THE VIADUCT RAILROAD.

IN the New York Times of June 25th appears a communication headed "The Impracticability of the Viaduct Railway," which, although pretended to be written by one who has devoted some attention to the subject, is singularly full of gross misrepresentations. Having no personal interest whatever in the Viaduct Railroad, we do not profess to be intimately acquainted with all the details of its operations; but there are certain general facts to be gleaned, not only from the charter of the Company and the prospectus with which its promoters first came before the public, but from the known statistics of travel in this city, which are patent to everybody, and these are alone sufficient to refute the arguments in the Times

The writer commences by asserting that the road will cost sixty millions of dollars, and then says: "The interest per annum on this enormous sum, at seven per cent., is $4,200,000. Now, to pay this interest alone, without regard to running expenses and depreciation, there must be carried over the road (fare five cents) 84,000,000 passengers each year! This will be 230,000 passengers per day, equal to moving the whole population of the city every four days."

Allowing as correct the estimate of sixty millions for constructing these two railroads,—the Eastern one to Harlem, seven miles and a half, and the Western one to Kingsbridge, nearly double the distance,—one error alone in the above statement spoils the writer's calculations by just one-half. He assumes the fare of his daily 230,000 passengers at five cents, whereas the charter gives the Company a latitude of between fifteen cents and five cents, and it may, therefore, be fairly presumed that ten cents would be nearer the average. But, apart from this, what is there in the number of passengers he mentions, large as it may appear, to excite so much wonder? We believe it is conceded that, even now, there are some 400,000 fares of all kinds taken daily in the city of New York. It may fairly be presumed that the facilities of rapid and comfortable transit by the new railroads would increase the number almost immediately to 500,000. Of these it is equally fair to suppose the Viaduct Railroad would get 200,000, leaving the remainder in the old channels. Of those 200,000, each road would have 100,000, if in operation to-day; but by the end of two years, when it is expected to be fairly open to traffic, the ordinary increase of our population (to say nothing of the thousands now driven from but who will then inhabit Manhattan Island), there can be no doubt, will have increased the latter figure to at least 120,000. Now, allowing ten cents for each passenger, we find that number producing $12,000 daily, which, multiplied by 360, gives us $4,320,000 as the yearly result of only one of the railroads! This disposes of the argument as to where so large a number of passengers is to come from to pay so large a sum of money.

But the writer goes still further. He asserts that "even if there were the passengers to ride upon the road, the facilities for carrying them is an impossibility." He surely cannot be aware of the fact, which we supposed everybody knew, that these railroads are each to be composed of four tracks—the two inner ones for fast travel and long distances; the two outer ones for accommodating short distances. There will thus be eight tracks in all, constantly in operation. "Reckoning each car to hold sixty passengers," says the writer, "there must be moved 160 cars per hour, nearly three cars every sixty seconds." Our calculation is very different. Assuming each of these eight tracks to run one train of six cars, containing altogether 300 passengers, every three minutes, we have here at once a capacity for carrying no less than 672,000 persons in a working day of only 14 hours! So much for the "impossibility" of carrying the people.

In attempting to show that the road, "as a paying institution would be the greatest of failures," one highly important feature has been lost sight of altogether by the writer, and that is the large sum recoverable from the real estate, which the Company will purchase in their operations, and which will doubtless be, as they maintain, sufficient to pay interest on the cost of the land required, as soon as the railway is completed, and much greater in future years. Indeed, it is this grand future which isolates this scheme, not only from all others that have hitherto been propounded here, but which will place it ahead of any similar enterprise with which we are acquainted in Europe. They turn the land they purchase to the most profitable account. Out of say 600 blocks, which they may find it necessary to purchase to construct their road, at least 500 of them would be turned into valuable store-rooms, with cellars under, that could be rented easily for $1,000 each. This would yield $500,000, which, added to the above-mentioned return of $4,300,000 per annum for fares, would amount to $4,820,000. Deduct from this $3,000,000 for interest, running expenses, and wear and tear, and we still find a balance of $1,820,000 as a dividend over and above the interest on the capital.

Upon data no stronger than those we have quoted, the article in question pronounces this railroad "the wildest, the most absurd, and the most destructive that ever entered the minds even of Tammany speculators." We cannot see the justice of this. Most assuredly any such wild and absurd scheme would never have met the favor it has among our shrewdest and wealthiest men of capital, and the list of distinguished names which grace its charter, embracing those of every shade of political opinion, should at least be a guarantee that this is no idle scheme of adventurous politicians. As to its destructiveness, and the ruin it will work to our city, as pretended, we look upon it in a directly reverse light. It happens to be the only scheme which we have yet seen which is not, more or less, destructive in its operation. In course of its construction no interruption whatever will be caused to the usual traffic of our streets; it does not in any way interfere with our sewers, gas or water-pipes, vaults, or any property whatever, but what it purchases for its use; and five-sixths of this is at once converted into additional receptacles of trade and commerce. So far, therefore, from considering this railroad as ruinous to our city, we can only say that if carried out, as we have every reason to think it will be, in the style it is designed, it is far more likely, in our present fearfully crowded condition, not only to prove one of the grandest boons ever offered to a long-suffering community, but to place New York upon a new career of prosperity, which, in ten years from now, will make all the present splendor sink, by contrast, into insignificance.

THE Chicago Real Estate and Building Journal says:—

The long expected activity which seemed dependent only upon the passage of the Park Bill has at length appeared. Indeed, the past week in our real estate market has been characterized by something approaching almost to an excitement, as some may regard it.

In county property warranty deeds were given during six days to the number of eighty-five, the consideration paid being $329,981. The aggregate for the six days, therefore, is two hundred and forty-two sales, the consideration paid being $1,217,652.

For the corresponding week last year the aggregate amount was $1,432,284, and the number of sales two hundred and thirty-two.

As will be seen by this table, the number and aggregate of transactions in the South Division of the city, and especially south of the limits, have been very large—over $300,000; while the grand total is fair, though considerably less than during the corresponding time last year.

The general feeling among real estate people is good, and a continuance for some months of the present condition of trade is looked for by agents and dealers. A slight impetus has been given by the encouraging status of the park wills.

We understand that there has been over three-quarters of a million dollars' worth of real estate sold on and near Drexel Boulevard within the past week. One firm alone, Messrs. Rozet & Ellis, have made sales aggregating over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. This is not at all surprising when we consider the number of improvements now going on in that portion of our city.

THE MORAL USE OF A MORTGAGE.

Two negroes, bargaining for some land, the price of which was $900, said they had only half so much money. "Very well," said the land agent, "I'll take $450 down and a mortgage for the balance in one year." Sambo scratched his head a moment and replied, "But, I say, boss, s'pose a feller hain't got no morgitch?" The agent explained that he would take a mortgage on the land to secure the balance. "But, boss, I hain't got no morgitch." The agent again explained, but the darkey couldn't see it, and disclaimed the ownership of a single "morgitch." The other darkey here came to the rescue and "'lucidated the pint." Says he: "Sambo, don't you know what a morgitch is? Den I'll tell yer a morgitch is jis like dis yer: S'pose yer pays de boss yer $450 down; den you gives yer word on de honor of a nigger dat yer'll pay him de udder $450 in a year. Den s'pose on de last day ob de year yer pays de boss $449—and don't pay him de udder dollar, why den de morgitch says de boss can jes take all de money and de land, and you don't have nuffin—not a cent. Golly, boss! a morgitch makes a nigger mity honest."

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The past week has been a very dull one for business, owing to the intervention of the National Holiday, and there is really not much of a market to write up, though as we close the demand commences to improve again to some extent, and the prospect is better. On North River hards we think it advisable to modify prices somewhat, and should now call the general range about $8.25@9.50 per M for inferior to very prime, with probably here and there a fancy selection forced up to $10 per M, though the latter figure is so seldom reached that it is hardly fair to consider it a market rate. At the above range the position appears to be reasonably steady, and while buyers are not exactly quick or anxious in their operations, they are apparently inclined to make a place for a fair proportion of the supplies, especially when the quality ranges good and upwards. The amount of stock accumulated during the early portion of the week was pretty large, but now shows signs of working down, and as it will probably take several days for many of the boatmen to get over their "Fourth," no material increase of the receipts is looked for at once. The shipments are not very extensive at present, and the outlet is confined mainly to the wants of city and suburban dealers. The up-town districts are consuming a great many brick, and seem likely to want a fair amount throughout the summer. We can learn of nothing new from the points of production, most manufacturers still keeping at work, and though a few are inclined to retain their finest lots for a while, there is no general movement to hold back brick. The production of the New Jersey yards is now coming to hand with greater freedom and sells very slowly, the quality proving poor and undesirable, as a rule, and few lots realizing more than $8 per M. In some quarters there is a considerable amount of this class of stock piled up awaiting a demand. Of Long Island stock the offerings are small, and unimportant. Pale Brick have been in very good supply and rather dull, but still on the whole the demand for good lots may be called fair as we close, and $6 per M is obtained for either North River or Jersey, though some rough and inferior lots sold as low as $5 per M. Philadelphia Fronts are not very plenty and somewhat dull, but still quoted at $28@30 per M from pier. Croton Fronts continue to meet with a moderate demand and are weak. The rates at $12 for brown; $14 for dark, and $15 for red, but these figures, though comparatively very low, fail to attract the attention of buyers, and sellers are disgusted generally with the market, though some hope for a better state of affairs before fall.

GLASS.—For foreign window glass the market continues in a very dull and flat condition; indeed, so slow is business that even those members of the trade who are always looking for, and in fact, rather insisting upon a buoyant report, no matter what may be the state of affairs, are at last obliged to acknowledge that they can find very few encouraging features for the time being, at least. Some five or six weeks ago we stated that there was reason to believe that an ample supply would be forthcoming on any open and positive demand, but even without any decided outlet, stock has arrived with freedom, and the accumulation now on hand is large and very well assorted, fully proving the reliability of our information. There was at one time recently quite a little call for the small sizes, enough for a week or so to produce a temporary scarcity, but this was soon made good, and sellers gained little advantage. The war in Europe did not interfere with the production to the extent anticipated, and with liberal supplies available abroad, steamer freight room plenty and cheap, a cable despatch will make good a deficiency in our stock within a very few days. The greater care shown in the manufacture of domestic glass and the larger amounts turned out also has a tendency to check the sale of foreign to some extent, especially at interior points. Among the small dealers, distributors and consumers, there is a fair stock on hand, but nothing of magnitude, this class of buyers adhering to the principle of operating closely to actual wants, and allowing importers to carry the bulk of the supply until it is wanted. As might be expected, there is much irregularity on prices, and rates fixed according to the momentary humor of operators when they come together, but the advantage is almost entirely in favor of buyers. About 60 and 5 per cent. off is the highest quotation made, and from this the range is down to 60 and 10 per cent., and even in a few cases as low as 60 and 15 per cent. discount from foreign list for good stock, while the stained and sweated lots are occasionally run off at a still lower figure when an accommodating customer can be found. The imports last week were 983 pckgs glass, valued at $3,598, and 262 glass plate, valued at $36,592. The imports since January 1st are 202,316 pckgs glass, and 6634 glass plate. The demand for domestic window glass has been very fair until within a week or ten days, when business dropped off somewhat and the market became quite dull. Prices a little nominal, but may be placed on an average at 60 and 5 per cent. to 60 and 10 per cent. off American list. The amount of stock available is pretty large and well assorted, but not increasing to any extent, as the production has been materially reduced.

LATH.—We do not find that either buyers or sellers have any really new points to present on this market since our last. On the one hand there is the usual expression of a determination to operate in a very circumspect manner, and to handle stock just to the extent of known wants, until it becomes necessary to lay in winter supplies, and before the latter period arrives, a lower range of values is hoped for. Receivers in the meantime, with pretty large amounts of stock coming to hand, are obliged to keep values on an easy level in order to prevent an accumulation afloat, but do not offer many favors on the ruling rate even to the best customers, and are constantly anticipating an advance. The quality of late has been fair, though now and then inferior lots made their appearance. The business for the past week, both at wholesale and retail, has naturally been somewhat checked by the intervention of a holiday, but still the buyers on hand manifested a fair amount of interest, and in some cases to secure desirable parcels of goods, paid a little higher figures, the market closing pretty steady at about $2.25@$2.30 per M, and some sellers asking still more.

LIME.—The entire tone of this market is undoubtedly very unsettled, but owing to the simple impossibility of obtaining any positive information upon the position, there is little to be said for the present. From appearances the demand is about as moderate as ever; in fact, dealers assert they have no greater anxiety to secure supplies than weeks ago, and are contenting themselves by purchasing just such amounts as will carry them along temporarily, while in the meantime it is hoped that prices may be further reduced by an accumulation of cargoes afloat. Manufacturers naturally do all they can to prevent too much stock coming in together, but it is difficult even with the existing combinations and monopolies, to calculate closely, and there is now and then an excess, especially of common, the finishing grades of both State and Eastern selling about equal to the offering. The State limes, as usual, sell a little the lowest, but having at first been attracted by the cost, consumers now find that for some purposes the quality is as good as the Eastern, and thus reduces the call for the latter, and rather modifies its prestige as the leading style. The week's business has been moderate, and as we close quotations are somewhat nominal at about $1.00@$1.10 for common, and $1.50 for finishing, but from certain indications there is reason to believe a change is contemplated—probably an advance.

LUMBER.—Most of the retail dealers are reporting business as rather dull for the period under review, and the aggregate of sales is hardly so large as for the two or three preceding weeks. This, however, seems to have been looked for at the close of June and the opening of July, and not much improvement is looked for until about the latter part of the present month, when it is hoped the distribution will increase somewhat. There does not appear to be from all accounts a great scarcity of stock of any kind, but in peddling off odd lots here and there, a good many dealers have worked down their accumulation lower than supposed, and this makes them tenacious on the remaining parcels, and inclined to insist upon full figures. Whether there is an actual falling off in the general aggregate of supplies, however, is a question, as the deliveries from coastwise cargoes have lately been full, and a considerable amount of lumber is coming down the river, either on through consignment or from small purchases made by various dealers while up at Albany "looking around." Quotations without decided change, except a shade steadier.

There has been no great change in the wholesale market, sales working smoothly on most of the leading styles of goods at about former prices, and now and then both buyers and sellers gaining some little advantage, as circumstances may happen to favor them. The prevailing call is still directed almost exclusively to the finer qualities, but receivers manage to find a place for the ordinary sorts when they are any ways reasonable in their views. Orders continue to come to hand for certain specified lengths and extra sizes generally, and though these hardly afford a fair criterion of the general market, we may notice that the views of sellers are submitted to without much cavil, provided the particular quality ordered is promised, and within a reasonable time. Exporters are to be found looking around and making fair selections in part to fill freight room, and in one or two cases on full cargoes, but aside from some odd lots per steamer, there is not much going to South American ports.

Eastern Spruce has sold about as it came to hand, the specifications containing long lengths in goodly proportion, moving with the greatest freedom, the insecure grades slow, and common stock dragging, but the latter was generally put down to a figure almost sure to attract attention, receivers knowing this to be the only course to induce sales readily. While current values rule there is no great danger that supplies will be withheld, but manufacturers undoubtedly feel quite independent this season, and rather than submit to a decline would almost certainly cut down the shipments in this direction. Most of the mills are running, and the production is about up to the average for the period of the year. Logs, however, are commencing to show a scarcity at several points, and unless some improvement takes place it is reported that many saws will be obliged to stop. The general tone of the market at the close of this report is a little unsettled, but without any decided gain for either buyer or seller. A few inferior lots are offering low. We quote at $15@18 for inferior to fair; and $19@20 per M for good to prime.

White Pine has arrived to some extent, but not much on fresh purchase, the receipts covering mainly delayed fall shipments, or direct consignments from mills to agencies here. Prices remain about as before, but generally firm, both for forward and immediate delivery, and sellers showing, or trying to show very little anxiety. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 do. for prime to choice. Yellow Pine is in very fair demand, the orders for special lengths keeping up well, and a little better call showing itself from general buyers, with 4-inch planking in particular, called for at extreme prices. The offerings, however, though not exactly large, are equal to the outlet; and sellers appear very willing to operate. We continue to quote at $29@30 per M for fair to good, and $31@33 do for choice. The demand for Piling is moderate; indeed, much more so than expected, and with a pretty large stock accumulated and arriving, the market is slack, though nominally quotations stand as before, say about 6@7c. per foot. For Black Walnut and Maple logs there is a fair export demand, and full prices are, as a rule, obtained on all good lots.

Our correspondent "T." writes us from Bay City, Mich., under date of June 30, as follows:—

Lumber has advanced in this valley to $6.50 for culls, $13 for common, and $35@36 for uppers. Many parties decline selling at these rates. The amount of lumber to be manufactured this year remaining unsold or not contracted for is very small, probably not over 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 feet to meet the demand of next fall. It is thought that common lumber will be $14 per M by September 1st.

The Chicago market is not so strong as this. The mills on the West side of Michigan and Wisconsin are cutting up their logs as fast as possible, and shipping the lumber (green) to Chicago, rather crowding that market. When the shortage of loss is realized, and the receipts decrease at Chicago, prices will advance materially as the heavy demand of the fall sets in.

The Saginaw, Mich. Courier of June 24th, says:—

The condition of the lumber market at this time is more flattering than it has been for many seasons past. While quotations nominally have been $6.50, $12.50 and $35 for the three grades, we know of offers of $6.50, $13, and $35 that have been refused within the past ten days. There is a marked advance on culls and common. On uppers there is no change. There is a strong inquiry, however, and prices are more likely to touch $7, $14, and $35, than to remain as they are. There is an advance in shingles, and a strong demand. There is a great scarcity of logs on the river, and they have in consequence advanced to fancy prices. One or two mills have shut down, and others will follow suit, unless the demand is supplied soon. This scarcity is owing to the great depth of snow in the woods last winter, which interfered very much with hauling to the streams. Those who were fortunate enough to get out a large amount in the spring are making a nice speculation out of it, and in fact they are the only ones who are realizing much. The rise of logs has now reached such a figure that it is all but impossible for mill men to purchase and manufacture them into lumber profitably; $13 per M has been paid. Lumbermen are now actively at work on Pine River, and have already shipped a large number of logs.

We obtain the annexed report on the Chicago market from the Times of the 4th inst:

LUMBER.—During the past week, the receipts of lumber, by Lake, were somewhat larger than during the week preceding, and as there was no particular increase in the demand, sales were sometimes made at concessions in prices. During several weeks past, there has been a falling off in the attendance of country buyers, and the shipments have steadily diminished, thus restricting the demand very largely to city yard men. The receipts last week were more evenly distributed than is frequently the case, there being comparatively few large fleets, but a daily supply of about 15 to 20 cargoes, thus enabling sellers to dispose of their consignments, without being obliged to make very large concessions. The offerings were rather largely composed of common to fair descriptions of lumber, such as joist, scantling, and common boards, and on two or three days, prices for such grades were a trifle easier, though no actual decline can be said to have taken place. Good to choice boards and strips, and mill run only arrived to a fair extent, and prices generally ruled steady throughout.

The following is the range of prices obtained for lumber afloat during the week:

Joist and scantling	$ 10 50
Common boards and strips	11 50@13 50
Good boards and strips	14 00@15 50
Choice mill-run	16 00@16 50

SHINGLES.—The arrivals were amply sufficient to supply the moderate requirements of the trade, and prices were comparatively steady for "A" brands at $3@3.10.

LATH AND PICKETS—The demand was unusually good, and sales were easily effected at $8 for pickets, and $2@2.12½ for lath.

The following table shows the receipts and shipment during the past week:—

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Lumber, ft	38,218,000	19,502,000
Shingles, No	21,091,000	10,976,000
Lath, No	3,455,000	1,272,000

The following table shows the receipts and shipments from the 1st of January, 1871, to July 1, as compared with receipts and shipments for the corresponding time last year:—

RECEIPTS.

	1871.	1870.
Lumber, ft	379,186,000	319,259,000

Menomonee	2 25
Red River	2 50
Sturgeon Bay	2 50
Ford River	2 25
Saginaw	2 50

The Milwaukie market is reported as follows:—

The market has ruled quiet since our last report, the offerings being limited, and a firmer feeling existing in prices of piece stuff. We quote scantling and joist at $10. 25@10.50; ordinary mixed, $10.50@11.50; strips and boards, common to fair, $12@13; good to choice, $13.50 @15. Lath are firm at $2 per M pcs. Shingles are quiet at $3@3.15.

From Griffin & O'Connor's Market Reporter we obtain the following on the St. Louis Lumber market.

There has been no movement of note since our last report in raft lumber, and the only sales were: 400,000 ft. Wisconsin in the water at $17, and 1,100,000 do do at $20. Stock on the bank and in the water unsold is estimated at 8,000,000 feet. We continue to quote the range for Wisconsin at $16@25 in the water and on the bank, and Chippewa at $16@17. Shingles steady at $4.25 on raft, and lath nominal at $2.25.

We have no improvement to note in business at the depots and on the levee; if possible the market has been duller than ever, and in everything except strictly choice prices have ruled lower. The supply of other descriptions is in excess of the demand, and stocks still accumulating. We now quote the range for depot and levee lots as follows: Yellow pine flooring at $17@18 to $20@23 for blued and common to fair and choice green; and $25@28 for common to choice dry; mill-run dimensions at $14@14.50. Poplar at $14@16 for boards and strips—chair plank at $18@20. Black walnut at $20@25 for common, $30@35 for good to choice. Oak at $18@22. Ash at $20@23. Sycamore at $18@19. Cedar at $16@22 for hewn and $24@28 for sawed. Cedar posts at $22@25@27 ₰ 100.

The Muskegon Enterprise has the following:—

Mr. Samuel Maffatt, the well-known millwright of this city, is full of business. Orders for repairs to old mills and engagements for new ones come to Mr. Maffatt in rapid succession. He came from the East only a years since, and already throughout the great lumber region of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, he is recognized as an unequalled builder of friction and belt-mills. We congratulate this skilful mechanic upon his well-earned success. The fine mill of T. D. Stimson & Co., of Big Rapids, will be completed about the middle of August. It is a friction mill, all the work connected with it being done under the personal supervision of Mr. Maffatt.

CONE & GREEN'S MILL,

At Whitehall, which during the last three months has received from Mr. Maffatt very extensive repairs, is realizing the benefits of improvement and much-needed changes, going off finally and sawing with one large and one small circular, 40,000 feet on the second day's run. Capt. E. B. Ward, of Detroit, for whom Mr. Maffatt rebuilt last year a mill at East Toledo, O., is now arranging for the erection of yet another friction mill at

PERE MARQUETTE,

On this shore of the great lake. Plenty of time is given, and by the aid of experienced mill-wrights, and his own remarkable industry, Mr. Maffatt can satisfactorily fill his engagements, and yet have time for one more for

G. R. SHEPERDSON & CO.,

Of La Crosse, Wis., for whose splendid mill Mr. Maffatt has just furnished the plans. The work on the foundation is now going on. This structure will be 56x160 feet, with two separate boiler-rooms, and two engines, iron roof on main building and fire-proof engine and boiler-rooms, with stone foundation under the entire building. Dimensions of engines will be respectively 28x32 inches and 18x22 inches, with ten boilers 42 inches in diameter by twenty-two feet in length. The outfit on saws will be two large circulars, two gangs, two gang-edgers, two shingle machines and all that is necessary of the most approved machinery for such establishments. In fact we are a little jealous of the erection of mills of this character, when not located in the range of the famous mill-circle of Muskegon Lake. Yet, "what can't be cured must be endured," and we would simply remind Mr. Samuel Maffatt that himself and his men may sharpen tools, for they are elected for some time to come.

The Boston market is reported as follows:—

There is no change to note in the lumber market, the same activity so long noted continuing, with building operations progressing. The arrivals of Eastern lumber are large, and most of it is taken as fast as received. The retail yards are well supplied, and this branch of the business is very active with carpenters and builders making their selections of stock to complete old and begin new contracts. Shingles and clapboards are firm and active in demand, and there is a firmer feeling in laths.

Western lumber, with liberal receipts, is active at firm, unchanged prices. New lumber has not begun to move much yet, and there is a little scarcity of some descriptions of dry. Southern hard pine flooring boards are in demand, and Western pine sells at full prices.

The market for Canada lumber is active at full prices. The stock of dry is fast being produced. At Burlington the market is buoyant. New lumber from Canada is just beginning to come in in small quantities, and the mills are all running up to full capacity. Old lumber, of last season's sawings, has been about all brought to market. Prices for all descriptions of lumber are firm and without quotable change.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.
Pine	644,098	Spruce	2,216,671
Hemlock	395,602	White Wood	101,396
Pine Tim. & Joist.	316,508	So. Pine Flooring	10,609
Black Walnut	365,211	Hard Wood	100,279
Total			4,150,374

The following is from the Saginawian of July 1st:—

LUMBER SALES.—Thursday, T. Jerome & Co. made a sale of lumber to Buffalo parties for $7, $14, and $35. Wednesday, G. F. Williams Bros. sold to Eastern parties at $7, $14, $31, $41, the largest price as yet on record this season. Lumber has an upward tendency, as have also freights.

METALS.—There was a light business in manufactured copper since our last. The intervention of the Fourth of July, and Monday being observed as a half-holiday, there were but few buyers or sellers to be found, and prices must be regarded as nominal at the late fixed values, viz.: 30c. for new sheathing, and 22c. for yellow metal, with old sheathing selling at 19@19¼c. for cleaned. A further advance may be noted in Ingot Copper with a fair trade, considering the broken week. The excitement so noticeable at the date of our last has subsided and what business reported was confined to actual wants. We quote at 21⅝@21⅞c. for spot, and 21¼@22c. for future delivery. The business of the week embraces 1,500,000 lbs. The market for Scotch Pig Iron has been less active, but with a moderate stock and favorable cable advices, prices show an advance and close firm at $30@34 per ton. There was an active demand for American do., but business was restricted. In consequence of the limited supply transactions were restricted, and holders were only willing sellers of small parcels, and not even then unless at an advance. We quote at $34@36 per ton for No. 1; $32@33 for do. No. 2; and $31@32 do. for forge. As we remarked in our last, "The late strike in the coal districts of Pennsylvania restricted production and in the mean time largely used up their usual store, so that the country is understood to be unusually bare, both in makers' and consumers' hands." Bar Iron has been selling moderately fair, but the business confined to small lots; prices remain firm. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $70@72.50 for common; $105@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $100@120 for scroll; $95@105 for ovals and half round; $92.50@95 for band; $95 for horse-shoe; $100@140 for hoop; $82.50@120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch): and 6¾c. per lb. for nail rod, all cash. Common Sheet Iron remains steady with a moderate business. The tendency of the market, however, if anything, is in buyers' favor; we quote at 4½@5¾c. for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet remains dull and nominally unchanged. We quote at 9¼@10c. for 14@20: 11c. for 22@24; 12c. for 25@26; and 13@14c. for 27@29, all net cash. Russia Sheet continues firm with holders still demanding a further advance. We quote at 12@12½c. gold, according to number. The demand for Pig Lead has been duly moderate at steady prices. We quote at 6¼@6¾c. Manufactured copper has been quite active at a further advance in prices. We quote Bar at 9¼c., and Sheet and Pipe at 10¼c., and Tin Lined Pipes at 15c. are less 10 per cent. discount to the trade. Block Tin Pipe brings 58c., usual discount to the trade. Pig Tin under very favorable telegrams from London and Singapore. The market has been active, and the purchases here and to arrive and at Boston have been large, embracing 12,000 Slabs Straits. English and Banca have also moved more freely in sympathy with Straits. Prices have advanced. The stocks, on the spot and to arrive, are concentrated, and the market closes strong. The stock Banca is diminished. We quote in coin at 33¾@33¾c. for English; 33¾@34 for Straits; and 39@40c. for Banca. Plates have also been in improved request and prices appreciated. Coke Terne and Charcoal Terne are scarce. Zinc remains firm with an active demand still prevailing at 7⅛@7¾c. net gold, from dealers' hands, and 7¾c. less 4 per cent. from agents' hands. We quote from store 8¾@9¼c.

NAILS.—Immediately following the writing of our last report, the manufacturers announced a reduction in price of 50c. per keg on all the leading styles. The week under review has not been a good one to test the effect of this modification in cost, business being checked by the National Holiday, but the indications are that the demand will improve somewhat especially on country orders, as the small interior dealers have in many cases nearly sold out. The stocks here are fair, both as to quantity and assortment, and rather on the increase, as the lower cost of coal induces manufacturers to produce with a little more freedom. Exporters are buying moderately and mostly on special orders. We quote per 100 lbs; cut 10d@20d, $4.25; cut 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb, 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows: Copper, 36@38c per lb; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 141 pckgs, valued at $1,091; and since January 1st. 9,283 pckgs, valued at $59,002. We also notice shipments of 200 pckgs to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The demand for invoices from first hands has been moderate, and the market presents few really new or interesting features in a general way. The stocks on hand, though not large or remarkably well assorted, are more than sufficient for the present small outlet, and though in most cases refusing to name concessions, sellers are willing to operate on any full bid. The call is in part to fill shipping orders, but mainly from local jobbers taking small parcels to fill out supplies in store, and there is seldom any demand for unusually prompt delivery. Among the jobbers business has been very light and irregular, though about as much as could be expected for a holiday week, and former prices remain current, with a comparatively steady tone on most goods and seldom any pressure to realize manifested. The accumulation in store of both foreign and domestic goods is fair. Linseed Oil has been very dull throughout the greater portion of the period under review, and the market rather depressed. The association of crushers have, as a rule, insisted upon 85c in casks; this was certainly all that could be obtained, even for small parcels, and there are hints from buyers that "outside lots" can be found somewhat lower. The market closing a little nominal.

Exports as follows:—

	This week.	Since Jan. 1, 1871.
Paint, pckgs,	129 value $506	5,359 value $70,763
Linseed oil, galls,	3334 " 2,409	7,942 " 7,183
Oxide zinc, pckgs,	— " —	1,870 " $20,111

PITCH.—We have no improvement to note in the demand which continues almost entirely for retail lots to meet the wants of the dealers and consumers. Prices remain as before, as the stock is small and no large increase looked for. We quote at $2.75@2.87½ for city; $2.87½@3 for Southern; and small lots, very choice, in jobbing way from store, at $3.12½@3.25. Receipts for the week, nil; since January 1st, 396 bbls; same time last year, 2,042. Exports for the week, nil; since January 1st, 1,437 bbls; same time last year, 2,609.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The past week has been very quiet, owing to the July holiday, and both receipts and demand were extremely light, but as there was no stock on hand and no larger receipts anticipated, prices advanced 1 @2c., and at the close, though we are receiving quite freely, prices are sustained, as the dealers being entirely without stock, are buying to meet actual necessities. We have heard of no lots having been taken for export in this market, but in Wilmington a few cargoes are about being shipped. We quote at 47@48c for merchantable and shipping order, and 48@49c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 48@50c and retail lots from store, 50@51c. Receipts for the week, 779 bbls; since January 1st, 27,991 bbls; and for the same period last year, 32,969 bbls. Exports for the week, 160; since January 1st, 5,651 bbls; and for the same period last year, 9,066 bbls.

TAR.—The demand has been light the past week, though we note an improvement since the week previous. The market is less firm, and the concessions on the part of holders undoubtedly stimulated the trade to buying. The wooden pavement companies are the principle home buyers. Very little has been done for export. We quote as follows:—$2.75@3 per bbl for North County, as it runs: $3.50 per bbl for Wilmington, and $3.75@4 for rope, and occasionally $4@4.25 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, nil; since January 1st., 12,303 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 42,619 bbls. Exports for week, nil; since January 1st, 5,638 bbls, and corresponding period last year, 13,401 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending July 3, 1871, is as follows:—

The demand for lumber continues steady and reliable, without any excitement. The lumber is going into the hands of regular dealers, and the market is free from all speculation. This, together with the fact of light supplies here and low stocks at the retail yards, would seem to give promise of a firm market for the balance of the season. Prices of desirable kinds of clear pine are firm at our outside quotations; the same may be said of Canada selects and good tally boards. The best kinds of spruce are firm at our highest figures. There is not any change to note in hemlock. We notice reports of sales within a few days at Bay City to Albany parties of 1,500,000 feet and 800,000 feet at $6.50, $13, and $35. Foreign orders are more active, owing to improved accounts from South America. The deal trade at Quebec continues good, though not so active as it has been.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by Lake and Rail are reported at 8,200,000 feet, and at Oswego by Lake, 9,300,000 feet.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of Lumber for the seasons of 1871 and 1870 as follows:—

	Received.	Shipped.
1871	340,284,000 feet.	259,600,000 feet.
1870	283,153,000 "	251,949,000 "
Increase	57,131,000 "	7,651,000 "

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals for the fourth week in June were:

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	16,647,400	629	.....	580,000
1870	29,810,500	2,432	.....	1,150,000

Of the Boards and Scantling received, 11,791,100 feet were by the Erie and 4,851,300 feet by the Champlain canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to July 1st, were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, feet.	Shingles, M.	Timb'r, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	123,661,700	11,481	.....	4,954,400
1870	131,687,400	4,958	.....	3,676,300

Lake freights are $2.75 to Buffalo, and $5.00@5.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany, $4.00@4.25; from Oswego to Albany, $3.00.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

THE NEW YORK RAILROAD.

