Chester Park to the mill-dam, turning it after it passes Tremont, so as to make it come in on the mill-dam at right angles. A contract will probably be made to do the filling, and a horse railroad company and abutters may assist in paying for it.

IN Philadelphia, in April, permits were given for the erection of 647 buildings, 554 of them dwellings, with one church, six factories and nineteen shops. Among the factories is one for the manufacture of silk.

IN Washington county, Texas, on the 8th inst., 3000 acres of land were sold by the Sheriff at prices ranging from 12½ cents up to $6 70 per acre.

THE Wood County, (Wis.), Reporter says the amount of lumber run over the Grand Rapids the present spring is 40,000,000 feet.

WINONIA, Minn., will make building improvements this season costing $310,000. There are 300 dwelling in process of erection.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The real estate of the principal commercial cities of the United States is really experiencing the influence of a new epoch, as in all the northern cities of the Union there seems to have been great activity, and large transactions have taken place with a frequency hitherto unknown. This, no doubt, is due to the vast improvement in the communication between the great centres of traffic and the producing districts. We had at the close of 1867, 38,605 miles of railroad, an increase over 1866 of 1,700 miles, and probably at the close of the present year we shall have fully 40,000 miles laid and in operation. Now, as New York is a great railroad centre, and all roads, like those to Rome, lead to this metropolis, the influence of new railways, even in remote parts of the Union, is felt in this city. Travel as well as traffic is encouraged, and the former conduces in no small degree to develope the city and increase the price of real estate, as may be easily comprehended, if we only consider how many new hotels alone have been erected in the past three years. In addition the average annual increase from 1790 to 1860 was 3.02 per cent.; the war diminished somewhat our increase, but still at the close of 1867 statistics prove that we have a population of nearly 40,000,000, consequently real estate must with coming years be, in all our flourishing cities, worth sums that the most sanguine do not now venture to hint at.

Attention is still centred in this city on the section of the Boulevard about to be opened, which is to extend from 59th to 155th street. The land taken from this portion of the Grand drive will cost $3,500,000, One-half of this sum is assessed upon the city at large, and the other half upon the property supposed to be directly benefited by the improvement. There is warm desire felt that this upper section should be opened immediately without further delay, as it will be an advance from an uncertainty to a reality, and surrounding property may then be estimated at its intrinsic value, which it cannot now possibly possess. The commissioners of estimates and assessments have taken two years to make up their list of awards and assessments, and during that time property has several times changed owners. This could have been done in Paris in a few weeks, at a cost, probably, of $20,000, which here we are charged $118,000, and all the expenses accruing from a reprehensible delay, which has altogether probably cost the city over $1,500,000. With the complete opening of this Boulevard carriage-riding will be diverted from the crowded Park, and those fine views along Washington Heights, old Fort George, the Hudson and Harlem river, and the magnificent scenery of the region, unequalled by the surroundings of any other city in the world, will be more universally enjoyed.

As nearly all the auctioneers have now demands for suburban and country property, either for sale or rent, it may not be inappropriate to give, from time to time, a succinct geographical description of those towns and cities within easy access of New York. This week we take

SOUTH JERSEY.

New Jersey, owing to its vicinity to the business portions of the city, presents very great advantages as a place of residence for business men; and we do not hesitate to say that, in beauty of scenery, soil, water, climate, and other advantages which one seeks for in a homestead, New Jersey is in all respects the equal of the Empire State. In the important items of land, and the taxes thereon, the inducements to settlers are immeasurably greater than New York City suburbs can offer. Within the past few years many millions of dollars have been spent in New Jersey by citizens of New York, in the erection of dwellings and the building up of towns in what were before considered out-of-the-way places. Taking the line of the Central Railroad we give our readers some idea of the numerous country places on the route where land may be purchased at reasonable prices. Greenville, which is 20 minutes from New York, is the station for the township of the same name, which stretches entirely across the peninsula. From various points very fine views of the bay and its surroundings can be obtained. On the left is to be seen the cities of New York and Brooklyn, and in their immediate vicinity, the fortifications of Governor's and Bedloe's Islands; further south, the Narrows, Staten Island on the right, Long Island on the left, and Forts Hamilton and Tompkins in the distance. The town is being rapidly built up with handsome villas and country seats, and owing to its beautiful location, nearness to New York, and its frequent communication, promises to be one of the most attractive points on the peninsula, and lots can be obtained in good localities for about $600 each.

Bergen Point, 30 minutes from New York, is beautifully situated on the banks of the Kill von Kull and Newark Bay, and forms the southern extremity of Hudson County, and the most southern point of Bergen Neck, a peninsula that bears the same relation to the State of New Jersey that the Island of Manhattan does to the State of New York. The town proper has a population of some 2,000, mainly composed of New York families, which, during the summer months, is increased to 3,000; and a fine large hotel, favorably known to the public as the Latourette House. Lots of 25x100 sell from $500 to $600.

Elizabeth, 45 minutes from New York. In ten years' time, its population has increased from 10,000 to 20,000, with every prospect that, within the next ten years, this number will be more than doubled. All the principal streets within a radius of two miles from the centre of the city have been paved with the Belgian pavement, and the rest are rapidly being finished in the same manner. The curbing, guttering, lighting and sewerage of the streets is thorough, and the water, furnished by the waterworks, of an excellent quality. The suburbs of the city are very beautiful; the streets being laid out at right angles, very wide, and no manufacturing nuisances are allowed. Lots sell in the suburbs for $1,000 each, in the centre of the town for $8,000.

Roselle, 50 minutes from New York, presents many attractions as a place of residence for parties doing business in New York. An association of capitalists, some three years since, purchased about 200 acres of land immediately adjoining the station, which they are now engaged in laying out in streets and avenues. Within a short time the local trains will all be run to this point, when the communication will be equal to that of Elizabeth (by Central road). Lots, 50x200, sell for $350 to $500.

Cranford, 57 minutes from New York, is an attractive village of about 600 inhabitants, situated on the Rahway river, in a fine undulating country; Cranford has recently taken a new start, and promises to become a populous town. Land is worth $1,000 per acre at the station, and about $200 a mile distant.

Westfield, 1 hour and 4 minutes from New York, is a pleasant town of about 2,000 inhabitants, located in a rolling undulating country, about 2 miles south-east from the base of the Blue range of mounians. The town is laid out in very good taste, with the streets pleasantly shaded, and the buildings neat and ornamental in appearance. Lots of 50x200 are valuable in the town, and sell readily at $500. Within a mile it is worth $200 per acre. Some 20 houses have been built during the past winter.

Scotch Plains, 1 hour and 12 minutes from New York, is beautifully situated at the base of the mountain, on the line of the Central road, the country round about being very beautiful, combining hill, mountain, valley and plain, with fine views and excellent roads. Large investments have recently been made at this point by New York capitalists. Within 2 years past the railroad company has purchased some 400 acres of land lying to the south of the present road-bed, which is now being laid out and improved, with the idea of converting it into a very beautiful Park. A fine hotel, capable of accommodating 250 people, which is to cost $70,000, is to be erected during the present season. Land in the Park sells for $1,000 per acre, in the immediate vicinity of the Park, say within a mile, it brings from $400 to $300 per acre.

Plainfield, 1 hour and 15 minutes from New York, is a large and populous town, beautifully situated on a plain at the base of the Blue Range of mountains, and contains a population of about six thousand. As a place of residence it presents rare advantages combining, as it does, the society and conviences of a town with the pure mountain air, health, and beauty of the country. Village lots are very scarce and valuable. Acre lots in the suburbs sell for $1,800 each. Land on main avenues, one mile from the station, sells for $750 to $1,000 per acre. Farming land, two miles away, sells for $250 to $300 per acre. Some 80 houses have been built at this point during the past winter, all of a first-class character.

New Market, 1 hour and 27 minutes from New York, is a pleasant village situated nearly one mile south of the railroad. The railroad company has recently purchased a tract of some two hundred acres, beautifully situated on elevated ground, and lying between the railroad and the mountain. This property is being rapidly improved; broad streets and avenues are being laid out, intersecting each other at right angles; a new station-house is to be built immediately fronting the property, when it will assume the name of Dunellen. Lots of 150x150 sell from $800 to $1,000 each. A new station is being erected; a number of houses are to be erected during the summer.

Boundbrook, 1 hour and 30 minutes from New York, is beautifully situated on the banks of the Raritan river, and has about 4,000 inhabitants. Being a little beyond where the attention of New Yonkers has been turned, land is comparatively cheap, and can be bought for $175 per acre.

Somerville, 1 hour and 50 minutes from New York, is the county town of Somerset county, and is situated on the banks of the Raritan river, in the midst of a fine agricultural district. It contains a population of about 2,500, 3 churches, 3 hotels, 2 banks, 3 schools and numerous stores. At this point the South Branch or Flemington Railroad joins the Central road. Farming lands within a mile worth $150 per acre.

White House, 2 hours and 6 minutes from New York, is situated in the midst of the fine farming district of Hunterdon County, is a town of about 800 inhabitants. The country round about is the most productive in the State, but being a little beyond where the attention of New Yorkers has been turned, farms can be purchased at least 50 per cent. less than in Somerset County. Finest farming land in the State can be bought from $80 to $100 per acre.

Cherry Hill is situated in Bergen County, eight miles drive from the Forty-second street ferry, by a fine macadamized pike, and within half a mile of Hackensack, four miles of Englewood, and six miles of Paterson. The present communication is by the Hackensack Railroad, six trains each way daily running in forty-five minutes to a station within 2,500 feet of the property. It is also expected that during this year the Cherry Hill Railroad will be completed, when passengers will be carried directly to the Cortlandt street ferry. Lots, 25x100, can be bought for $100 that in a very few years will realize $300. Hackensack roads are now building an extension, and trains will be running to the station.

SALES.

The sales during the latter part of last week and the former part of this have been comparatively slender, but in the last few days considerable transactions have taken place. Next week a considerable amount of New Jersey property, belonging to the Rutherford Park association, will be thrown upon the market. A large number of farms, villas, and acre lots have been disposed off at private sale within the past three weeks. The following are the particulars of sales since our last publication.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—We note a continued steady demand, and a gradual reduction of the stock of hard brick. The receipts from Long Island and New Jersey have ceased, as all the yards have exhausted their supplies of the old crop, and dealers are now dependent almost entirely upon what can be procured from up the river. From this direction there is enough coming forward to prevent any further material advance, but not an abundance, and at the improvement noted in our last the market remains extremely firm at, say $10.00@12.00 for common to good hard, and $13.00 for very choice. Pale or Salmon brick sell at about $9.00@$9.50 for anything really good, but an occasional inferior parcel can be picked up at $8.50@$8.75 per M. Croton fronts are without noticeable change. Philadelphia fronts are coming forward rather more freely, but the supply is not any too large, and prices are steady. The continued stormy and unsettled weather has been a serious drawback to manufacturers, and the production of the new crop will suffer some delay in consequence. The shipments are 8,000 to British West Indies, and 7,000 to New Grenada.

CEMENT.—With a continued good, steady local and shipping inquiry, receivers are still doing a tip-top business, and the rate for Rosendale is well sustained at $1.75 per bbl.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—With no change of importance to note in the general range of prices we hear of good steady trade doing on country orders, and a few lots taken for export; though the foreign demand, as compared with previous seasons, has thus far been light. The city trade is fair, but dealers place very little dependence upon this demand to reduce their supplies.

FOREIGN WOODS.—We hear of nothing of special interest since our last. Retailers are doing a fair business, but otherwise trade is dull, and only a few parcels have been sold at auction. Prices remain unchanged. The receipts are as follows: 147 logs, mahogany and cedar, from Wank's River; 60 pcs. mahogany, from Jacmel, St. Domingo; 1,300 logs cedar, from Tampa Bay; and 62 pcs. lignumvitae, from Curacao. The exports as follows: 416 logs mahogany to Rotterdam, valued at $1,600; 13 logs do to Havre, valued at $200, and 617 logs do to Oporto, valued at $1,937.

GLASS.—The improvement in business referred to in our last report has been still more decided during the present week, and all dealers now report an active market. The local trade is only fair, but from the interior towns and the far West orders are coming in daily, and the shipments rapidly increase. The general stock is pretty large, but we hear of a continued lack of the small and desirable sizes, and on these the rates of discount have been reduced 2½@5 per cent., though all kinds are very firm, and the market generally shows some buoyancy. The receipts are comparatively small and nearly all find sale soon after landing, but it is thought that the renewed activity will induce more liberal orders by cable, and that in a few weeks we we shall have a larger and more desirable assortment offering.

HAIR.—The demand has been very good, and with less favorable weather for drying; we note a firmer tone on all grades. No cattle hair can now be brought below 35c. per bushel, and the fine qualities command full previous rates. The aggregate supply is fair, but not abundant.

HARDWARE.—The inquiry for builders' hardware continues good, and with not over-abundant supplies on hand dealers generally manifest a firm, confident feeling on all styles, though we hear of occasional concessions, being made in order to induce more liberal purchases.

LABOR.—We hear of several classes of mechanics who are becoming dissatisfied with ruling rates of wages, and in some cases active measures are being taken to force an advance. The success of the majority of the recent "strikes" undoubtedly encourages a continuation of like movements, and the men generally talk confidently of their ability to compel "bosses" to pay the increased wages asked for. It appears somewhat strange that at the commencement of the summer season, when food and living generally become cheaper, a succession of strikes should be so tamely submitted to by employers; but we learn upon inquiry that in nearly all cases master mechanics, who have any connection with house-building, are full to overflowing, with contracts, and find it more profitable to pay some slight increase of wages. than to fight the now very thoroughly organized trades' unions, particularly as really good workmen are not to be secured every day even at extra rates. It is also urged that many of the so-called Protective Unions have adopted rules in regard to the employment of apprentices, etc., which cannot be carried out except to the serious detriment of their own interest, and that by allowing them to have their own way to all reasonable extent, "bosses" must ultimately gain the advantage. The most recent movements are as follows: Something like 4,000 quarrymen on the upper end of the island on Monday last struck for an increase of 25c. per day. The old rate was $2 50. In a few cases, where it was absolutely necessary to finish up jobs, the advance was temporarily paid, but the majority of contractors at the present writing had not submitted, and the men still hold out.

At a meeting of the Carpenters' Consolidated Union held at Demilt Institute Monday evening, it was announced that the members were all employed at the advanced wages.

The stair builders are looking for an increase, and will soon perfect arrangements for a strike. A recent meeting of the Operative Plasterers' Association was largely attended, and a spirited debate took place upon the practicability of insisting on an increase from the present wages—$4 50 per day—to $5 per day. Upon being put to vote, a resolution favoring the increase was lost, not receiving the necessary two-thirds indorsement. On the 2d of June next the journeymen brass founders will ask for $3 50 per day; present rate $3 00.

LATH.—We have still to report a very unsettled market, and only a moderate amount of business doing, buyers confining their operations to the picking up of odd, cheap lots when offered, the sales in this way for the week footing up about 1,000,000, mostly at $3 12½@$3 25 per M. with one lot of 150,000, very conveniently situated for the purchaser, at $3 50 per M. The latter rate is that at which nearly all receivers are holding, but dealers still refuse to meet them by at least 25c. per M., and claim that the continued piling out of cargoes has so materially augmented the stock, some concessions must soon be made, to prevent too heavy an accumulation. On the other hand, it is hinted, that unless the price demanded is paid willingly, shipments to this point will be stopped, and buyers forced through sheer necessity to submit to the views of sellers. We retain about former quotations, but until the existing controversy is settled, all figures will be more or less nominal.

LIME.—At the decline noted in our last common lime, has been rather more steady, and $1 10 per bbl. has attracted enough buyers to about exhaust all the stock afloat. At the close, the feeling is apparently more confident, but dealers do not attempt as yet to force any improvement. Lump has been in good steady demand, and is still selling at $2 00 per bbl. We learn of more liberal arrivals from the North River sections, several thousand barrels having recently reached the city, and this has had some effect in weakening the market, though selling at the same rate as Rockland.

LUMBER.—Considering the variable and generally unpleasant condition of the weather during the past week, the amount of business transacted at the yards has been very good; and as the retail trade is daily increasing, dealers have little cause to complain of the ruling state of affairs. The assortment of course is still poor, in fact pretty much all the desirable stock has disappeared, but with cargoes through on the Erie canal as far as Albany, and receipts already at this point from the Northern canal, we are hopeful, that ere long the offerings will contain something better suited to the views and wants of buyers. Choice seasoned lumber is very scarce and likely to continue so, the bulk coming forward being reported as green. It is thought that 1@1¼ inch stuff will probably be more plenty in the course of a few weeks the great scarcity of the past season, having induced the mills to give more attention to these sizes. For a week or two our figures for hemlock boards and joist have unintentionally been at the extreme for small retail lots, and we now reduce them to conform more closely to the general market. Otherwise quotations show no changes worthy of special notice. Eastern spruce has not arrived with as much freedom as last week, the scarcity of vessels along the coast being to be felt, and as the demand continues very good few if any cargoes remain unsold. Prices remain about as before, viz: $20 00@$22 00 per M, with now and then some small parcels very poor run off at $19 00. Really choice lengths, and such as most inquired after continue remarkably scarce, and could buyers get just what they want full prices would be paid some talking as high as $23 00, but as there is no immediate probability of any A 1 stock being offered, such bids are perfectly safe. Hemlock scantling is quoted at $16 00, and cargoes now en route have been sold at this figure. Southern pine remains firm on all grades, and is not plenty by any means, a large proportion of the recent arrivals having already been contracted for. Prices remain steady at $30 00@$35 00 per M. with very few sellers at the inside rate. Shingles are selling well at $5 00 for No. 1. The exports show a considerable increase and the shipping trade generally is better, though still very small as compared with previous seasons. The principal sales during the week include 100,000 feet Cypress boards; 260,000 feet Southern pine; and 925,000 feet Eastern spruce all within our range; and of the latter we note one lot of 150 000 feet poor specification at $21 25 per M.

The Shipments of Lumber have been as follows:

There have also been shipments of 106 pieces timber to New Granada, 1,800 Lath to Cuba, 200,000 shingles to Africa, 6,600 staves to Great Britain, and 34,400 to the Continent. The receipts as far as reported are as follows: From Shulee, N. S., 1,100 pieces Piling; from Joggins, N. S., 400 pieces Piling; from Ship Harbor, N. S., 507,000 Lath; from Beaufort, 14, 135 feet Lumber; from Washington, N. C., 190,800 shingles; from Charleston, S. C., 20,000 feet Plank and 150,000 feet Lumber; from Jacksonville, Fla., 285,000 feet Lumber; and from Darien, Ga., 238,489 feet Lumber.

The Canal is reported as containing a goodly number of lumber-laden boats, and there is plenty of stock awaiting transportation at Buffalo, all of which will be cheering news to dealers and consumers, both of whom are greatly in need of stock. Western advices show continued heavy arrivals at all shipping points, and some accumulation of stock, notwithstanding the local trade was good, and the Eastern demand for cargoes very brisk. Prices generally continued heavy, and in some instances further concessions were granted, particularly on the low and inferior grades. The Chicago Times, of the 15th inst., says:

"The weather was pleasant to-day, and buyers were out in full force. The offerings were very large, and there being a variety of grades and sizes in cargoes that fitted the trade, they went off rapidly. Prices on coarse lumber experienced a further depreciation of 25@50c., but on the good grades there was no quotable change. In lath considerable was done. On lots of the ordinary size the full price, $2.50, was obtained, but on lots of over 100,000 $2.25 was the highest figure. Shingles sold to a fair extent at $3 75 for A sawed and shaved and $3.62, for rough sawed."

Among the cargo sales were several lots of common mixed lumber at $12.50; scantling and joist $12.00@12.50, mostly at the inside figure, though some good lots sold higher; common boards and strips $13.50@15.00; good do. $15.50@16.00; and very choice do. $16.25, a few at $16.50. In the yards a good trade was doing at steady rates, and quotations stood as follows:

The receipts for six days of the week ending on the 16th were: 20,127,000 feet against 31,826,000 feet for the corresponding week in 1867.

From Toledo we hear of nothing of great importance, though the market apparently had less strength on some of the poorer qualities. The following are the latest rates:

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50; Second Clear, $45; Box $40; Stock Boards $20@$22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $11; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45; Joists, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and under, $16; do. Cull, 20 to 24 feet, $19@22; Cull Joist, $10.