Now that this great work may be considered as fairly in progress, the intense public interest which greeted its first announcement has only gone on increasing daily, and every one is now anxious to have a clear idea, not only of the exact localities through which the road will run, but how it is to be constructed, and what its general appearance will be. It is not easy to gratify our readers as to the first of these wishes; for although the general route, as laid down in several publications that have been given in the daily papers, is substantially near the mark, it is in no case quite correct; first, because it is not to the interest of the Company that all the details of their route should be, at the present moment, made public; and second, because so many local and engineering difficulties necessarily intervene in so great an undertaking that the engineers themselves are not in a condition to decide which of several lots may be most advisable for their work, until they have compared all the advantages and disadvantages attending the selection.

From the most reliable information to be gleaned at present, there is to be a branch depot erected on the northeast corner of City Hall Square, which will be the great southern distributing point of travel. From this the road will run across the triangle at the intersection of Centre, Duane and Reade streets, and running into the Five Points, will cross the little triangular square, run between Mulberry and Baxter streets, crossing Spring, and then go either through or between Marion and Mulberry streets to the great depot at Houston street. This will be the great centre from which the roads, both east and west, will converge northward, and where will be located a gigantic building, occupying the entire block bounded by Houston street on the north, Spring street on the south, Mulberry street on the east, and Marion and Crosby streets on the west. From this point one road will run to the westward, across Broadway, through blocks behind Houston and Bleecker streets, immediately north of the Olympic Theatre on the one side, and the building originally erected as the Derby Gallery of Arts on the other. It will pass on to Hancock street, and then bending, run west of and close to Sixth avenue to Thirty-fourth street, where it will run in a diagonal northwestern line alongside of Broadway to Forty-second street, crossing Seventh avenue. Here it will widen its distance from Broadway, and crossing Eighth avenue at Fifty-second street and Ninth avenue at Sixty-second street, run close to the Ninth avenue to Seventy-second street. It there widens, diverging in several curves, and runs to the centre of the block between Ninth and Tenth avenues to Ninetieth street. It then draws closer to Tenth avenue, and from Ninety-fourth street runs in a close and straight line to One Hundred and Sixth street, where it strikes a crooked line eastward and touches the eastern side of the Leake and Watts Orphan Asylum, running through the western edge of the property. At One Hundred and Nineteenth street the road runs through the centre of the Morningside Park, and so onward through the ground of the Convent of the Sacred Heart. The easterly road, after leaving Houston street, runs diagonally to Great Jones street, and there crosses the Bowery. Striking the easterly side of Third avenue, it will closely skirt that thoroughfare to Sixty-third street, where it will make a curve, and running across block at Sixty-fifth street, will run close to Second avenue up to Eighty-ninth street. Here a curve will take place to the eastward, and it will again run in a close line to Third avenue to the depot at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth streets.

Each road is furnished with four tracks: the two inner ones for fast travel, with stations two miles apart, and running at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour, including stoppages; the two outer ones for accommodation trains, with half-mile stations, and running fifteen miles per hour, including stoppages. Some idea of the magnitude of the intended operations can be gleaned from the fact that there will be at least fifteen of these stations on one road alone, between City Hall and Harlem, some 350 feet long by 80 feet width, others 350 long by 120 feet; and that no fewer than 340 bridges will have to span our streets. These bridges will be of beautiful form and construction, with one large central arch for accommodating wheel traffic below, and two smaller side ones spanning the sidewalks on each side. Somebody has facetiously termed them "Saracenic," which, literally interpreted, means that they are simply two-centred arches of Gothic design, tastefully ornamented with label molds, and with solid ornamental machicolations for parapet, after the castellated style of the Middle Ages. The stations will be perfect models of convenience and beauty, the traveller entering from below and passing up spacious stairways to the level of the track, where he will find his carriage to step into, as easily as passing from one room to another. Where the property is not used for these stations, it will be constructed by the Company as stores, with good cellaring under; the necessary solidity requiring them to go very deep with their foundations. These store-rooms are very ingeniously contrived, with a very original construction of iron beams and arches to bring the superincumbent weight upon its proper bearings. The space above them will be so thick as to form a perfect natural roadway. In this it differs widely from one scheme—the Arcade Railway—which, to any one examining carefully the fine lithograph by which it was illustrated, will be apparent enough. In the latter scheme, the space between the arcade below and the street traffic above was so very small that it would have been as impossible for two persons to converse in the former, and hear each other, as if they were in an empty boiler, with hundreds of hammers beating it on the outside.

Judging from the architecture of the contemplated Branch Depot at City Hall Square, when these bridges and stations are all executed there will be few grander-looking cities in the world than New York. This Branch Station is of most exquisite design; and with its massive and lofty tower, high roof and gables, beautifully formed arches, and appropriate adornments, reminds one of some fine old Belgian Town Hall. In fact, when these works are completed, the stranger as he wanders about our streets will come at every few steps, upon some rich and glorious object of art, that will as agreeably surprise him as if he were threading the quaint but artistically beautiful streets of Louvain, Bruges, or Nuremberg. We are glad that this style has been selected, not only because the architect has hitherto made it his specialty (and a good artist is never so successful as when adhering to his own individuality), but because pointed architure is, per se, the most available that could have been selected for such large and varied works. Any of the classic styles are too limited in form and rigid in rules. A needless column must be thrown out here, merely to correspond with another there, or the whole composition is spoiled. Gothic architecture disdains all such trammels, and becomes more rich and picturesque the farther it departs from them. It is essentially the most constructive style—construction and ornamentation invariably going together and never combating each other. To be sure the style has been somewhat ridiculed among us, by bunglers showing us how to build battlemented castles, with portcullis, drawbridge and all complete, out of a few pine boards. We have also been shown how Broadway can be beautified by a whole store-front formed of one single cathedral window, made out of mangy cast-iron imitations. But a far different result takes place when a true artist applies this most artistic of styles to the countless forms of usefulness and beauty of which it is capable.

Much has been said about the propriety of having the Branch Depot located at the Battery instead of City Hall Park; but we think that reflection shows the latter to have been the best selected spot for the purpose. The great distributing point for the mass of travellers is not at the extreme end of the island, but at a point further north, and nothing proves this more clearly than the jam of passengers and vehicles which we constantly find in the neighborhood of Fulton and Ann streets, but which is never to be seen at the Battery. There is no reason why the Company should not ultimately extend a rail, for the accommodation of passengers, as far as the Battery; but the distributing station will be most assuredly far better located as at present contemplated.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The prospect of an improved demand for North River hards, referred to in our last, has not been realized, and the market during the greater portion of the period under review was in a dull and somewhat uncertain condition, with values very naturally rather in buyer's favor, especially as the accumulation was at times quite large. The trade, however, look upon the falling off in the demand as merely of a temporary character, and feel hopeful that within a few weeks the outlet will again increase. Just at this moment, the buildings commenced early in the spring have got beyond the brick work, and the contractors commencing on new jobs are not far enough advanced to require brick as yet. A great many cellars are dug, however, and foundations are being laid, inducing a very reasonable expectation that the consumption is not reduced, but merely postponed. About $9,50 per M has been an extreme price, but it required extra fine stock to reach this figure, and $9 may be considered as a better average quotation, with a range from this down to $8 per M for the poorest. The receipts have been very good—at times a little too large, but wholesale dealers by making the concession above noted, and hunting up customers in and around the city have managed to get rid of a fair proportion of their cargoes without great trouble. The first six months of the year has witnessed a free and unexpectedly large consumption of bricks and, encouraged by this, manufacturers continue the production with unabated vigor, with a fair probability that their stock will be wanted. New Jersey hards are still offering in considerable quantity, and as the quality does not improve, prices remain easy, with $8 per M as about a top figure. For Pale Brick the demand has been good, better if anything than last week, and the market shows a comparatively firm tone, some extra fine lots realizing $6.50 per M, and anything good, $6 per M, though washed and broken parcels, etc., have sold lower. Philadelphia Fronts are a little more plenty, but former prices are retained, and we still quote at $28@30 per M. Croton Fronts are dull, and to a great extent nominal, though quoted at $12 for brown ; $14 for dark ; and $15 for red. We notice exports for the week of 10,000 brick, valued at $108.

CEMENT.—The market for Rosendale does not appear to develope any really new or striking features. There is a fair business doing, and the general market remains as at the opening of the season, $1.75 per bbl, delivered here, with some of the poorer or less known brands to be had a trifle off, and the leading manufacturers now and then showing slight favors to desirable customers handling large invoices. The amounts available have been found fully equal to the outlet and, indeed, could be somewhat increased, as the mills, though all at work and making fair time, are not producing to their full capacity, and transportation is to be obtained without great difficulty at great cost. The Eastern buyers are fairly represented, and shipments are also making to other coastwise points, and local dealers purchase from day to day, as their necessities require, but are cautious and not disposed to handle more stock than can be immediately resold for manufacturing and building consumption. The exports are not very heavy, but the shipments to California have been pretty free within the past five or six weeks. In the foreign grades there has been a considerable amount of activity, the continued award of patent pavement contracts inducing a brisk call from manufacturers. This, and the fact that the imports have of late been somewhat light, has given the market a comparatively steady tone, and we quote Portland at $6.50@7 per bbl in a wholesale way. The quality averages fair, but one or two parcels were rather off.

LATH.—There appears to be a considerable amount of "figuring" among the operators on this market, with alternate slight gains for both the buying and the selling interest, but no violent fluctuations or very exciting features. The general consumption keeps up very fairly, and as rapidly as they distribute dealers replace stocks in yard, but as during almost the entire season very few parcels are taken for which an early resale is not almost certain, receivers watch the position very closely and are indifferent or willing sellers as circumstances may dictate, but are always careful not to allow cargoes to accumulate, as it is evident that the market must be kept clear of any excess of stock, in order to prevent a decline. With this idea in view, manufacturers are also endeavoring to regulate the supply to the demand, and though now and then cargoes appear from unexpected quarters, and are slightly urged for sale, the offering has been very well managed for several weeks, and just about balanced the outlet. During the past week the movement has been fair, with a generally firm tone, and at the close the majority of sellers insist upon $2.30 per M.

LIME.—Evidences of a change in price have again prevailed during the greater portion of the period under review, and the market has been in rather a doubtful position. Some dealers, however, seem to be rather more in need of supplies, and there is probably an outlet for a fair amount of stock, though movements are cautious, and not many cargoes will be placed in yard for which an outlet in smaller lots has not already been pretty nearly calculated. The Eastern, or Rockland lime, as usual, has the preference, as there is no doubt that the quality is stronger than other grades and indispensable for certain choice work, but a practical test has convinced consumers that some of the State limes can be used in many cases as a first rate substitute, and the latter, in consequence, sell more closely in competition, especially as the agents are frequently willing to enter into contracts on common at something off the "official" market rate, though finishing grades are generally held about the figures of Eastern. At the close, the movement is slow, and the market generally flat, with the quotations for common not above $1 per bbl, though finishing is held at and sells at $1.50 in a small way.

LUMBER.—The movement of stock from yard has been somewhat larger than last week naturally, but still is not by any means heavy, and a much larger attendance of customers would gladly be entertained and could be waited upon without difficulty. We do not desire to convey the idea that trade is prostrate; in fact, there is probably nearly as much doing as usual at this season of the year, and many of the leading dealers assert that they find no special cause of complaint; but there is a want of vim and animation to the movement, calculated to give them arket something of a dragging tone. As to values, they are somewhat irregular, according to various circumstances bearing upon transactions as made; but we find about former figures representing as near as may be the general range, and make no alterations. In view of the firmness at the supply, market sellers here are not likely to allow any important concessions, while with the very fair and pretty well distributed stocks, and the general condition of business, there is probably just about enough competition to prevent an advance. The assortment in yard holds out very fairly, as a rule, the most decided scarcity showing itself among the hard woods of fine quality, black walnut, maple, etc., having run pretty low, and nicely seasoned lots showing much firmness. There are a number of additions made to the accumulation nearly every day from the coastwise arrivals, and via the river, the latter the result of purchases made since the recent reductions in prices at Albany, etc. Dealers, however, have not been buying freely, and are still inclined to show much of the caution so noticeable during the early portion of the season.

The wholesale market, as a rule, has been steady and fairly active, though in some cases the offerings were a little difficult to dispose of, especially coastwise cargoes of poor and inferior quality. The agents of the interior manufacturers are not disposing of a very large amount of stock, and still complain somewhat of the manner in which our dealers are holding off on contracts. The latter class of operators, however, though not unwilling to secure well seasoned parcels at ruling rates, insist upon concessions being allowed on green lumber before they enter into contracts, as the expenses of carrying and seasoning will greatly increase the cost by the time stock is ready to be distributed. Again, there is not so much stock needed, as with the increasing means of transportation a great many buyers are deserting New York and resorting direct to the primary markets. From exporters the demand continues moderate and uncertain, with only an occasional cargo of any magnitude made up, as shipments from the Provinces are again setting in pretty free, and when vessels can be obtained, goods forwarded from the St. Lawrence, etc., save something in expense, and a great deal in trouble.

Eastern Spruce does not vary greatly, the market keeping along in much the same even condition reported from week to week during the greater portion of the season. Offerings of common stock sell slowly, and necessarily at low figures, but the better qualities show a fairly steady tone, and anything really choice finds plenty of buyers. The amount available has been about equal to the call, and shipments hither seem to be regulated with considerable judgment. The movement, as we close, is moderate, owing, in part, to small offerings, with prices showing no important change. We quote at $15@18 per M for inferior to fair, and $19@20 per M for good to prime. White Pine sells moderately, and is firm generally. Buyers are not particularly anxious to handle green stock, either for present or future delivery, but begin to pick up and lay away the well-seasonsd parcels, and for these are paying full rates. The call for export, in the main, is confined to small invoices on special orders, or to fill out unemployed freight-room on West India bound vessels. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good; and $26@30 do for prime to choice shipping grades. Yellow Pine remains firm, and though not active, the demand is fully equal to all the present offerings of first-class stock. This is a season of the year when captains of vessels are rather indisposed to make the Southern voyage, though with a fair market for lumber here, and cotton less plenty, they may be induced to bring forward a little more pine. We quote at $29@30 per M for fair to good; and $31@33 do for choice. Piling continues plenty, the demand only fair, and the market in a slow condition generally, with prices showing no important variation. We quote at about 6@7c. per foot. Hard woods for export are moderately active, and prices without change to note.

We note additional exports as follows:—To British West Indies, 61 bundles shingles; to Hayti, 25,000 shingles; to Liverpool, 27,600 staves; to London, 12,800 do; to Glasgow, 2,520 do; to Havre, 1,234 do; to French West Indies, 20,000 do; to Seville, 22,200 do; to Cadiz, 129,360 do; to Peru, 17,570 do; to Danish West Indies, 45,000 hoops; to British West Indies, 1,142 shooks; to British Guiana, 300 shooks; to Cuba, 2,675 do; to Porto Rico, 6,248 do; to Venezuela, 22 do. The receipts reported are as follows:—From Jacksonville, 160,000 feet lumber; from New Berne, 300,000 staves, and 100,000 shingles; from the Maine coast, 25 cargoes lumber, and 5 do lath; from St. John, N. B., 609,951 feet lumber, 1,277,000 lath; from St. Andrews, 82,000 feet lumber, 385,000 lath; from Bridgewater, N. S., 115,000 feet lumber; from Musquash, 1,100 pcs Piling. Charters as follows:—Two Barques, 714 and 699 tons, from Montreal to River Plate, lumber, $20.50 net; a Br. Brig, same voyage, $20 and primage; a Br. Barque, 496 tons, from Union Island, Geo., to River Plate, lumber, $22 and primage; a Barque, 446 tons, from Wilmington, N. C., to Grenada, lumber, $1,600, and back to New York from Spanish Main, owner's account: a Schr., from Jacksonville to New York, resawed lumber, $12.50; one from Jacksonville to New Haven, $12.75; one from Jacksonville to Philadelphia, $11.25; one from St. Mary's River to Philadelphia, $11; one from May River, S. C., to New York, $10.50; one from Brunswick, Geo., to Fall River, $10.50.

A recent report from Chicago says:—

LUMBER.—A fair number of cargoes were offered at the Franklin street docks on yesterday, and with a fair demand from city buyers; a fairly active day was passed, about 15 sales being made, though only about one-half of these transactions were reported by sellers. At the close, about 8 or 10 cargoes were still unsold. Shingles were in large supply, and prices were lower, sales being made of "A" brands at $2.90, and of "No. 1" do at $1. Lath were also at $2. Prices for lumber were unchanged, closing as follows:—

Joist and scantling	$ 10 50
Good boards and strips	11 50@12 50
Common boards and strips	13 00@14 50
Choice mill-run	15 00@16 50
Lath	2 00
Shingles	2 90@ 3 00

The following are the ruling rates of freights from the points named to Chicago:—

Pere Marquette	$2 00
Manistee	$2 00@2 25
Muskegon	1 75@1 87½
Pentwater	2 25
Grand Haven	1 75@1 87½

A correspondent of the Saginaw Courier writing from St. Charles, says: I will give you a statement of the amount of lumber, lath, shingles, hoops and staves shipped from this station, during the year ending December 31st, 1870; for which facts I am indebted to Mr. C. M. Butterfield, the gentlemanly and obliging Agent of the J. L. & S. R. R. for this place.

Lumber Shipped	8,006,000 ft.
Hoops	5,175,000
Lath	1,160,000
Staves	182,000

The past lumbering season was remarkably good, both for the manufacture of saw logs in the woods and for getting them down to the forks, where they are either made into lumber, or passed into the hands of the Boom Company. This spring there were something over 30,000,000 ft. gotten out, besides a large quantity of square timber. During this summer there will be at least 12,000,000 feet of lumber manufactured and shipped from here.

As the lumber interests are the most important business feature of the place, I will endeavor to give you an idea of our resources for its manufacture.

L. Penoyer and Co's. Mill runs one circular saw, patent edger and lath mill; employs 20 men; daily average of lumber cut, 25,000 feet; lath cut, 8,000.

D. W. Green's mill runs one circular patent edger, lath mill, planing mill and siding machine; daily average of lumber cut, 25,000 feet; lath cut, 10,000; lumber planed, 20,000 feet; employs 25 men. B. F. Courter's mill runs one circular and lath mill, average cut of lumber 10,000 feet; lath 6,000; employs 7 men.

Jared Freeman & Co's shingle mill employs 7 men, and has a daily capacity of 20,000 shingles.

Wetmore Guilford & Co's planing mill employs 6 men, and turns out about 15,000 feet daily. C. S. Kimberly's mill runs one circular, patent edger and lath mill; cuts 15,000 feet lumber, and 6,000 lath daily; employs 25 men. This gives us a total daily average of 75,000 feet of lumber, and 30,000 lath cut.

The following items are from Saginaw, Mich., and mostly appear in the Courier:—

The movement of lumber from the river during the past month has been quite brisk, aggregating about the same as the corresponding month last year. From East Saginaw the shipments during June exceed last year nearly five millions, and from Bay City there is a falling off of nearly three millions. The following table shows the shipments from East Saginaw during June, 1871 and 1870:—

	1870.	1871.
Lath, pieces	5,535,450	2,671,150
Shingles, No	13,562,000	10,300,000
Pickets	——	5,000

The shipments from the port of Bay City for June, 1871, and the corresponding month last year, were as follows:—

	1870.	1871.
Lumber	33,754,505	20,931,985
Lath	3,050,850	2,986,400
Shingles	3,429,000	10,639,000
Pickets	——	12,500
Timber, cubic ft	387,990	300,092

The shipments for the season are about 4,000,000 feet of lumber in excess of last season, but this is accounted for in the fact that the season this year opened much earlier than last. With this month, and after this month, we may expect to see a falling off. The following table shows the shipments from the whole river, from the opening of navigation to June 30, for the years named:—

	1864.	1870.	1871.
Lumber	138,405,844	141,255,272	185,277,792
Shingles	27,257,200	34,200,100	55,128,000

PROTECTION TO RAFTING.—It is asserted by those who have had long experience in the business of rafting timber through the lakes, that their greatest source of danger, and frequent annoyance, is from vessels or steamers, liable in thick weather at night or fog during the day to collide, and thus cut off a number of cribs unobserved by the steamer having it in tow, and in numerous instances not missed until their arrival in the rivers. By this means it is claimed more actual loss has been sustained than by all other sources combined. To do away with this unforeseen danger, a few of those largely interested in the timber trade and its transportation by rafting were in Detroit, Thursday, for the purpose of adopting some measures, either by a system of lights or the introduction of a whistle, which will remove the evil in the future.

SAGINAW LUMBER MARKET.

Market active, with an upward tendency. Sales by cargoes as follows:—

First clear	$38 00@40 00
Fourths	35 00@38 00
Box	30 00@35 00
Three upper grades—dry	35 00@38 00
Common	12 50@14 00
Shipping culls	6 00@ 7 00
Lath	1 75@ 1 95
Shingles—
Sawed A 1	4 25@ 4 50
" A 2	2 25@ 2 75
Shaved—None in market.

More sales are made at outside than inside figures. An advance in No. 1 shingles is noted, and in the lower grades of pine stock. Dry lumber 50 cents better than above figures, but little or none in the market.

The Boston Market is reported as follows:—

The lumber market remains steady and active, and sales of all the different grades are effected without much difficulty about as fast as they are received from the shipping points in the lumber districts. Building operations continue lively, and there is a good demand for the different varieties of finishing lumber for use in buildings approaching completion. With new contracts being entered into, there seems to be no let up in the demand, and the retail yards are all generally busy, parcelling out stock to carpenters, builders, &c.

The receipts of Eastern lumber continue liberal. Spruce is not quite so firm, though we cannot alter quotations, but a round lot could be purchased a shade off. Clapboards, laths and shingles are selling well, though the demand for the latter has been somewhat checked by farming operations. Farmers buy largely of these for repairing, &c., but generally wait until after harvest. Southern pine flooring boards are active at steady prices.

The market for Western lumber is firm with a good demand, and the supply of good dry grades is getting rather short. The receipts are fair, though not so heavy as usual at this season. The demand for Michigan pine is brisk, for finishing, and the market is generally active.

The market for Canada lumber remains about the same as last reported. The old stock is pretty well used up, and dealers are now drawing on their early Spring cuttings for want of dryer lumber, which is greatly reduced, owing to the heavy draft that was made upon it early in the Spring. Prices are firm and without quotable change.

The following are dealers' wholesale prices, and the range given covers the different qualities and grades, and those paid for consignments sent here from different sections.

The following are the surveyors for the week:—

The Pensacola (Fla.) market is reported as follows by the Commercial of July 6th.

HEWN TIMBER: There is little or no movement in this wood. The season is now so far advanced that no new charters can be looked for. We hear of considerable contracts for the coming season, but it would be premature to hazard any conjectures as to the course of trade in this particular. The stock on hand exceeds 15,000 sticks.

SAWN WOOD: There are now several ships loading with this article, some on contract and some for a market, but there is no extra demand in the mills, the cargoes being all on hand. We cannot export further charters this summer, and the end of the present month will find our bay clear of large tonnage.

ASSORTED LUMBER: We hear of little demand, and dullness pervades the market, caused principally by the want of vessels. Quotations are merely nominal, say from $10, edge boards, for Texas, to $17 for South American cargoes.

FREIGHTS: Under this head we have little to report. No new charters for United Kingdom. 38 shillings to 39 shillings would be given for hewn, and 36 shillings for sawn wood. For South America $22 to $23 is offered, with no vessels to accept. For Cuba $10@11 is freely offered. Rates for the North $11 to $12. Little or no demand for Texas, except Galveston, for which small vessels confine business.

From Savannah we have the following,—

TIMBER AND LUMBER.—Timber—The receipts have been small, and transactions consequently limited. The stock on hand is low. We quote Mill Timber, $7@9; Shipping do., 600 feet average, $8@9; 700 feet average, $10@11; 800 feet average, $11@12; 900 feet average, $13@14; 1,000 feet average, $14.50@16. Lumber—The demand is good and the mills are all at work, and quite a number of orders are on the market. Prices remain unchanged. We quote: Ordinary sizes, $20@21; difficult sizes, $21@25; flooring boards, $21@22; ship stuff, $20@22, according to sizes. To Matanzas, lumber, $8, gold. Timber to Liverpool, 35s; to Queenstown, for orders, 37s 6d. Resawed lumber to Baltimore, $7.50: to New York, $8.50; to Boston, $9; to Philadelphia, $8.50; to Providence, $8.75. Philadelphia, timber $10; New York, $10.

COMPARATIVE EXPORTS OF TIMBER AND LUMBER FROM THE PORT OF SAVANNAH.

METALS.—The market for manufactured copper is unchanged. We quote at 30c. for new sheathing, and 22c. for yellow metal, with old sheathing selling at 19@19¼c. for cleaned. There has been a very heavy movement in Ingot Copper during the past week, embracing nearly nine millions of pounds. The market was somewhat excited and prices advanced and closed firm. A noticeable feature of about 400,000 lbs. were taken for export, the first movement in that direction in about a year, the prices obtained for this line being kept private. We quote at $21¼@22 on the spot, and $22 for future delivery. There has been a further falling off in the demand for Scotch Pig Iron, but holders as a rule have been firm in their views, closing at $30@34 per ton. American do has also ruled firm, but business was checked by the limited supply. We quote at $34@36 per ton for No. 1; $32@33 for do. No. 2; and $31@32 do. for forge. As we remarked in our last, Bar Iron has sold only to a moderate extent, and prices are nominal. In Philadelphia, makers have advanced their price for ordinary assortments to $78.68 f. o. b. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $70@72.50 for common; $105@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $100@120 for scroll; $95@105 for ovals and half round; $92.50@95 for band; $95 for horse-shoe; $100@140 for hoop; $82.50@120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch); and 6¾c. per lb. for nail rod, all cash. The demand for common sheet Iron has been only moderate; prices are unchanged. The tendency of the market, however, if anything, is in buyers' favor; we quote at 4½@5¾c. for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet remains nominally unchanged. We quote at 9½@10c. for 14@20; 11c. for 22@24; 12c. for 25@26; and 13@14c. for 27@29, all net cash. Russia sheet has advanced a shade with holders still demanding a further advance. We quote at 12¼@12½c. gold, according to number. The market for Pig Lead remains in about the same position as noted for some time past. Prices being wholly nominal, we quote at 6½@6¾c. Manufactured copper has been less active at former prices. We quote Bar at 9¼c., and Sheet and Pipe at 10¼c., and Tin Lined Pipes at 15c. are less 10 per cent. discount to the trade. Block Tin pipe brings 58c., usual discount to the trade. Pig Tin, under further favorable accounts from abroad, an advance taken in England and Singapore, the market has been active and buoyant, and prices show an improvement, the sales being about 10,000 slabs here and at Boston. According to late dispatches, the quotations for Straits in London are £134, and English are £137, and at Singapore Straits $33.50 per picul; we quote here in coin as follows: 33⅝@33¾c. for English; 33¾@34c. for Straits; and 39@40c. for Banca. Plates have again improved in demand, and scarcity of stock; prices have advanced and close firm. The quotations are said to be $1 per box. Under the present English quotations, we understand that large orders are in the market from the West. The sales for the week foot up 15,000 boxes. Zinc remains steady at 7⅝@7¾c. net gold, from dealers' hands, and 7¼c. less 4 per cent. from agents' hands. We quote from store 8¾@9¼c.

NAILS.—At the reduced prices recently noted, the market has settled into a comparatively steady position, and most dealers now refuse to operate except upon a basis of the regular trade price list. The demand has probably not been quite so active as was anticipated from the modification of cost, but still may be called fair for the season, and the general indications are that the consumption will be fully up to an ordinary average. Exporters are moving a little slowly at the moment, but hold a few unexecuted orders and stock is also understood to be wanted on California account. The supply in store is ample and generally well assorted. We quote per 100 lbs: cut 10d@60d, $4.25; cut 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb, 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows: Copper, 36@38c per lb; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 118 pckgs, valued at $605; and since January 1st, 9,401 pckgs, valued at $59,607. We also notice shipments of 172 pckgs to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The wholesale market for paints, colors, etc., has increased a trifle in activity since our last, but the movement cannot be called large or in excess of the usual average at this season of the year. There is a fair proportion of the goods changing hands sold to local jobbers, and in odd parcels quite a little amount goes to dealers in the near-by interior, who are making up assortments to carry them along until prepared to decide upon their autumn orders. Pretty nearly all the leading styles are inquired after, making the movement quite general, but stocks and assortments are equal to the outlet and aside from a steady uniform tone of prices, sellers gain no important advantage. The retail demand is about in proportion to the movement from first hands, and with stocks in store and their ability to secure additional supplies whenever wanted, jobbers, meet all calls fairly and at about former rates. Linseed Oil has continued to move in a slow uncertain manner, and with stocks accumulating the tone of prices was weak, with a further decline of 1c. per gallon officially announced, bringing the rate down to 84c. in casks from crusher's hands. There is quite a number of "outside" lots available, however, at 1@2c. below the above rate, and sellers quite anxious to operate.

Exports as follows:

	This week.		Since Jan. 1. 1871.
Paint.....pckgs,	value 92	$1,143	5.451 value $71,906
Linseed oil, galls,	— "	——	7,942 " 7,183
Oxide zinc, pckgs,	300 "	$2,799	2,176 " $22,910

PITCH.—The market is without change, there being no new features of interest, sales being exclusively of jobbing lots to the city trade. Prices remain nominally as before, though we should think that for a large lot they might be shaded. We quote at $2.75@2.87½ for city; $2.87½@3 for Southern, and small lots, very choice, in a jobbing way from store, at $3.12½@3.25. Receipts for the week, nil; since January 1st, 396 bbls; same time last year, 2,042 bbls. Exports for the week, 110; since January 1st, 1,547 bbls; same time last year, 2,629 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market during the past week has been very firm at an advance in prices. The demand has not been large, but with light receipts and no prospect of a material increase, holders have advanced their ideas to 55c., though no sales have been made at a price above 52c., but there are no sellers at the close at this price. There have been no sales for export, although there are orders here, though limited very much below present prices. We quote at 49@49½c. for merchantable and shipping order, and 49@50c. for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 50@51, and retail lots from store, 51@52c. Receipts for the week, 2,834 bbls: since January 1st, 30,825 bbls; and for the same period last year, 5,764 bbls. Exports for the week, 1,945 bbls: since January 1st, 7,596 bbls, and for the same period last year, 9,229 bbls.

TAR.—Receipts continue light, Prices are, however, without change, as the demand is very limited, and almost entirely to meet the wants of the home trade. Exporters are not in the market, but holders anticipate a demand from that source. We quote as follows:—$3.25@3.37½c, per bbl for North County, as it runs; $3.50@3.75 per bbl for Wilmington, and $3.75@4 for rope, and occasionally $4@4.25 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for week, 65 bbls: since January 1st, 12,368 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 42,813 bbls. Exports for week, 1,540 bbls; since January 1st, 7,178 bbls, and corresponding period lsat year, 13,521 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending July 10, 1871, is as follows:—

The new lumber comes in slowly, and with the low stocks now on hand it will, it would seem, be impossible to have an excess of lumber ready for the fall trade. The Canada mills have been late in starting on account of logs not getting to hand, so that the lumber now coming in is very green, consequently the supply of seasoned pine will run short. The receipts of spruce and hemlock have been light, and, owing to low water, most of the mills north will shortly have to stop, and thus lessen the supply still more. The present indications are that buyers will not have a more favorable time to lay in the stock than at the present. The past week has been quiet as usual at this season. Prices remain firm and unchanged.