Cedar posts, 18c.; Lath, $3.00; A 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $6; No. 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $5.50; No. 1, 18-inch Shaved Shingle, $7,

DRESSED LUMBER.—Clear and Second Flooring, $40; Common Flooring, $30; Common Siding, $17; Clear and Second Siding, $25; Stock Boards, $24; Common Boards, $18; Oval Batts, $35.

The Milwaukie market was fairly active, but we note a continued depression, and on many grades prices had been reduced, closing as follows:

Clear Plank, $50@52 50; Second Clear Plank, $45@49; Clear Boards, $48; Second Boards, $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $27; Common Siding, dressed, $22; Stock Boards, $18; Common Boards, $16; Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $14.50@16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $6 50@7.00; Shingles, best sawed $4.50 @4.75; Posts, $12.50@30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$16; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

A few cargoes strips and scantlings sold at $13.00@13.50.

At Cincinnati there was no important change except a trifling stiffening of prices. A recent published report in that city, says:

"Dealers report a more encouraging business during the past week. Prices remain firm, with a steady demand for seasoned pine shingles, and an upward tendency in best qualities of shaved. Dry joints are scarce in this market, the few remaining in the yards having been engaged by parties who contemplate building this spring. In the way of green lumber, there is not much doing. A large number of rafts have arrived, and a still larger quantity have remained at Pittsburg waiting for a market either at that point or below. Buyers and sellers still differ as to prices.,

The yard rates for any lumber were as followers: Cedar white pine $50.00@$65.00 per M.; Hemlock boards and joists $18.00@$20.00 per M.; Pine joists and timber $25.00@$27.50; Flooring $40.00@$65.00; and Siding $27.00@$30.00. Hard lumber was quoted as follows:—Oak $17.00@$20.00 per M.; Ash $20.00@23.00 per M; Cherry $28.00@30.00 do.; Walnut $25.00@30.00 do.; and Poplar $22.00@$23.00. Soft Pine at $22.00@25.00 per M.

The Pittsburgh market was fairly active with no important changes to be noted in prices. The quantity of lumber rafted was generally considered as nearly if not quite equal to the aggregate of last season. The yard rates for unplaned lumber were as follows:

Clear, ₱ M	$65 00
First Common	55 00
Second Common	29 00
Third Common	23 00
Sheeting	18 00
Hemlock Joists and Scantling	18@20 00

From a Detroit journal of recent date the following is taken:

"The inquiry for lumber is brisk and increasing, and dealers report a market exceeding in activity that realized last year at this time or during any former season for several years past. Stocks of desirable qualities are very much reduced and broken, while buyers are actively engaged in picking up any odd lots that are still in the hands of manufacturers. With the prospect of the supply of logs still very uncertain, manufacturers are operating cautiously in making engagements for future delivery, and are refusing the offers of buyers for their entire season's product at present prices. Eastern operators would readily take all the upper qualities of the season's manufacture at rates now prevailing, but our dealers reject such offers, preferring to meet buyers from time to time at ruling prices, well convinced that their products will be fully absorbed, and that prices will doubtless strengthen materially before fall, unless an unusual quantity of rain fall, to raise streams and render available the winter's cuttings of logs. At all points manufacturers complain of short stocks. At Alpena there was sawed last season fully 50,000,000 feet of logs. From the best sources of information accessible, the number banked last winter was 18,000,000 short of that quantity, while of the amount got out at least 7,000,000 feet can not be made available this season by reason of low water. Whether the per centage of deficiency is as great at other points, we are not informed, but the complaint is the same in kind at nearly every point. This fact, with the brisk demand for lumber now being made, is stiffening the market very materially, and advanced rates are being realized on desirable lots. Shipments are being freely made to the interior markets upon the Central and Southern roads, as also to Toledo, Cincinnati and other Southern and Eastern markets, and calls are frequent for more."

The prices in the St. Paul market were about the same, though on the first changes made the figures show a lower range. The rates were generally placed at $14.00@16.00 for 2d and 1st Common Boards; $20.00@$22.00 for stock boards; $25.00@$30.00 for wagon box boards; $16.00 for joist and dimension, 18 feet and under; $20.00@24.00 for do., 20 to 30 feet; $33.00 for 1st flooring, $28.00 for 2d do.; $25.00@$30 00 for rough flooring; $40.00@50.00 for 1st clear; and $35.00@45.00 for second do.

From Troy we learn that the receipts by the canal have been very large, and that a liberal supply of shingles and hemlock are now on the market, in fact the general assortment might be called good, 1¼@1½ in. select pine being the least plenty. Prices were firm, the demand active, shipments large, and trade had a much healthier aspect.

Freights were active and steady, at $1.50 to New York, $2.25 to Bridgeport and New Haven, $2.75 to Norwich and Middletown, $3.25 to Providence, $3.50 to Hartford, and $3.50 to Philadelphia.

The Eastern markets generally remain steady, and in most cases former quotations were retained. The mills were well supplied with water, had rough stock enough on hand to keep them sawing steadily, and the only trouble complained of was the continued scarcity of vessels to enable owners to ship off the accumulating stock. The Commercial Bulletin of Boston says:

"The market continues active, and the demand good for all kinds. The arrivals have been small for the season. No change in prices, although there is a scarcity of dry lumber, yet the belief that lumber may be lower at Midsummer keeps the market steady.

"The copious rains that have fallen the last week, have had the effect to raise the streams, and should the wet weather continue through the month, lumber will be plenty.

"We hear of large sales of lumber in Canada, the last week, at full prices, and indicate a belief, on the part of buyers, that lumber must advance. We continue quotations as before."

At St. Johns, N. B., prices were steady and uniform, as follows:

A Quebec circular of May 14th, published by J. Bell Forsyth & Co., remarks:

"We have had a dry spring, and we begin to hear of doubts respecting timber and logs getting to market, especially in New Brunswick and the south side of the St. Lawrence generally, but the pitch of the waters in the Ottawa and St. Maurice is good, and it is too early in the season to give away to anxiety, the more especially as there is still snow in the woods and rains may soon be expected, and moreover the stocks wintering were heavy.

"Freights—It is too soon to give any quotations that can be depended on in the absence of arrivals from sea, but several new ships are offering, and some of them have been placed at 29s. for timber to Liverpool."

From the South we hear of much activity in all directions, and the mills that are in a condition to work along steadily have all they can possibly attend to. Prices are strong and buoyant, though, except in a few instances, about former figures are still retained. Our latest quotations are as follows:

At Charleston: River Flooring Boards at $15.00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10.00@$13.00. Mill Timber good $11.00@$12.00; and common to fair $5.00@$7.00. City sawed lumber $15 00@$30.00.

At Wilmington: Timber at $10.00@$12.00 for shipping; $8.50@$9.00 for prime mill; and $5.00@$8.00 for inferior to fair do. Lumber at $10.00@$12.00 for wide boards; $8.00@$10.00 for scantling; $15.00@$17.00 for flooring; and $20 00@$25.00 for West India cargoes.

At Savannah; $8.00@$11.00 per M feet for mill timber, $13.00@$18.00 for small shipping do., and $20.00@$25.00 for large do. Lumber $20.00@$22.00 for ordinary sizes; $23.00@$28.00 for difficult sizes, and $20.00@$23.00 for flooring; $35.00@$40.00 for white pine rough; $50.00@$55.00 for do. dressed; and $30.00@$35.00 for spruce pine scantling.

From the Savannah Republican we obtain the following:

"The lumber market shows more activity than at any period the past winter. All the city mills are full of orders, and enough taken ahead to last well into the summer; while many orders have been offered that could not be taken and finished within the time wanted. Most of the orders are for ship lumber, large and long stuff for the Maine and Boston ship builders, principally, with some few for New York. Prices for long stuff have advanced $2@$3 per M. feet, within the last month. The country mills are generally at work on short stuff, principally deals for South American market, with some bills of girders and boards for the Northern market, at about the same price as before. Prices range for ship stuff, forty to sixty feet in length, $25; twenty-five to fifty feet in length, $22. Girders, deals, and boards $20@$22 as per quality and length.

The shipments from Savannah from Sept. 1, 1867, to May 18, 1868, were as follows:

	Lumber. feet.	Timber. feet.

METALS.—Pig Lead has been a trifle more active, but only in small lots, prices showing no important change. Lead Bars are still quoted at 10c., and Sheet 12c. Tin Plates have been moderately active, the demand coming mainly from consumers. Prices remain within our previous range, but have not as yet become settled. Zinc is firm at very good request, and all desirable lots from store are still selling at 12@12½c.

NAILS.—The demand for cut nails has been fair for small parcels, and on these prices generally remain firm at about 5@5¼c., but wholesale lots do not move off rapidly, and offerings are made at a slight concession; very good brands selling at 4⅞c., and the best 5c. Clinch are in moderate request, and firm at 6⅝@6¾c. The exports for the week were 539 kegs, value $2,865; against 1,061 kegs, value 5,767 last week. There were also shipped to San Francisco 1,000 kegs.

PAINTS AND OILS.—There is a fair amount of sales of paints making from day to day, but mostly in small unimportant lots; and we find both wholesale and retail dealers complaining of falling off in trade. This is attributed to the natural reaction after the first rush of the season has been supplied, and no general weakness in prices is noticeable, though a few parties, with heavy supplies on hand, and anxious to operate, will occasionally grant the buyer more favorable terms than last week. Glue is not active, and on the majority of styles rather heavy, owing principally to an unusually large supply of foreign now on the market. The stock, however, contains very little white glue, and anything of this style offered commands extreme figures. Linseed oil has been in very good demand, and rather improved early in the week, but latterly the turn has favored the buyer, and prices are now somewhat heavy at about $1.15@$1.17 in casks, $1.18@$1.20 in barrels, and very choice, in retail lots, somewhat higher. The exports for the weeks were 195 packages paint valued at $3,405; 15 barrels varnish, value $260; 169 gallons paint oil, value $262; and 167 gallons linseed oil, value $213.

PITCH.—We have no change to advise, the supply and demand being about equal, and holders generally insisting upon previous rates, viz.: $3.25@3.50 for Southern, and $3.50@$3.75 for city, the outside for favorite brands in small parcels. The receipts for the week were 104 barrels. Exports for week, 240 barrels; since January 1st, 1,582 barrels; and for same period last year, 1,501 barrels.

PLASTER OF PARIS.—The receipts of lump have slightly increased, but are still comparatively small, and there is scarcely enough offering to fairly test the market. Our revised quotations show a slight change in buyers' favor, being based upon the most recent sales, though the majority of dealers still call figures nominal. Calcined is unchanged. Receipts, 875 tons.

PLUMBERS' STOCK.—Our city trade is fair, but not driving, though orders from the interior continue to come in pretty freely, and wholesale dealers are kept busy. List prices remain about as before, but the competition between the smaller manufacturers is still brisk, and by judicious "shopping around" purchasers can frequently secure very cheap lots of the goods sought after.

SLATE.—We hear of a continued fair local demand for nearly all descriptions, though the stormy weather of the first week has interfered somewhat with business, and the season, generally, is considered backward. Prices remain steady, and our table of quotations is without alteration. Recent reports from the Pennsylvania quarries are of a more hopeful tenor; operations having become very general, and the prospect good that the production will soon begin to show a fair increase. Wages were not yet fully fixed, some of the men getting the opening rates, viz.: $2.50 per day; others had been increased to $2.75@$3.00, and in a few instances, where new work was commenced, as high as $3.25. In view of an anticipated strike, and the probability that the rate of wages will ultimately be about $3.00 per day, the quarry men generally were pretty stiff on prices, and a few already talked of an advance, though no changes had as yet occurred. The supply of old stock was greatly reduced, and in some sections had entirely disappeared, though very little came in this direction, being mostly consumed in the interior towns. In Vermont the season is very late, and we hear of nothing from that direction worthy of notice. Our receipts are still moderate, but a car-load comes in occasionally, and prevents the market from becoming bare of stock.

STONE.—The general city retail trade is without new features; cutters, generally, having a fair amount of orders on hand, and turning out stock as rapidly as circumstances will admit. Blue Stone is in ample supply in this city for all immediate demands, but the amount of stock on the river is very small, the rain-storms not only having interfered with the free working of the quarries, but so seriously damaged the road as to make transportation to vessel at times an almost utter impossibility. This makes dealers very stiff in their views, and full previous rates are in all cases insisted upon.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The amount of business transacted has been very fair, but at considerable irregularity in prices, the fluctuations at times being very violent and rapid. At the moment there is not much offering, and a firmer feeling is noticeable, at 55¼@56¼ for wholesale lots, and 57@58¼ for retail parcels. Stock about 1,500 bbls. Receipts for the week, 2,053 bbls. Exports for week, 46 bbls.; since January 1, 3,714 bbls., and for same period last year, 7,611 bbls.

TAR.—The supply in first hands is very good, embracing about 5,000 barrels, but contains very few really choice lots, and such being now in good demand, prices remain firm on outside quotations, and in some instances a slight advance was paid. The common sorts continue to sell about as before. We quote at $3.25@$3.87½ for common to prime North County; and $3.87½@$4.12½ for Wilmington. Receipts for the week, 1,784 barrels. Exports for the week, 22 barrels; since January 1st, 3,095 barrels; and for same period last year, 2,917 barrels.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus of May 20th reports as follows:

"The unfavorable weather has somewhat interfered with sales in the district; notwithstanding there has been a fair business done. The receipts of new lumber by canal are still very light, and there has been only a moderate assortment of stock; it is, however, improving weekly. The principal demand has been from New York, Long Island, and New Jersey, with less inquiry from the East than is usual at this season. Coarse lumber has been very active; indeed, as much so as is usual during the fall trade; the receipts from the Champlain canal are worked off on arrival, and the market is firm at our quotations.

"The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals for the second week of May were: of lumber, 7,382,000 feet; of shingles, 325 M.; and of timber, 23,919 c. feet. Of the lumber received 3,974,200 feet were by the Erie, and 3,408,400 feet by the Champlain canal."

As we write the Governor had not signed the tax levy. His delay is regarded with some uneasiness, as, if he fails to approve, the work on the Boulevard will be delayed for a year. There are a great many things in the tax levy which should not be approved, but the misfortune is that the necessary appropriations are mixed up with the improper bestowments of money. It would be well for the Governor to decide one way or the other as soon as possible.

BLOCK TIN OR LEAD PIPE.

THE subject of conveying drinking water from water mains and elsewhere by means of lead pipe has been pretty thoroughly discussed. The fact that the oxygen, of which the purest water contains eighty-eight per cent., and the carbon (which all fresh water, especially that collected from land drainage, contains more or less), act as powerful corrosive agents, the former in oxidizing, and the latter in carbonizing, lead, has been conclusively proven by some of the most eminent analytical chemists, both here and abroad. When oxydization or carbonization takes place, the lead becomes in a manner decomposed, and the water that passes through the pipe takes it up and holds it in solution. It is not very easy for an inexperienced person to detect its presence either by the palate or eye, unless the water be very heavily impregnated, so that a water-bibber may actually be undergoing a systematic course of poisoning without knowing it, equally as injurious as to him who drinks nothing but Bourbon straight. But as there exists a remedy for all diseases that flesh is heir to, if men were skilful enough to find it out, and they have found out a great many, so is there a remedy for lead-poisoning: not in the shape of an antidote to counteract the poison, but an actual preventive; it consists in simply using block-tin in the place of lead for the manufacture of conveyance-pipe for water, a metal that is non-corrosive. The objection to the use of block-tin pipes has hitherto been wholly on account of the costliness of the metal—an objection that never should have weighed as a feather against the health of the community at large. There is no room for this objection now, however, as a pipe can be obtained that has an inner surface of pure block-tin, insuring perfect immunity from the action of any corrosive agent that water may contain, and so ingeniously contrived that it is stronger and more durable, is quite as easily manipulated, and costs about 15 per cent. per foot less, than ordinary lead pipe. Every builder who advocates its use, will constitute himself a public benefactor; every house owner or holder should consider it as one of the most indispensable modern improvements.

VENTILATION FOR THEATRES.—M. Hamelincourt, of Paris, in his design for the ventilation of the new Grand Opera there, provides for separate systems of ventilation in the summer and winter; in the one case admitting the external air direct, in the other heated. In both cases, reports the Building News, the fresh air is procured from an opening at the roof to ensure greater purity, and enters the house between each tier of boxes. The foul air is drawn downwards through openings in the floor, thence through flues which pass outwards to the walls, where they ascend, again converging to a common central shaft over the dome of the house, which has an outlet for the vitiated air under the cupola. The draft in this great central shaft is promoted by the ascent of the heated air nearest the ceiling of the house, which has access to it through perforations. Thus it will be seen that the air is renewed by entering in a horizontal direction in the sides of the house, and going out at the top and bottom, the movement of the air in the pipes, which draw it down through the floor, being created by artificial heating. The success of such a system will depend on the complete but imperceptible changing of the air to meet fully the requirements of the largest audience. It is imperative that the air drawn out by the floor should not contain the products of the combustion of the gas used in lighting the house. A gold medal has been awarded to M. Hamelincourt for his apparatus.

REAL ESTATE NEWS AGENCY.

C. W. SWEET & CO., proprietors of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, have opened, in connection with their paper, an agency, through which they propose to furnish extremely valuable information for the benefit of Real Estate dealers, owners, and operators. Persons about investing in Real Estate, usually wish to be informed on these points:—

1st. Who the actual owner of any piece of property may be, and whether any incumbrance is existing against it.

2d. What the actual value of said property was at the last sale.

3d. What price the property adjacent and within same block has sold for within the past few years.

4th. An intelligent, unbiased estimate of the value of the property at the present time; the future prospects of the same; whether there are likely to be any improvements, and of what kind, in the street where property is located; and such other information as will be likely to affect the value of said property.

Real Estate dealers, will at once see the immense value of the class of information we propose to furnish, particularly to those who now buy in the dark without any reliable data to guide them, but who, by means of our agency, will have every light which official records, transcripts of sales, etc., can furnish. We have peculiar facilities for furnishing this class of information, having in our possession maps, books, etc., gotten up exclusively by us, which contain every piece of property in New York and Kings counties, with the names of owners, and other information accessible to no other firm or persons in the U. S.

Titles searched, and careful abstracts made at the lowest prices. This work will be done accurately and cheaply for regular subscribers.

THROUGH a mistake, some very poor paper was used on a portion of our edition last week; and, as a consequence, there has been some complaint. As we take a very natural pride in the appearance of the RECORD, this accident was very mortifying to us. We have had a number of extra copies printed, and we will willingly give them, without extra charge, to subscribers upon application at the office or to our carriers. As we have sold nearly a thousand bound files, there must be more than that number of the RECORD preserved for reference; and as it is desirable that all the copies should be good ones, those who keep such files should see to to it, and get a good copy of last week's paper. We have bought extra fine paper for our future editions.

HOW STEAM ROADS AFFECT CITIES.

THE high price paid for real estate in the suburbs of New York, within a radius of say fifty miles, shows that capitalists are beginning to realize the effect which steam railways will in time have upon the distribution of population. It was long before the introduction of steam that Thomas Jefferson said, "great cities are sores upon the body politic." He alluded, of course, to the over-crowding, and consequent disease and misery, of large populations confined to a limited area, and in whom there were great contrasts of wealth and condition. It was the impossibility of locomotion for any great distance which has filled all the old cities of Europe with houses eight and ten stories high. When a large population is confined to a limited space of land, the only thing to be done is to add story to story to accommodote a larger and still larger number of people. By the force of habit great, high houses are still being erected in the cities of the old world—notably in Paris, under the direct command of the Emperor; yet it is as plain as day that the need which called these huge caravansaries into being exists no longer. The steam horse has rendered vast spaces of land available for the residence of citizens, and in ten years time over-crowding of people in any civilized centre of population will be quite out of the question. There is yet a good deal to be done in the way of multiplying steam roads and cheapening fares, but when this is accomplished there is an end of tenement houses, and great cities will distribute their populations over hundreds of square miles, where there will be ample room and verge enough for every family to have its own home, and sit under its own vine and fig tree.