At Saginaw sales have been made to come East at $7, $14, $36 and $41, the highest price as yet on record this season.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by lake and rail are reported at 8,957,900 feet, and at Oswego by lake, 13,561,000 feet.

The receipts of lumber at Oswego from the opening of navigation to July 1st are:

	Feet.
1871	97,006,230
1870	107,439,000
1869	87,123,700

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals for the first week in July were:

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, c.ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	12,376,600	1,021	.....	490,000
1870	18,253,300	1,202	.....	.....

Of the boards and scantling received, 8,378,100 feet were by the Erie, and 3,998,600 feet by the Champlain Canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals from the opening of navigation to July 8th were:

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	136,038,300	12,502	....	5,444,400
1870	149,940,700	6,160	....	3,676,300

Lake freights are $2 75 to Buffalo, and $5@$5 50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hard wood and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

THIS important building, now in course of erection at the northeast corner of Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue, is rapidly advancing; and, from what can already be seen of its proportions, as well as the exceedingly solid manner in which it is being built, promises to be one of the most imposing edifices in the city. It occupies a frontage of 141 feet on Twenty-third street, and 98 feet 8 inches on Sixth avenue. It will be four stories high, with the exception of the central compartment on Twenty-third street, which runs up one solid story higher, and all crowned with a steep and lofty Mansard roof, of fine proportions, and richly ornamented with dormer windows and lunettes. The design is so arranged that each elevation will be flanked at each end by bold projections of rusticated quoins, surmounted by roofs rising far above the general outline, and assuming the appearance of towers; the central domed roof overtopping all, and giving a grand outline to the building.

The main entrance, which is signalized by a massive Doric portico, is on Twenty-third street, and is not exactly in the centre of the front, but towards the southwest of the building, nearer Sixth avenue. This, at the first glimpse, appears a defect; but, after careful examination, it will be found that not only would any other location for the entrance have interfered materially with the usefulness of the internal arrangements—which are exceedingly well contrived—but that there is a positive symbolism in locating the entrance just where it is. Seen also in the general perspective view, the whole composition is so harmonious that the location of the entrance away from the centre will in no manner detract from the general effect.

The first floor is intended to be occupied by stores, with the exception of the space allotted to the main entrance and grand staircase leading to the upper stories, which will be all devoted exclusively to Masonic purposes. On the second story will be the Grand Lodge room, 80 feet by 90 feet, occupying the east end of the building, the portion towards Sixth avenue being used for committee-rooms and offices for the Grand Officers. On the third story will be a reception-room, three lodge-rooms of ample size, and a splendid banqueting-hall. The fourth story will have a hall, reception-room, two lodge-rooms, and one Chapter-room; while the fifth story will be exclusively occupied by apartments for Knights Templars and Grand Commandery. This portion of the design is said to be more unique and complete in its details than anything of the kind that has ever yet been erected in this country.

The exterior of this building—which is what the public are most interested in, as the interior will necessarily be a sealed book to any but those of the Craft—will be of very handsome appearance. It is in the palladium style of architecture, with circular-headed windows, attached and detached columns, bold sunk spandrels, and all the other features belonging to it. The first story is treated in Doric, the bold and massive arches and piers being relieved by alternate courses of the dark Quincy granite, and the lighter-colored granite of Westerley, Rhode Island, of which the whole of the remainder of both fronts is constructed. The contrast of materials on the first story is very pleasing; and, indeed, the whole effect produced by the use of granite is extremely satisfactory, charming as it is in color, apart from the sense it conveys of durability. The second story has Ionic columns, with festooned volutes; the third story is composite, and the fourth story as well as fifth story, to the central part, on Twenty-third street, is Corinthian. The treatment of these various classic orders is not strictly according to the stereotyped rules; but where innovations have been introduced they have been artistically managed,—and indeed without such innovations, the classic styles, in their absolute rigidity, would cripple all efforts at originality in design. Owing probably to the intense hardness of the material, and the consequent increase of cost, Mr. LE BRUN, the architect, has been very sparing in sculptured decorations, depending more for effect on the general proportions of his masses. In this respect this building emulates the prime merit of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, on Broadway. Here and there, however, sculpture will be successfully introduced, as, for instance, in the bold keystones of arches to principal windows, which will be ornamented by carved lions' heads, and the eight niches on second and third stories, which are intended to receive allegorical figures larger than life-size, representing the emblematic virtues of Masonry. The roof of the building will be particularly handsome, of fine proportions, richly ornamented, and not overdone, as many of our Mansard roofs have been of late.

In fact, it is taken as a complete whole, and not by any intrinsic merit of detail, that this building will base its claim upon public admiration. Some idea of its colossal proportions may be gleaned from the fact that the third story cornice will be on a level with, if not a little higher than the top cornice of Booth's Theatre, immediately opposite; and that the top of Booth's highest tower-roof will be only on a level with the general roof-line of the Masonic Temple; the central tower of the latter, of course, overtopping its roof-line considerably. The height to the summit of this central tower will be 160 feet. Of the exact cost of the building we are not informed. Five hundred and fifty thousand dollars is, we believe, the estimated cost of its actual construction; but this amount will doubtless be much enlarged in the decoration not only of the exterior, but interior, which latter is, we understand, to be upon a grand scale.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

IT must be conceded by all who take any notice at all of the changes constantly going on around us, that never before in the history of New York have so many sensible, necessary, and delightful improvements taken place in our parks and thoroughfares, as since the present Commissioners of Parks commenced their operations. Turn where we will, we see the hand of improvement—not in idle and unnecessary changes, but in judicious and lasting alterations that are a boon not only for the present but the future. It is not only in great works like the Central Park and the Boulevard that this is to be noticed; but in all our parks and squares, at every junction of our great thoroughfares—where formerly little spare pieces of land were left as useless and neglected eye-sores—we find the gardener at work, converting them into little oases of freshness and beauty in this huge desert of brick and stone. Pretty iron fences are placed around them, trees are planted, and little fountains—unassuming, but none the less freshening—spurt their water among flower-beds good enough for any gentleman's private garden. The Battery, City Hall Park, Madison Park, and numbers of others have either undergone, or are undergoing, the same delightful process of beautifying, until our inhabitants will soon be surrounded, from one extremity of the island to the other, with charming places of recreation.

It is impossible to over-estimate the value of public improvements like these, not only to the physical comfort, but the mental culture of a people. It cannot but have a most refining influence. The idea, too, of accompanying these changes with the daily introduction of music was a grand one, and at the very start proved its necessity by the eagerness with which it was welcomed by all classes of our population. But, apart of this, few but those who have taken the trouble to examine the subject can imagine the effect these wholesome improvements are having upon the value of real estate in this city. It is beyond doubt that, in many quarters hitherto neglected, the actual value of real estate has already risen from twenty to twenty-five per cent. when such improvements have occurred. It is but justice, therefore, to congratulate our Park Commissioners on their good work. They are at least showing a tax-paying public some good return for their money.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The market for North River hards has continued in a dull and generally unsatisfactory condition, and the trade seem to be rather nonplussed at the prevailing condition of affairs. Previous to the first of July everything was selling about as fast as it came to hand, and the indications were considered favorable for a continued free movement for several weeks; but very unexpectedly the demand has fallen off, and buyers assume a most indifferent tone. The arrivals in the mean time have been liberal, and the accumulation afloat became uncomfortably large, causing a downward turn on values, though probably on extreme figures there is no decided change from last week. Tip-top cargoes have been selected out at $9.50, but the bulk sell at $9; buyers can find a fair grade at $8.50, and common washed and broken lots sell at $8 per M. There is, of course, some business doing, and at times a slight amount of animation is shown, but the outlet must soon increase, in order to prevent a further break in values. Manufacturers would hold back supplies could they do so in sufficient quantity to have any effect; but nearly or quite all are still working full time, and their sheds about full of stock, making constant shipments necessary in order to find room for the current production. The buyers at this point are mainly local retailers and consumers, the only shipments being a few parcels weekly to Florida, etc. The Eastern call has subsided, as the Long Island manufacturers are enabled to supply this outlet at a relatively lower rate than from New York. New Jersey hards continue to come to hand rather more freely than they are wanted, and the market is dull and somewhat uncertain. Some few sales have been made at $7.50 per M, but about $8 is as low as the majority of receivers feel justified in accepting; and when this cannot be obtained, the best lots are piled out to await further developments. Pale Brick, as compared with other grades, are selling first-rate, with very little stock now on hand awaiting customers. Some very inferior lots have sold as low as $5; but $6 is a fair quotation, and for fine lots has been exceeded. Receivers and dealers generally all agree that the average quality of every description of common brick now coming to hand is very fine. Philadelphia Fronts in fair supply, but not plenty, and still firm at $28 @30 per M. Croton Fronts are irregular and nominal. Some dealers quote at $12, $14, and $15, according to shade, and others at $14, $15, and $16; but all agree that the market is most decidedly dull, and that neither advancing or reducing the price has any effect on buyers. The stock is said to be accumulating.

LATH.—We find a continued slight uncertainty at all times current, the market proving a little sensitive just now, and responding quickly to very slight influences of either a depressing or stimulating character. In some quarters we hear the opinion expressed that dealers are about ready to lay away a little stock for future use, and again it is positively asserted that nothing will be bought beyond the current wants of the hour, for several weeks yet; but, as a rule, the probabilities of a very fair consumption are conceded for the balance of the season. As to the supply, sellers throw out the usual hints about a coming scarcity, and talk of the small run of logs; but this is an old story, and has less effect than usual. Indeed, there is in reality an abundance of logs suited to the manufacture of lath, and the only cause to bring about a scarcity would be a voluntary reduction of the production. Since our last report there have been sales up to $2.35 per M, and indeed, this is about the rate quoted at the close, but with pretty free offerings, and the great majority of the dealers supplied. The market has a tame, uncertain tone throughout. About 4,000,000 lath have changed hands for the week.

LIME.—There is about the usual amount of irregularity in the reports on this market, and nothing positive after all. Some of the dealers say the distribution is slow, and that purchases in a wholesale way must be in accordance therewith; but most of those making this statement appear to have a small stock, while those who are pretty well supplied intimate that consumers are buying with a show of freedom, and seem to think that values may soon increase. Wholesale operators, in the mean time, have scarcely anything to say as to the probable course of the market, and have "nothing new" to report until an actual change in prices takes place. There seems to be considerable competition on the different brands of common lime, and we hear of some special contracts hinted at, where the rate agreed upon was lower than anything yet published, though it is useless to quote figures that really afford no criterion of the position. During the present week sellers have managed to infuse a rather stronger tone, and to work prices up about 10c. per bbl. on both kinds, with a fair demand prevailing, though dealers are not remarkably anxious buyers, and a few additional cargoes would undoubtedly meet the most urgent call. We quote at $1.10 per bbl. for common, and $1.50 do. for finishing.

LUMBER.—There is no decided change in the retail position that we can discover, yet if anything the demand has increased somewhat, and business is picking up a trifle. The heated term, as usual, reduces the volume of trade to some extent, but certain wants of both builders and manufactures are slowly increasing, and as they have little stock on hand they must purchase in order to meet contracts. There is more or less call for all classes of goods, but well seasoned lots of both hard and soft wood as usual move with the greatest vim and command the fullest rates. The regular local consumption requires the largest amount, but a few dealers are in receipt of Southern Shipping orders, and invoices are also being made upon California account. Values show nothing to warrant either a reduction or an advice on quotations, and we find that our figures cover about the general idea of extremes on all grades. The supply of green and of ordinary to good seaboard lumber is very fair, but first-class parcels have been pretty well picked over, and dealers are replacing as opportunity admits, though without showing any great amount of anxiety, as there is no intention of stimulating a further increase in the views of sellers at the wholesale points and places of production in the interior.

In a wholesale way, there are few if any real alterations to to advise on the general position, though sellers certainly have gained no advantage. Most of the offerings for prompt delivery have by judicious management been marked off without causing a noticeable variation in the general range of quotations, but extremes now and then had to be shaded somewhat in order to secure desirable customers, even when the best stock was in treaty, while the common grades always sold at inside rates, and these were generally quickly accepted when bid, as the only means to prevent an accumulation. Contracts are probably somewhat more plentiful, and in the natural order of trade are likely to still further increase, but buyers have not entirely departed from their earlier cautious policy, and are driving some pretty close bargains. We are told that in a quiet way a few manufacturers and their agents have recently offered somewhat easier terms on both green and seasoned goods, but there is nothing positive known in the matter, and we publish the statement more as a rumor than as a fact, though from our source of information we are very much inclined to favor the fact. The export movement does not greatly increase at this point, though some South American orders are at hand, and reports from a few of the West India Islands, speak of an increased and more general call for American lumber.

Eastern Spruce has been comparatively plenty for some little time past, including a great many offerings from the British Provinces, and most of the urgent wants of the regular buyers are supplied, causing an absence of general life to the market, there is, however some little call from various local and out of town sources, and this helps receivers work off the bulk of their consignments, though on common and inferior schedules a deal of coaxing and pretty easy terms are often necessary to clinch sales. The market closes with a fair amount offering and prices weak. We quote at $15@17 per M for inferior to fair, and $18@19 do for good to prime.

White Pine continues to be firmly held and is offered with moderation, especially where the stock is in first rate condition, as the upper grades are commencing to grow scarce. The demand is also fair, and though not quick to an unusual degree or particularly buoyant, the market may be called in healthy and encouraging condition. We quote at $20@$25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@$30 do for prime to choice shipping grades. Yellow Pine has arrived a little more freely, but the offering in a wholesale way did not greatly increase in consequence, as a large proportion of the receipts were on special orders. The demand is very fair, and prices remain firm within a general range of $29@$33 per M for the usual extremes of quality. Piling in good supply and dull at 6@7c. Shingles have net figures, with a supply fully equal to the outlet. Black walnut and Maple logs for export are dull at the moment.

The exports of lumber are as follows:—

The receipts reported are as follows:— From Jacksonville, 300,000 feet lumber: from New Berne, N. C., 100,000 shingles; from Norfolk, 200,000 do.; from the Maine coast, 16 cargoes lumber, and 3 do. lath; from St. John, N. B., 549,003 feet lumber, 1,845,800 lath; from Musquash, 80,000 feet deals, 90,000 feet scantling, and 1,200 pcs. piling; from St. George's, N. B., 127,396 feet lumber, 50,000 lath, and 1,996 pcs. piling; from Two Rivers, 225 pcs. piling, 260 spars; from Shulee, 700 pcs. piling. The charters are unimportant, embracing only a few schooners from Jacksonville to New York, at $12.50 for resawed lumber.

St. John, N. B., advices are as follows:—

Both deal and coastwise freights are firmer and active, especially the latter. We quote as follows:—Liverpool, 65s. @66s. 3d.; London, 60s.; Clyde, 65s.; Bristol Channel, large size, 60s., small do., 62s. 6d.@65s.; Ireland, East Coast, 67s. 6d.@70s., according to size and destination; Ireland, West Coast, handy sizes, 72s. 6d.@77s. 6d.; River La Platte, $16@17; North side Cuba, $10@11; South side, nominal; Windward Islands, $6.50@7; Boston, 70c., laths, $3.50, lumber,; Providence, 80c. laths, $4, lumber; New York, 85c., lath, $4.25, lumber; Philadelphia, 80c., laths, $4, lumber.

From Portland, Me., we have the following:—

The engagements have been—Barque Sarah, and brig Helen O. Phinney, hence to Buenos Ayres, at $15 for lumber; schr. Mary Louise, hence to St. John, N. B., at 14c. for flour, and thence to Philadelphia, 80c. for laths; brig Geo. Burnham, from Elizabethport to Portland, $1.35 for coal; brigs Ernestine and Forrest, from the Kennebec to Philadelphia, $1 for ice and towage; brig Julia E. Haskell, from Georgetown to Portland, $2.65 for coal. Lumber freights are unchanged: $2.75 to New York, and $2 to Boston. Ice freights are offered from Kennebec at $2.50 to Savannah, and $1 to Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington.

The weekly report of the Chicago Times is as follows:—

LUMBER.—For several weeks past, there has been a very noticeable decrease in the daily receipts of lumber by water, and during the past week the receipts, as compared with those of June and the first week of the present month, have been very small. The receipts on Tuesday were nearly 10,000,000 feet of lumber, but on the subsequent days of the week, they hardly averaged 4,000,000 feet. In the meanwhile, as the receipts have have fallen off, the demand has been quite active, and during the last half of the past week, a goodly number of country, as well as city, buyers were in attendance at the Franklin street Exchange Docks, and all of the offerings were readily disposed of. The receipts consisted largely of joists, scantling, common boards, strips, etc,, and prices for such descriptions ruled steady and unchanged. Early in the week, good boards and strips and and choice mill-run lumber sold at former values, but on Friday a firmer feeling was developed among sellers, and with totally inadequate receipts and an urgent demand, an advance of fully 50@75c occurred, all of the offerings being taken. Considering the limited receipts, the daily shipments were fair last week. The receipts for the season of 1871 show a considerable increase over the receipts for the corresponding time last year, but this is accounted for by the fact that navigation on the lakes opened unusually early last spring. We quote the prices current for lumber afloat during the week as follows:

Joist and scantling	$ 10 50
Common boards and strips	11 50@12 50
Good boards and strips	13 00@14 50
Choice mill-run	15 00@18 00

SHINGLES.—The receipts of shingles, as well as lumber, have also been smaller than hirtherto, and, under a good demand, prices have advanced during the latter part of the week to $2@3 15 for "A" brands. The demand was chiefly for shipment.

LATH AND PICKETS.—Lath have arrived to a fair extent, and, under a good demand, prices ruled steady and unchanged, at $2@2 50. Pickets ruled steady at $8.

The following table shows the receipts and shipments during the past week:—

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Lumber, ft	20,812,000	12,325,000
Shingles, No	11,294,000	10,324,000

Lath	371,850
Shingles	2,575,006
Salt	6,462
Staves	81,500
Timber	105,556
Hoops	1,200,000

Lake freights to Chicago to $2.25 to $2.50 per M for lumber. Toledo, $2.25; Cleveland, $2.25; Buffalo, $2.50 to $2.75.

A Western paper says:—

OWOSSO AND BIG RAPIDS.—The contract for building twenty-two miles of the first division of this road is already let, and the means provided for the completion of the remaining fourteen miles of that division as fast as needed. The ground was broken at Alma on the 4th inst. The Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw, Detroit and Milwaukie, and Great Western roads have agreed to assist in ironing as soon as the bed is in a suitable condition. This road will open up a short and convenient route east for the northwestern counties, and will furnish an outlet for millions of feet of Michigan's best pine, which would otherwise be inaccessible, there being no streams through several heavily-timbered counties, large enough to float the logs.

From Griffith & O'Connor's Market Reporter we obtain the following on the St. Louis Lumber Market.

There has been more inquiry (but no activity) for white pine in raft, and several sales were made, the particulars of which were withheld. Sales reported were: In the water—500,000 feet Wisconsin at $19, and 750,000 do at $22. On the bank—150,000 feet do at $18; a lot of about 700,000 feet Choice do sold afloat at a point above $23. We quote the range of common to choice Wisconsin at $16@24; and Chippewa at $16@17 per M. Singles and lath dull.

A correspondent writing from Bay City, Mich., says: "The demand for lumber is greater than the supply; consequently the price is rising. A number of purchasers are in the city from Ohio and New York, but are unable to get desirable lumber at $6@13 and $35. Purchasers are beginning to appreciate the fact that the stock of logs is short, there being about two-thirds of the usual supply, with no surplus of the previous year. One of the firms sold half a million feet on Wednesday, to be delivered at Erie in October, at the current prices at that time. The purchasers expects to pay $7 and $14. Seven miles in the towns below have been shut down all season for want of logs. Mills are sawing very cheap in consequence of the scarcity of logs."

We have nothing new to note in business at the depots and on the levee. The market continues to rule as dull as ever, with no regular demand for any description—even the better grades of yellow pine and walnut find slow sale. We now quote depot and levee lots: Yellow pine flooring at $15@17 for blued, $18@20 for common to fair, and 21@22 for good to choice green, and $25@28 for common to choice dry; mill-run dimensions at $14@14 50. Poplar at $12@13 to $14@16 for boards and strips—chair plank at $18@20. Black walnut at $20@25 for common; $30@35 for good to choice. Oak at $16@23. Ash at $20@23. Sycamore at $18@18. Cedar at $16@22 for hewn, and $24@28 for sawed. Cedar posts at $22@25@27 per 100.

Receipts and shipments of lumber for June, 1871, as furnished by the Secretary of the Lumbermen's Association.

RECEIPTS.—White pine 19,249,000; yellow pine 1,964,000; walnut 518,000; oak 712,000; poplar 610,000; ash 81,000; red cedar 200,000; logs (in feet) 7,250,000; shingles 9,075,000; lath 6,640,000.

SHIPMENTS.—All kinds of lumber 10,661,000; shingles 11,868,000; lath 6,664,000.

The market for lumber continues active, and all cargoes of seasonable grades arriving from the lumber districts are readily disposed of at current prices. There is no "let up" on building operations; new contracts are being entered into, and the demand for finishing lumber is brisk and increasing. In Western lumber there has been a decline for some grades, especially walnut and white woods for cabinet work and finishing, and prices are nominal. Michigan pine is firm, with fair receipts and a good seasonable demand. New lumber is firm, and the first new cuttings are beginning to come forward. July is generally a dull month, when plastering, &c., is going on, and there is something of a lull in the trade. The retail yards are all fairly active, and all lots arriving are going into consumption. The mills are generally active, though they will run out their supply of logs earlier this year than last; consequently there is not likely to be an over stock. Southern pine lumber has been arriving quite freely, and the market is active and prices firm.

The following are dealers' wholesale prices, and the range given covers the different qualities and grades, and those paid for consignments sent here from different sections.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

The Savannah market is reported as follows:—

TIMBER AND LUMBER.—Timber—The receipts have been light and demand fair. We quote: Mill Timber $7.00@9.00; Shipping do., 600 feet average, $8.00@9.00; 700 feet average, $10.00@11.00; 800 feet average, $11.00@12.00; 900 feet average, $13.00@14.00; 1,000 feet average, $14.50@16.00. Lumber—The mills are all at work on orders, which are offering freely. Prices are firm. We quote: Ordinary sizes $20@21; difficult sizes $21@25; flooring boards $21@22; ship stuff $20@22, according to sizes.

FREIGHTS.—To Matanzas, lumber $8, gold. Timber to Liverpool, 35s.; to Queenstown, for orders, 37s. 6d. Resawed lumber, to Baltimore, $7.50; to New York, $8.50; to Boston, $9.50@10; to Philadelphia, $8.50; to Providence $8.75. Philadelphia, timber, $10; New York, $10.

The Pensacola Commercial of 15th inst. contains the following:—

HEWN TIMBER.—There is little or no movement in this wood. The season is now so far advanced that no new charters can be looked for. We hear of considerable contracts for the coming season, but it would be premature to hazard any conjectures as to the course of trade in this particular. The stock on hand exceeds 15,000 sticks.

SAWN WOOD.—There are several ships loading with this article, some on contract and some for a market, but there is no extra demand in the mills, the cargoes being all on hand. We cannot export further charters this summer, and the end of the present month will find our bay clear of large tonnage.

ASSORTED LUMBER.—We hear of little demand, and dullness pervades the market, caused principally by the want of vessels. Quotations are merely nominal, say from $10, edge boards, for Texas, to $17 for South American cargoes.

FREIGHTS.—Under this head we have little to report. No new charters for United Kingdom. 38s. to 39s. would be given for hewn, and 36s. for sawn wood. For South America, $22 to $23 is offered, with no vessels to accept. For Cuba, $10 to $11 is freely offered. Rates for the North, $11 to $12. Little or no demand for Texas, except Galveston, for which small vessels confine business.

Exports from Pensacola to Foreign Countries for Quarter ending June 30th, 1871.

METALS.—The demand for manufactured copper has been only moderate, and the market remains steady and unchanged. We quote at 30c. for new sheathing, and 22c. for yellow metal, with old sheathing selling at 19@19¼c. for cleaned. There has been less activity in the market for Ingot Copper, but holders are still firm in their views. The excitement so noticeable in our last review has abated. The market closes at 21⅞@22 on the spot and soon delivery. The demand for Scotch pig iron has been light, and with a pretty good supply prices are unchanged. Holders are asking full prices, but buyers will not come forward unless at a concession closing at $30@34 nominally per ton. American do continues scarce, and holders are firm; business in consequence has been checked. We quote at $34@36 per ton for No. 1; $32@33 for do. No. 2; and $31@32 do. for forge. Bar iron remains firm, but the business has been light. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $70@72.50 for common; $105@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $100@120 for scroll; $95@105 for ovals and half round; $92.50@95 for band; $95 for horse-shoe; $100@140 for hoop; $82.50@120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch); and 6¾c. per lb. for nail rod, all cash. Common sheet iron has ruled dull and values nominal; we quote at 4½@5¾c. for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet remains dull and unchanged. We quote at 9½@10c. for 14@20; 11c. for 22@24; 12c. for 25@26; and 13@14c. for 27@29, all net cash. Russia sheet has again advanced, with holders still demanding a further advance. We quote at 12½@12¾c. gold, according to number. The demand for Pig Lead has been only moderate, and the market has ruled quite steady. We quote at 6½@6¾. The demand for manufactured lead has been about as usual, prices being nominally unchanged. We quote Bar at 9¼c., and Sheet and Pipe at 10¼c., and Tin Lined Pipes at 15c., are less 10 per cent. discount to the trade. Block Tin Pipe brings 58c., usual discount to the trade. Pig Tin, under further favorable advices from Europe, has again ruled quite active, and prices have advanced. We quote here in coin as follows: 34¾@34⅞c. for English; 35¼@35½c. for Straits; and 40c. for Banca. There has been a large movement in Tin Plates, and an advance in prices has been obtained. Zinc continues steady at 7⅛@7¾c net gold, from dealers' hands, and 7¾c. less 4 per cent. from agents' hands. We quote from store 8¾@9¼c.

NAILS.—The market shows no important variation, only a moderate demand prevailing from any source, and business generally moving slowly. Former prices are current, and may be called steady, as they are those adopted recently by all the leading members of the Trade but at the same time were there any pressure to realize the regular price list, would undoubtedly have to be modified. Even as it is, some desirable customers, though charged regular market rates, find that sellers are not indisposed to listen to hints in regard to a percentage off the total amount of invoice sufficient to make a desirable reduction of cost. We quote per 100 lbs.; cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d @7d, $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@21c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 554 pckgs., valued at $2,682; and since January 1st, 9,955 pckgs., valued at $62,289. We also notice shipments of 310 pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Business in a wholesale way commences to pick up quite rapidly, and the market has shown much activity throughout. The call, also, is pretty general, extending to all the principal styles, as jobbers are stocking up for the Autumn trade, and want a little of everything. Values of course, under the circumstances, are firmer and rather inclined to buoyancy, though as yet, we learn of no very sharp advances, as the assortment, fair in quantity and quality, and pretty well distributed, incites competition enough to give buyers some advantage. The additions to the supply are fair, and there is about an average amount ordered and in transit. Jobbers are selling little just now for consumption; but, having taken inventory on the 1st inst., and straightened out matters into shape to understand just about what they require, are now the principal buyers, in order to secure an assortment against an anticipated early increase of the distributive movement. Linseed oil has undergone no important change in price since our last, and if anything the market is a shade more steady. Most of the outside lots appear to have been disposed of, and the offerings are now about all from crushers' hands, who through their association manage to preserve a uniformity to the market. The demand fair from the home trade, and one or two exporters looking around for a little stock. Casks 84c., and bbls. 85c.

Exports as follows:

	This week.		Since Jan. 1, 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	value	237 $2,573	9,955	value $62,289
Linseed oil, galls,	"	228 204	8,170	" 7,387
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	"	— c —	2,176	" $22,910

PITCH.—The market for pitch is very quiet, the demand being confined to small lots for the use of the city trade. The demand has not been as large as was anticipated by most holders, and prices remain hardly more than nominal, selling only in small lots at the prices we quote. We quote at $2.75@2.87½ for city; $2.87½@3 for Southern; and small lots, very choice, in a jobbing way from store, at $3.12½@3.25. Receipts for the week, 13 bbls; since January 1st, 4 09 bbls; same time last year, 2,042. Exports for week, nil; since January 1st, 1,547 bbls; same time last year, 2,729 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market the past week has been variable. Immediately following our last the market reacted, and the feeling was quite weak, with no buyers at 47c.; but the close is again very strong, with the highest point reached, and holders refusing to sell to arrive, even at this price. The sales have been mostly for home use, although we hear of a cargo having been taken in Wilmington for export. We quote at 51@50½c. for merchantable and shipping order, and 50@52c. for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 52@52c., and retail lots from store, 53@54c. Receipts for the week, 593 bbls; since January 1st 31,408 bbls; and for the same period last year, 27,799 bbls. Exports for the week, 226 bbls; since January 1st, 7,822 bbls; and for the same period last year, 9,387 bbls.

TAR.—The demand does not seem to improve, but as receipts are small and no prospect of an increased supply immediately, prices have been advanced by holders and jobbing sales are reported. We quote as follows:—$2.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $4 per bbl for Wilmington, and $4@4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25@4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 55 bbls; since January 1st, 12,423 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 42,813 bbls. Exports forweek, nil; since January 1st, 7,178 bbls, and corresponding period last year, 13,551 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending July 17, 1871, is as follows:—

A steady movement of stock from the retail yards at most points is reported, with active building operations. Usually about this time large dealers look ahead for their fall supplies. This season their purchases will be put off until later, on account of lumber not having come in so freely and the yards not being filled up as at other seasons. Increased activity during the fall months may be looked for in consequence. Advanced prices are demanded by Canadian and Michigan manufacturers; large orders ahead keep the mills busy, and the competition between rail and lake and canal shipments enables manufacturers to insist on firm prices; the latest Saginaw quotations were $7, $14, $35@40. Transactions during the past week have been limited. Receipts light. Sales and shipments moderate. Prices are firm. The stock is well assorted.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by lake and rail are reported at 7,929,800 feet, and at Oswego by lake, 8,365,000 feet.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of lumber for the seasons of 1871 and 1870 as follows:

	Received.	Shipped.
1871	408,047,000 feet.	282,862,000 feet
1870	254,701,000 "	277,710,000 "
Increase	53,346,000 "	5,152,000 "

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals for the second week in July were:

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	13,288,000	819	.....	.....
1870	14,743,500	1,447	.....	2,501,000

Of the boards and scantling received, 8,677,100 feet were by the Erie, and 4,620,900 feet by the Champlain Canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals from the opening of navigation to July 15th were:

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	149,326,300	13,321	....	5,444,400
1870	164,684,200	7,607	....	6,177,300

Lake freights are $2.75@3.25 to Buffalo, and $5@$5.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hard wood and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

Collwells, Shaw & Willard M'f'g Co.,
No. 213 Centre Street, New York.

PRESIDENT HILTON'S REPORT.

THE lucid and interesting report of Judge Hilton, President of the proposed Viaduct Railroad, which was published in the daily papers of last Tuesday, is very satisfactory. In our issue of the 8th instant, and in reply to an incorrect and ill-tempered attack upon the Company in the New York Times, we ventured to make some calculations as to the capacity of this road, both for transporting passengers and as a paying investment. Our remarks were based entirely upon such information as could be gleaned from the published prospectus of the Company, and upon such statistics of travel in our city as are open to the investigation of all.

We are glad to find, by the report of President Hilton, that not only were our remarks correct in the main, but that in many important particulars we fell short of the fair exhibit which the Company are able to make, upon the most searching and accurate bases of calculation. Fifty millions is the estimated cost of the two branches of road, and not sixty millions, as the writer in the Times asserted, and we allowed, for the sake of argument. Instead of 120 millions of fares of all kinds being annually taken in the city of New York, the report announces the fact, from official information, that on the horse-railroads alone of the city—taking no account of those conveyed by omnibuses, and upon the Harlem, New Haven, and Hudson River Railroads, nor of those who go by the five Harlem steamboats running continually throughout the day—no fewer than one hundred and thirty-six million passengers are carried annually.