Hence almost unconsciously capitalists have directed their attention to property in the neighborhood of large cities, which now bears a price apparently though not really out of all proportion to its real value. In a few years new roads will be opened exclusively for local traffic, and districts now apparently far removed from hope of improvement, will be made available for healthful residences. Railroads, then, lead to two apparently very different results. (1) They concentrate business in great centres of trade, and (2) They scatter the population of large cities. The first effect was the first manifested when railroads were originally constructed. They aimed merely to unite distant centres of trade: the result has been the enormous growth of population in the great cities. One of the most marked phenomena of modern times is the increase of the urban at the expense of the suburban population; and this tendency is still at work. We have entered upon an era of mighty cities.

But now a new effect is growing out of the use of steam. It is being employed to disperse population as well as to concentrate trade. Villages, towns, nay, cities, such as would have been impossible twenty years ago, are now growing up in the neighborhood of all large centres of population. Look at Newark, Elizabeth, Rahway, Paterson, Mount Vernon, New Rochelle, Yonkers, and the scores of other places which now are filled with people whose business is here in New York.

Our advice to the poor as well as the moderately well off, would be to secure a lot of ground almost anywhere within thirty miles of the City Hall. The use of steam for local traffic is as yet in its infancy. Within fifteen years' time this city will be honeycombed with tunnel and Arcade roads, in which steam will be used, and connecting with branch roads, that will make immense areas of land available for building purposes.

No one can miss it who buys in a good location in Westchester County, or the outskirts of Brooklyn, or anywhere on the Jersey shore. There is more money to be made in buying real property to-day, than at any period in the history of the country.

CHICAGO expects to build 7000 dwellings next year.

WE commence this week a record which will be of very great use to property owners in this city. It is a list of all the resolutions, ordinances, and bills before the Common Council which in any way affect real property. All the propositions for new mains, sewers, for paving and grading streets, for pavement, curbing, guttering, and the like, will be found here recorded. Up to this time there was no publication which could inform property holders of the proposed action of the Common Council upon matters affecting their private and personal interests. Hereafter the readers of the RECORD, at least, can keep posted. If schemes are afoot which are not really needed, our readers can take measures in time to prevent their passage. In any event, these bills affecting their property cannot pass without their knowledge. As these improvements are decided upon, we will also announce the fact.

AN interesting suit is about to be brought by a Mr. David Groesbeck against the corporation of Trinity Church, involving the title to a large tract of land in this city, formerly known as the "King's Farm Garden," now held by the above named corporation.

The point made by Mr. Groesbeck, in a communication addressed to the city authorities, requesting them to take the necessary steps to guard the right of the city in the property, is, "that the charter of Trinity Church is in abeyance, and the present holders of the property are successors of Trustees appointed as the result of a war measure in 1784, and as a measure of preserving the peace of the city, and of the nature of an act of reconstruction, unconstitutional and only temporary in its nature, arising from the necessities of the case in order that the rights of all parties might be preserved."

It is therefore a case of great importance to those who are holding long leases from the Trinity Church Corporation, and have in consequence expended large sums of money in improving the property.

It is possible, however, that like many cases of this gigantic proportion, it will drag its slow length along in our Courts through successive generations, and no one now living will see the end of it.

Ninety-nine year lessees may therefore rest their souls in peace, for no harm will come to them.

OVER thirty-one thousand acres of land have been taken up by actual settlers in the St. Peter's district, Minnesota, the past month.

It seems after all that the Third Av. R. R. Co. has got the best of our legislators, for they have laid down their tracks in Printing House Square. In reply to a resolution of inquiry on the part of the Common Council, by what authority it was done, the Street Commissioner says that under a resolution of the Common Council, of March 28, 1864, passed over the Mayor's veto, it is in his power to permit the Third Av. R. R. Co. to lay tracks, turn out switches, not only in Printing House Square, but also in Chambers st. to Broadway, in Tryon Row, through 130th st. to 4th av., at 14th st. and 5th av. to 7th st. The plea of "better accommodating the public," on which this law was passed and extraordinary power given to the Street Commissioner, would be a good one if it were really true, and if the interests of the public were really consulted.

It is somewhat strange, however, that this discovery should have been made at this late day, for surely "better accommodations" have been needed ever since the date of the passage of this resolution, as much as now.

A RESOLUTION is before the Common Council directing the New York and Harlem Rail Road Company to erect substantial iron bridges over the deep cuts across 4th av., at the intersection of 69th, 70th, 71st, and 85th sts.

This measure should not be delayed a day; and it should also be made to include all streets between each end of the cut that are now opened across 4th avenue.

This has long been demanded by the people living in the vicinity of Yorkville, as the want of these bridges has caused serious inconvenience, and has resulted disastrously sometimes. Let the work go speedily on.

DOMESTIC ITEMS.

THE lumber shipped from the port of Oswego from the opening of navigation to the 12th instant was 15,667,442 feet.

MR. MOORE, of Saux Centre, Minnesota, on Monday received a raft sawed in the Todd county pineries, containing 2,000,000 feet of heavy lumber, 1,300,000 shingles, and 550,000 lath. It was about 1,200 feet long and 200 feet wide.

THE Clarion, Pa., Banner says: In the absence of the proprietor, in consequence of disability, the employees of J. S. Cook & Co., at the mouth of Mill Creek, commenced a raft of 50,000 feet of boards on Friday, May 8th, sawed, dried and rafted the same, making the grubs in the woods for one-half of it, finished it at ten o'clock on Saturday, and at sunset the same day, tied it up at the mouth of Clarion.

TWO saws in the mill of Burnham, Burrows & Eaton, at Saginaw city, Mich., in one day, recently, cut 65,000 shingles—the process including the taking of logs from the boom, and the packing of the finished shingles. This is the largest day's work ever done on the river.

IN Springfield, Ohio, it is said, four hundred new dwellings will be built this year, to accommodate the increasing population drawn thither by manufacturing business.

EVERY sixteenth and thirty-sixth section of land in Kansas are devoted to school purposes, making about 3,000,000 acres in the State.

WE hav seen it stated that the value of new buiidings to be erected this yeas in Boston would amount to nearly fifteen millions of dollars. This immense sum is about the total valuation of Salem, Mass., in real and personal estate, and more than one half of that of Portland, Me. We suppose this building will be apportioned about as follows, viz., City Proper $12,500,000, other wards $2,500,000.

The city proper might be divided as follows;

Governmeut and city buildings such as Post-Office, school-houses, Bureau of Charities, hotels, station and engine houses; charitable institutions, churches, &c.,	$2,500,000
500 Dwelling houses, average $10,000, brick	5,000,000
100 Dwellin9 houses, average $20,000, partly of stone	2,000,000
100 Dwelling houses, averaging 30,000 brick and stone	3,000,000
	$12,500,000

These figures may be considered large but the end of the year will show if they are. It may be thought that 500 dwellings at $10,000 are large figures, but as one cross street in Ward Eleven has alone one tenth of this number of new houses, the fiive hundred may be reached before the season closes. Of the twenty and thirty thousand dollar houses probably one half of each number is now consracted for. Even with one thousand new dwelling houses of all classes and moterials, erected in the limits of Boston this year, we should only paovide for an increase of eight or ten thousand people, not to make any allowances for the scores of families that have to build or buy houses to replace theis old ones taken for business purposes.

But a year or two at the farthest will elapse before Tremont staeet, from School to Boylston street, will not contain a single entire dwelling house, but will all be devoted to business, and the beautiful Tremont street mall of the Common be almost as much of a worn thoroughfare as the Park opposite the Astor House, New York, is now. The splendid avenues of Clarendon, Dartmouth, Berkely, St. James, Newbury, and Boylston streets, and Columbus aveue, &c., will accommodate all of the old residents, and scores and hundreds of others, too, for the streets running west and south can ba extended to Brookline and to Boston Highlands. If, in addition to the large amount of building this year, the city commences its great work of fillinfi the Churcstreet district, and the widening of Tremont street beyond Boylston, our mechanics and and artisans connec ed with the building interests will have full employment.

THE Allen estate in Worcester, Mass., which was sold in November, 1865, at prices varying from seventy-three to eighty cents a foot, was disposed of at auction on Friday, for from $2 10 to $2 31 a foot, showing a rise in value of two hundred and eighty-eight per cent.

A GENTLEMAN of Boston has offered to build $15,000 worth of tenement houses in Westboro', Mass., if the citizens will give him land "at a reasonable price."

ALL ABOUT STREETS.

Below we give in a condensed and convenient shape, a list of all bills involving an appropriation of money, and relating to the streets, introduced and now pending before the Common Council of New York.

This will be found invaluable to owners of property and others interested in the great and numerous improvements going on in our city.

We will keep this list perfect, and correct it from week to week, and as the bills become laws, will publish them.

BILLS REPEALED.

The Mayor has signed the act repealing all ordinances for paving streets with Belgian pavement. It is understood that the reason of this is in consequence of a coalition between the contractors and the pavers to put up the price so as to amount to quite as much as it costs for the wooden pavement.

Those below named were before the Common Council unacted on, and are supposed to be included in the act of repeal.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

There is every prospect that this summer will be one of the most active ever known in the annals of real estate. An impetus has been given to speculation, not only in the city, but in the suburbs, environs, and adjacent towns and villages, in Westchester County, Long Island, and New Jersey. In June several excursion trains will take purchasers to the sales of Westchester property, and that at Rutherford Park, comprising nearly 3,000 city lots, and Johnson & Miller on the 9th of June, have a large sale of Flatbush avenue property, comprising 700 city lots. Large tracts will also be disposed of in various parts of the State and Long Island. There are still a number of houses to rent with little prospect of finding tenants till the fall; these are principally first-class expensive dwellings or furnished houses, which are a perfect drug in the market. Among the novelties of the past season is the revival of the contract system which received such a fatal blow in 1860, on the commencement of the war, when property decreased so suddenly in value. The modus operandi pursued is that of buying a large tract on a contract of ninety or more days, and depositing as security with the owner about 5 per cent. of the purchase money. This land is then mapped out and sold under the hammer at the salesrooms. The Inwood property recently sold by Bleecker was a large tract of land purchased in this manner by speculators, situated about a half a mile from McCombs' Dam, and lying on both sides of Central avenue. The operators, it is rumored, netted about $40,000 by this transaction; it brought on an average $400 per lot. This way of manipulating property tends greatly to develop the district in which it is located, as the farmers are not sufficiently educated up to the present prices, nor are they sufficiently courageous to enter the field of speculation on so large a scale as is essential to success. The opening of Central avenue in this part of Westchester County causes considerable excitement among the inhabitants, who seem inclined to make it a political question; those against it are principally the residents of Yonkers, who feel aggrieved at the prospect of being taxed for improvements that are only in the vicinity, forgetting that whatever tends to develop the neighborhood must have a beneficial effect on the locality itself.

A number of new buildings are in the course of erection in various parts of the city, which are noticeable, principally from the fact that wood in their construction seems to be avoided as much as possible and architectural iron substituted. The Novelty Iron Works have just entered on this new branch, and are making much advance in the introduction both of interior and exterior application of iron to structures. Among the items of gossip is the notification of Mr. Groesbeck to the Common Council that an action is on the eve of commencement for the recovery of some property known as the King's Garden and Farm, in which he states the city has an interest. To gain an idea of the influence Central Park has brought to bear on the value of the property surrounding it, three wards bounding it have increased taxable valuation in 11 years of more than $75,000,000.

Reports of transactions from all over the Union are very favorable. The Gazette of Taunton, Mass., notes the rise in real estate as evidence of the substantial growth of that city during the last twenty years. Real estate near the centre, which twenty years ago sold from $5 to $25 per foot, now commands four times those amounts. Lots that were then in the market for $100 to $500 cannot now be bought at less than from $500 to $2,000, and estates that were estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000 now command $5,000 to $10,000.

The Colorado Herald says that with the assistance of the merchants of Cheyenne, Mr. Richmond proposes to finish George Francis Train's monster hotel, the site of which has been excavated and a firm substantial stone basement built.

On Wednesday evening a well attended meeting of the West Side Association was held, which represented a capital of $50,000,000, to hear the report of the Executive Committee, the substance of which was as following: The rate of 2½ per cent. compensation to the collector of assessments in the widening of Sixth avenue, was considered excessive and onerous, and should be reduced. The necessity is bearing urgently for proper drainage and sewerage in the upper portion of the city, and an interview had been held on the subject with the officers in charge of the Bureau of Sewers in the Croton Aqueduct Department. The result of this conference is to place deep sewers at One Hundred and Tenth street, to run to the East River; in Harlem Lane, on St. Nicholas avenue, and also in the Sixth and Seventh avenues, with side drains. The report then refers in terms of commendation to the action of the Central Park Commissioners, in laying out the west side area, and providing for the early opening of the streets and avenues therein. It closes by noticing the bills introduced at the last Legislature providing for underground railways.

SALES.

The Exchange Salesrooms during the latter part of last week were comparatively deserted, and the unfavorable weather put a veto on many contemplated sales. This prolonged dark and damp spell is not conducive to the ready sale of out of town property, and the only marvel is that an auctioneer has been at all successful during the current month, which has not as yet brought forth more than three dry days.

On Tuesday and Wednesday there was quite a refreshing enthusiasm displayed, and the Salesrooms presented an animated appearance, which recalled the days when the season was at its heighth. As good prices as were expected were obtained for country lands. It is observable that the generality of those seeking residences prefer Brooklyn to New York, although the disadvantages of the ferry deter many from making it their choice; in anticipation of contemplated improvements, such as the East River bridge, tunnel, &c., many are making permanent investments. In a few weeks, numerous building sites on the lines of the railroads connecting the city with its suburbs will be offered in the market. The following are the week's transactions up to the day of publication.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 20.—By A. J. BLEECKER & Co.—The lot, 145x31 feet, on the south-east corner of Huguenot and Harrison sts., in the village of New Rochelle, Westchester County, with house, 31x12 and 25 feet, barn 30x22 feet, and sheds, 30x40 feet, were purchased by Hugh Rourke for $2,950; $1,000 remains on mortgage. Eight lots on Hancock street, near Yates avenue, 20x100, each $375; M. Swallow.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY SALES.—Judge Scrugham's residence at Yonkers sold for $33,000. The Harlem Bridge, Morrisania and Fordham Railroad Company have sold the lot 25x100 feet, at the intersection of the Southern Boulevard and Boston Road, in Mott Haven, to Capt. Bowen, a wealthy real estate dealer of Mott Haven, for $13,150. J M. Beck has sold 300 feet front by 060 feet deep, on Carr avenue, Morrisania, to the Ebbing Brothers of New York, for $40,000.

LONG ISLAND SALES.—Hunters Point—Orange Judd, Esq., of The American Agriculturist, has recently purchased the north half of the several blocks from the East River to Jackson ave., and one half of each block thence to Dutch Kills, for $104,000. About 30 feet of this property will be used for the Woodside Railroad, and the balance reserved for building lots. Thomas Clapham has commenced the erection of a large house of Connecticut bluestone, with Ohio stone trimmings, on the 21 acres of land which he recently purchased of Mr. Stephen Taber, near Glen Cove. The land cost $21,000. The Ketcham place at the intersection of Main and Prospect sts., Huntington, L. I., has been sold for $7,300. Daniel's Island, one sixteenth of an acre, has been purchased for $1,500 by the Glen Cove Gas Works.

NEW JERSEY SALES.—At Rutherford Park there have been some large sales of lots for first class residences though there is a general disposition to avoid the meadows and retreat further up the road, near the market towns. Buyers have examined the suburbs about Passaic Village, and Acquacknock Township sales are very frequent. Clifton lands are selling for villa sites to large buyers, and are held at a high figure. Crowds daily visit the Lake View lands in connection with the Cemetry, which is beautifully situated on Dundee Lake, a recent enactment having driven all new cemeteries out of the city of Paterson. The cemetery is under private management, and lots sell for from $100 to $200. The Paterson and Newark Railway has reached the Erie Railway, and is promised to be finished by the 1st of August. The agent of the Lynch Farm Property near Weasel recommends a lake to be formed on the marshes. The Pompton Railway has received an impetus from the recent enactment authorizing a new bridge across the Passaic connecting with the Erie Road. The excitement, this week and last, among property holders near the proposed sites has been considerable, and large sums of money are being offered to gain positions. Property holders on the opposite side of Paterson have increased the agitation by aiding to prevent its location near newly available property. There is considerable combination against the new Highland Park, and an attempt has been made to gain possession of it by other parties; but there have been several negotiations for villa sites under the new regime, and the prices, though moderately low, have advanced. Twenty acres of land in Bergen County, opposite Riverside, purchased three years ago for $400 an acre, are under negotiation for $1,000. The city is rapidly growing northward, and the heights are being improved and occupied. Jaques of No. 208 Broadway has sold 30 acres near Somerville N. J., owned by Abraham Ackerman, to Gilbert Randolph of this city for $4,000; also 46 acres near Ramsay, Bergen County, owned by Mr. Tallman, to Mr. Thompson of this city for $3,500. The Riverside Company in Passaic, N. J., has made a purchase of Peter Bothbyl of 6 87-100 acres for $2,061. A. D. Mellick, jr., & Bros. sold at Centreville, N. J., for the Hudson County Land Inprovement Company, an unimproved plot on Maple ave., 106x200 feet, to Thos. L. Lacey of Jersey City for $5,114 40.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—Business has continued good throughout the week, and the receipts from day to day have found a rapid sale. Prices for all the common grades have ruled very strong at full previous figures on pale, and at a trifling advance on North River hard, few, if any lots of the latter now selling below $10 50, and some of the best running up as high as $13 50 per M. A few loads of the new crop have come down the river, but owing to the stormy weather which prevailed during the process of manufacture there were of a rough and undesirable quality. In fact the miserable and unsettled condition of the weather during the past month is the main cause of the prevailing state of affairs in the brick market, the production having been delayed so long beyond the time calculated upon, that the old stock, though large enough early in the spring to lead to the hopes of an early reduction in rates, has now become almost entirely exhausted, and sellers have gained a great advantage. The yards, however, are now pretty much all prepared to work to their full capacity, and ten days or two weeks of steady clear weather would so materially increase the supply as to check any further advance if it did not cause a decline. Jersey hards are still out of market, though some are expected next week. Fronts, both Croton and Philadelphia, are received in quantities about equaled by the demand, and prices remain steady. The shipments are 59,827 to New Granada.

CEMENT.—This market is without important alteration; the rate for Rosendale remaining at $.75 per bbl., and local dealers operating freely. The shipping demand is good, particularly from the Southern coast, but there is is not much going forward at present, owing to a temporary scarcity of freight room. During the week 470 bbls. have been exported, and 500 sent to San Francisco.

DOORS, SASH, AND BLINDS.—The general inquiry continues very good, and manufacturers are turning out stock freely. Full previous rates are current, and pretty firm, in view of the comparatively high cost of labor and material; but after the first flush of spring trade is over buyers look for rather easier terms.

FOREIGN WOODS.—The wholesale market is very dull, and only few large parcels have changed hands, but the jobbing trade continues fair, and nearly all kinds are selling to some extent. No changes are made in the general range of quotations. The receipts have been as follows: 159 logs Cedar from Trinidad, Cuba; 328 do. from Fernandina; 152 do. from Nuevitas; 207 do. and 103 spars Lance wood from Mansanilla. The only lot reported for export was 60 logs Mahogany to Liverpool, valued at $1500. To San Francisco 66 pieces Lignumvitæ were forwarded.

GLASS.—The market for French window glass continues very active, and the stock is daily growing smaller, some importers being almost entirely sold out, and others refusing to execute large orders, but dealing their supplies out a little to this one and a little to another, in order to serve all as nearly alike as possible. The demand comes from all parts of the country, and even Boston dealers have written, begging for enough stock to enable them to fill pressing orders until cargoes unexpectedly delayed shall have have come to hand. The sizes most sought after, and in lightest supply, are 14 to 16-inch, but with the exception of the extremes of small and large measures, all kinds are selling well. Prices remain firm, and on desirable grades rather buoyant, but aside from some slight reduction in the rates of discount, sellers as yet have gained no important advantages.

HAIR.—There is nothing new to advise in this market, the supply and demand being about equal, and prices showing no essential variation.

HARDWARE.—While all other styles have become quite dull, builders' hardware is still reported in good demand, and generally at full prices. There is occasionally some shading in buyers' favor however, particularly when dealers are anxious to work off undesirable goods, or odd lots of favorite manufacture.