Basing his calculations on the statistics before him, the President reasonably assumes that some 600,000 fares are now daily paid for riding in public conveyances into and through the city, and then asks if it is not fair to calculate that 250,000 of that number of fares would at once be taken by the Viaduct Railway, supposing both of its branches were built to-day. But calculation may fairly go beyond this. Apart from the natural increase of our population, there can be no doubt that, simultaneously with the construction of either branch of the railway, many houses will be erected in the upper part of the city, and that by the time the easterly branch of the road is completed to 125th street, five thousand additional houses, tenements, and factories will furnish some 20,000 fares more daily, swelling the fares on this branch to at least 140,000 daily; which, at 13 cents, the average fare, amounts to $6,500,000 annually from one branch alone. The assumption of 140,000 passengers per day, or fifty millions per annum, is not considered immoderate, as one line of horse-cars alone, in this city, is now carrying thirty millions of people annually.

But, besides this $6,500,000 for passengers, the Report calculates that the large amount of freight, mail and express matter which will seek that channel will add at least $2,600,000 more, which, with the $400,000 estimated income from rental of show-rooms, etc., will give an aggregate of $9,500,000 per annum. Deduct from this $4,250,000 for wear and tear, maintenance, etc., and they have a net annual income, from each line of railway, of $5,250,000.

This is certainly a most encouraging exhibit for the Company; and as President Hilton promises that we shall be conveyed "between the City Hall and Harlem in twenty minutes, and to intermediate points in a proportionately short time," we can only entreat of him to hurry on the good work. The Report decides the question positively as to the location of the branch depot at City Hall Park, as the great distributing-point, and ignores all idea of placing it at the Battery. It shows the Company ready, however—as we suggested in a former article—to construct a branch road from the depot near the City Hall, in a direct line to the Battery, near the South Ferry, if the citizens and property-owners in the district to be benefited are willing to subscribe the necessary capital.

A SUGGESTION.

WE have so often had occasion to write approvingly of all the arrangements in the Central Park, that it is with reluctance we call attention to what appears to us an oversight on the part of those having the matter immediately in charge. We allude to the paucity of seats for the accommodation of pedestrians; and not only that, but to the uncomfortable shape of many of these seats, and the hap-hazard way in which they are located about the grounds, in places frequently where they are least required.

Any one who has walked about these beautiful grounds on a sultry day must have noticed the very great difficulty of obtaining a seat of any kind, without the trouble of walking a very long distance to one or other of the large arbors or places of recreation scattered about. Along the beautiful lanes and by-ways which form the chief source of attraction to many pedestrians, seats capable of holding two or four persons are to be seen placed at wide intervals, but not one-sixth part of the number necessary to accommodate the people. Then again, instead of placing them in cool and shady places, and in spots of interest, like those fringing the lake, etc., they are frequently located where there is nothing agreeable to look at, or perched in some spot subjected to the burning rays of the sun, where no one would think of pausing to rest, however fatigued they might be. The only place which seems to have been selected for a superabundance of seats is the Fifth avenue entrance, where they are ranged one after the other to a considerable distance, and where people—for want of something better—are compelled to sit in the scorching sun, or keep moving.

Many of these more recent seats, too, are as uncomfortable as they can possibly be—with no backs to them, and apparently got up more for show than for usefulness. What we need in a pleasure-ground of the kind, especially where rules are necessarily so rigid against walking on the grass, are seats of plain construction, but of the most easy and luxurious shapes. These should be in such abundance everywhere that nobody need even be at a loss to obtain a seat speedily, no matter how crowded the grounds. Then again, the greatest taste and discretion are requisite in locating these seats—selecting, as a general rule, the shadiest and most agreeable spots. This matter may appear trivial, but it daily affects the comfort and enjoyment of hundreds who visit the Central Park; and we have heard numberless complaints upon the subject.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—We do not find anything very encouraging for the selling interest on the market for North River Hards during the past week. The demand has continued moderate, in fact unusually so, and stock has accumulated to such an extent that constant favors had to be shown buyers, in order to keep business moving, and the result is a still further reduction in values on all grades, with the feeling at the reduction somewhat unsettled, though, as we close, wholesale dealers think they see a trifle more steadiness. One or two fancy makes may be still made to reach about $9.50 per M; but $9 is a fair top rate for the ordinary run of cargoes; very good "Bay" brick can be bought at $8.50 per M, and from this we know of sales down to $7.50 per M for very common. There is still some complaint and a little surprise at the quiet condition of the market; but builders certainly do not call for brick just how, and an outlet cannot be forced. Some of the trade predict an early improvement in the demand, and assert that the building operations in progress are fully up to the average of the early portion of the season, but are in just such a state at present that brick are not wanted, and contractors, adopting a cautious policy, will not purchase until there is an almost certainty that brick will be at once consumed. The production in the meantime continues almost unabated, as manufacturers, notwithstanding all their threats to stop work, do not appear to consider it good policy to do so, and the supplies accumulate. In fact, we are informed that there is a very large stock on hand up the river, and that every available means is being used to get rid of the surplus, making it probable that even with a renewal of the demand there is no likelihood of any immediate scarcity. From New Jersey the supply is still coming to hand, and prices have also declined on these about 50c. per M, with most of the transactions on the ordinary run of stock at $7.50 per M, though a few selected lots reached $8 per M. Very little of this production is consumed in New York, most of the cargoes being sent over to Gowanus Creek and vicinity, and a few to the extreme upper end of this island. Pale Brick are a little nominal, owing to a rather small supply, and not much of a demand, and dealers' quotations range from $5 to $6 per M. Croton Fronts are in light demand and still somewhat unsettled, though the tendency in the main favors buyers. There is an ample stock to be obtained whenever it is wanted. We quote at $12@15 per M, according to shade. Philadelphia Fronts are meeting with only a moderate call, and this is supplied from the current arrivals, with prices ruling steady at $28@30 per M, on pier.

LATH.—There has been a considerable amount of stock received and sold during the past two or three weeks, and though there was a partial immediate redistribution in small lots to consumers, dealers accumulated a pretty good supply in yard, and this tends to bring about, or more properly speaking to increase, the previous feeling of caution which at one time seemed like disappearing. Buyers evidently do not intend to allow an over-anxiety to display itself in any shape, and thus throw an advantage in sellers' favor, but still at the same time, when lath are really wanted and can be used to early advantage, the current market value is paid without hesitation. A great many cargoes recently at hand were from the Provinces, though there was a goodly proportion from the Maine coast, and receivers claim that the receipts will now fall off again, as manufacturers have worked off their surplus accumulation, are producing less freely, and will keep the shipments down as much as possible. There is no doubt that an effort will be made to run prices up all they will stand, before or about the time of the setting in of the demand for fall and winter supplies. As we close, the market is a little slack, and, though $2.35 is generally asked, $2.30 has been accepted, and the latter figure represents about the extreme bids for any parcel now available. The supply on hand and offered to arrive is pretty large.

LIME.—With the Maine combination working, the supply to suit the outlet, and knowing just about when dealers want stock, the market has been forced into a sort of firmness and uniformity at the late improvement, and made to assume an air of activity, all the cargoes disappearing about as fast as offered. Buyers, however, have merely operated through necessity, and the amounts taken in yard have, as a rule, been figured out as likely to be distributed within a short time. The State Limes have followed the Eastern, especially on the finishing grade, which answers the purpose of buyers in many cases equally as well as Rockland, and undoubtedly interferes to some extent with the sale of the latter. On common, however, there is the usual irregularity, according to standing of buyer, amount of stock in treaty, and other influences; but the regular market quotation is seldom insisted upon, except for small retail lots. As we close, the condition of the market is still a little doubtful, though the tendency is rather upward, especially on finishing, which may be quoted at about $1.60@1.75 per bbl. Common, from the best information to be obtained, is worth $1.10 per bbl., but there is a probability that this figure will be changed at an early day, with the advantage in seller's favor.

LUMBER.—Among the retail dealers the reports as to the position are much the same as last week in a general way, though in one or two cases we are told of some increase of business. From manufacturers there is about the average call, both as to quantity and assortment; but builders are looking around more freely and making a few contracts ahead, and generally seem inclined to operate. The amounts offering and the assortment from which to make selections continue about all that is desired, and prices are still kept at a level calculated to nurture any prevailing demand, though at the same time there is nothing to be construed into actual weakness, merely a disposition on the part of sellers to allow as easy terms as the position will admit of, especially to cash customers. In fact, cash customers are unusually welcome just now, as the returns for the three and six months' accounts to July 1st come in very slowly, and collections cannot be depended upon. Particular complaint is made in regard to some of our city builders and contractors of the second class, many of whom have commenced improving real estate with the expectation of selling at a snug profit and settling up fairly, but now, with their houses still on hand, and funds about all exhausted, are obliged to ask extensions, etc., until they can get matters in better shape. Our dealers are receiving some stock, but are still a little backward about making any very extensive purchases, and give their attention mainly to choice selections of standard grades.

The wholesale market has been fairly active, as a rule, and to a certain extent steady, though in some few cases the offerings were found to be rather too large and concessions necessary, in order to work off stock. Buyers feel, or are trying to assume, as much indifference as manufacturers, and though some begin to think it rather late to hold out for easier terms, the disposition is to insist upon the very best of stock, if the prices asked are paid. For Autumn delivery contracts are rather on the increase, and a considerable amount of stock has been ordered, with intimations that a partial compromise on values has been brought about. Exporters continue to operate with moderation and caution at this point, and beyond a few small lots taken to fill freight room, nothing goes out except on the most positive orders. The assortment available is fair, but shipments are much easier and cheaper direct from the points of production.

Eastern Spruce has been in fair supply, though not quite so plenty as last week, as a large proportion of the vessels are now at this end of the route, or just starting back. There was enough, however, and to spare, the recent pretty free deliveries having about met all the urgent calls from dealers, pretty well filled up the docks and storage room, and considerably curtailed the demand. Prices in consequence were somewhat irregular, with the turn rather in buyer's favor, though on first-class schedules extreme figures were in all cases asked. The offerings thus far this season have been about equal to last in quantity, but behind in quality. As we close, there is not a very heavy offering, and the market has a more steady tone.

We quote at $15@18 per M for inferior to fair; and $19@20 for good to prime. White Pine seems to be neither dull nor active, but moving along steadily in small lots as wanted by the regular trade, and commanding former figures, the market showing quite a uniform tone for anything desirable, either on shipping or manufacturing grades. The supply fair, but not by any means large. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 for prime to choice shipping grades. Yellow Pine, as usual at this season of the year, is in rather uncertain supply, and the tone of the market varies according to the amount offering. On the whole, however, the feeling is pretty steady, and nothing could be bought, except at full former rates. We quote at about $29@33 per M, and special orders higher. Shingles are in fair demand at $4.50 for No. 1 Pine, with a not very large offering.

We note additional exports as follows: To Liverpool, 74 logs hickory, valued at $365; to Canary Islands, 7 spars, valued at $670; to Cuba, 25,000 shingles, and to Hayti, 40 bundles do; to New Granada, 10 spars; to Rotterdam, 24,600 staves; to Liverpool, 13,200 do; to London, 11,880 do; to Gibraltar, 27,720 do: to Havre, 2,500 do; to Lisbon, 76,800 do; to Oporto, 14,350 do; to Brazil, 28,000 do, 949 shooks, and 54,000 hoops; to Cuba, 13,538 shooks and 12,500 hoops; to Porto Rico, 2,333 shooks; to Cisplatine Republic, 1,060 shooks. Receipts reported as follows: From Jacksonville, 162,000 feet lumber; from Savannah, 180,000 feet do; from the Maine coast, 33 cargoes lumber, 7 do lath; from St. John, N. B., 470,259 feet lumber, 230,800 lath; from Sheet Harbor, N. S., 314,000 feet lumber, 75,000 lath; from St. Andrew's, 101,000 feet plank.

The Charters are: A Br. ship, 1048 tons, from Mirimichi to Liverpool, deals, 76s. 3d.; a Br. ship, 1034 tons, and a Br. barque, 861 tons, from Quebec to a direct port in the United Kingdom, timber, 30s.; a ship, 1116 tons, from Montreal to River Plate, lumber, $20 net; a barque, 458 tons, from Portland, Me., to River Plate, lumber, $15.25, and primage; two schrs. from Jacksonville to New York, resawed lumber, $12.50; one from Jacksonville to Baltimore or Philadelphia, boards, $11.

The following lumber-laden boats recently passed Fultonville:—Scotia, H. W. Chadwick, Eva Mary, Gen. Logan, Delos S. Harvey, Soldier Boy, Buffalo; Frank Mackey, Capt. Trowbridge, M. M. Donald, Henry E. Davis, J. D. Heartson, Sam & Hod, Thos. H. Dolson, Earl L. Cole, C. G. Clark, J. Lamb, Geo. Norris, Oswego; Margaret, Gerwig, Tonawanda; N. Havens, Jr., Corning; G. W. Chapman, W. W. Weston, Lee, Lyons Falls; Wm. H. Buck, Rome; F. G. Clark, Utica.

An immense raft, 2,200 feet long, and containing 120,000 cubic feet of timber, recently passed through the drawbridge at Rouse's Point, N. Y., and entered Lake Champlain. The raft, with the tow-line and steam tug-boat, stretched along the water for the distance of half a mile. The timber came from Ottawa, Canada, and was on its way to New York city.

Messrs. Carbray & Routh, lumber commission merchants, of Montreal and Quebec, Canada, report as follows, under date of 24th July:—

As usual at this season of the year, we have to report a dull market; freights, the best index of the state of affairs all the world over, have fallen still lower than our last quotations, and have now touched a point which barely pays boats' expenses. Prices current are nominal, and we make no alterations in our last figures; though there has been no rise, full prices have been maintained.

The English market has been very quiet, and, under continued arrivals and small sales, prices there have shown a decline; but, for the reasons mentioned in our last report, our market has not sympathized to any extent; we might except square timber, which, in the coarser lines, has become a drug in the Quebec market, where purchases could now be made for the U. S. with great advantage to the buyer. The drawback would, however, be the shipment, as the timber could not be floated from Quebec up current to the entrance of the canal, and ships are with difficulty induced to go round to New York by sea, unless with the promise of a good home cargo. The better grades of timber, however, still meet with ready sale, last transactions having been made at 33c. per cubic foot.

Deals we would quote a trifle easier. Mills wishing to work a contract now would have to make some concessions; but very few contracts have been made at new rates, mills arguing that France being England's best customer, the present large stocks are due to the present unsettled state of affairs on the Continent, deterring buyers from acting with any vigor; but, with the reaction now setting in, holders of stocks believe that a very large demand must come in with the Fall trade, and stronger prices be realized. In boards we have no new feature to mark; common grades are high and difficult to buy; in culls everything that offers is eagerly picked up.

We have only to report two clearances to River Plate to date, carrying 600,000 feet, against twelve vessels, to same date last year, carrying 4,555,000 feet. This is due not only to a disinclination to ship during a continuance of the yellow fever, but also to the difficulty of finding vessels, the crews of which, hearing exaggerated rumors, imagined they were risking their lives there. Several are now, however, in port loading, and new charters have been made, so that we expect to have some improvement in our figures to report in our next review.

The Saginaw Courier publishes the following account of the commencement and growth of the use of barges for the transportation of lumber on the Western Lakes, a system evidently very nearly akin to that in vogue for many years on the Hudson:—

"Previous to the year 1862, a great deal of difficulty had been experienced by shippers of lumber, in view of the rapidly increasing manufacture and demand of that staple in all parts of the Union. The Saginaw Valley, as the great lumber producing section of the West, was especially cramped for facilities to move the product. But just as the uses of steam were discovered, in the day and hour which demanded the introduction of some power to take the place of wind and water in the propulsion of machinery; and just as the railroads and the telegraph were given by an all-wise Creator to His creatures, at just that age of the world when they were demanded for the development of our own vast domain, and for the furtherance of the increased demands of civilization in all parts of the world; just as an all-wise providence, in just the right time, opens the mind of man to an appreciation of those arts and sciences which the age and necessities of the times demand the development of—just so was the mind of an enterprising lumber merchant, John S. Noyes, Esq., of the city of Buffalo, exercised upon the subject of cheap transportation, or at least increased facilities for transportation, and as a result of his study we have the system of barging, now grown to be one of the most important branches of our Lake commerce. Mr. Noyes, being of a utilitarian cast of mind, saw in the city of Buffalo and at Detroit, as well as various other points on the Lakes, a number of hulls of what but a few years previous had been the most gorgeous and elegant steamboats which ever graced the waters of a nation: these had outlived their usefulness, and, though sound and good for many years of navigation, were no longer needed for the purposes of their creation. Mr. Noyes saw in these hulls, stripped of their gorgeous and cumbrous cabins, the solution of the problem he had been studying upon. At that time the steamers Sultana and Empire were lying at what was supposed by everybody to be their Machpelah, near the fort of Belle Isle, in the Detroit River. More unpromising subjects for the inauguration of a great enterprise were never selected; but the prophetic mind of Mr. Noyes saw in them the pioneers of a revolution in the carrying trade of the West. Raising them from their sunken condition, he laid out $23,000 in overhauling and strengthening the hulls of these once proud steamers; and in the spring of 1862 they made their appearance once more upon the Lakes, not now propelled by the ponderous and beautiful machinery which had been the pride of their owners and masters in the years past, but in tow of the noble tug Reindeer, on whose decks stood Captain Sim Keeler, now of Bay City, every inch a sailor, and just the man to lend his aid to the successful inauguration of a great project. Captain Jack Myers, whose lamentable fate as a felon is still fresh in the minds of our readers, was in command of the two barges. Captain Coon, of Detroit, soon (afterwards succeeded by G. W. Hotchkiss, now of the Courier) had charge of the Saginaw end of the route, while the proprietor handled the business of unloading and general oversight at Buffalo. The barges were supposed to be, one in the Saginaw river and the other on the Lake or at Buffalo all the time. The tug would call for one barge at the mouth of the river, leaving the other to be loaded, during the trip of the first one. The Sultana carried 600,000 feet, while the more pretentious Empire was satisfied with no less than from 850 to 900 M. But one crew was carried for both barges, for, on the arrival of a barge light, the crew took possession of the loaded one and returned to Buffalo; the agent at the Saginaw end having a temporary crew under his charge, with whom he loaded the barge left for that purpose. This matter of loading involved an expenditure of an average of one dollar and fifty cents per thousand feet, including tow bills, loading and lighterage. The bar at the mouth of the river not permitting the passage of vessels of over 7 feet to 7½ feet draft of water, it was no unusual thing to lighter out to the Empire as high as 600 M feet of her cargo. The success of the enterprise being demonstrated by the first two months of the experiment, the steamer St. Lawrence was purchased by Mr. W. R. Abbot, brother-in-law of Mr. Noyes, and being stripped of her upper works, was sent to Saginaw, under the charge of G. W. Hotchkiss, who loaded her with the largest cargo ever loaded upon one vessel upon the lakes, clearing from Bay City about the first of September, 1862, with 1,140 M. feet of lumber. The St. Lawrence encountered heavy weather on her trip down, and, being immensely long, partially hogged, entering the St. Clair river full of water and with several joints spread apart 6 inches. The St. Lawrence only made two more trips, and was sold to Erie parties for a dry dock. After his first trip in the St. Lawrence, Mr. Hotchkiss returned to the Valley and took charge of this end of the route. In the spring of 1863, the hull of the steamer Ocean Queen was sent to the Saginaw River by Noyes & Co., to be used as a lighter, but her immense length and height out of water made her too cumbersome for that purpose, and she was placed in the Lake line with the Empire and Sultana. On her return from her first trip to Buffalo, she experienced heavy weather and was lost on Lake Huron. During the fall of this year, the Sultana was lost on her down trip, and the season closed, leaving the Empire alone in her glory. During the succeeding winter, the Empire was still further strengthened by heavy inside arches, and a year later with a solid back bone of timber. During the winter of 63-4, the barge Ocean, formerly steamboat of that name, was put in good shape by Larned Wiswall & Co., of Port Austin, and has been running ever since. The Empire continued running until the fall of 1870, when she met her destiny on Long Point, in Lake Erie. The Empire registered as a barge 1,140 tons, and was built at Cleveland in 1844. The Sultana, 725 tons, was built at Algonac in 1847. This then was the inception of the carrying of freights by other than the usual and established modes of transportation, an innovation which was at first met with disfavor by shippers and insurers, sustained at last only by the indomitable energy of John S. Noyes, and his success in installing his own faith into the breast of Capt. E. P. Dorr, who was the general agent for the Board of Underwriters, and whose favor alone kept the enterprise on its feet, when without it, it must have been crushed beneath the opposition of vessel owners. To-day the barge interest is a recognized interest on our lakes, and more property is transported from our Valley by means of towing barges than by any and all other styles of navigation. The "what is it's" and "boxes," "tubs" and "floating coffins" of eight years ago are no longer a subject of derision, as we find not only dismantled steamers, but first-class vessel hulls engaged in not alone the lumber trade, but also in the wheat and grain trade from Chicago to Buffalo, and new ones are being constructed each year to swell the numbers. Barges can carry lumber cheaper than can vessels or steam craft, on account of the numbers which can be taken in tow by a tug, and the fixed rates and almost certain time which can be figured upon for the trip. And not alone upon the lakes has barging grown to the immense proportions which gives confidence to the public and to the underwriter, but upon the sea-coast barging is being extensively and successfully introduced, and there can be little doubt that it will extend its proportions with the demands of commerce, and be found the cheapest method of transporting freights from one locality to another. In contrast with the days of doubt and feebleness, the days of experiment, and of a struggle to overcome the objections urged by the fearful and unbelieving, we submit the statement that in nine years the business of barging has increased so that, from reliable sources of information, we are enabled to say that in the season of 1871 there are 128 lake barges engaged upon our chain of lakes and rivers (besides those exclusively used for river transport tion), in conveying the products of our forests, our salt works, and our farms to market. These barges are of a capacity of 39,700 tons custom house measurement, and employ about 500 men in their constant business, besides over 2,500 men who are temporarily engaged in the loading and unloading. The capital invested in these barges will exceed one million of dollars. There are not far from fifty steam barges and tugs engaged in the towing of these barges, which are not included in any of the figures above given. Of these probably a carrying capacity of 6,000 tons (an estimate) should be added to our former estimate of tonnage, while the aggregate of capital represented by them would be at least half a million of dollars. The barge business proper may be set down at an inside limit of tonnage, at 45,000 tons. Capital invested, one and a half million of dollars. The old styles of transportation are rapidly giving way to the new—and ere many years we may expect to see the carrying trade of the Lakes monopolized by propellers, and the barges which accompany them."

We have the following from Chicago:—

Scarcely a dozen cargoes arrived, and the docks were speedily cleared, quite a number of cargoes being sold to arrive from Muskegon, Manistee, and other points. The attendance was large, several country buyers putting in a personal appearance. The feeling was very firm, prices, for lumber, shingles, and lath closing steady, as follows:—

The following items are from the Detroit Free Press:—

BARGES AND LUMBER.—Upwards of two million feet of lumber, on board of five barges, passed this port yesterday in one tow. Five barges in tow of the Zouave, en route for cargoes, passed up last evening. Chicago is not only furnishing the Detroit market with a superior quality of lumber, but within the past few days cargoes have been shipped from that port to Buffalo, one vessel, the schr Sweepstake, having no less than 345,000 feet.

RAFTING.—The tug Forrest arrived at an early hour yesterday morning with a large raft consigned to this city. The tug Vulcan, with a raft containing 110,000 feet of timber, had arrived at Port Hope, Thursday evening, where she lay by for better weather. Her raft was at that time intact, and had in no wise been disturbed. The weather calmed down during the night, and her arrival was looked for this morning in St. Clair River.

The market for lumber, though not quite as active in a wholesale way, is still buoyant and brisk at the retail yards. The demand for old dry lumber of last year's cutting is fully up to the average of former years at the corresponding time, all desirable lots being readily taken at full current rates. The low grades of lumber, such as roofing and cheap inside materials for out-of-town work, have been in brisk demand. At present there is somewhat of a lull in new contracts, and the demand for lumber is now almost wholly confined to the grades most wanted in finishing.

New lumber from the West has not begun to arrive very freely as yet, but the mills are all running up to full capacity, and general activity pervades the lumber districts. The stock of old lumber is becoming much reduced under the heavy draft which has been made upon it during the Spring and Summer. New lumber is held higher at the mills than it is in the markets, the stocks in Chicago being large and the demand limited. Eastern lumber is brisk, and holders are crowding their sawings into the market. Clapboards are scarce and firm, but shingles, both Eastern and Western, are plenty, and held at full prices.

Canada lumber is firm and in fair demand at unchanged prices. It is estimated that 175,000,000 feet of lumber come out of Canada and pass the Custom House at Rouse's Point every season. It is towed in barges by steam tugs, and not unfrequently three or four of these tugs, with eight or nine lumber boats attached, are in sight at one time. The lumber mostly comes from the Ottawa region, and has to pass through one or two canals and the Ottawa, St. Lawrence and Richelieu rivers before reaching Lake Champlain, where it is deposited in the immense lumber yards at Burlington, Rouse's Point and other places on the lake, and from there distributed all over the country by rail, etc. During the present season the duties received on imports of lumber passing Rouse's Point amount to $2.000 per day.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.
Pine	1,257,322	Spruce	3,011,865
Hemlock	352,484	White Wood	15,948

Michigan Pine Saps, $40@43; do. Pickings, $35@38. No. 4 Michigan Pine Boards, $25@28. Best Michigan 6 in. Strips, $45@50.

Canada Pine.—Selects Dressed, $50@53. Shelving Dressed, $36@38. Sheathing, 1st qual., $45@47; do. 2d do., $30@31; Ceiling Dressed, $37@40. Dressed Shippers, $26@28.

Eastern.—Pine Clear, No. 1 and 2, $55; No. 3, $45@48; No. 4, $35@38: No. 5, $30@32. Common, Pine Shipping Boards, $20@21; No. 5, $20@21: Refuse, $15@16; Spruce, Scantling and Plank, $14@16; Boards, $16@17. Hemlock boards, $14.

Southern Pine.—Timber, resawed, $20@37. Flooring, Nos. 1 and 2, $25@36; Ship stock, $30@34; Hewn timber, $22@33; Refuse, 14@22. Laths, spruce, $2.25@2.50; Hemlock, $1.75; Pine, $2.75@3.

METALS.—Manufactured Copper has met with a very fair inquiry for local consumption and domestic shipment, and former prices were realized without difficulty, the market showing a generally firm and uniform tone. The stock is fair. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal; and 19@19½c for old sheathing. Ingot has sold with greater freedom to the trade, and also met with a speculative inquiry, giving the market a stronger tone and somewhat advancing prices, the rates as we close standing at 21⅞@22c on spot, and 22½@22¾c for short forward delivery. Scotch Pig Iron, without showing universal activity, sold to a very fair extent, and the market has ruled firm on all grades, with holders offering rather sparingly. We quote at $31@34 per ton. American Pig Iron has been in quick demand, both for immediate and future delivery, with full prices in every instance obtained, and the market throughout showing a stronger tone and some grades a trifle higher. The immediately available supply is now rather small, as some holders have partially withdrawn their stocks. We quote at $35@36 per ton for No. 1; $33@34 do for No. 2; and $31@33 do for forge. Bar Iron has been very dull and somewhat nominal. Holders, however, seem rather indifferent, and prices probably would not be modified to hurry business. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $80@72.50 for common; $105@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $100@120 for scroll; $95@105 for ovals and half round; $92.50@95 for band; $95 for horse-shoe; $100@140 for hoop; $82.50@120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch); and 6¾c per lb for nail rod, all cash. Common Sheet Iron has met with a moderate trade call, but nothing approaching activity; the offerings not very liberal, and holders, as a rule, quite firm. We quote at 4½@5¾c for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet fairly active and steady. We quote at 9¼@10c for 14@20; 11c for 22@24; 12c for 25@26; and 13@14c for 27@29, all net cash. Russia Sheet has continued firm at the late improvement, and the offerings were, as a rule, moderate, but the demand was not quite so active. We quote at 12½@12¾c gold, according to number. Pig Lead has been almost entirely neglected, and the market is in a dull and somewhat nominal condition, though holders are asking as before, and we continue to quote at 6½@5¾c gold, for foreign. Manufactured Lead steady and selling fairly. We quote at 9¼c for bar; 10½c for sheet and pipe; 15c for tin-lined pipe, less the usual trade discount. Pig Tin has continued to sell with freedom and to increase in value, closing with moderate offerings and full prices in all cases demanded. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English, 34¾@35c; Straits, 35¾@36c; and Banca, 40@40½c. Tin Plates are less active, but rule steady on all grades. Zinc in very fair demand and steady at 9@9¼c from store.

NAILS.—Most dealers report a steady, uniform market, and though the volume of business at present is not in reality very large, there is a good prospect ahead, and a corresponding degree of encouragement is felt. Mail orders come to hand in increasing volume, and the attendance of regular buyers is also better; and with the reduced tariffs of the transportation companies, shipments are being hurried to some extent. Exporters also show more interest, and there is a California demand prevailing. The stocks on hand continue very fair in quantity and assortment, and are receiving some additions, but nothing excessive. Prices about as before, and steady beyond the usual small favors shown first-class customers. As we close our report, a meeting of Nail manufacturers is in progress at Niagara Falls, but no change of importance is looked for on prices.

We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50: cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@21c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 182 pckgs., valued at $1,078; and since January 1st, 10,137 pckgs., valued at $63,367. We also notice shipments of 162 pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—There has not been quite so much activity in the wholesale market as at the date of our last, but still the movement was very fair and the trade seem quite well satisfied with the position. In addition to the call from our regular city jobbers, a great many of the large interior dealers have been improving the opportunity of a reduced cost of transportation, and laid in a stock of standard goods of fair magnitude in anticipation of the Fall trade. Prices have remained firm and uniform on all grades, but there was no important advance, as the stocks on hand and current arrivals together made an assortment about large enough to fully balance the outlet. Jobbers are selling fair amounts of goods, and, all things considered, doing a fair business; but this is not the season for a large consumption, and a liberal movement is not expected for several weeks as yet. The stock in store is fair in quantity and assortment, the recent purchases having brought matters into favorable shape. Prices show a little irregularity, but on the whole may be called reasonably steady. For Linseed Oil the demand has been fair but not active, the market ruling steady. Some outside parcels are offering, but they are held at nearly or quite the Association rate, and rather serve to strengthen the position just at present. Some crushers report that they have sold their production for some time ahead at full current figures. We quote at 84c. in casks, and 85c. in bbls.

	This week.		Since Jan. 1. 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	value	69 $541	10,064 value	$62,830
Linseed oil, galls.	"	225 194	8,395 "	7,581
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	"	250 2,600	2,426 "	25,510

PITCH.—The market is very quiet for city, which is the only kind offered. Dealers are taking very small lots, as their actual wants demand, and prices though firm are hardly more than nominal at the late advance. We quote at:—$3@3.25 for city: $3.12½@3.37½ for Southern: and small lots, very choice, in a jobbing way from store, $3.25 @3.50. Receipts for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st., 469 bbls; for same time last year 2,042. Exports for week, 135 bbls; since January 1st, 1,682 bbls; same time last year, 2,727 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market has fluctuated widely since our last, and it is very difficult to give a correct quotation. The "bulls" and "bears" are both exerting themselves to put the market up or down as to their interests. The actual demand has been very small, but as no lots of any size have come to this market, prices have been kept pretty steady, and at the close lots from store are reported at 59@60c, though we are informed that 55c would buy lots to arrive in a few days. A good business has been done in Wilmington for August delivery for export. The stock here is very light and will not probably be increased to any great extent for some time to come. Quotations vary in the same day so greatly that a price is not left open for more than a few minutes. We quote at 57@59c for merchantable and shipping order, and 58@60c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 59@60c and retail lots from store, 60@61c. Receipts for the week, 805 bbls; since January 1st, 32,223 bbls; and for the same period last year, 38,810 bbls. Exports for the week, 397 bbls; since January 1st, 8,219 bbls; and for the same period last year, 9,851 bbls.