LABOR.—No strikes have taken place since our last, and the workmen as a general thing appear unwilling to ask for any further, advance at the moment. There is a brisk demand for labor, in the country towns, and the high prices paid is attracting a large number of men from the city. The most important movement of the week was made by the Operative Plasterers at a large meeting on Tuesday, evening last. According to the call, the object of the meeting was to consider the propriety of rescinding section 2 of article 14 of the by-laws of the society.

The following resolution was offered:—

That the law be hereby repealed that prevents members of the society from working for boss masons with bricklayers.

A lengthy discussion took place, pro and con, some favoring a postponement of action until after the meeting of the Plasterers' Convention, which takes place in July, while the majority seemed to urge an immediate repeal, principally on the ground, that the plan of preventing the men from working with bricklayers had undergone a fair trial for a year, and the result was that this society had taken from their members from twenty-five to fifty cents per day, and given it to the bricklayers. A year ago there were from fifty to sixty bricklayers working at plastering in the city. Now there were over three hundred who were doing the jobs that properly belonged to plasterers, and members of the society were without employment.

The vote when taken stood 259 in the affirmative, and 75 in the negative, and the resolution was declared adopted having received the vote of two-thirds of the members present.

LATH.—Buyers and sellers still remain very wide apart in their views, and the business during the past week has been so small as to be unworthy of record. The stock in the hands of receivers remains about as before, and the majority say they intend keeping it all piled out and of adding such little lots as may arrive until $3 50 per M., at least, is obtained. The arrivals here have been moderate and not many are expected, millers claiming that at the ruling rate for laths they have no margin, and that lumber is the most profitable shipment. The stocks in the hands of dealers have become much reduced, and many are anxious to replenish; but as they refuse to pay above $3 25 per M., very few are enabled to make contracts. The present position of affairs indicates an early settlement of the difficulty, and we await the result with interest. In the meantime prices must be considered as entirely nominal.

LIME.—There has been no arrivals of Rockland during the week, and with stock afloat entirely disposed of, the market has been quite and nominal, at $1 10 per bbl. for common, and $2 00 for lump. In the meantime a brisk retail demand is working off the supply in the hands of dealers, and as soon as cargoes begin to come forward some improvement in rates is looked for. North River is less plenty, and all received finds a quick sale at the above rates.

LUMBER.—Our city trade from the yards has been good throughout the week, and is becoming more general, there being very few if any dealers without a fair amount of business on hand, particularly when anything like clear weather prevails. As far as our observation goes, and the inquiries made have been thorough, no change in prices can be quoted as yet, but in some quarters there is a less confident tone noticeable in regard to the future, and we understand the same feeling is to be found in the Albany market. This is owing in a great measure to the unexpected large number of logs brought down the streams in all parts of West and East by the late freshets, from which it is thought the mills will be enabled to produce a supply fully equal to, if not exceeding all probable demands. The receipts are slowly increasing and contain more desirable stock some via Erie Canal being well and thoroughly seasoned, though there is not an abundance by any means. The largest amounts to hand as yet have come down the Northern Canal, and these continue green, having in most cases been run direct from the mills to the boats. For black walnut there is a good and rather increasing demand not only from cabinet makers, but from carpenters and builders, who find this style of wood becoming a great favorite for house work and for fitting out offices, counting rooms, &c. The first cargo of walnut through this Season, came down the river during the past week, and is of very fine quality. Eastern spruce is still in very active demand from our local trade, everything finding ready sale upon arrival even the poorest specifications being willingly taken by buyers in their anxiety to obtain stock. The receipts have been very small, and the little now known to be on the way is pretty much all sold ahead. Prices remain nominally as before as no sales have been made at above $22 00; but some very high bids are spoken of, mostly made by parties who had contracts to fill and who were absolutely suffering for want of lumber. At present the market certainly has a very strong look, but how long this will continue we cannot venture to predict, as the amount forwarded from the East and the rapidity of its arrival, here will be the pivot upon which the advantage will work; and both buyers and sellers are each hopeful that the turn will be in their favor. Southern pine is scarce and several cargoes could be quicyly sold were they here. The tendeney of rates is still upward and, the general quotation now given is $32 00@35 00, though, with millers stiff at $22 00, and freights to New York costing $12 00@13 00 per M, it will be seen that at the above rates receivers have no margin for profit. The few lots recently received were to fill contracts made early in the season, and in most cases at what would now be considered very low rates. Southern Pitch Pine timber is quoted at 38@42c. per foot; some very desirable lots a trifle higher. The export demand has been moderate, and the amount going out is much smaller. Shippers complain of the continued depression in all the foreign markets, and find very little encouragement in forwarding stock except in the way of filling up spare freight room. We note the engagement, however, of a brig to load with lumber to Buenos Ayres at $20 00; per M. The principal sales reported since our last embrace about 300,000 feet eastern spruce at $20 00@$22 00, 500,000 feet white pine boards at $28 00@$30 00, mostly at the inside rate; and 700,000 feet Southern pine at $32 00.

The only shipments besides the above were 1,485 pieces of plank to San Francisco; 14,930 staves to do.; 10,000 staves to Great Britain; 17,281 do. to Continent; and 21,600 to West Indies. The receipts embrace only 450 pieces piling from Shulee, N. S.; 12,454 feet of boards; 87,000 pickets, and 72,000 laths from St. Johns, N. B., and 166,600 shingles from Newberne, N. C.

The supply at Buffalo has been somewhat reduced, shippers having rushed off all possible, while freights were low; and now that transportation is less freely offered and has obtained a more settled basis, there will be less anxiety to forward stock. The published accounts at the West this week are meagre, but the few which we receive, together with private information, all tend to confirm the statements printed in this column, during the past two or three weeks, to the effect that freshets were bringing down an immense number of logs, and that nearly all the streams, both large and small, would be pretty thoroughly cleared out. From present indications it would appear that nothing but a drought is likely to prevent the mills from running to the full extent of their abilities throughout the season, and that the estimates of production made during the month of April are likely to fall considerably short of the mark.

The Chicago reports represent the market as rather firmer, though at a rather lower range of prices than last week. Strips were most sought after at latest dates, though buyers generally were enabled to satisfy their wants, and as a general thing the supply rather exceeded the demand. The cargo sales reported embraced a lot of hemlock at $10; several parcels of coarse joist, timber, &c., at $11.25@$11.50; scantling and joist at $12.00 of very good quality; $13.00@$14.50 for boards and strips; and $15.00@$16.00 for mixed cargoes, but mostly boards. The Toledo market remains steady and uniform on all desirable qualities, and a good fair business was doing, both with the local and shipping trade. Prices reported were as follows:

ROUGH LUMBER.—Clear, $50; Second Clear, $45; Box $40; Stock Boards $20@$22; Common Boards, $16; Cull Boards, $11; Fencing, $17; Cull Fencing, $11; Common Strips, $30; Clear and Second Strips, $45; Joists, Scantling and Timber, 18 feet and under, $16; do. Cull, 20 to 24 feet, $19@22; Cull Joist, $10.

Cedar posts, 18c.; Lath, $3.00; A 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $6; No. 1, 18-inch Sawed Shingle, $5.50; No. 1, 18-inch Shaved Shingle, $7,

DRESSED LUMBER.—Clear and Second Flooring, $40; Common Flooring, $30; Common Siding, $17; Clear and Second Siding, $25; Stock Boards, $24; Common Boards, $18; Oval Batts, $35.

At Milwaukie a rather better trade was reported, and at the reduction made last week the market at latest dates was steady. Quotations as follows:

Clear Plank, $50@52 50; Second Clear Plank, $45@49; Clear Boards, $48; Second Boards, $40; Third Boards (box), $30; Second Flooring, dressed, $40; Common Flooring, dressed, $30; Second Siding, dressed, $27; Common Siding, dressed, $22; Stock Boards, $18; Common Boards, $16; Fencing, $17; Joist and Scantling under 20 feet, $14.50@16; Joist and Scantling, 20 feet or over, $20@25; Lath, per 1000 feet, $6.50@7.00; Shingles, best sawed, $4.50 @4.75; Posts, $12.50@30.00; Pickets, $12.00@$16; Sawed Timber, $20@$30.

A few cargoes strips and scantlings sold at $13.00@14.00.

Cincinnati advices still speak of considerable irregularity on green lumber, with not much business doing; but seasoned stock was in demand and steady.

The latest reported yard rates were as follows: Clear white pine $50.00@$65.00 per M.; Hemlock boards and joists $18.00@$20.00 per M.; Pine joists and timber $25.00@$27.50; Flooring $40.00@$65.00; and Siding $27.00@$30.00. Hard lumber was quoted as follows:—Oak $17.00@$20.00 per M.; Ash $20.00@23.00 per M; Cherry $28.00@30.00 do.; Walnut $25.00@30.00 do.; and Poplar $22.00@$23.00. Soft Pine at $22.00@25.00 per M.

The St. Paul prices are as follows:

In yard, $14.00@$16.00 for 2d and 1st Common Boards; $20.00@$22.00 for stock boards; $25.00@$30.00 for wagon box boards; $16,00 for joist and dimension, 18 feet and under; $20.00@$24.00 for do., 20 to 30 feet; $33.05 for 1st flooring, $28.00 for 2d do.: $25.00@$30.00 for rough flooring; $40.00@$50.00 for 1st clear; and $35.00@$45.00 for second do.

The Minneapolis market is well supplied, and not unusually active. Prices remained about as before, but were without much strength. We quote:

The Taylor's Falls, Minn., Reporter says that 30,000,000 feet of logs were sluiced at Snake River within a week.

The following appears in the Wabasha Herald:

"David Cratt left for down river early in the week with the largest raft ever floated from or past Wabasha. It contained twelve strings fifteen cribs long, or a total of one hundred and eighty cribs, which contained one and one-quarter million feet of lumber, besides one and one-half million top load. Beat it who can."

The Stillwater (Minn.) Republican of the 19th inst. says:

"Nine rafts have been sent forward, containing six million four hundred thousand, of which Hersey, Staples, & Co. sent three, D. Cover four, Anderson, Peevey & Co. one, and Schulenburg & Co. one lumber raft containing two million feet, which is the largest raft ever floated down the river.