TAR.—The market is steady but rather quiet at the late advance. Buyers do not take hold at all freely, and the sales of Wilmington are very small. The business done in Washington is not large, but small lots are steadily selling, footing up in the aggregate a fair business. The demand is entirely for home use, mostly local. We quote as follows:—$2.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $3.50@4 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4@4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25@4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st, 12,423 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,313 bbls. Exports for week, 50 bbls; since January 1st, 7,228 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,564 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending July 17, 1871, is as follows:—

The lumber markets in different directions continue in a healthy condition. As the slack season begins to pass away there are signs of business picking up. Besides increased local consumption there have lately been more shipping orders from South America and the West India islands, as well as some shipments to California. The English market for deals continues good. Builders and consumers have little stock on hand and are purchasing to meet their contracts. The indications are favorable for an active fall trade. Up to this time the Chicago market has been very quiet, but within the last few days it has been excited, and, owing to a falling off in receipts and an increased demand, an advance has been established of at least $1.00 per M on good mill run of green lumber. The mills north are not running at present on account of low water, and very little spruce and hemlock are coming forward. The stock on hand is very light. The transactions in pine lumber have been larger since our last. Michigan pine is very firm, with an upward tendency. Prices are unchanged.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by Lake and Rail are reported at 6,861,800 feet, and at Oswego by Lake, 9,666,000 feet.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of Lumber for the season of 1871 and 1870 as follows:—

	Received.	Shipped.
1871.....	438,860,000 feet	295,187,000 feet.
1870.	393,874,000 "	293,369,000 "
Increase.....	44,986,000 "	1,818,000 "

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals for the third week of July were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871....	12,193,000	1,428	....	$62,900
1870....	16,563,700	655	....	872,500

Of the Boards and Scantling received 9,356,700 feet were by the Erie, and 2,837,000 feet by the Champlain Canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals from the opening of navigation to July 23d, were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber. c. ft.	Staves, lbs
1871..	161,520,000	14,749	....	6,307,300
1870..	181,247,900	8,262	....	7,049,800

Lake freights are $2.75@3.25 to Buffalo, and $5@5.50 to Oswego, Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hard wood, and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

IMPORTANT TO BUILDERS.

DECISION OF THE COURT OF APPEALS ON THE MECHANICS' LIEN LAW.

William S. Rollin agt. Sarah Cross.—This action was brought to foreclose a mechanic's lien on premises in the city of Brooklyn. The case was referred and tried before W. J. Cogswell, Esq., referee.

The facts of the case are as follows:—

On the 10th of November, 1867, one Thomas S. Godwin made a contract with one Edward Pick to build a house on the premises for him. At that time Charles C. Betts was the legal owner of the land. Pick went to work, as claimed, under the contract, and did work and furnished materials to the amount of $800. He then assigned the contract and the moneys due him thereunder to the plaintiff. The assignment was made January 8, 1868. After the assignment Rollin went on, as claimed, under the contract, and did work and furnished materials to the amount of $400 between the date of assignment and the date of filing lien. On the 13th of January, 1868, Betts conveyed the property to Sarah Cross, the defendant, by deed dated September 14, 1867, but not acknowledged or delivered until January 13, 1868.

The plaintiff Rollin filed his lien for amount of all the work done and materials furnished both by Pick, the original contractor, before assignment, and by himself, as assignee of contract, after assignment of contract to him; on the 16th of April, defendant conveyed the property to William H. Rushmore, who now holds the fee.

The whole amount of the work done by Rollin, plaintiff, and materials furnished by him after the contract was assigned to him, was $400. The lien is filed against Sarah Cross, the defendant, who owned the fee from January 13, 1868, to April 16, 1868—and not against Betts, who owned the fee when the contract was made and most of the work done.

The judgment is given for plaintiff for the whole amount of claim, $1,200, and interest and costs, including the work and materials done and furnished by Pick, the original contractor before he assigned the contract to plaintiff. Godwin, who made the contract, never owned the fee, and never was authorized by, or had any authority from Mrs. Cross to make any contract with any one to build a house on the premises; and Mrs. Cross had nothing to do with the contract in any way; neither did Godwin have any authority from Betts, who owned the fee when the contract was made, and the $800 worth of work and materials done and furnished, to make any contract for him to build the house; and Betts had nothing to do with it, and knew nothing about it.

The work, as stated by Godwin, plaintiff's witness, was done according to his verbal directions, and not according to the contract and specifications.

Upon appeal to the General Term, the judgment given by the referee was affirmed. An appeal was then taken to the Court of Appeals, and this Court reversed the decision, Judge Andrews writing the opinion.

It is found by the referee that the land upon which the lien is claimed was not conveyed to the defendant until January 13, 1868.

But it is a just inference, from the findings in connection with the evidence, that when the contract was made between Godwin and Pick, on the 10th of November, 1867, she held the land under a contract of purchase from Betts.

This deed to her, although it was not acknowledged until the 13th of January, 1868, was dated the September previous.

The witness Godwin testified that Mrs. Cross purchased the lot and that a house was to be built upon it for him and his family, and that she was to advance money to assist him in building it.

The parties acted upon the assumption that Mrs. Cross had an interest in the premises.

The contract was made and the work on the house was commenced without any consultation, so far as it appears, with Betts, and he subsequently delivered the deed to Godwin for her.

There is no proof when the purchase money was paid, or whether anything had been paid at the time the contract for building the house was made.

The legal title to the land at that time was in Betts, subject to such rights as Mrs. Cross had under her contract of purchase.

The statute under which the lien is claimed (Laws of 1862, chap. 478) gives to a contractor for building a house a lien upon the land upon which it is built, under certain conditions, and upon the existence of certain facts which are specified in the act.

The work was to be performed under a contract with the owner of the land or his agent, or with a person permitted by the owner to build upon it.—[Sec. 1.]

The lien given by the statute is one unknown to the common law, and the party claiming under it a lien upon the premises of another, must bring himself within its terms. In the absence of any definition in the statute, it might well be that a person having an equitable title to the land upon which the work was done, and a right to a conveyance of the property, would be regarded as the owner of the land within the statute, and that a lien under a contract made with a party having such a relation to it would attach to the equitable interest as upon a contract made with the owner. The vendee in such a contract is treated in equity as the owner, and many of the incidents to a legal title attach to the interest of a vendee under a contract of sale. But the first section of the act referred to, after defining the persons in whose favor the lien may be created, and declaring that the lien shall extend to the value of labor and material performed or furnished "by virtue of any contract with the owner of the lands or his agent, or with any person permitted by the owner of the lands to build, etc.," thereon, concludes as follows:—

"The cases in which the owner has made an agreement to sell and convey the premises to the contractor or other persons, such owner should be deemed to be the owner within the meaning and intent of this act, until a deed shall have been actually delivered so as to pass the fee simple of said premises."

It is the clear construction of the statute that a lien upon the land cannot be acquired for work done or materials furnished under a contract made with the equitable owner as against the person holding the legal title, unless the building is constructed by his permission. When the work is done by his consent, the lien attaches to the land and is a charge upon his interest therein.

If no consent has been given, the contract is not within the statute.

It was the design of the statute to charge the land with debts contracted in improving it, in case the owner permitted the work to be done, although under a contract made with the vendee.

If the contract of sale should be surrendered or forfeited, the value of the owner's interest would be increased by the accessions made to the land; and if the purchaser completed the purchase, he would take it charged with the lien in favor of those who had contributed their labor and property in improving it.

It was held in Loomis et al. vs. Hogan, 9 N.Y., 435, that the owner of a lot who had contracted to sell it and to make a loan to the purchaser to build upon it, was not the owner of the building erected by the purchaser within the lien law of 1830 (laws 1830, p. 412); although, by the agreement of sale, the title was not to be transferred to the vendee until the completion of the building.

The statute in question protects laborers and material men against such a construction.

The permission of the vendee to build upon the land is by such an agreement a part of it, and under a contract made with the vendee the lien given by statute could be secured. In this case, Mrs. Cross, who had the equitable title to the premises when the contract was made, permitted Godwin, who made the contract with Pick, to build upon them.

Before the time arrived for filing the lien, her equitable title became a legal one by the conveyance to her, and that title remained in her when the lien was filed.

The legal title was acquired under her contract with Betts, which existed when the building contract was made. The inchoate right under the contract of purchase was perfected and became a legal title by the conveyance.

It is consistent with legal analogies to hold that the conveyance related to the time when the contract of purchase was made, and that the defendant was within the statute the owner of the land when Godwin and Pick, by her permission, entered into the contract for building the house; and this construction supports the equities of this case.

In this view, the conditions of the statute are met, and a lien under it was given and was properly filed against the defendant.

The lien was filed by the plaintiff as assignee of the contract with Pick.

At the time of the assignment a portion of the work had been performed by the original contractors, and it was completed by the assignee.

The notice of lien was filed for the value of the whole work, and by the judgment the lien was allowed to be enforced as well for the work done before as after the assignment.

The assignee was not, we think, entitled to a lien for the work done before the assignment.

The lien under statutes of this character is in general a personal right given to the mechanic, material man and laborer for his own protection, and the right to create it cannot be assigned or transferred to another—Danbegny vs. Duval, 5 Term, 604; Caldwell vs. Laminer, 10 Wis., 332; Pearsons vs. Tinckner, 36 Me., 384; unless the assignment is made for the benefit of the assignor and to hold as his agent, so that the lien may be preserved. Urquehart vs. McIvor, 4 Jo., 102; McCombe vs. Davis, 7 East, 3.

The statute under which the plaintiff claims does not authorize a lien to be filed by the assignee of a debt for work performed under a building contract.

The words "or other claimant," in the third section, do not, we think, enlarge the specification in the first section of the persons in whose favor a lien may be created.

The judgment should be reversed, unless the plaintiff elects to reduce the judgment to $400 with interest from March 11, 1868, in which case the judgment is affirmed without costs.

J. L. Overfield, for plaintiff; Crook, Bergen & Clement, for defendant.—Brooklyn Eagle.

AN EXAMPLE FOR OUR PARK COMMISSIONERS.

WE cannot expect to reach perfection all at once, but it is well for those who have in charge our beautiful Central Park to keep an eye upon what is being done abroad, so as at least to emulate the best models of the Old World. It is a remarkable fact that while England has, for many years past, stood foremost in the extent and splendor of her zoological gardens, she never has until now seen the necessity of establishing any large collection of fishes, by which science could be forwarded through a study of the wondrous creations in the sea, as well as of those on land. It is the more remarkable that this important branch of natural history should have been so long neglected there, when it is well known that in Germany, and other parts of Continental Europe, many such institutions have for a long time past been aiding the researches of science.

A scheme has, however, at last been matured in England for this purpose, and, as usual, it has been undertaken upon the grandest scale. It has been decided to erect a gigantic aquarium at Brighton, which shall surpass in extent and completeness anything of the kind in the world, and the works are already fast progressing. This mammoth establishment is to be located close to the sea-side, upon a commanding piece of ground, and is intended to hold not less than from twelve to fifteen thousand people, when complete. Although the scientific nature of the establishment will be kept most prominently in view, the Company are not going to neglect any of those extraneous aids which can make it a place of popular resort and enjoyment, similar to those of the great Zoological and Botanical Gardens. Magnificent terraces, stately gardens, and commodious places of entertainment will lend their aid in attracting crowds to it as a place of amusement as well as of study. The grand Hall will be capable of accommodating easily some 1,500 people, and this, when not used for scientific lectures, can be devoted to balls and concerts. The Aquarium proper will be constructed upon the best principles, based upon the finest examples of similar institutions now existing. It will be built of three corridors, from each of which will project a wing on each side, 80 feet long and 23 feet wide, with a middle hall 56 feet long and 45 feet broad. On each side of these corridors will be placed the great reservoirs, the largest of which is 100 feet long and 25 feet deep; while the smallest of them will not be under 10 feet in length and depth.

It is easy to imagine what must be the interest created, when these immense receptacles are crowded with well-selected and rare specimens of the finny tribe, collected from the oceans and rivers, and revelling in their native element. We all can remember the pleasure afforded by even such a collection as Mr. Barnum had got together in his old museum down town. But these, from the confined space, could necessarily be only minor specimens. In such gigantic reservoirs as are here contemplated, it will be possible to bring before us some of the great monsters of the deep, and make us as familiar with the inhabitants of old Ocean as we already are with those of the jungles of India and Africa. It may be long before we can hope to see such an institution here, at least upon so grand a scale; but we think that while exerting ourselves to establish here a Zoological Garden that shall be worthy of the name, we should not altogether lose sight of a no less interesting and instructive branch of natural history.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—There has not been much improvement in the general position of affairs on North River Hards so far as prices are concerned, since our last, and, indeed, in many cases buyers have gained somewhat easier terms. The demand has improved somewhat, and indicates a still further increase in the month; but the supply has been the main trouble, and the immense offering kept values down on all grades. The retail yards were full, the wholesale docks piled up almost to their greatest capacity, and a great many cargoes were afloat seeking a market, and sellers had to allow easy terms or keep their stock. About $9 was all that could be obtained for anything except fancy on a special order, and from this the rates ranged all the way down to $7.50 per M for very common. Although, as noted above, the market does not yet actually improve, the prospect, as we write, is more encouraging, and dealers feel hopeful that the worst is over. The distribution for consumption commences to increase, the large stock offering from first hands is getting down into more manageable shape, and receipts are falling off, as manufacturers have supplied so freely that they have gained storage room, and can now manage to hold back supplies. The production, however, is without much abatement and can be kept up, as labor is comparatively plenty, notwithstanding the croakers to the contrary, and with the few months left for work brickmakers will improve all their time. In addition to the regular local outlet, there has been a revival of the shipping demand from the Eastward, and we hear of several cargoes going forward, the prices current being sufficiently low to compete with the production in that direction. New Jersey Hards have been in fair supply, with a demand about in proportion to the sale of North River stock, and prices as before, say, $7.50 per M, though we hear of some lots as low as $7 per M. Pale Brick are nominally steady at $6 for the best, but it must be the best to realize this figure, while a good many lots have sold at $5. The demand is fair and takes off most of the offerings for an "East side" and Brooklyn consumption. Philadelphia Fronts in fair demand and steady at $28@30 per M on pier. Croton Fronts still very slow and prices a little doubtful, as manufacturers are reported as changing figures nearly every day. Exports to British West Indies of 10,000 bricks.

DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS.—During the past two or three months there has been a good steady demand current; indeed, the movement was quite brisk, and some manufacturers assert they have done more business than at any time for years. The energy and perseverance of a few leading houses in introducing ready-made goods of this kind, and judiciously advertising them, is now meeting with a deserved reward, and as builders find the quality, quantity, and assortment such as to permit of any reasonable selection just when they want it, the call is rapidly increasing, the more so that prices can be placed very low. The improvement and perfection of machinery also permits of a more rapid and less costly execution of special orders for irregular sizes, shapes, etc. The demand has come very largely from local sources, but included a goodly proportion of Southern orders, and a continuous outlet to meet the wants of suburban towns, especially in New Jersey. Buyers from the latter section are paying promptly, but collections at other points—including this city—are slow and irregular, and sellers are disposed to show a little more caution. An export trade from all accounts seems to be entirely among the memories of the past. We retain our former table of quotations, as representing about the average range of prices, but as there is considerable sharp competition, slight concessions are no unusual occurrence as a simple matter of necessity to secure first-class customers. The accumulation and assortment are fair, though a few dealers are a little behind on orders.

LATH.—The market has shown rather an uncertain tone during the period under review; but, on the whole, the position appears to be such that neither buyer or seller can gain any positive advantage. The distribution has been very fair, but could all be supplied without difficulty from the purchases of the middle and latter part of last month, and current arrivals, and dealers in consequence continued to assume an indifferent tone, so far as our city trade was concerned, but some buyers from out-of-town were a little anxious, and offered a very good outlet for the surplus stock. Receivers are talking about all the available supplies being in, vessels scarce, and nothing more likely to come to hand until the production can be worked up a little more freely; but as only a few cargoes per week are really wanted just now, our dealers are not much frightened at the cry of wolf. It is claimed that logs for lumber may be scarce, even to an extent sufficient to close some of the mills, but logs suited to laths are still available in fair quantity, and the saws will be kept running just as long as there is any margin for profit left on the production. The market closes at about $2.25 bid, and $2.30 asked, with rather a firmer tone, owing to a moderate supply afloat. The demand fair, but buyers resist an advance.

LIME.—"Somehow or the other" buyers do not come to time with the freedom hoped for and even expected, and the market has shown a doubtful tone. There was a fair demand from local and near-by out-of-town dealers, but nothing unusually quick or of any great magnitude, and it seems impossible to induce the purchase of invoices to extent exceeding early wants. Trade, however, is all legitimate, without appearance of speculation, and as the stocks in yard are kept low by the hand to mouth system of operations, it is not improbable that when the call for winter use sets in the selling interest may gain considerable advantage. The main effort of manufacturers just now is to regulate the offering as closely to outlet as may be, and by this means they are enabled to prevent any serious break in values, and are also prepared to take advantage of any stimulating influence which may arise. The Northern or State limes continue in the usual somewhat uncertain condition, though naturally sympathize with Eastern to some extent, and prices are firmer on the best grades, but no higher. As we close the quotations are given at $1.10 for common, and $1.60 for finishing, with the demand moderate, but not many unsold cargoes afloat.

LUMBER.—Trade at the yards if not exactly active is evidently fair for the season, and we do not hear a great many complaints. Dealers of course would be very glad to entertain a larger attendance of customers and could meet a much more extensive outlet with promptitude and despatch, but all things considered the volume of business is probably as large as could reasonably be expected, and is more likely to increase than to fall off. As noted last week builders are in many cases disposed to operate with greater freedom, and where their standing is good, manage in odd lots to take off a fair amount of stock, while other sources of consumption require proportionate amounts, and the prevailing call may be called quite general. With the fair old stock on hand and the recent additions, the assortment admits of a very good selection, but some of the finer qualities cannot be obtained without a little search and always command extreme prices, though nothing to warrant a change in the tabular quotations. Shipments of small invoices are being made to Southern cities, and one or two orders of a special character were filled for ports on Long Island Sound, while the California trade, though not active, wants a little stock. Dealers are buying with caution at the sources of supply, but still at the same time keeping a bright look out for any good well-seasoned parcel, and where the price asked is not too extravagant, generally make it a point to secure the invoice, if possible to get it in yard before winter.

The wholesale markets have as a rule been pretty firm, the coastwise receipts finding a comparatively ready sale, and agents for the interior manufacturers managing to dispose of a larger number of contracts. Advices from the North and West speak of reduced production, owing to low streams, etc, and at some of the principal markets a little excitement has been shown, and while these reports are almost sure to be put forth at this season of the year, there is also a certainty of finding operators who will believe them, and the result is that a great many buyers hurry up their movements, and give the market, temporarially at least, a stronger tone. On the other hand, however, we find buyers who still hold off and assert their determination to postpone purchases to the latest possible moment. In little lots there has been a fair call for export on West India account, but nothing of any magnitude, as shippers are still enabled to work on full cargoes to greater advantage, direct from the mills.

Eastern Spruce has been more or less plenty according to the state of the wind, as there is as usual at this season quite a number of vessels engaged in the carrying trade, the sugar and molasses crop having been nearly all marketed. Still, the supply has at no time been so large as to prove really burdensome, and though some of the common lots occasionally sold low, good to prime schedules commanded extreme figures quite readily. As we close, the market is rather sparingly supplied and firm. We quote at $15@18 per M for inferior to fair, and $19@20 do. for good to prime.

White Pine continues in good fair demand from most regular sources, and commands full prices on any merchantable stock, the market showing a pretty firm tone throughout. The stock of well seasoned goods at all points is small, and owners not inclined to operate, unless they can obtain "top notch" rates. We quote shipping lots at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 do. for prime to choice. For Yellow Pine the demand is very good and the market quite firm, in view of rather small supplies present, and probable light additions in the immediate future. Captains generally are indisposed to run the Southern trip at this season, and have lately been further alarmed by reports of sickness at some of the ports. We quote at about $20@33 per M. Piling is plenty and dull, and quoted at6@7c. per foot. Shingles in fair demand and steady at about $4.50 for No. 1 Eastern.

We note additional exports as follows:—To Antwerp, 3 logs walnut, $158; to Hayti, 60,000 shingles, $705; to British West Indies, 5,200 shooks; to Cuba, 118 bundles box shooks; to Porto Rico, 700 shooks; to Brazil, 17,000 hoops, and 14,000 staves; to Antwerp, 15,600 staves; to Liverpool, 8,695 do; to London, 16,800 do; to Glasgow, 5,760 do; to Havre, 2,400 do; to Cette, 70,800 do; to Lisbon, 8,400 do; to Oporto, 9,600 do; to Brazil, 14,000 do. The receipts reported are as follows:—From Jacksonville, 180,000 feet lumber; from Maine coast, 11 cargoes do; from St. John, N. B., 743,494 feet lumber, 489,900 lath; 650 pcs piling; from Musquash, N. B., 34,000 lath, 167,000 feet lumber; from Shulee, N. S., 400 pcs piling. Charters as follows:—A Brig, 529 tons, from Savannah to River Plate, Lumber, $22.50 and primage; a Barque, 428 tons, to Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, Lumber and Mdse., $18 and 16c. to the first, and $17 and 17c. to the last named port: a Br. Barque, 308 tons, from Pensacola to Rio, Lumber, $23 and primage; one. 480 tons from Montreal to River Plate, Lumber, $21.50 net—privilege of Rosario, $4 extra; a Barque, 614 tons, same voyage, $21 net; a Barque, 309 tons, to Alicante, Light Pipe Staves, $30, one, 462 tons, from Montreal to River Plate, Lumber, $21 net; Brig, 277 tons, from Savannah to Providence, resawed Lumber, $10.

A city paper containing the following, which is a somewhat more hopeful view, aside from the fires, than lumbermen have of late been inclined to take of the prospect in regard to the destruction of the forests.

In 1866–7 the value of timber and lumber exported from Ontario and Quebec was calculated at over $12,000,000. The lumber trade has been of inestimable benefit to Canada, and the inquiry has arisen whether there is any immediate danger of the exhaustion of the material. It is thought by those who have looked into the matter that it is not from the axe of the lumberman that the danger is to be feared. The system of culling out pursued in felling the trees leaves enough young trees growing to keep up a full supply for any possible demand that is likely to occur for a long time. The real danger comes from fires passing through woods where refuse trees have fallen, and destroying everything in their progress.

The Chicago Times of the 18th inst says:—

LUMBER.—There has been no abatement in the wholesale lumber traffic since our last weekly review, but, on the contrary, the demand has been even larger and more urgent. The attendance, both of city and interior buyers, has been large during the past week, and the daily receipts for lumber, by cargo, from Muskegon, Manistee, and other prominent points, have been inadequate to meet the requirements of the trade. Hence, a firmer feeling was developed, and an actual advance of 25c was established on joist and scantling, as well as on boards and strips. City buyers have improved the time to lay in large stocks, as lighter receipts and higher prices are generally anticipated during the remainder of the season. The crop of logs at points on this lake will probably compare favorably with past seasons, but in the Saginaw valley many of the mills have been compelled to "shut down," in some instances for want of logs, and cargoes of choice lumber within the past fortnight have been shipped from this port to Detroit, Buffalo, Ogdensburg, and other points. The season for lumber will doubtless close considerably earlier than last year, as navigation opened much earlier last spring than usual. The market for cargoes closed steady, at the following range of prices:

Joist and scantling	$10 50@11 00
Common boards and strips	12 00@12 50
Good boards and strips	13 00@14 50
Choice mill-run	15 00@18 00

SHINGLES.—The receipts, though moderately large, have been sufficient to meet the largely increased demand, and prices for "A" brands have advanced to $3.15@3.25.

LATH AND PICKETS.—With fair receipts and a good demand, prices have ruled firm and unchanged, ranging at $2@2.12½ for lath, and $8 for pickets.

The following table shows the receipts and shipments during the past week:—

	Receipts.	Shipments.
Lumber, ft	59,185,000	13,210,000
Shingles, No	17,415,000	11,604,000
Lath, No	3,249,000	2,370,000

The following table shows the receipts and shipments from the 1st of January, 1871, to July 29, as compared with receipts and shipments for the corresponding time last year:—

	Receipts. 1871.	Shipments. 1870.

LIGHTNING TIME.—In less than thirty seconds, says the Saginawian a thirty thousand dollar land trade was effected in Bay City on Wednesday last, Daniel Ward, Esq., of Pontiac, purchasing the interest of Hon. Luther Westover in Sault Canal land groups, 215 and 217, estimated to contain 81,000,000 feet of pine timber of all qualities. The interest purchased was an undivided one third in about 6,000 acres, terms, one-fourth down and balance in one and two years. Less than an hour was consumed in drawing up the papers and completing the transaction.

We clip the following items from the Muskegon (Mich.) Enterprise of recent date:

GRAND HAVEN.—From a correspondent we learn that the lumber traffic to Chicago by barges is gradually increasing, and the present fall will without doubt exhibit larger aggregates than any previous year. The Gen. Paine keeps constantly in tow four barges outside, either loaded or in ballast, there being no less than eight owned by one firm engaged in the shipment of lumber.

MANISTEE.—The Times says, a German named Norris Kukart was killed on Monday last, while riding on a load of logs.—The Plunket Troupe are giving first class entertainments at the rink.—The new mill of Reitz Bros., on the Little Lake is fast approaching completion, and will be ready for operation about the middle of September. This mill when finished will be one of the best mills in Manistee.—The amount of lumber shipped from this port for the month ending July 15th, was 26,150,000 feet; 203 vessels cleared during the month, employing 1, 218 men. Among other exports were 105,000 shingles, 15,000 pickets, 300,000 feet square timber.

Messrs. A. B. Atwater & Co., of Flint, have purchased 17,000,000 feet of timber on the Tobacco River in Clare county, near the F. and P. M. Railway.

One vessel last week left the harbor with 400,000 feet of lumber for Ogdensburg.

From Griffin and O'Connor's market reporter of St. Louis, we clip the following:

The market continues to rule quiet for raft lumber at $16@24 for Wisconsin in the water and on the bank, and $16@17 for Chippewa. Stock unsold (partly in stack) estimated at 6,000,000 ft. Shingles dull at $3 90 on raft, and lath at $2.

Business at the depots and on the levee light, and sales difficult to make for all grades except choice and strictly choice, which are saleable at full prices. Yellow pine (especially common) in large supply and dull; dimensions very slow; poplar and black walnut stiff—little offering; no demand for oak; ash quiet; sycamore nominal; cedar unchanged; cedar posts saleable; vineyard poles sold at 12½c each. We quote the range for depot and levee lots: yellow pine flooring at $15 00@17 00 for blued, $18 00@20 00 for common to fair, and $21 00@23 00 for good to choice green, and $25 00@28 00 for common to choice dry; mill run dimensions at $14 00. Poplar $12 00@13 00 to $14@16 for boards and strips—1¼-inch boards sold at $21 00; chair plank $18 00@21 00. Black walnut at $20 00@25 00 for common, $30 00@35 00 for good to choice. Oak $16@23. Ash $20 00@23 00. Sycamore at $18 00@19 00. Cedar at $18 00@22 00 for hewn, and $24 00@35 00 for sawed. Cedar Posts at $22 00@25 00@27 00 ₱ 100.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin of recent datesays:—

Market steady and firm; receipts have been liberal and trade active. Prices have advanced since our last report about 50c per M on all grades. We quote scantling and joist at $10.50@11; common to fair strips and boards at $12@13; good to choice strips and boards at $14.50@16; shingles steady at $3.10@3.15; lath firm at $2.

The Tawas Gazette, commenting upon the business of lumbering and the increased valuation of pine lands in that section, mentions the following mills now in operation in the immediate vicinity of Tawas Bay, showing the scale on which this business is conducted :—

"The Alabaster shingle mill, run in connection with the extensive plaster mills of the Messrs. Smith; the shingle mills of Wm. McMillan, Alex. Henderson, A. Murphy & Son, E. L. Schram & Co., and the lumber and shingle mills of E. & J. Laidlaw, and Pettyes & Son—all the above, except the Alabaster mill, being in the interior. On the Bay are the extensive mills of W. Grant & Son, Adams & Swazer, and the Tawas Mill Company, at East Tawas; and S. & C. D. Hale and C. H. Whittemore, at Tawas City. Other mills are now in course of erection—the Cameron double-gang mill, in this village; Spencer & Co.'s lumber and shingle mill, in the interior; Cornell's lumber and shingle mill, also in the interior; and Mr. Shaw's shingle mill, on the shore a short distance below the Hale mill. There are yet other mills projected—one by Bousefield & Poole, on the premises known as the "Bird Property," immediately adjoining the Whittemore mill; and another by a party in Rockford, Illinois, who own 1,400 acres of pine land in this county, and a mill site on the shore, between the Hale mill and Alabaster. If we add to these the shipping of timber, pail bolts, etc., to other points to be manufactured, it will be seen that the lumbering interest of this section is of great and increasing magnitude and importance."

The following is from Boston :—

The market for lumber continues active, and a larger aggregate business has been done this summer than is usual. The principal demand is now for finishing lumber, to close contracts with, and most of the retail yards are busy. New cuttings are coming forward quite liberally, and life and activity prevail in all the lumber regions, though there is a reported scarcity of logs in some sections West. The Albany market is firm, and all Western lumber is sold about as fast as received. Spruce, hemlock, and pine are in active request for finishing, and the market for shingles and clapboards is brisk. Eastern lumber is coming forward in good quantities, and all cargoes of desirable grades are taken as fast as received.

Canada lumber is firm, with a good demand at unchanged prices.

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.

☞ From New Orleans we have the following :—

Receipts are meagre, but as the demand is also small, prices are still very easy, and if sales were forced nothing like the figures given below could be obtained.

The nominal rates for cargoes are as follows :—

Scantling, $10@12 per 1,000 feet; weather-boards, rough, $12@$13; dressed, $17@18; flooring, rough, $16@17; dressed, $20@22; Ceiling, dressed, $16@17; inch boards, $14; Cypress planks, $25@35 per 1,000 feet. Laths and shingles are extremely dull, nominally, $2.50@2.75 for the former, and $3.75@$4 for the latter.

METALS.—There has been a fair demand for manufactured copper for local consumption and domestic shipment. Prices remain steady. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal; and 19@19¼c for old sheathing. The demand for Ingot Copper has been good, though not so active as last week, but the market ruled firm at an advance of ¼@¼, closing at 22¾@22¾ for spot, and 22¼@22¾ for short delivery. There has been a better demand for Scotch Pig Iron, but the business mostly confined to small lots. Prices have advanced and close firm: we quote at $32@34 per ton. American do has been in brisk demand, both for immediate and future delivery. Prices have advanced and close firm. The immediately available supply is now rather small, as some holders have partially withdrawn their stocks. We quote at $35@36 per ton for No. 1; $33@34 do for No. 2; and $31@32 do for forge. The market for Bar Iron continues dull, and prices are nominal. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $80@72.50 for common; $105@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $100@120 for scroll; $95@105 for ovals and half round; $92.50@95 for band; $95 for horse-shoe; $1@1.40 for hoop; $82.50@120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch); and 6¾c per lb for nail rod, all cash. Common sheet iron has met with a moderate call; the offerings are small and the market firm. We quote at 4¾@5¾c for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet fairly active and steady. We quote at 9½@10c for 14@20; 11c for 22@24; 12c for 25@26; and 13@14c for 27@29, all net cash. Russia sheet remains steady at the late improvement, and the offerings were, as a rule, moderate, but the demand was not quite so active. We quote at 12¾@12½c gold, according to number. The market for Pig Lead remains dull, in fact business has been almost at a stand, and prices are nominal at 6½@6¾c gold for foreign. Manufactured Lead steady and selling fairly. We quote at 9½c for bar; 10½c for sheet and pipe; 15c for tin-lined pipe, less the usual trade discount. Pig Tin has again advanced, but the market is less active, closing with moderate offerings and full prices in all cases demanded. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English, 35¼@35½c; Straits, 36@36½c; and Banca, 40½@41c. Tin plates are less active, but rule steady on all grades. Zinc in very fair demand and steady at 9@9½c from store.