The market was steady at $10.00@$12.00 for logs loose; $12.00@$15.00 for do. rafted; $14.00@$16.00 for Common Boards; $16.00@$18.00 for fencing; $20.00 for stock boards; $25.00 for wagon box boards; $12.00 for sheathing; and $9.00 for culls. Joist and dimensions, 20 feet and under, $16.00@$17.00; 22@24 feet $18.00$19.00; and 26@30 feet $19.00@21.00. Clear stuff $35.00@$40.00, and $50.00, the latter for 1¼@1½@2 inch.

The Republican also contains the following:

"A jam of logs in the Dalles, containing fifteen million feet, threatened to be serious, but has yielded, and the St. Croix river is now filled with logs. The drives are coming in rapidly at Taylor's Falls."

A correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, writing from Alpena, Mich., after giving a description of the place which is situated at the mouth of Thunder Bay River, about 195 miles north and 10 miles east of Detroit, proceeds as follows:

"The main resources of Alpena are, of course, pine timber, coming by course of the river tributaries from the interior, which makes 470 miles of log running streams, and this without ditching, widening, or any of the devices adopted to extend or improve streams as in older lumbering districts. The improvements in the lumber manufacturing business are taking place as rapidly as could be expected, and the village of Alpena, now the county seat of Alpena county, contains a population of 2,600 inhabitants."

There are thirteen saw and shingle mills in the town, the aggregate production of which was as follows during the season of 1867.

Total number pieces of lath	18,176,050
Total number shingles	13,067,000
Total number of pickets	200,000

The amount of logs cut here last winter are shown as follows:

E. Harrington	10,661,524
T. Luce & Co	8,225,000
Eliver & Robinson (Ossineke)	7,335,206
B. H. Campbell & Co	6,300,000
S. M. Noxon	4,472,985
A. R. Richardson	4,087,114
Cicero & Jones	3,500,000
J. K. Lockwood	1,260,000
J. S. Minor	2,160,000
J. Trowbridge & Bros	1,160,000
Daniel Carter	105,780
Grand Total	49,340,609
Amount got in last year	51,579,175
Decrease	2,238,366

There are also in operation in this place two large planing mills, sash, door and blind manufactory, which turns out excellent work.

There has been rather a quiet state of affairs at Troy during the past week, the unpleasant weather and very high condition of the river rendering carting, shipping, &c., almost out of the question, and of course greatly checking business. The sales thus far have been below the average of 1867, but dealers generally considered the prospect as encouraging, and remained very firm. The few buyers in the market seemed to direct their attention principally to coarse lumber and shingles, but of the latter there will be plenty for all present demand, the supply being considerably in excess of the amount usually on hand at this season. Good dry pine lumber and boards were scarce and rather buoyant. Rates about the same as at Albany.

Freights on soft wood to New York $1.50 per M. feet, Hartford $3.25; New Haven and Bridgeport $2.25; Norwich and Middletown $2.75; Providence and Fall River $3; Baltimore $5; Washington $4; Philadelphia $3.50; Richmond $5; Boston $4, and add about $1 per M feet for hard wood.

The Eastern markets continue active, and prices in most cases very steady and uniform. At the mills business was driving along very lively, and will probably continue so while the water holds out, pretty much all the logs having come down, and the amount of stock now awaiting cutting being much larger than was anticipated. Freights were high and scarce, though rather more vessels were offering than last week. The following items appear in the Portland (Me.) Press of May 25th:

The Androscoggin river reached its highest point Friday morning, rising several feet last night. The Journal says the lumbermen are coming on "swimmingly" with their drives of logs.

The Mechanic Falls Herald says the rivers and brooks have risen up very high and a great deal of damage has been done to the roads.

The Saco Courier says Saco river is on the rampage, which is not to be wondered at considering the recent water-fall, which far surpasses anything that the most ambitious belle ever attempted. Considerable anxiety has been felt by our lumber merchants about the boom, in which were more logs by several acres than were ever seen there before. Many logs have shot over and under the boom, and have lodged against the bridges. Probably about two thousand have gone to sea; but as the water has undoubtedly reached its highest point, it is hoped that no further damage will be done.

A Boston report says:

The lumber market continues active at full prices, and stocks are being rapidly reduced. The demand is both for consumption and export, and builders in Boston and vicinity are taking good-sized lots.

The receipts thus far have been light, and the stocks of old lumber remaining at Eastern and Northern shipping points are nearly exhausted. Large orders have been placed for the new cut. But, until the late plentiful rains, manufacturing operations have been in abeyance, and the supply of logs could not be floated down to the mills. There is now a better prospect for the trade, and new lumber, to replenish the depleted stocks of dealers and shippers, will soon be coming forward quite freely.

The St. Johns (N. B.) Prices Current, of May 15th, reports a few changes in freights as follows:

The transactions in West India freights have been few—rates firm. We hear of the following: Deiotia, 300, for Cardenas, Matanzas, or Havana, 23c. and $7 25; Proteus, 220, Cardenas or Matanzas, $8.

Coastwise freights are scarcely so firm as last week. We hear of the following transactions: Susie Prescott, 99, for Boston or Newport, at $4 25 and $5 25 respectively; Aurora Borealis, 89, at $4 25; Osprey, 67, at $4; James, 30, at $4; Duke of Newcastle, 86, at $4; Louisa, 117, at $4—all for Boston; Blue Bird, 144; Adelia, 114, and Fleetwing, 90—all for Providence, at $5; Speculator, 71, Port Norfolk, $4; *A. The Southern markets are reported firm, and in the majority of cases, millers are doing well, the greatest difficulty they now have to contend with being the scarcity of logs. The direct shipments to foreign ports have fallen off somewhat, but every thing turned out, will probably be wanted along the coast, and at remunerative rates. The Charleston quotations are as follows: River Flooring Boards at $15 00 per M. feet. Scantling and Plank $10 00 @13 00. Mill Timber good $11 00@12 00; and common to fair $5 00@7 00. City sawed lumber $15 00@30 00 per M.

The exports from Charleston from Sept. 1, 1867, to May 21, 1868, were 10,686,201 feet of lumber, of which 1,408,841 went to foreign ports—mostly West Indies; and 9,277,360 feet coastwise. Of the latter 4,209,938 feet were consigned to New York; 2,279,783 to Philadelphia; 1,324,820 to Baltimore; 116,192 to Hartford, Conn.; 1,058,424 to Providence, R. I.; and 288,203 to other United States ports.

At Wilmington the lumber market was quoted firm, and the mills generally being on orders, though but little stock arrived by the river. Timber was coming in slowly, and continued in active request for mill purposes. A few rafts arrived during the week, and sold at quotations given below.

Shingles were not coming forward very freely. The market, however, was well supplied with Common, for which there exists but a nominal demand. Prices are quoted at $2 50@$3 per M. The demand for Contract brisk in the absence of arrivals, and the market firm at $4@$5 per M.

We give closing rates as follows: Timber at $12@$14 for shipping; $9 00@11 00 for prime mill; and $5 00@8 00 for inferior to fair do. Lumber at $10 00@12 00 for wide boards; $8 00@10 00 for scantling; $15 00@17 00 for flooring; and $18 00@25 00 for West India cargoes.

A Savannah report says of Timber:

"The arrivals the past week have been moderate, principally by rail and from the Ogeechee and Canoochee rivers. Most of them have been taken up, but in consequence of dullness in foreign markets and the lateness of the season, the demand is not as brisk as it was a few weeks ago." Of Lumber: "Bills have been freely offered, and the mills are working full time. Prices have an upward tendency."

The quotations as revised are as follows:

At Savannah: $7 00@10 00 per M. feet for mill timber, $12 00@17 00 for small shipping do., and $20 00@23 00 for large do. Lumber $20 00@23 00 for ordinary sizes; $25 00@30 00 for difficult sizes, and $21 00@23 00 for flooring; $35 00@40 00 for white pine rough; $50 00@55 00 for do. dressed; and $30 00@35 00 for spruce pine scantling.

METALS.—Pig lead continues in good steady demand, and full former rates are current, say about 6¾@6¾c. gold. The wholesale rate for bar lead is still 10c., sheet and pipe, 12c. Sheathing copper is worth 33c. currency for new, and 18@20c. for old. Tin plates are rather dull in a wholesale way, but the retail trade continues to take a fair amount, and are paying about previous rates. Zinc is firm, and a continued steady demand has again somewhat reduced the supply of desirable sizes. Holders generally look for about 12½@12¾ currency.

NAILS.—Cut nails are fairly active and steady, but the general market is still devoid of tone, and we find sellers of large parcels at 4¾@5c. The jobbing price is about 5@5¼c. for 4d.@6d., according to brand. Clinch are dull, and on the inferior grades somewhat easier, the range standing at 6¼@6¾. Zinc nails are quoted at 18c. Yellow metal, 26c., and copper 40 c. per lb. The exports for the week were 274 pckgs. valued at $1,431, against 539 pckgs. valued at $2,865 last week. There was also shipped to San Francisco, 3,095 kegs.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The demand is no better than last week, but has become more settled and uniform, and the market generally is firmer for all desirable styles of paints. The supplies are fair, though not unusually heavy. Glue is selling to a limited extent at former figures. Linseed oil has met with very little inquiry; in fact sellers have frequently found it impossible to even get a bid on any parcel of magnitude, and prices in consequence have favored the buyer. We note a decline of at least two cents per gallon, current rates now standing at about $1 13@$1 14 in casks, and $1 15@$1 17 in bbls., though we hear of some parcels upon which holders are anxious to realize, being offered at $1 12 or thereabouts. The exports for the week were 305 pckgs. paint valued at $2,603, 9 kegs paint oil valued at $90, and 1,004 gallons linseed oil at $1,279.

PITCH.—A good steady business was done throughout the greater portion of the week, and with no addition to the supply, prices remain firm, particularly on the prime qualities, which are rather scarce. We quote at about $3 50@3 75 for city and Southern. The exports for the week were 25 bbls. Since January 1st, 1,607 bbls., and for same period last year, 2,451 barrels. No arrivals.

PLASTER OF PARIS.—No further sales of any importance have taken place, principally owing to the want of a suitable supply, and prices remain nominally unchanged on lump; calcined is in fair request and steady.