NAILS.—As anticipated in our last report the convention of manufacturers at Niagara Falls made two important changes in prices, and adjourned to meet at Pittsburgh on the 16th inst. The market during the week has shown a fair amount of life, indeed was a little more active, if anything, and the feeling is quite confident among dealers, many of whom are under the impression that the next change in the price list will be to a higher level. The call at present is from nearly all the regular sources, and comparatively general as to qualities, causing the outward movement to be of a very uniform character. The accumulation available, appears to be equal to the wants of business, both as regards quality and assortment, though the leading sizes of Cut cannot be called plenty, and a few additions would be acceptable. We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@21c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 91 pckgs., valued at $565; and since January 1st, 10,228 pckgs., valued at $63,952. We also notice shipments of 8 pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Business does not develop into any great amount of activity, though for the season the movement of goods is considered all if not more than could be expected, and hopes are entertained of a continuation of the present state of affairs until the regular Fall trade sets in. Importers and wholesale dealers are in possession of a sufficient stock, both as to quantity and quality, to meet all present wants, especially as some of the leading jobbers are still receiving direct consignments from abroad, but a few days of quick and liberal sales would undoubtedly make a serious impression upon the accumulation. As matters now stand, neither buyer or seller appear to seek any changes in values, and aside from the little points occasionally gained on the fluctuations of gold, prices may be called fairly steady. The distribution from jobbers' hands is in about proportion to the wholesale trade, with full prices asked and obtained, and the market ruling quite steady for all classes of goods, domestic and foreign. Linseed Oil is without change worthy of note, the demand proving very fair, and sellers pretty steady at the regular Association rates. There appears to be few if any outside lots now offering and where they are to be found full prices are asked, and no pressure to realize is developed. There has been a fair call for export, but the outlet in the main is to supply regular domestic points of consumption.

	This week.		Since Jan. 1, 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	136	value $1316	10,200	value $64,146
Linseed oil, galls.	350	" 333	8745	" 7914
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	250	" 2,600	2676	" 28,110

PITCH.—Trade is very quiet. There have been jobbing sales at $3.12½ from store, and $3.25 free on board for city. Buyers are taking only such lots as they need for actual requirements. We quote at: $3.12½ @ 3.25; $3.25½@ 3.37½ for Southern; and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25@3.50. Receipts for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st., 409 bbls; for same time last year 2,042. Exports for week, 36 bbls; since January 1st, 1718 bbls; same time last year, 2,729 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Immediately following our last the market again reacted, and 59c. was obtained for lots from wharf; since the market has declined to 52½c., which led to a free business, and the close is again higher. The movement has been part for export, largely for home use, and fair for export. We quote at 53@53½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 54@55c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 55@56c and retail lots from store, 56@57c. Receipts for the week, 1,312 bbls; since January 1st, 33,535 bbls: and for the same period last year, 39,845 bbls. Exports for the week, 16 bbls; since January 1st, 8,225 bbls; and for the same period last year, 10,011 bbls.

TAR.—The market is held confidently at late quoted prices, as the stock is small. The demand is not, however, large, and we note a comparatively quiet market. The sales are almost exclusively for home use. We quote as follows:—$2.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $3.87½@4 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4@4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25@4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 212 bbls; since January 1st, 12,635 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,338 bbls. Exports for week, nil bbls; since January 1st, 7,228 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,584 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 1, 1871 is as follows :—

Prices in this market ought to be higher than they now are in view of the cost of lumber. Low stocks, light receipts, high prices demanded by manufacturers and cost of transportation are sure to cause an advance before long. Lumber cannot be bought at present prices at Ottawa and anything be made on it at our selling rates. Albany is entitled to the reputation it has earned of being the best point to buy at on account of low prices. Up to this time buyers have had the opportunity of laying in their stocks to advantage, but from present indications will shortly have to pay more for all kinds of desirable lumber. Michigan pine is very firm at our highest quotations. Already we note that Oswego rates on the canal have been advanced to $3.25; this, with an anticipated early advance in lake and Buffalo freights, will put up prices here. The canal receipts for the week just closed show a slight increase over the receipts for the corresponding week last year; yet the aggregate receipts to the 1st inst. are 16,000,000 feet short of the receipts to the same day in 1870. Buyers seem to have made up their minds that prices are at the lowest, so we may look for an active and increased demand. A fair business has been done since our last upon a low but well assorted stock, and shipments have been steady.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by Lake and Rail are reported at 11,373,000 feet, and at Oswego by Lake, 7,342,800 feet.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals for the fourth week in July were :

	Bds.&Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	18,575,200	1,521	.....	321,200
1870.	15,147,900	1,408	.....	1,546,900

Of the Boards and Scantling received, 13,213,200 feet were by the Erie, and 5,362,000 feet by the Champlain canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to August 1st, were ;

	Bds.&Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	180,095,200	16,070	....	6,628,500
1870.	196,495,800	9,670	....	8,596,300

Lake freights are $2.75@3.25 to Buffalo, and 5.00@5.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6.00 on hard wood, and $5.00 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.25.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

To New York, per M	$1 50
To Bridgeport and New Haven	2 00
To Norwich and Middletown	2 50
To Hartford and Providence	3 00
To Boston, soft wood	4 00

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

SEAMEN'S BANK FOR SAVINGS.

THIS building, now rapidly approaching completion, at the northwest corner of Wall and Pearl streets, forms the most striking and imposing object in that immediate neighborhood. It has a frontage of 61 feet on Wall street and 85 feet on Pearl street, and comprises seven stories altogether in height, including the cellar and a high attic in Mansard roof. The under-cellar is occupied by the machinery for heating, ventilation, etc. The basement, which is spacious on plan, but rather low, contains large offices both on Pearl and Wall streets. There is a nice contrivance on this floor, which is a step or two below the street level—and that is the access from Pearl street to two elevators which lead from this level all the way up to the attic floor, thus saving the necessity of using the main stairway at all to those who would ascend to any distance. The first floor, which is approached by a flight of bold steps from the main Wall street entrance, contains a hall 10 feet wide, with large and handsome offices on each side, and leading direct to the grand banking-room, which is 40 feet by 59 feet on plan, with a large hall for officers in the rear. This banking-room is 30 feet high, occupying the height of two entire stories, and with a wide gallery running round the upper part. The second story will have fine offices for letting out, the rear portion being occupied by the upper part of the banking-room, with the gallery leading to a large room in the rear for the use of the directors. The third story is entirely occupied by offices, all of which are very roomy, well lighted and ventilated, and amply supplied with wash-basins, water-closets, and all other conveniences. The fourth story is treated in a similar manner; while the fifth, or attic story, comprises dwelling apartments for the janitor and others connected with the building. The whole plan is very conveniently arranged, and it is also evident that every square inch has been devoted to the best and most available use. The building, too, has been made fire-proof from cellar to roof, of iron and brick arches, and everywhere gives proof of that solidity of construction which was naturally to be expected of Messrs. HATFIELD, who are universally recognized as among the foremost of our scientific and constructive architects.

We wish we could speak as favorably of the exterior; but, being another of those cases in which the attempt is made to make iron do the work and imitate the appearance of stone, the effect is an unpleasant one. Indeed, so far in this case has the effort to imitate stone been carried, that in the seemingly large blocks of granite in the basement piers—blocks that in size and apparent solidity would emulate even those of the Equitable Insurance Building—they have actually imitated in iron the rusticated chisel-marks that are to be found on granite blocks! This looks to us very much like caricaturing art.

The basement story, only a step or two below the street level, has a low squatty appearance, and consequently was the last place in which we should have expected to find the light Corinthian style of treatment. As a necessary result, the columns, instead of having their proper proportions, are all cut down into little dwarfs beyond all classical recognition. The first and second stories are also treated with Corinthian columns and circular-headed windows, which have a much better appearance, as the extra height enables the columns to have their proper proportions. The third and fourth floors have segmental arched windows between bracketed pilasters, in the modern French style. The fifth story has the same treatment, but with circular windows. The roof is bold and salient, well proportioned, and pleasantly relieved by the well-shaped dormer windows. The main entrance on Wall street has been made as imposing as the width would allow, and is formed of a Corinthian portico, surmounted by a seaman and Indian supporting a shield—the arms of the bank. The same projection extends far up the centre of the main front, giving a fine frontispiece to the building.

Upon the whole, whatever this building may lack in artistic success depends entirely upon the cardinal error—so common in many of the buildings we have erected of late—of not boldly erecting an iron building as iron, or a stone one as stone. If we will construct our fronts of iron, surely this material is capable of being moulded into such characteristic forms of beauty as shall, at the very first glance, proclaim it to be what it really is, instead of slavishly adhering to the old forms of stone construction, even to the petty subterfuge of copying the very tool-marks employed upon the latter. We leave to others to decide upon the relative merits of iron and stone construction in our façades; but we do hope that where it is decided to employ iron, those of our leading architects who may be entrusted with its treatment will take the trouble to design new forms adapted to its peculiar use, and not go on vitiating public taste by making thin iron plates attempt to assume the form of massive and substantial granite. The cost of the bank is, we believe, estimated at about $350.000, and it may be four months yet before it is entirely fit for occupation.

POPULATION OF THE PRINCIPAL CITIES OF THE UNITED STATES.

To those who may not be already provided, the following alphabetical list, showing the populations of many of the leading cities of the United States, and taken from the census of 1870, will be found extremely useful as a reference. In addition to the column showing the population of each city in 1870, another one is placed giving what it was in 1860; and the result is carried out alongside in the percentage of increase or decrease in population during the last ten years. The list is, of course, only partial; as there are at present no fewer than fourteen cities counting over 100,000 inhabitants, twenty-five over 50,000, forty-three over 30,000, and fifty at least that can count as many as 25,000.

* Decrease.

The above list gives some interesting facts. It would appear that there are only two cities which have retrogaded during the last ten years:—New Bedford, in Massachusetts, and Savannah, in Georgia; the first at the rate of 33.99 per cent, and the other at 9.24 per cent. New Bedford thus appears the sickliest of the family, and it would be instructive to learn the cause of such manifest decadence. On the other hand, there are young and thriving cities, whose growth during the past ten years appears little short of marvellous; many increasing more than one hundred per cent. Thus, for instance, Chicago has risen from 109,260 to 298,983, or 173.64 per cent.; San Francisco from 56,802 to 149,473, or 164.71 per cent.; Jersey City from 29,226 to 81,744, or 179.70 per cent.; while the little town of Scranton, Pa., has leaped from 9,223 to 35,093, or 280.49 per cent.; and Kansas City, Mo., shows the amazing increase from 4,418 to 32,260, or no less than 627.66 per cent.! To young men contemplating a change in their location, it would be well to watch these evident marks of prosperity that have singled out certain places, and make their calculations accordingly; for such prosperity is invariably based upon known and settled causes, and is never the result of mere accident.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The market for North River Hards has been only fairly active in a general way, and somewhat unsettled, without any positive change on the extreme range of values, however. Really first-class stock was scarce throughout the week, and ruled quite firm, while in some cases where selected lots were positively insisted upon, sellers managed to obtain very high figures, indeed, much higher in one or two instances, than it would be safe to quote; but taking the ordinary run of cargoes, and the cost averaged about as before, while common and inferior grades sold very low and very slowly. The latter were very plenty, and during a portion of the week the offering was largely made up of mashed and broken cargoes. The bulk of the class of stock came from up river, the "bay" bricks as usual running rather the best on quality. We should call $8.50 a fair figure to represent the bulk of the sales of merchantable stock, with fine lots reaching $9 and higher, and the inferior grades selling down to $7.50, and in case even as low as $7 per M. The outlet is in the main local, but dealers are not by any means anxious, as their yards are pretty full, and the distribution increases slowly. The eastern shipping demand continues fair, but buyers on this account want very fine stock at a very low price, and sellers are not altogether inclined to accommodate. An occasional Southern order comes to hand, but the inquiry from this source is likely to make only a very small impression upon the accummulation. New Jersey Hards continue to sell in a slow, uncertain manner, and the market is at times almost nominal, though about $7 to $7.50 per M. according to quality, covers a fair proportion of the sales. Some of the New Jersey manufacturers appear to have culled out the best brick for home use, and sent the refuse in this direction, and these lots gave the entire production a bad name. Pale brick have sold at a rather lower range, partly owing to the near approach in price of the poorer grades of hards. The demand, however, seems on the whole to have been very fair, certain sections of the Eastern portion of this city and a large district of Brooklyn affording a steady outlet for this class of stock. The best cargoes have commanded $5.50 per M., but the majority of sales are made at about $5 per M., and this is the market rate. Croton Fronts continue to move in a very moderate and somewhat uncertain manner, and really have no positively established market value. Manufacturers amuse themselves by advancing and reducing prices from week to week, and buyers make no objections as few purchases are made, and these only on special orders. Stone and iron fronts and cheap Philadelphia brick, have left very little chance for Crotons, especially when builders find some of the Hards now making better adapted to all classes of work to which Crotons could be put when not used as fronts, and the difference in cost is of course very decided. There has been a pretty good supply accummulated this summer, but owners say that notwithstanding the blue look now their time is coming soon. There is some irregularity on the quotations given, but we should say that the figures were about $12 for brown, $14 for dark, and $15 for red. For Philadelphia fronts there is a good steady demand, and the not very large offerings are pretty much all disposed of with former figures obtained at $28 to $30 per M. delivered here on wearf. We note exports of 10,000 bricks to British West Indies.

GLASS.—The demand is not very active for foreign window glass and the market has rather a dull tone, but the feeling is pretty firm, as a rule, and sellers are reducing the discounts. The stocks are only fair on the really desirable grades, and receiving few additions, and this induces confidence, and it is also generally understood that at a meeting of the Trade soon to be held a revision of the price-list will be made, resulting in a considerable advance. Interior orders are fair, and the prospect favors an increase. For domestic stock there is a very good demand, but the wants of buyers about all met and prices unchanged. The stock on hand proves equal to the outlet, with something to spare, and the furnaces are about resuming operations at an early day. We quote French at 60 per cent. off foreign list, and American, 60@65 per cent. off domestic list.

LATH.—The position of affairs in this market still appears to depend, as it has done all the season, upon the ability of manufacturers to keep the offering closely regulated to the outlet, and a very slight accumulation in excess of the demand serves to weaken values at once, while, on the other hand, a scarcity has a stimulating effect, though the response is much less rapid than when the turn of prices is downward. As to there not being enough lath to meet the wants of consumers, that is simply a trick of the trade, started on its rounds every year and as regularly accepted in some quarters, though buyers are getting down to a good solid cautious basis of operations, and are not quite so easily led away by exciting rumors as four or five years ago. That the consumption is growing, and the sources from which our present supply is being drawn gradually contracting, there is, of course, no doubt; but the position has not reached that point where the producer can dictate all the terms, and they evidently appreciate this, as well as buyers. As we close our report, there does not appear to be any considerable amount of stock offering; but scarcely a call from any source, and the market is flat, with nothing salable above $2.25 per M.

LIME.—The general market continues a sort of enigma, and it is the expressed determination of those most directly interested that no "newspaper reporter" shall be any too well posted. It is evident, however, that business is not, nor has it been, as satisfactory as could be wished, and that is a pretty difficult matter to get buyers to indulge in any remarkably heavy operations. When dealers work down their stocks they are perfectly willing to secure cargoes to keep a good assortment in yard, but in very few instances can be induced to operate beyond pretty positive wants. Sellers, therefore, do not find many opportunities for a sharp advance, and have to manage their movements for a rise with much caution. The nominal market rate continues to be the price asked for Rockland stock, but there is a large amount of State lime continually selling at something off, and from all accounts giving very general satisfaction. Indeed, the finishing grade is preferred to the Eastern for many purposes, among which may be mentioned the consumption of a great many bleacheries, and also for use by the corn-starch makers in hulling their kernels of corn. Ever since the failure to effect the coalition of all manufacturing interests into one grand monopoly, as proposed last spring by the Eastern folks, there has been a strong competition current, which has served not only to give the buyer many advantages, but to bring the production of our own State into more general favor. As we close, the market is dull and nominally unchanged, the quotations given standing at about $1.10 per bbl for common, and $1.60 do for finishing.

LUMBER.—A good many dealers are still inclined to shrug their shoulders and assert that business is not as good as it should be at the retail yards, but all acknowledge to doing a little, and, taken altogether, the movement is probably in every way as large as could reasonably be expected, and as the cooler weather approaches a further increase may be looked for. Buyers are just as cautious as ever, and not likely to operate in excess of early wants, but there are many indications that these wants are not about to fall off, and reason to believe they may grow. Building operations are fully up to the average of two or three years past; indeed, official statistics show that the work projected is even greater, and with a fair proportion of stock taken for manufacturing and shipping purposes, sales can hardly run behind to any extent. The general amount of goods accumulated here is ample, and though, in some cases, the assortment is somewhat meagre, any ordinary selection can be made without difficulty. Prices are without change as yet, but rule steady generally, and in some cases dealers commence to talk about making an

In a wholesale way there are very few changes to note, and nothing, in fact, of much importance. Such unsold arrivals as made their appearance were about all disposed of, and, if quality proved good, extreme figures were obtained without difficulty, and a few contracts have again been effected for future delivery, with buyers, if anything, showing just the least bit more anxiety, being stimulated by the buoyant tone of interior advices, especially at the Western sources of supply. Manufacturers, through their agents, and in answer to mail inquiries, have continued to ask extreme prices, and assumed the same indifferent tone noticeable early in the season, but the position of the market is now such that buyers and sellers come together more easily, and business has a little life. The export movement is probably as large as could be expected at this season; but does not amount to much, partly for want of desirable stock, and partly because shippers can find better accommodations elsewhere.

Eastern Spruce has been in fair average supply, but not quite so plenty as at the close of last, and the opening of the present month, and receivers have not had much difficulty in keeping the market clear of stock. Now and then a common cargo would drag a little, but generally found a buyer, while good to prime schedules were seldom offered, without drawing out a bid, and frequently excited some little competition. There is said to be only a moderate amount of stock due just now, and sellers hope for a steady market for some little time to come. At the close full prices are asked, the offering is moderate, and the market generally firm. We quote at $16@18.50 per M for inferior to fair, and $19@20.50 do for good to prime.

White Pine firm in price and the demand fair, the market, as a rule, showing a steady and encouraging tone for the selling interest. Buyers are not operating quickly, but take fair amount from day to day, and the indications are favorable for a continuation of this demand. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 for prime to choice shipping lots.

Yellow Pine continues scarce, and though the demand is only fair, the market has a pretty steady tone, and former figures must be paid to desirable parcels. We quote at $29 @33 per M.

Piling is dull and unsettled. Shingles in moderate demand and without change to note in price.

We note additional exports as follows: To Liverpool, 27 logs maple, valued at $225; to Vigo, 8 spars valued at $124; do Bremen, 20,000 staves; to Liverpool, 4,320 do; to London, 1,200 do: to Glasgow, 3,600 do; to Cork, 6,000 do; to Marseilles, 21,960 do: to French West Indies, 6,000 do; to Barcelona, 16,800 do; to British West Indies, 5,000 do; and 3,143 shooks; to Danish West Indies, 365 shooks, 10,500 hoops; to Cuba, 1,166 shooks and 20,000 hoops; to Porto Rico, 2,208 shooks. The receipts reported as follows: From Jacksonville 115,000 feet lumber, from Wilmington, 300,000 shingles, from Cedar Keys, 1,034 pieces Cedar, from Maine Coast 5 cargoes lumber, 1 do shingles. The Charters are: A new Maine Ship, 1,553 tons, from St. John N. B., to Liverpool, Deals 67s. 6d.; a Br. Barque, 693 tons, from Montreal to Montevideo, Lumber $21 net; one 359 tons, from Darien to River Plate, $22 and primage; a Br. Barque, 454 tons, from Montreal to Montevido, $21 net, if to Rosario, $3 extra; a Brig, 311 tons, from Norfolk to Jamaica, Staves, $14, and back to New York, Logwood, on private terms; one 150 tons, to Brunswick, Geo., and back, Lumber, $11; a Schr. from Savannah to Providence, resawed Lumber, $10; one from Jacksonville to New Haven, Dry Boards $12.75: one from Jacksonville to Washington, D. C., Dry Boards, $11; a Schr., 176 tons, to Jacksonville and back with Lumber, $16.50 covering outward cargo; one from Jacksonville to Philadelphia, Lumber $11.25; two from Jacksonville to New York, $12.25; one same voyage, $12.50.

The following is from the circular of John R. Patton & Co., Albany:—

"Although the stock of lumber in market is much lighter than at the corresponding time for several years, the assortment is fair, and dealers can find nearly everything necessary to make up a well assorted stock. Dry lumber is pretty well out of market, and what comes forward from time to time is picked up by buyers very quickly at full prices. Receipts at this point for the season, up to August 1st, are about 175,000,000 feet, or about 20,000,000 feet less than they were up to this time last year. Lake and Canal freights have advanced $2 per M feet within a month. This, together with the advance in the price of lumber in Michigan has had a tendency to stiffen if not to advance prices here, so that nearly all sales are now made at our highest quotations. The supply of Spruce and Hemlock is ample, and since the decline in price of those articles in June, large sales have been made, some of the heaviest dealers having bought their stock for winter. Those who claim to be best posted in regard to coarse lumber, claim that the supply will be short, and that prices must advance. Looking over the situation of the lumber trade from our stand-point, we think it fair to assume that prices have touched bottom, and that when the crops begin to move toward tide water, freights will be still higher, which must cause prices to advance, as margins at present are very small, and will not admit of increased cost of transportation.

The annexed report is from the West Troy market.

LUMBER.—The market evinces no new features of interest, its condition remaining substantially the same as for the last month. Some demand, however, has set in for coarse woods—Hemlock and Spruce. In pine, cull boards and cheap box are in small supply and quick of sale at outside figures. Desirable lots of Michigan are also taken up almost on arrival, at full rates. The stock in market is unusually small, and yet the receipts continue light beyond all precedent at this point of the season. The reports from New York speak of a reduced stock, a better feeling in trade, and a somewhat increased consumption. The country yards are ordering liberally, and the Eastern market was never so lively as it is to day. On the whole, the situation is one that, in all its aspects and connections, would seem to represent very fairly that condition of things which ordinarily precedes, at whatever distance, a strong demand and higher values.

The following shows the aggregate receipts of lumber at Oswego since the opening of navigation to August 1st, for a series of years:

	Lumber, ft.		Lumber, ft.
1871	140,225,178	1867	114,112,434
1870	148,190,613	1866	74,044,610
1869	133,432,458	1865	75,428,412
1868	132,694,047	1864	75,166,693

We clip the following interesting items from the Saginaw Courier:

The movement in lumber on the river during the past month shows but a slight falling off in the aggregate from the corresponding time last year. From the port of East Saginaw, there is an increase during the month of July, over one million, and from Bay City there is a decrease of nearly six millions, making a total decrease in the shipments of the month for the river of about five million feet of lumber. The shipments of lumber, lath, etc., from the port of East Saginaw during the month of July, 1871, and the corresponding month last year, are as follows:

	July 1870.	July 1871.
Lumber, ft	33,314,774	34,565,359
Lath, pcs	3,999,250	3,155,000

Salt bbls	30,675	3,310
Staves	155,000	.....
Hoops	200,000	.....
Oak timber, cubic ft.	.....	121,829
Pail bolts, cords	.....	15

The shipments from the river during the season, from the opening of navigation until August 1st, during the years named, are shown in the following table:

	1869.	1870.	1871.
Lumber ft	203,607,301	210,681,429	250,397,154

Salt, bbls	297,685	292,982	159,762

We give below the Saginawian's review of the lumber market for the past month:

We need not give quotations to show that to day lumber is at the highest figure ever reached in the Saginaw Valley, and yet there is an eager demand and a supply totally inadequate to answer the call. Verly likely the business may be overdone next season, on account of the flush prices this, and stagnation, or even a slight revulsion followed,—but in view of the fact that the entire pine timber of the country has within the past few years been intelligently estimated by practical business men, that this resource is thoroughly comprehended,—and such boundless generalities as "unlimited," "incalculable," "inexhaustible," etc., are no longer applied to the pine forests which are certainly and not very slowly disappearing—it is clear there can never again be a permanent reduction in the price of pine lumber.

Quotations for lumber have gone as high as $7, $14, and $35 per m. A few days since at Bay City an offer was made at $16 per M. for 1 000,000 feet of the Ward lot of Chippewa logs sold to Whitney, no guarantee asked to what per centage of uppers the logs would cut. This, under the circumstances, is the highest price ever offered for a lot of logs on Saginaw river. Other offers were made of $16 per m. for logs guaranteed to cut 30 per cent. of uppers, and we think a sale of 500,000 feet made on these terms, and sales of logs and lumber all along the river are made daily at corresponding figures.

The change from old time prices has been neither rapid nor spasmodic, but so sure and steady as to demonstrate beyond cavil the immense value of our pine timber. In 1858 the accepted market value of No. 1 and 2 Cass river logs was $4 per M. feet, and one excellent lot of 1s and 2s was to our knowledge purchased for $3 25 per M. feet. The price of lumber then was $3, $6, $8, $12, and $18 per M., and a considerable portion of the product of that year was sold as low as $2 50, $5, $7, $10, and $15 per M. As late as 1860, the three upper qualities sold together at $9, and in many instances as low as $8 per M. We might, as we have done before, assume to prophesy as to further figures, but prefer only to state facts, leaving our readers to review more fully the past and prognosticate concerning the future in such manner as best suits their several tastes.

LUMBER AT MUSKEGON.—The Muskegon Chronicle says that week before last, Martin Perley shipped a cargo of mill run lumber to Wisconsin, for which he received $6 50, $13 and $35 per M.

The Chronicle also contains the following:

The price of lumber of all grades is advancing somewhat in the Chicago market, and we hear of one load from Muskegon—mill run—being sold for $19. In the meantime our mill men are adopting a most sensible plan for obtaining eventually such prices for their lumber as they ought to have, and for saving the exorbitant dockage charges they have always had to pay in Chicago. They are piling their lumber as it comes from the mills on their own docks and grounds, and they intend to sell to buyers who come to this market to get their wants supplied. Much of the cut for the remainder of the season will be re-shipped by rail to points east, south, and west. An arrangement is nearly completed by which cars loaded here will be run through to any point in the Western or Southern States without change, and at very fair freighting rates.

MANISTEE.—The Times says that for the week ending July 15th, the mill of Cushman, Calkins & Co., cut on an average 105,000 feet of lumber per day, and this is the smallest average of the season. The usual average has been 110,000 per day, some days cutting as high as 125,000 feet.

The lumber market, so far as the volume of the wholesale trade is concerned, has been only moderately active the past week. As usual, at the mid-summer season, there is a lull in trade incident to the finishing up of work commenced in the Spring and early Summer. Hence, there is a temporary slackening up both in receipts and the demand. Although the arrivals have not been as large of late, yet there is no scarcity of any grades of lumber, the market having been literally flooded early in the season, and the yards are all now abundantly supplied and but moderately busy filing orders. Hemlock is firmer, with large quantities going into consumption; pine is steady and unchanged, and shingles and clapboards dull.

Western lumber is not arriving very freely, with water freights advancing and a scarcity of vessels, many of which are put into the grain transportation trade, freights ruling higher in this than for lumber. There is something of a dullness in trade just now, and the market is void of animation. The mills are generally running up to time, and there is a good prospect for an early Fall trade.

The market for Southern pine is firm, and the demand is fair for building bridges and for beam and girder work in buildings. Most of the arrivals of late have been ordered cargoes, and we hear of but very little coming on the market. Prices are steady and unchanged.

Canada lumber continues firm with a comparatively fair demand, though this is proverbially the dull season; but some dealers are yet behind in filling orders given early in the season. New cuttings are arriving quite freely at Burlington, though there has as yet not been a large accumulation at the stock-yards. The new lumber is partially seasoned and the mills are generally busy.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.
Pine	1,205,137	Spruce	2,317,352

The St. Louis Market Reporter of Griffin & O'Connor contains the following:

White pine in raft quiet and unchanged at $16@24 for Wisconsin, with sales mainly at $18@22, and Chippewa at $16@17. Shingles firm at $3.90 and lath quiet at $2.

At the depots and on the levee transactions continue light. Yellow pine steady; dimensions dull: poplar boards in demand and higher; strips slow sales; black walnut firm; oak, ash, and sycamore nominal; cedar and cedar posts unchanged; vineyard poles saleable at 12¼c each. We quote the range for depot and levee lots:—Yellow pine flooring at $15@17 for blued, $18@20 for common to fair, and $21@23 for good to choice green, and $25@28 for common to choice dry; mill run dimension at $14. Poplar at $14@18 for strips and boards—chair-plank at $18@21. Black walnut at $20@25 for common, $30@35 for good to choice. Oak at $16@20. Ash at $20@23. Sycamore at $18@19. Cedar at $18@22.50 for hewn, and $24@26 for sawed. Cedar posts at $22@25@27 per 100.

The following is from Savannah.

TIMBER AND LUMBER.—TIMBER: The arrivals have been small; demand fair. We quote: Mill Timber $7.-00@9.00; Shipping do., 600 feet average, $8.00@9.00; 700 feet average $10.00@11.00; 800 feet average $11.00@12,-00; 900 feet average $13.00@14.00; 1,000 feet average $14.50@16.00. LUMBER.—The Mills are all at work on orders, which are offering freely. Prices are firm. We quote: Ordinary sizes $20@21; difficult sizes $21@25; flooring boards $21@22; ship stuff $20@22, according to sizes.

FREIGHTS—FOREIGN AND COASTWISE—The scarcity of coastwise tonnage continues, and contines, and a large quantity of lumber offering a vessel could be easily placed at quoted rates. We quote: To Matanzas, lumber $8, gold. Timber to Liverpool 35s: to Queenstown, for orders, 37s 6d to Philadelphia $10. Resawed lumber to Baltimore $7.40; to New York and South ports $9.50@10; to Boston $10; to Philadelphia $8.50.

METALS.—Manufactured copper has met with the usual fairly active trade for consumption and domestic shipment, and prices remain steady. We quote at 30c. for new sheathing; 22c. for yellow metal; and 19@19¼c. for old sheathing. There has been an improved demand for American Ingot, and the business has proved large, chiefly on speculations for future delivery. Prices show a further advance, and close firm with a tendency in seller's favor. The movement embraces, aside from sales on the spot, of over one million pounds for delivery between September and December mostly at 23. We quote on the spot at 22⅝@22¾. Scotch Pig Iron has met with a further improvement in the demand, and with a gradual falling off in the supply, holders have advanced their prices. The business however has been mostly in small lots, as sellers are not disposed to offer large lines, as the stock on hand is small. We quote at $32@36 per ton. American do. has been also active and prices show an advance, the demand being both for immediate and future delivery. The immediately available supply is still very small, and some holders have partially withdrawn their stocks. We quote at $35@36 per ton for No. 1; $33@34 do. for No. 2; and $31@32 for forge. Bar Iron remains dull and unchanged, buyers apparently not being moved by the advance abroad, which extinguishes all margins for profit, or the high prices demanded by our own makers. As we close, the manufacturers are deliberating for an increase in rates. We quote from store at about $75@77.50 for refined; $70@72.50 for common; $165@115 for Swedes, ordinary sizes; $95@125 for scroll; $95@120 for ovals and half round; $90@95 for band; $95@100 for horseshoe; $100@140 for hoop; $82.50 @120 for rods (5-8 and 3-16 inch); and 6¾c. per pound for nail rod, all cash. Common Sheet Iron still meets with a moderate call, but with light offerings the market is firm at the late advance. We quote at 4½@5¾c. for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet fairly active and steady. We quote at 12@13c. for 14@20; 12½@13½c. for 22@24; 13½@14c. for 25@26; and 15@18c. for 27@29, all net cash. Russia Sheet continues steady with a moderate business. We quote at 12½@12¾c. gold, according to number. Trade in Pig Lead remains dull, and prices to a great extent nominal at $6.12½@6.50 per 100 lbs. for foreign. Manufactured Lead steady and selling fairly. We quote at 9¼c. for bar; 10¼c. for sheet and pipe; 15c. for tin-lined pipe, less the usual trade discount. There has been a better demand for Pig Tin since our last, and with only a moderate amount of stock offerings, holders are firm. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English, 35¼@35½c.; Straits, 36¼@36½c.; and Banca, 40½@41c. Tin plates moderately active, but prices remain steady, with only a moderate amount of stock offering. Zinc in fair demand and steady at 9@9½c. from store.

NAILS.—The general demand continues very fair. and the market has a healthy uniform tone, without change in prices, aside from the usual favors shown customers whose trade may happen to be peculiarly desirable and worth a slight shading from regular market figures. The amount of stock offering is fully equal to all present outlets, and on some styles there is a slight accumulation. Dealers, however, appear to look forward with much confidence and speak hopefully of their ability to resist all attempts to weaken values, while some are positive that the coming Convention will surely increase rates to some extent. The shipments to extreme points are increasing somewhat, and the local consumption is up to an average. We quote per 100 lbs: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d. $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 60 pckgs., valued at $300; and since January 1st, 10,288 pckgs., valued at $64,232. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—Taken altogether the market does not show any remarkable features or variation worthy of extended remark since our last report. There has been just enough business doing to keep wholesale dealers fairly active, and to call into play a proportion of all kinds of goods, while the trade generally have appeared fully satisfied with the position for the present, and speak hopefully of the future. Some grades of American white lead were advanced, owing to a scarcity of foreign, but English has since become more plenty and easier, and buyers regain the lost advantage, nothing more. The assortment continues good, as a rule. the demand having been such as to mark down accumulations pretty evenly, while in the meantime the arrivals proved fair and nearly counter-balanced the sales. The jobbing demand has been very good and was freely met at former rates. Linseed Oil has met with a moderate demand and shown a very weak tone throughout. The "Association" has been broken up, and with no ring to contend against, buyers now have a better chance, though as there is little use for stock the demand does not amount to much, and is confined in the main to small job lots for immediate use. Quotations are irregular, and range from 80 to 82c in casks, though the outside figure is rather extreme.

	This week.	Since Jan. 1. 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	70 value $1,051	10,270 value $65,197
Linseed oil, galls.	.....	8745 " 7914
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	.....	2670 " 28,110

PITCH.—The demand has been very small and although the stock on hand is very moderate the tendency is to accept lower prices. We quote at: $3.00 @ 3.25: $3.12½-@ 3.25 for Southern; and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25@3.35. Receipts for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st., 409 bbls; for same time last year 2,042. Exports for week, 93 bbls; since January 1st, 1811 bbls; same time last year, 2,729 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market has continued unsettled and for spot delivery sales have been able to get from 1 to 3c per gallon more than lots were offered at to arrive. The tendency is downwards, as the rivers in the South rise, allowing the spirits from the interior to be sent to market, which has of late been the chief cause of the small supply. At the close lots to arrive in a few days can be bought at 48c, while small jobbing sales are being made at 50c from dock and yard. The bulk of the sales have been for home use, although we hear of some three cargoes being taken by shippers. We quote at 51@51½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 51@51½c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 51@52c and retail lots from store, 52@53c. Receipts for the week, 2,045 bbls; since January 1st, 35,580 bbls; and for the same period last year, 40,405 bbls. Exports for the week, 12 bbls; since January 1st, 8,247 bbls; and for the same period last year, 10,948 bbls.

TAR.—There is only a fair jobbing demand at about late prices. The demand is exclusively for home wants, shippers not being in the market. Receipts are not large, but are just about equal to the demand, leaving only a fair stock on hand. We quote quote as follows:—$3.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $3.57@4 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4@4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25@4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 331 bbls; since January 1st, 12,066 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,338 bbls. Exports for week, 20 bbls: since January 1st, 7,248 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,584 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 8, 1871, is as follows:—

Building operations continue more active in all directions than could be expected, the cheapness of money affording easy facilities to builders for this purpose. The New England States are large consumers this season for the erection of cotton mills and other manufactories. The local consumption at all points is also steady and active. A better and firmer feeling, with more activity, is reported in New York and Boston markets; there is also a steady but not a large business doing in foreign shipments. This market continues very firm without any further advance in prices, unless it be in spruce, which now commands our outside quotations. Shipments are steady, sales fair, and receipts light. There are no accumulations of stock, which are low compared with other years. An active fall trade at better prices is looked for. Freights by canal from Oswego are now placed at $3.50. In Michigan and Canada an increased firmness is evinced by holders and manufacturers. Indications of increased activity in shipments to English and foreign ports keep up the prices of both pine and spruce.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by lake and rail are reported at 9,566,600 feet, and at Oswego by lake, 11,929,000 feet.

	Received. Feet.	Shipped. Feet.
1871	513,827,000	322,185,000
1870	454,855,000	220,809,000
Increase	58,972,000	1,376,000

The receipts of lumber at Oswego from the opening of lake navigation, and the shopments by canal and rail from January 1st to August 1st, are thus reported:—

	Received. Feet.	By Canal. Feet.	By Rail. Feet.
1871	159,224,200	116,493,300	15,000,000
1870	148,190,600	141,430,200	10,800,000
1869	133,432,500	118,286,200	8,200,000

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals for the first week in August were:

	Bds.&Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	14,409,700	1,338	.....	.....
1870.	15,951,800	300	.....	922,700

Of the Boards and Scantling received, 9,405,400 feet were by the Erie, and 4,904,300 feet by the Champlain canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to August 8, were;

	Bds.&Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	194,504,900	17,408	....	6,628,500
1870.	212,447,600	9,970	....	9,519,000

Lake freights are $2 to Buffalo, and $5@5.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hardwood, and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.50.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

Collwells, Shaw & Willard M'f'g Co.,
No. 213 Centre Street, New York.

THE BROOKLYN ART ACADEMY.

MONTAGUE street, Brooklyn, near its junction with Court street, has of late years been so studded with first-class beautiful buildings, that we know of few, if any spots in New York which can surpass it, if we take into consideration the high character of the architecture and the effect of the surroundings generally. First of all, there is the splendid Academy of Music, one of the most charming and artistic adaptations of brick and stone to Gothic architecture that we ever saw. Opposite is the Mercantile Library, another recent building of the same materials and construction, less pretentious in size and finish, but very complete and satisfactory. And now we have the new Academy of Art in rapid progress, immediately adjoining the Academy of Music, and promising by its present appearance to be, when finished, capable of being ranked among the finest Gothic edifices in this country.

Unlike our Academy of Design, the architect in this case had not the advantage of a corner lot, by which he could be aided by the resources of perspective; but he has made the most of the front allotted to him by treating it in a highly varied and artistic manner. The basement and first floor of the building are arranged for the art-schools, offices, and directors' apartments, with a fine and complete suite of waiting-rooms for the use of visitors to the receptions of the Association. The several stories in front contain three minor galleries, for the exhibition of water-color paintings, statuary, etc., the main gallery behind these being a spacious and lofty room, which can be subdivided by screens. It is said to be the intention to connect this large gallery with the adjoining Academy of Music, by means of a small covered bridge or gallery, thus making that building available for promenades and assemblies on important occasions.

The building is not yet sufficiently advanced for us to judge of what its appearance will be in its complete state, but enough is revealed of the style and quality of the workmanship for us to see that it will be very satisfactory. We do not remember to have seen an instance where the various stones are contrasted with better taste—the light-colored Ohio stone alongside of the darker cream color presenting a beautiful effect, which is further increased by the introduction of the slender Gothic shafts of polished marble in varied colors. The carving, too, is on a rich scale—not overdone for the necessities of so florid a style—and, as far as it has gone, exceedingly well executed. The mouldings and recesses are all deep and bold, well devised, and producing powerful shadows that tell very effectively against the surface of the light-colored stone. Altogether the building gives evidence of being a very rich and careful Gothic study, and we shall revert to it when it is in a more advanced condition.

AN IMMENSE ESTATE.

THE ideas entertained of large properties in our Eastern States sink into insignificance when compared with some to be found in our Western and Southern States, where land is less subdivided and the population more sparsely settled. We are amazed when we come to look at the corn-growing areas to be found in Illinois, among such proprietors as the Wentworths and the Alexanders; but even these shrink in size when contrasted with some of the immense grazing lands to be found in Texas.

One of these, which has recently come to our notice, is of such enormous dimensions as to merit a few words of description, as we think it can be proved to be the largest enclosed property in the world. It is located in the neighborhood of the thriving town of Corpus Christi, and abuts on the bay of the same name. More than one-half of this property, at least, has the advantage of a water-front on the Laguna Madre, Corpus Christi Bay, and their tributaries, while the remaining portion, not otherwise provided with any natural barrier for the enclosure of stock, has been enclosed by a splendid line of fencing some thirty-eight miles in direct length, and which cost the proprietor upwards of $100,000. This fence is not the ordinary zigzag or worm fence so common in all our Western States, but a solid and substantial erection composed of stout cypress posts, planted deep into the earth at every few feet apart, and with intervening strong cypress planks, making a complete enclosure five feet high, through which no cattle can escape, and good enough to form the boundary of any highly-cultivated park. The property covers an area of 150,000 acres, or about three times as much as the whole surface of Manhattan Island. In this are located a fine dwelling-house or ranche, with all the appurtenances of a rich gentleman's country residence, together with dwellings for the different employés in various localities, slaughter-houses, &c. What amount of stock can be raised upon so large a surface we are not exactly informed, but it has at present about 50,000 head of cattle upon it, with some 4,000 horses, brood mares, &c., and 9,400 head of cattle were killed last year for hides and tallow alone. Besides this, the property is overrun by game of every variety and in countless quantities—deer, wild turkeys, ducks, geese, quail, and every other kind in their season—while the small lakes scattered about are filled with fish of every description. Some idea of the enormous size of this property can be gleaned from the fact that it has a water frontage on Corpus Christi Bay and the Laguna Madre of not less than 50 miles. From the dwelling-house to the slaughter-house, near the landing on Corpus Christi Bay, is 22 miles; and going from the latter to Salt Lake, at the southern extremity of the property, the proprietor can ride from 35 to 40 miles in a direct line with the Laguna Madre, and on his own property! We question if the Sutherlands and Argyls of the Old World can boast of any larger landed inheritance.

Besides the value of this property for grazing purposes, it has at its southern extremity a large deposit of salt that is of great value, and at present can supply all the packers of Rockport and Corpus Christi. The present outlet for the vast herds raised in this locality is via Rockport to Berwick's Bay, in Louisiana, whence they are distributed north and south; or they are driven overland through the heart of Texas, via Austin, and away to Kansas. At present the latter course consumes considerable time, but when the railway system of Texas—now rapidly progressing—is extended down to Austin, whole weeks will be saved in the transit, and the consequent increase in the value of the property and stock be almost incalculable. It is only necessary to add that the climate is universally recognized as among the finest and healthiest in the United States.

WE SINCERELY REGRET THAT DURING THE TEMPORARY ABSENCE from the city of the managing editor of the RECORD, that so many errors were allowed to creep into the columns of New York City Conveyances of Real Estate. This cannot and will not occur again, and our readers may rest assured that hereafter the strictest editorial supervision will be placed upon this most important department.

With the first week of September, we shall commence the publication of the transfers of real estate of Westchester County, the number of which has been constantly increasing since the beginning of the present year. It is highly probable that the time is not far distant when the lower part of Westchester County will become a part of New York City, an annexation which, without doubt, will be of mutual benefit to the holders of real estate in the two counties; and in view of coming events, a knowledge of the value of landed property in that county cannot but be of great benefit to many who do not at present entertain the idea, but who within ten years' time will be actually forced by the combination of circumstances and growth of commerce to look up a home somewhere within the limits of what is now known as Westchester County.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—In the way of values there appears to be no very positive change on the market for North River Hards, but the general tone of the market is somewhat different, and the variation is for the better. Stock has been worked down into more manageable proportions, and sellers are enabled to name terms and insist upon them with a sort of firmness they could not assume a week or two ago when the accumulation was so large, and though care is taken to allow buyers easy enough terms to be attractive, there is no forcing of business with freedom, or a continual cutting down of prices to attract trade. This state of affairs is naturally most decided upon the upper qualities, but can be noticed to a greater or less extent on all grades down to fair, while common sorts, though still offered freely and on easy terms, are not in such excessive supply as to pull other descriptions down with them. The impression is now quite general that the market has weathered the worst portion of the season, and that a gradual improvement may be looked for, as the time approaches for laying in the winter stocks. Our city dealers are the principal buyers, aside from the larger contractors and builders, who generally secure their stock by the cargo afloat. Some few Eastern orders are here, but they want too fine a class of goods at too low a range of values to take many cargoes away. The production continues without much interruption, as manufacturers now have room to stow their brick, and are also anxious to take advantage of all the fine weather they can. We should quote at $7.50@8 per M for the more inferior to good grades, and $8.25@8.50 for fine stock, with now and then a selection of special brand reaching $9 per M and upward. Of New Jersey Hards some very fair receipts have taken place, and these in turn were counteracted by a very good demand, keeping the market steady and, if anything, strengthening values somewhat for the best lots, sales reaching as high as $8 per M, and from this ranging down to $7 for the poorest. Pale Brick have not come forward with much freedom, but have continued in good steady demand, and values rule at full former figures, say about $5@5.50 per M. Philadelphia Fronts selling fairly at former rates. Croton Fronts dull and still very difficult to close quotations, though we retain former figures as likely to be as near the mark as any.

CEMENT.—The demand for Rosendale has been a little spasmodic, but, on the whole, very fair, and manufacturers still report themselves as well satisfied with the position, and reasonably confident that they will keep busy for the balance of the season. All the mills are at work, and the majority on full time, and most of the current production goes out on orders, thus preventing any great accumulation of stock. There is a little left over, however, and a sudden call could be met without any great difficulty. The regular market rate remains at $1.75 per bbl., delivered here, and from this there is seldom any departure by the leading companies, but now and then an outside brand is said to be shaded a trifle to draw custom. The outlet includes a few foreign orders, a fair amount for California, a good and rather increasing Eastern call, and the regular demand from city consumers, both for building and manufacturing purposes.

LATH.—The demand has not been either active or general as buyers still insist upon taking just sufficient for known early wants and then withdrawing until again driven into the market by the development of some new and pressing necessity. The demand, therefore is at all times doubtful, and even when it seems most likely to consume a goodly amount of stock, it is very apt to suddenly drop off and leave no outlet. Sellers, therefore are in a continual state of doubt, and though watching closely every opportunity to insist upon extremes or advance the price, there is scarcely any hesitation shown when full bids are made, as it would be simple folly to permit of an accumulation afloat with the market in its present condition. The general consumption is full and seems more likely to increase than to fall away, but the supply of lath from all present indications, will be fully equal to the outlet. At the close there is a fair amount offering, but with a very good attendance of buyers, both local and from out of town sources, there is a probability that all will be sold and the market has a steady tone at $2.25 per M.

LIME.—The receipts have been larger, the bulk of the cargoes went into yard immediately after arrival, prices were advanced and the market generally had the appearance of much animation. About all this, however, was understood and arranged beforehand, and in reality the changes have simply amounted to a development of the plans of sellers. Indications point to a probable place for a large proportion of the stock likely to come to hand within a week or two, but prices do not look very buoyant and the increase of value if any will probably be slow. Dealers are just as cautious as before in purchasing, and seldom, if ever exceed early necessities while the offerings are fair, and the competition among the various companies, sufficient to admit of buyers showing a little independence. As we close the position is quoted as strong with more stock wanted than receivers are enabled to supply and Rockland worth $1.15 for common and $1.75 for lump, but the State stock is a little irregular with some odd lots to be had a trifle off.

LUMBER.—At the retail yards there appears to be a movement about in proportion to the average of the past three or four weeks, some dealers reporting an increase and others a slight falling off, but none having any really new features to communicate. The demand is from the usual sources, including city manufacturers, builders, etc., and a fair proportion of out-of-town orders. The latter, however, are not by any means large, nor is there likely to be much of increase, owing to the fact that a great many New Jersey and Eastern buyers, who have heretofore made it a practice to operate in this market, now go direct to the large wholesale points of supply, and New York in future seems likely to become less of a distributive mart on domestic account. With the old and new stocks accumulated, there is now a first-rate supply on hand at this point, and no difficulty is experienced in making selections on anything except fancy woods; and holders, as a rule, are inclined to meet buyers on fair and easy terms, especially for cash invoices, as collections are slow, and funds are needed for the Fall purchases. We make no alteration in quotations as yet, but our figures must be taken as extreme, especially on some of the coarse grades, as holders in the present slow condition of trade are very apt to ask and quote at one rate, and finally accept something off, rather than let a customer go.

The wholesale market has not been very fully supplied, and business was restricted in consequence. The movement, however, such as it was, proved easy and satisfactory to sellers in the majority of cases, and values appear to have been very fairly sustained on all grades. Dealers are finding room for a considerable amount of stock, especially when they run across anything of a really desirable quality, and there is no doubt that the winter will set in with full as large an accumulation on hand as usual. Thus far the offerings have proved sufficient for all calls, and no one really imagines there will be an actual scarcity; but of choice grades there is no excess, nor is there likely to be. The export demand continues to run almost exclusively on small odd lots, as required to fill out freight-room, etc. though some few considerable parcels are loading for foreign account on back orders.

Eastern Spruce has come to hand with a little more freedom, and though a portion of the receipts had been sold to arrive, the fresh offerings of cargoes afloat was somewhat increased. Buyers, however, were to be found in fair attendance, and though negotiating rather closely, they did not object to paying full prices for good stock, the market in a general way showing a steady tone, and as we write is pretty cleanly sold up. A great many of the mills have enough stock engaged to keep them busy for the balance of the season, but a few agents are still to be found seeking orders. We quote at $16@18.50 per M for inferior to fair, and $19@20.50 do for good to prime schedules.

White Pine continues to meet with what may be called a fair average demand, and the market retains a firmer tone, with some sellers encouraged in the belief that an advance can finally be obtained. Buyers, however, assert that while willing to operate fairly at ruling figures, they must withdraw or greatly reduce orders, should any higher figures be asked. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 for prime choice shipping lots.

Yellow Pine is firm and in demand, with a small supply present and prospective available, though in yard dealers hold enough for any reasonable distributive call. Stock is plenty enough at the mills and the rates named are busy, but the difficulty is to get vessels to go after it at this season of the year. We quote at $29@33 per M.

The Buffalo Lumber market is reported as follows:—

Although lake freights have advanced about 50c. per M since last week, quotations of pine remain about the same. Lake freights are now reported at $3.50 per M from Saginaw and Bay City. The receipts by lake during the past week were 7,321,596 feet lumber, against 10,389,372 feet this week previous, and 12,292,111 feet for the corresponding week in 1870. The receipts of staves were 1,175,780 against 1,100,448 the week previous, and 919,214 the corresponding week in 1870. The receipts of lath were 554,450 against 122,000 the corresponding week in 1870. The receipts of shingles were 1,438,000 against 1,760,000 the week previous, and 1,568,250 the corresponding week in 1870. The receipts of shooks were 1,599 against 6,671 the week previous, and 4,731 the corresponding week in 1870. The receipts of railroad ties since June 15th were 72,700, showing from whence a large part of the supply comes and an idea of the extent of the trade.

Below we give some interesting lumber items from various sources. The Saginaw Courier says:—

The Lumber Carrying Business.—An Albany paper, in writing up the business of freighting lumber in barges, says: "A large proportion of the lumber that comes to this market is brought by these barges from the regions of Lake Erie, and even further westward." It will be news to western people generally to learn that lumber is produced 'even farther westward' than the Lake Erie regions, but greater news still that any lumber at all carried by the barges is produced in the aforesaid regions. There is evidentally room for improvement in some eastern people's knowledge of the West."—Enterprise, August 5th.

It will be news indeed to the intelligent lumber manufacturers and dealers of the country to learn that lumber is not "produced a good deal farther westward than the Lake Erie regions," and still greater news to learn that no lumber is carried by barges, which is produced in the aforesaid regions. We commend to the pedagogue of the Enterprise a study of some good map of the United States, and a perusal of some good and reliable work on the resources of the West—and especially those relating to the manufacture and export of lumber and timber. It may be unknown to our contemporary, and if so, makes doubly applicable the closing paragraph, wherein he suggests that "there is evidently room for improvement in some eastern (western?) people's knowledge of the West;" that the Alleghany Mountain range, extending through New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, has in years past been especially rich in pine and other timbers, and that Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and Southern Michigan, have by their lumber exports through Detroit, Monroe, Toledo, Cleveland, Ashtabula, Dunkirk, and other Lake Erie ports, done for that region of country exactly what the vast lumbering interests of the Saginaws are doing for Northern Michigan. He may never have learned that the vast white wood and black walnut trade of the United States is carried on through Lake Erie ports, while the oak and stave trade is and has been simply enormous.

He may be ignorant of the fact that barges are engaged in the carrying of this lumber, and are made as useful in their connection with the Lake Erie carrying trade as they are in the Saginaw trade. He may be unaware that the north shore of Lake Erie is a heavy lumbering region demanding vast facilities for the transportation of its lumbering products. He may not be aware that by such sneers and flings as those we quote above, he simply makes himself the laughing-stock of an intelligent people.

Sale of Pine Lands.—Thomas Saylor & Co. have purchased from Ortmann, Rothchilds & Co., 4,200 acres of pine land in town 16, N. range 2 West, for $71,400, or $17 per acre.

The Lumber Inspection Case.—The case of G. K. Jackson, of the firm of D. F. Rose & Co.—who was arrested some time since for a violation of the new law in relation to the Inspection of lumber,—which was adjourned by Justice McDermott of Bay City, until Saturday, August 5th, was called at the appointed time, but no one appeared for either the defendant or the people. We have not learned what further disposition is to be made of the case.

Champion Barge Tow.—The largest fleet of barges doubtless ever conveyed from the Saginaw Valley, is that which reached Detroit Tuesday evening. Tuesday evening the tug Winslow reached Detroit with eleven barges laden with lumber, the aggregate quantity amounting to upwards of four million feet. The event is without rival, and the Winslow is justly entitled to the credit for taking through against a hard wind the champion barge tow.

A Valuable Raft.—A raft of mast and spar timber, which is said to be the most valuable one ever brought down the lakes, arrived at Tonawanda from Au Sable, Michigan, a few days since. It was valued at $40,000, and fifteen pieces of the timber sold for $2,400.

Mill Men and Mill Work—A Record Hard to Beat.—Our mill men learn much from experience, and each succeeding year adds its quota of useful information in reducing to a system the manufacture of lumber. It is a well known fact that more lumber and better can be manufactured at the same mill to-day than four or five years ago, and even two years. None understand this better than the manufacturers on the Saginaw river, and probably in no locality have manufacturers availed themselves more readily of labor-saving improvements, and reduced so readily to a system the manufacture of lumber, as at this point. We can name half a dozen of mills on the river that are models in this respect. With the number of new mills that have been erected on the river within the past few years, with all the latest improvements, the mill of Sears & Holland has several which excel it. At this mill, however, labor has been so thoroughly systematized that its record will compare favorably with any mill of like capacity on the river, as will be seen from the following. The mill runs:—

One flat gang.

One 66-inch circular saw (Hubbard Bros.' inserted teeth).

One mulay saw.

Running 90½ days, the above saws cut 31,293 logs, making 8,272,657 feet of lumber.

Running only the circular saw (above) 60½ nights, the mill cut 9,011 logs, making 1,733,613 feet of lumber—or a grand total of 20,304 logs, making 10,006,270 feet of lumber up to the 1st day of August, 1871.

Persons interested in mills would do well to examine the many labor-saving improvements put in this mill by the corpulent foreman, A. W. Bacon.

In the above statement no mention whatever is made of the amount of lath, staves, heading, and pickets, all of which are manufactured at this mill, and during the same time enumerated above.

From Bay City we have the following:—

The following charters are reported by E. Newkirk: Propellers Estabrook and Neptune, barges Mariner, Saginaw, Morton, Dixon, Sherman, Westley and Gebhart, from East Saginaw to Toledo and Cleveland, at $3; propeller Dubuque, from Bay City to Cleveland, at $2.50.

Saw logs are now being shipped over the northern extension of the J. L. & S. Railroad, from Pine river and vicinity to Winona. About four and a half million feet shipped, by B. Withauer and J. D. Standish & Co., consigned to J. J. McCormick and H. M. Bradley, have arrived. Two trains are arriving daily.

Menominee.—The Herald says that the lumber shavers strike there is ended, and the men have gone to work at the old price of forty cents per hour.

We copy the following:—

"The work on the harbor improvement is progressing slowly, with one pile-driver and a small force of men. We understand it is the intention of the contractor to double the forces as soon as possible and push the work ahead. About two hundred and fifty feet of pile work has been driven, and they are now engaged in putting on the superstructure."

A correspondent writing from Pensaukee, Wis., reports as follows:—

We visited three different shingle mills. A. Lamont's mill is on the Stiles road, 10 miles from Pensaukee harbor, 19 miles from Green Bay, and 5 miles from Conn's mill, Little Suamico. It runs one drag-saw, one bolter, and one Valentine shingle machine, and averages 60,000 shingles per day of 12 hours. Mr. Lamont informs us that his sawyer, Chris. Christian, can cut 100,000 shingles per day on this machine. He has about 50,000 feet of logs left, enough to run till Oct. 1. He thinks there is pine enough in the vicinity to run 8 or 10 years longer. The shingles cut here are hauled out at Little Suamico. He has a good boarding-house in place of the one burned last fall, a blacksmith shop, &c. This mill is a lively one, and has not lost a day this summer, except for July 4th.

R. G. Stephens & Co.'s mill was running, at the time of our visit, two hand-machines, two knot-saws, a bolter, and one double and one single clipper and a double circular. Another hand-machine and another knot-saw were to be added within a week. It is expected that the mill will then produce 90,000 shingles and 5,000 feet of lumber per day of 12 hours. We stated by an error, last spring, that this firm had a stock of 1½ millions feet of logs. They had between three and four millions. Mr. Stephens thinks the pine will last about eight years longer. He is now making an addition to his mill, which is already a large one. There is quite a hamlet around the mill, and four new dwellings, a large barn, and an addition to the boarding-house, have been put up this season.

B. M. Holmes' mill, store, boarding-house, and buildings are on the river bank, within a mile of Delano's store. It runs one Valentine machine day times, and one end of the machine nights. The whole shingle cut of the season is contracted with F. B. Gardner, delivered on his dock, at $2.90 per thousand.

The Stillwater (Minn.) Gazette gives the following intelligence as to sales and shipments of logs and lumber from that market:—

The following are the sales of logs since our last issue:
Two strings Norways to Laird, Norton & Co., Winona.
Two strings to J. L. Davies & Co., Davenport.
Ten strings to B. Hershey, Muscatine.
Thirty-four thousand railroad ties, from W. H. C. Folsom to E. E. Ayres, Clinton.

The following are the shipments of logs since last issue:
Ten strings from Durant & Hanford to B. Hershey, Muscatine.
Seven strings from same to Laird, Norton & Co., Winona.
Five strings from same to Youman Brothers, Winona.
Eight strings by C. G. Bradley to Laird, Norton & Co., Winona.
Three strings, per steamer Louisville, to Cogle, Frontenac.
C. G. Bradley also took out one raft—one-half for Laird, Norton & Co., Winona, and one-half for Youman Bros., same place.

TIMBER CIRCULAR.

Messrs. Farnsworth & Jardine, under date Liverpool, 27th July, say:—The arrivals from British North America during the past fortnight have been 33 vessels, 23,687 tons, against 38 vessels, 29,697 tons, during the corresponding period last year.

There has been very little alteration in the general tone of the market, and some of the chief articles of consumption still continue depressing in value. Fortunately, the aggregate import has been light as compared with previous years; but it is still amply sufficient for the demand.

Of Canadian Woods, with the exception of a few Pine Deals, there have been no sales recorded on importers' account, the arrivals having been almost entirely for the resident trade. Good Square and Board Pine maintains its value, but common Timber is neglected. Red Pine, Elm, and Ash are very little inquired for. Oak is in fair demand, and maintains its value. Birch, also, is inquired for, though prices are somewhat easier. Pine Deals.—Although the import, so far, has only been about half what it was during the like time last year, yet prices rule low, the demand being chiefly for the better qualities. For Staves there is an active demand, especially for Puncheon, and prices are firm.

Spruce deals, notwithstanding the small import and limited stock, still continue depressed in value, present prices being much below the cost of importation. The shipments from St. John to Liverpool from 1st January to 11th July this year show a falling off, as compared with the same period of 1870, of 28 per cent., and with 1869, of 53 per cent., whilst the present stock in Liverpool consists of 7,642 standards, against 9,250 standards at the like time last year. This deficiency must sooner or later have a favorable effect on the market, and, though sales at present are difficult to make at present rates, yet it is probable we have reached the lowest point. Pine Deals are not much inquired for, and only realize about the same price as Spruce.

The Boston market reported as follows:—

The market for lumber continues fairly active for retail lots, but the wholesale trade has been rather quiet the past week, and the aggregate of sales foots up comparatively small. There is a good healthy demand from the yards for all descriptions of finishing lumber, and carpenters and builders still continue busy in finishing contracts commenced early in the season. Wholesale dealers are not looking for an active resumption of business until harvesting in Maine is well over, and cargoes begin to arrive. For a few weeks to come trade will be confined to actual consumptive requirements. Spruce, which has been dull and shading for a few weeks past, has recovered a little, and is now held at a slight advance, with a better demand. Hard pine flooring boards are in demand and selling freely, and the supply on the market is only moderate for the season.

Canada lumber is in good request, and all good desirable lots of seasoned lumber are readily taken at current prices. New lumber is coming in quite freely, and there is a generally healthy tone to the market. Prices are firm and unchanged.

METALS.—The demand for manufactured copper has as usual been fair, the trade being with consumers and domestic shippers. In prices we have no particular change to note, but the same amount of steadiness to the market still prevails as noted for some time past. We quote at 30c. for new sheathing; 22c. for yellow metal; and 19@19¼c. for old sheathing. There has been less activity in the market for American Ingot, business has been confined to small lots for immediate wants. The recent large demand for forward delivery has abated, and we do not hear of a single sale since our last. Prices show a further advance, however, for lots on the spot, and the market closes firm at 22⅞@23c. The market for Scotch Pig Iron, under advices from Europe, of an advance of 2s@4 per ton there, has been active and prices are higher, and closed strong with considerable sales at $33 for Eglinton; $34.50@35 for Glengarnock; $35@35.50 for Gartsherrie; and $36.60 for Coltness, including transactions to arrive. We quote the whole range at $33@36.50 per ton. American do has been in good demand, but with a small available stock business has been checked, and holders have advanced their views. We quote at $36@37 per ton for No. 1; $34@35 do for No. 2; and $33@34 do for forge. The market for Bar Iron remains firm at an advance in prices, which occurred soon after our last writing, though the business has been only to a moderate extent. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes, $105@120; refined, ordinary sizes, $80; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $85; refined, 1 and 1½ by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $87.50; scroll, $100@130; ovals and half-round, $97.50@122.50; band, $95; horse-shoe, $95@100; rods (5-8 to 3-16 inch), $85@120; hoop, $105@145; nail rod, per lb 6¾c. There has been more doing in wrought scrap, and we notice considerable sales at full prices. Common Sheet Iron still meets with a moderately fair call, and prices ruled firm at the late advance. We quote at 4½@5¾c. for singles, doubles, and trebles. Galvanized Sheet continues fairly active and steady. We quote at 12@13c for 14@20; 12½ @13½c for 22@24; 13½@14c for 25@26; and 15@18c for 27@29, all less 30 per cent to the trade. Russia Sheet remains steady with a moderate business. We quote at 12½@12¾c. gold, according to number. The market for Pig Lead continues in the same dull position as noted for some time past, there don't seem to be any life or vitality to trade, and prices in the absence of sales (beyond small lots which are no criterion of the market) are entirely nominal at $6.05@6.50 per 100 lbs. for foreign. Manufactured Lead steady and selling fairly. We quote at 9¼c for bar; 10¼c for sheet and pipe: 15c for tin-lined pipe, less the usual trade discount. There has been a decided falling off in the demand for Pig Tin, and the market closes quiet, holders, however, remain firm, and generally demand an advance. Advices from Europe during the week were unimportant; but at Singapore the price advanced to $34·25 per picul. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English, 35¼@35½c; Straits, 36¼@36½c; and Banca, 40¼@41c. The market for Tin Plates is almost at a stand, and in the absence of sales of any importance, prices are nominal. Masselmann Sheet Zinc remains dull, with small sales at 8¼c, less 4 per cent gold. No. 9 brings 9@9⅛ for store currency and cash.

NAILS.—There is not much new on this market up to the present writing. The demand has not been active from any quarter, but still fair and dealers as a rule speak encouragingly of the prospect on the Fall business. Beyond a few exceptionable cases where it is a sort of necessity there is no disposition shown to shade prices, in the least and the market may be called generally firm on all grades. Supplies and assortments fair and selections are made without any great amount of trouble. The outlet mainly domestic, though a few exporters are to be found making up invoice and California orders are here for moderate amounts. We quote per 100 lbs: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 102 pckgs., valued at $595; and since January 1st, 10,390 pckgs., valued at $64,827. We also notice shipments of—pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The market for paints, colors, etc., has been less active of late; indeed, at times quite dull, but without the loss of any great amount of strength. A few foreign goods to be sure have accumulated to some extent and importers are obliged to modify extreme prices in order to work off surplus lots quickly but there is an absence of any undue pressure to realize, and the bulk of the receipts go into store with a full belief that they will all ultimately be wanted. There has been a good many shipments into the interior for Fall stocks, but some of the largest dealers have yet to be heard from, and there is every reason to believe their wants will be fully up to the usual aggregate. Among the jobbers there is also some falling off in business, but not quite to the extent of the decreased movement in a wholesale way, and dealers are delivering a fair amount of stock for consumption, and realizing full former rates. Linseed Oil immediately following our last was very active, mainly for future delivery under a strong pressure to realize, and prices rapidly declined with an irregular tone since noticeable. Holders are unwilling to make further concessions at present but buyers are not operating with any freedom and the position rather lacks strength. A fair stock is available and well distributed. We quote at 79@80c in casks.

	This week.	Since Jan. 1, 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	102 value $1,402	10,372 value $66,599
Linseed oil, galls.	.....	8745 " 7914
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	.....	2676 " 28,110

PITCH.—There is no reduction to note in prices which are, however, almost nominal. The demand is confined almost exclusively to home traders, who buy very sparingly. The stock on hand is not large, but fully sufficient to supply all demands. We quote at: $3.00 @ 3.25 for city; $3.12½ @ 3.25 for Southern; and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25 @ 3.35. Receipts for the week, 50 bbls; since January 1st, 459 bbls; for same time last year 2,142. Exports for week, 12 bbls; since January 1st, 1823 bbls. same time last year, 2,729 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—We have still an irregular and fluctuating market to report, following our last the market continued heavy and declined, till 46½c. was reached, since has reacted again, and sales have been made at 50c., though at this price there are more sales and the close was heavy with few bids above 49c. for full lots. Higher prices have been bid for cargoes for September delivery, with no sellers. There has been no export business done, although a good many limited orders are in the market. We quote at 49 @ 49½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 50 @ 51c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 50½ @ 51½c and retail lots from store, 52 @ 53c. Receipts for the week 1,985 bbls; since January 1st, 37,565 bbls; and for the same period last year, 42,405 bbls. Exports for the week, 1035 bbls; since January 1st, 9,282 bbls; and for the same period last year, 10,958 bbls.

TAR.—The feeling is hardly so firm as the demand has been small and receipts fair. The business is confined to the wants of home consumers. We quote as follows:—$3.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs: $3.57 @ 4 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4 @ 4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25 @ 4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 270 bbls; since January 1st, 3,236 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,438 bbls. Exports for week, 190 bbls; since January 1st, 7,438 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,604.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 15, 1871, is as follows:—

Buyers still hold off from laying in their winter supplies; yet shipments hence continue equal to the receipts. A fair conclusion is that when it is admitted that prices are at their lowest, and purchases are freely made in anticipation of future wants, that the market will become excited and higher. A noticeable feature is the fact that prices at all manufacturing points are higher this season than they have ever been known, and yet the mills constantly have orders ahead and manufacturers are not only firm and independent, but indifferent as to the disposal of their stocks. So many new avenues have been opened up to them for the sale and delivery of lumber by rail and by canal, that the tables are turned and manufacturers now have it pretty much their own way. So long as this state of things lasts, firmer and better regulated markets may be looked for. Large shipments continue to be made eastward from Chicago, chiefly of the upper grades of dry lumber, both by canal and rail. The consequence has been an advance in that market of those desirable kinds. Lately a demand has sprung up there and at Saginaw for lower grades. As grain freights now rule higher than lumber, the first-class boats will be taken for the transportation of grain, and thus cause a further advance in canal rates. Lake freights to Buffalo are now firm at $3.25 per M. Canal freights rule firm at $5 and $6. In this market the low grades of pine, common and culls, are in demand, with a light supply. Spruce is also scarce and firm. There is a fair business doing, notwithstanding that this is the slack season.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week by lake and rail are reported at 12,619,600 feet, and at Oswego, by lake, 8,986,900 feet.

	Received. Feet.	Shipped. Feet.
1871	539,405,000	333,516,000
1870	486,099,000	325,255,000
Increase	53,306,000	Dec. 1,839,000

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals, for the second week in August, were:—

	Bds.& Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	15,341,500	1,612	.....	.....
1870.	15,185,200	426	.....	910,700

Of the Boards and Scantling received, 10,216,900 feet were by the Erie, and 5,124,700 feet by the Champlain canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals, from the opening of navigation to August 15, were :—

	Bds.&Sc'tl'g ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r c. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871.	209,846,400	19,020	....	6,628,500
1870.	227,632,800	10,396	....	19,429,000

Lake freights are $3.25 to Buffalo, and $5@5.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hardwood, and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.50.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote :—

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

REAL ESTATE RECORD
AND BUILDERS' GUIDE.

VOL. VIII. NEW YORK, SATURDAY, AUGUST 26, 1871. No. 180.

Published Weekly by

TERMS.

One year, in advance.....$6 00
All communications should be addressed to

C. W. SWEET,

7 AND 9 WARREN STREET.

NO receipt for money due the REAL ESTATE RECORD will be acknowledged unless signed by one of our regular collectors, HENRY D. SMITH or THOMAS F. CUMMINGS. All bills for collection will be sent from the office on a regularly printed form.

WE shall reprint, in the next issue of the REAL ESTATE RECORD, a thoroughly revised and corrected list of the New York City transfers of real estate which appeared in the RECORD of July 29th, August 5th, and August 12th. This reprinting is necessary because of the inaccurate and irregular descriptions which accompanied many of the transfers in the above-mentioned issues; and as our real-estate friends rely exclusively upon the RECORD for all information in regard to actual conveyances of real estate, it is our bounden duty to give an absolutely correct transcript of the deeds as filed at the office of the Register.

The reason why so many inaccurate descriptions were given under the above dates was explained in the last number of the RECORD.

ARCHITECTURAL FASHION.

THERE is a fashion in architecture as well as in dress or anything else, and its laws seem as blind and tyrannical as those of the chignon, the Grecian bend, or any other fashion; putting for the time being everything but itself out of countenance. No one who has marked the progress of art in our city, during the last ten or fifteen years, can have failed to notice this; how suddenly some new style has burst upon us, run its course until people got tired of it, and then given way to another. In the days of the old Astor House, the Tombs, the Custom-House, and other old landmarks of the kind, nobody seemed to know anything but the Egyptian, Grecian, and other forms of rigid classical architecture—poor as the imitations were. A little later, as our merchants got rich and clustered about Fifth avenue as a centre, the more florid Italian came into vogue; but so afraid were our architects, apparently, of venturing upon any new ground of design, that when any one has seen one of those houses he has seen them all, and it might be supposed that a single architect designed every dwelling in that thoroughfare, from one end to the other. So timid were they of deviating one iota from inexorable fashion, that because the first rich man built his house of dark and dingy brown stone, and smeared his shutters and even iron railings with the same hideous color, all the others followed suit, like a flock of sheep after a bell-wether, until a "brown-stone front" got to be synonymous with wealth and respectability. Even to this day this strange impression lives, although many better and far more beautiful building materials are rapidly driving the old perishable brown stone into disuse.

Another strong instance of the eager and unreasoning manner in which we run after mere fashion in architecture is to be seen in the now universal use of the Mansard roof. A few years ago not a roof was to be seen in New York. Somebody had the boldness—we are not sure that it was not Mr. Vaux, to a residence on Fifth avenue—to show his roof and ornament it. The idea took as if it had been some supreme novelty, and now every little two-story engine-house, and every one-story stable, must have its Mansand roof and dormer windows, to be in the fashion. Some of these exhibitions are perfectly absurd. The Mansard roof was originally designed to take away from the excessive height of a building, not, as now used, to make a building, already too squat, look squatter than ever. Not content with introducing this form of roof where there is no kind of use for it, many go so far as to take the light ornamental iron ridge ornament—quite pretty and sensible in that position—and stick it over their solid stone doors and bay windows. We shall probably next see them flanking the stoops with it as a chevaux de frise.

It is singular how much of this demoralization of art can occur if a city but once starts with bad and imperfect models, and how a few incompetent men, accidentally thrown into prominence, can poison the taste of a whole generation. New York has peculiarly suffered in that way, and, in proportion to their size and wealth, we venture to say that not only several New England cities, but Chicago, Cincinnati, and other Western cities can show ten times more evidences of true architectural art in their streets than New York can boast of to-day. But, fortunately, things have within the last two or three years taken a decided change for the better. Not only have some of our best architects, whose good works of past years were unnoticed amid the wilderness of rubbish, had recent opportunity of coming into more prominent notice, but new and accomplished ones have risen up, and there is an evident desire to break away from all conventional restraint, and to produce works of novelty. This is very good if not carried too far. While monotony is displeasing, it must be borne in mind that a thing is not necessarily good merely because it is novel. No style seems to run greater risk of being abused in this direction than the one now coming so much into vogue—especially in the upper part of the city—and for which we choose to coin the name of Franco-Grecian, as it is nothing more than modern French theatrical flourishes put upon such old Græco-Roman forms as are still extant in the ruins of Herculaneum and Pompeii; although our more learned contemporaries will insist upon calling it "Renaissance." Some of the private dwellings erected in this style lately, if not altogether of a style that we admire, are at least pleasing novelties and cleverly treated. Others, again, look as if such queer and ungainly forms, such hideous projections and expenditure of strength where no strength was required, such bewildering hieroglyphics of flourishes cut into the stone and marring every square inch of plain surface, could only have emanated from a disordered intellect. We have no objection to see modern French-Greek have as fair a trial as anything else, but pray, don't let us overdo it like the unhappy Mansard roof.

RAILWAYS OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE rise and progress of the railway system in the United States is marvellous to contemplate, and probably exceeds in rapidity that of any other nation in the world. The first railway constructed in this country was that between Albany and Schenectady. The company was incorporated in 1826, and in the year 1831 the traffic amounted to an average of about 300 passengers daily. The first locomotive made its appearance in England, and was introduced to New York in 1829. In 1830 PETER COOPER built the first locomotive for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at which time there were not more than 23 miles of railway in actual use in the United States. In 1835 the number of miles had already increased to 1,098, and in 1840 there were 2,167 miles laid down. From that time up to 1870 the expansion of the railway system has been upon a scale beyond all precedent, and surpassing anything ever seen in the history of human progress. The following table gives an interesting exhibit of the increase during the last three decades, and shows the portions of country in which the movement has been most rapid:

	1841.	1851.	1861.	1870.
New England States.....	589	2,800	3,697	4,484
Middle States.....	1,837	3,795	6,936	10,991
Western States.....	196	1,846	11,320	28,760
Southern States.....	913	2,541	9,283	12,468
Pacific States.....	....	....	23	1,677
Total.....				58,380

Illinois, with her 4,823 miles of railway, stands at the head of the railway States. Next comes Pennsylvania, with her 4,755 miles; New York, with 3,928; Ohio, with 3,538; Indiana, with 3,177; Iowa, with 2,683, and Missouri, with 2,000 miles. In the year 1841 Illinois had only 21 miles of railway, and in 1860, 2,790 miles; while, in 1841, Pennsylvania already had 754, and New York 358 miles.

In the year 1851 the total receipts of all railways in the United States amounted to 39½ million dollars, to which Illinois, with her 361 miles, contributed only $336,310; but in the year 1870 the yearly incomes from the railroads of Illinois alone was not less than $43,500,000. The total receipts of all our railroads, at the present time, are estimated at $450,000,000 yearly, which shows an increase of at least $400,000,000 in 20 years. The greatest number of new railroad enterprises are to be found in the great Northwest, while in New England the railway system seems to have become as stationary as her people.

In reply to many inquiries that have been made upon the subject, we would state that the large Texas grazing property which was described in our last number, although not thrown publicly upon the market, is, we have every reason to believe, open to purchase upon very advantageous terms.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—In itself the market has a pretty steady undertone, and the tendency on the whole was rather towards a further gradual addition of strength and an increase of value, as building operations were laid out on a pretty liberal scale; the weather was fine and the prospect generally encouraging, especially as the cost of brick seemed to meet the approval of contractors, and even an inclination to pay a slight advance was shown, in order to obtain particularly desirable selections. Just here, however, in steps that pestiferous curse to both employer and workmen, the Bricklayers' Union, and orders a strike for an increase of wages, and, of course, upsetting calculations all round temporarily, with food absolutely cheaper than before the war, and raiment and house-rent as low as they have been for years. The workmen appear to have no basis for their demands, except simply that they want more wages, and, thinking they had contractors in a sort of corner, inaugurated a strike to force an advance. Contractors talk a great deal about not submitting, employing no more "Trade Union" men, etc., but appear to take it pretty much all out in talk. Concert of action among our leading builders would soon settle the matter, and we think so completely demonstrate to the workmen the foolishness of attempting to force a fancy value upon their labor, that strikest would amount to little in the future. The principal demand for common Hards has, as last noted, come from city or near-by out-of-town dealers, with, however, a few parcels wanted for Southern shipment, and an occasional order from the Eastward, provided the stock is of fine quality and not too dear. We allow former figures to stand, but call them a little nominal at the moment, but with no indications that the buyer can gain any positive advantage of more than a temporary character. New Jersey Hards appear to have a fair outlet, and regular receivers report little or no difficulty experienced in obtaining about former rates on any good cargo. Pale Brick continue somewhat scarce, and about everything offered sells fairly at full prices, and some dealers call the market for the best lots $6 per M. Croton Fronts dull and unchanged in price, but sellers talking steadily. For Philadelphia Fronts the demand fair and the market steady at $28@30 per M from pier. Among the retailers in various parts of the city business has leaned somewhat according to local influences, but makes a fair aggregate for the week. The stocks accumulated in yard are good, both as to quality and assortment. We note exports of 20,000 brick to British West Indies.

LATH.—The market continues to show pretty much the same state of affairs current for several weeks past. There is a fair prevailing demand, and an outlet is found for pretty much all the stock coming to hand, but still, buyers seem to be moving with a cautious and somewhat offish spirit, and make a strong effort to gain a further concession on values. This, however, is resisted by receivers, and if anything, with a little more firmness than heretofore, as the season is now gradually drawing to a close, and dealers must soon begin to give more attention to the laying in of Autumn supplies. The consumption also promises to be quite up to the average of the early portion of the year, and though there is no reason to believe in an actual scarcity of lath, there is a possibility that manufacturers will be enabled to deliver in such a manner that the wants of buyers will induce advanced bids, in order to hurry stock forward. Quality, as a rule, seems to be fair, though now and then an odd lot is complained of as being short, etc. As we close, the general tone of the market is steady, but not particularly buoyant, and $2.25 per M is about all that can be obtained.

LIME.—The general report on this market for the week has been a firm one, and it has also been surmised that a considerable larger aggregate of stock could have been disposed of had it been available. Manufacturers, however, though willing and to some extent anxious to sell, are not by any means inclined to let the market become overstocked, and with a careful and close estimate of the wants of the trade, the arrivals are regulated accordingly. From the present outlet it seems reasonable to expect a very fair consumption of lime this fall, and a steady market at least, but whether sellers can gain any very positive advantage over present values with the existing competition remains to be seen. There has been and still is a very fair amount of State lime available, and buyers continue to find this very convenient in a great many cases, even at the same cost as Eastern; but as another inducement, there is frequently an opportunity to negotiate contracts for common at "something off." As we close our report there does not appear to be much stock offering, and the market has a comparatively dull tone, though sellers quote the position firm at $1.15 per bbl: for common, and $1.75 do for lump. We note exports of 150 bbls lime to British West Indies.

NAILS.—Contrary to expectation, the convention of manfacturers made no change in prices, but after perfecting an organization and electing officers, adjourned to meet in Philadelphia on the 7th of September next. The amount of business doing during the period under review has not been very large, but still, on the whole, may be called fair, and the Trade appear to feel very well satisfied with the condition of the market. The stocks on hand and the additions thereto keep up an assortment sufficient for the wants of the present outlet, and all invoices are quickly and readily made up, but there is no excess of stock here or much of an accumulation at the mills, considering the volume of production. Exporters complain of the scarcity and high cost of freight-room as tending to check the execution of a portion of their orders. We quote per 100 lbs: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d. $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@$6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c. per lb.; yellow metal, 22c. do. The exports for the week are 270 pckgs., valued at $1,496; and since January 1st, 10,660 pckgs., valued at $65,783. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—With the exception of a few spasmodic spurts of activity, the general market has been rather quiet since our last, and the "rush" of business seems to have pretty well subsided for the present. A few orders now come to hand from jobbers to finish out assortments, but no large quantities of stock are wanted until recent purchases are partially distributed. With the slow business comes the usual rather tame and uncertain feeling as to values, and in some cases moderate concessions are offered by sellers as an inducement to keep business moving, but there is no general want of strength or confidence, and a very slight revival of the demand would again throw the advantage almost solely in seller's favor. The stocks and assortments held by importers are very good in a general way, and the tendency is rather to increase, in view of fair arrivals and light counteracting influences. Retail dealers are reporting a fair general trade in small lots on mail orders, etc., but not much activity on any one style of goods. There has been an error in our table of exports of paints for a week or two, which, now corrected, reduces the amount somewhat. Linseed Oil has been somewhat irregular in price, and without much activity. Buyers seem half inclined to operate with greater freedom at the late decline, and are feeling their way cautiously, and hopeful of a better demand; sellers assume a firm air, though undoubtedly willing, and in some cases a little anxious to operate. Nothing but negotiations, however, has taken place thus far, except in the way of a jobbing movement, and the average rate may be placed at about 80c in casks.

LUMBER.—Among our jobbing dealers we find the regular reports current this week, viz.: "A fair business and no important change in prices," and this probably is as good an epitome of the position as could be given. It seems an utter impossibility to excite buyers into any activity, the current calls being based upon almost certain wants just as they have been all the season, and no matter how cheap goods may appear, free purchases are seldom induced thereby. The same state of affairs, however, is to be found prevailing on all other styles of our domestic staples, and with values now almost certain to have reached bottom—unless, of course, a financial panic or something of that kind should occur. The trade generally look upon the present system of doing business as safe and conducive of a more healthy position generally for the entire market. The stocks continue to augment slowly but surely, and as our dealers have been rather careful in making selections, there is every prospect of a first-rate assortment being available during the winter. Building operations are becoming pretty lively in some parts of the city, and there is a prospect that this outlet will consume its full proportion of lumber during the fall and winter season.

In a wholesale way the general position is without any decided change, though prices are fully as well sustained as heretofore, and if anything a shade stiffer, with buyers showing just the least bit more anxiety and looking a little more closely for stock. The assortment collected here and that bought and to be added before the close of navigation, is very fair certainly, but there is still a good many odd parcels of desirable quality to be secured to make stocks complete, which, with a few dealers who have been postponing nearly all purchases until the last moment, makes demand enough to encourage manufacturers to insist upon extreme prices. There is also a strengthening element to be found in the continued free shipments from the mills to all sections of the country, the not over-abundant accumulations in producers' hands, and a general indifference about selling on the part of all the leading mill-men. The exports from this point continue rather slow, but the small lots taken from time to time begin to swell the total since January 1st, and the comparison with last year is now more favorable than during the early portion of the season.

Eastern spruce has not been in excessive supply; indeed, at times early in the week there was a little scarcity, but still there was a few cargoes on hand constantly, and the market at all times had a moderately active tone. The demand, too, was more general, the large sticks selling fairly, and the short and common grades meeting with a better outlet than usual, thus working off pretty much all schedules without difficulty. During the early portion of the season dealers would have nothing but the finest and best selections, and now having secured nearly all they require, are willing to handle second and third grades in order to make assortments complete. Prices have ruled pretty steady throughout, and the feeling as a whole among the trade appears to be comparatively firm, with a confidence that the full range now current can be sustained during the balance of the season. Deliveries on orders are fair, and many of the mills will be kept busy in this way as long as they can work. As we close the offerings are larger and the general tone of the market week we quote at $14@16 for inferior to fair; and $17@19.50 for good to prime schedules. White pine is in demand to a greater or less extent from all sources, and the market may still be quoted as firm and uniform. There has thus far been no actual dearth of supplies, but buyers do not find it a particularly easy matter to make first class selections. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 do. for prime to choice. Yellow pine without any important change, the demand keeping fully up to the moderate offering and prices ruling steady on all grades. We quote at $29@33 per M, with special cuts higher. Piling is in good supply, the demand not being very active, and prices easy at about 6@7c. per foot. Hard woods for export are dull, and prices to some extent nominal.

A report on the Chicago market at the close of last week says:—

CARGOES.—Nearly 20 cargoes of lumber, shingles, and lath arrived from Muskegon, Manistee, and other points on the lake, on yesterday. There was a good attendance of buyers at the exchange docks during most of the day, and at the close only one or two offerings remained over. A firm feeling was again developed among operators, and prices were fully sustained, ranging at $12@14 for fair and common boards and strips; $15@16 for choice do; $17@18.50 for choice mill-run; $3.20@3.25 for shingles; $2 for lath, and $8 for pickets.

SHINGLE CORRESPONDENCE.—The Livingston Democrat of the 16th inst., contains a column and a half of correspondence from the Saginaw Valley, which the Democrat informs its readers came to them written on a shingle, 14 x 18 inches.

A recent report on the St. Louis Lumber market says:—

We have nothing new to note in white pine in raft. We continue to quote the range for Wisconsin at $16@24—mainly at $18@22, and Chippewa nominal at 16@17. Shingles stiff at $2 90, and lath dull at $2.

At the depots and on the levee a moderate business was done at unchanged rates. We quote the range for depots and levee lots, &c.: Yellow Pine flooring at $15@17 for blued; $18@20 for common to fair, and $21@23 for good to choice green; and $25@28 for common to choice dry; mill-run dimensions at $14. Poplar at $14@18 for strips and boards—chair plank at $18@21. Black Walnut at $20@25 for common, $30@35 for good to choice. Oak at $16@20. Ash at $2@23. Sycamore at $18@19. Cedar at $18@22.50 for hewn, and $24@26 for sawed. Cedar posts at $22@25@27 ₱ 100.

From the River Falls Recorder we obtain the following:—

The Mississippi is lower than it has been for several years. Prescott is now at the head of navigation. The steam ferry has to run around the islands. The lake steamers are still making pretty fair time. It is said by knowing ones that the Red Wing and Menominee railroad will never be built. Wise men? It is likely it will be. But in the meantime, if any other road can be built, shove it along; we want a railroad and will be glad to get one from some quarter, and we hope the day is not far distant when the iron horse will run through this place, let who will have the honor of first starting it.

The Saginaw Courier contains the following:—

A NEW COMBINATION—INTERESTING TO MILL-MEN—HOME ENTERPRISE AND HOME GENIUS.

Anything in machinery which, reducing the labor of the operatives, enables them to turn out a larger amount of product, be it what it may, is and cannot fail to be hailed with gladness by all whose money is invested, and who desire to reap the largest benefit from the investment. In the practical working of saw-mills, it has been found that the friction superinduced by the hitherto necessary and unavoidable jar of the machinery, has in itself and its ulterior effects been productive of vast expense to the manufacturer of lumber, reducing the product of his mill and the profit from the labor of his operators. Any device by which the jar can be reduced and the friction overcome, or any facilities which can be introduced enabling the operatives to arrive at a given result in a shorter space of time or by simpler methods, is of course a corresponding gain in the quantity produced, and consequently, in the profits of the manufacturer, since, under such improved conditions, each man's work is increased in amount, without corresponding increase in expense. We are led to these reflections by an examination of a new device, or combination of devices, invented by our enterprising fellow-citizens, Messrs. Wickes Bros., of the iron works on Water street, near the F. & P. M. depot. In common with a large number of citizens, gentlemen from Bay City and other places, many of whom are practical mill-men, we yesterday examined at the works of the Messrs. Wickes a new gang-mill, which, though in its individual parts presenting no new principles, yet in the combination of old and established devices, present a gang saw-mill, complete in itself, of a new, novel, and so far as we could judge, eminently practical character, overcoming in its operations many of the objections and difficulties heretofore attendant upon the manufacture of lumber by gangs. The device of Messrs. Wickes is that of a mill complete in itself, unconnected with and unattached to any other piece of machinery or part of the mill (save by the steam-pipe). We can best give an idea of this new gang by the following description. An iron frame of sufficient strength, 8 feet 9 inches by 6 feet 9 inches, in the square of the base, is bolted to a foundation properly prepared. From this base rises a gallows-frame 21 feet in its extreme height, within whose sides is placed the complete machinery of the gang. In place of running the gang from a crank-wheel on the end of a ponderous main shaft connected with the balance of the mill, as is usually the case, the Messrs. Wickes have placed two perpendicular trunk engines, 11 by 20 inches (with Tremain valves), one under each end of the sash girt, just inside the stiles, the pistons being an attachment of the gate-ends, which are connected horizontally as usual by the cross-bar forming the lower part of the gate, from the centre of which the pitman hangs, as in the old style, but in this case not to be driven by the crank-wheel, but to drive it with its shaft, to which, by the side of the frame, is the machinery which regulates the feed works, which are composed of a horizontal friction of 32 inches diameter, which is run by a friction pully on its under side, the feed being regulated by the movement of the friction pulley to the center, or to the circumference of the polished circular plate. This feed is regulated by the sawyer from above in the usual manner. The two engines are connected by a single steam-pipe, so that each is served equally, and the exhaust is a single one used in common by both. The plunger is a six-inch hollow cylinder, through which, to the head below where it is bolted, passes the connecting rod which working freely in the plunger, assumes the oscillation necessary for the successful working of the lower slide, the upper being an attachment of the celebrated Barlow Oscillator. In each engine the exhaust can be regulated at pleasure, so as to cause a cessation of the driving power of the steam, but which is calculated to be at a distance of about five inches from the end of the cylinder, so that the piston-head in its further progress is engaged in compressing the steam into a space of about one inch, thus forming an elastic cushion, which receives the jar of the machinery, and in its rebound, aided by the force of the jet of steam now striking upon it, receives a new impetus in its propulsion.

It will be seen that the machine, in its construction, being wholly independent of the frame of the mill, and taking up its own jar or rebound, is far less liable to breakage than it could possibly be under any other mode of application. Ascending to the upper portion of the machine, corresponding with the saw-floor we find several manifest improvements, prominent among which is the device for raising and lowering the rollers to accommodate the varying sizes of the logs, or to enable the sawyer to get at the gate, in hanging or unhanging the saws. This is usually accomplished by a tedious hand-power, consuming much time and muscle. In the machine before us this is done by steam and by means of friction wheels, which work the screw which is applied in the centre of the yoke which holds the roller, as in other mills; it is accomplished in a fraction of the time, and with scarce an effort. The whole machine is under the control of a Judson Patent Governor, of the latest pattern, and is intended to be run at a speed of about 200. To practical mill-men the device of Messrs. Wickes presents features of excellence commending it, in its economy of space and reliability of working to the fullest capacity, at the least expenditure of power and muscle. The machine now on exhibition has been built for the Au Sable Salt and Lumber Company. Notwithstanding its immense weight, 35,000 pounds, it can be taken apart in sections, the heaviest weighing only 2,700 pounds, and is easily rebuilt on reaching its destination. We learn that this, being the first machine, was sold at a somewhat lower figure than they will be held at, the price of this one being $5,250, which is a much lower price than gangs of a less practical character usually cost. We learn that Mr. Seth McLean has ordered one of the improved gangs for his mill, and the works of the Messrs. Wickes are now engaged in its construction. There can be but little question that a large demand will soon manifest itself for them.

It is with great pleasure that we chronicle this invention of so enterprising citizens as the Wickes Bros. have proved themselves. Growing up with our city, they and their works have been identified with its growth and progress. Their works, at the first but small, have increased in extent until they rank first of the kind in the Valley, while the reputation of the proprietors for energy, earnestness, and fair dealing, is not limited to our own city. This, latest of the many improvements in machinery invented or introduced by them, we trust will prove as largely remunerative as it evidently is practical. The works of the Messrs. Wickes were thronged throughout the afternoon with interested persons, all of whom pronounced the invention an unqualified success.

METALS.—For manufactured copper there has been a air average demand and a generally firmer market, though holders have met most outlets without great hesitation, and the supply and assortment appeared to be equal to any ordinary call. We quote at 20c. for new sheathing; 22c. for yellow metal; and 19@19¼ for old sheathing. American Ingot copper has been rather dull as a rule, and indeed the market was at times almost at a stand, but holders evinced a generally firm and confident tone, and refused all negotiations not looking to full figures. We quote at 22⅞@23c. For Scotch Pig Iron the demand continued some little time following our last, and buyers finally obtained a supply, and business dropped off into a comparatively dull state. The accumulation, however, had become reduced and with no important additions due, holders were quite firm and offered only at extreme figures. We quote at $33@36.50 per ton. American Pig Iron is firmly held, and sells fairly as compared with the moderate supply available, but a number of orders are unfilled for want of an assortment. We quote at $26@$37 per ton for No. 1; $34@35 do for No. 2: and $33@34 do for forge. Bar Iron is in improving demand, and the market firm, being stimulated by an advance abroad, and a reduced accumulation here with some of the mills about stopping work for repairs, etc. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes $105@120; refined, ordinary sizes, $80; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $85; refined, 1 and 1½ by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $87.50; scroll, $100@130; ovals and half-round, $97.50@122.50; band, $95; horse-shoe, $95@100; rods (5-8 to 3-16 inch), $85@120; hoop, $105@145; nail rod, per lb. 6¾c. Common Sheet Iron in moderate trade demand and steady, but a very fair supply and assortment offering for the current outlet. Galvanized Sheet in fair request, and former rates current, with now and then a slight gain for quick and liberal buyers. We quote at 12@13c. for 14@20; 12½@13½c for 22@ 4; 13¾@14c for 25@ 26; and 15@18c for 27@29, all less 30 per cent. to the trade. Russia Sheet has not moved very freely, but still the demand was pretty good, and with a not very large supply available, the market advanced, closing firmly. We quote at12¾@13c. gold, according to number. Pig Lead continues to sell very slowly, and the general market presents no features worthy of special notice, prices remaining as before, with a nominally steady tone. We quote at about $6.05@$6.50 gold per 100 lbs. for common to good foreign. Manufactured Lead without change. We quote at 9¼c for bar; 10¼ for sheet and pipe; and 15c for tin-lined pipe, all less 10 per cent. to the trade only. Pig Tin is dull, but holders seem to think the foreign advices encouraging, and are pretty firm in their views. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English,34¾ @ 35c; Straits, 36¼@36½c; and Banca, 40½c. Tin Plates fairly active in a small way and steady. Zinc in fair trade demand and steady, with sales from store at 9@9¼c for No. 9.

PITCH.—This market rules very quiet and almost nominal. We hear only of occasional small sales at former prices. We quote at: $3.00 @ 3.25 for city; $3.12½ @ 3.25 for Southern; and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25 @ 3.35. Receipts for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st, 459 bbls; for same time last year 2,192. Exports for week, 10 bbls; since January 1st, 1,833 bbls; same time last year, 2,970 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—This market has fluctuated widely since our last. Prices then took an upward turn again, and have continued to advance, except at intervals, till the present. The close is not lower, and although lots have been sold from dock at 53½c and from store at 55c, lots can be had to arrive at 51½ @ 52c. The demand for home use has been good, but exporters have done nothing either in this market or Wilmington. We quote at 53½ @ 54½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 54¼ @ 55½c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 54 @ 55½c, and retail lots from store, 55 @ 56c. Receipts for the week 605 bbls; since January 1st, 38,170 bbls; and for the same period last year, 43,884 bbls. Exports for the week, 174 bbls; since January 1st, 9,456 bbls; and for the same period last year, 12,323 bbls.

TAR.—The market rules very strong with little stock on hand. Sales are confined to home traders who buy, however, sparingly. Sales have been made of Washington at $3.50 to arrive. We quote as follows:—$3.50 per bbl. for North County, as it runs: $3.62½ @ 4 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4 @ 4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25 @ 4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 580 bbls; since January 1st, 13,816 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,597 bbls. Exports for week, 192 bbls; since January 1st, 7,630 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,634.

STONE.—Most agents for the various kinds of stones report favorably upon the condition of trade thus far this season, and seem to be very well satisfied with the position of affairs in general. Of brown stone the calls for all kinds has been fully up to, if not in excess of, an average and still continues good, with most of the quarries producing to their greatest capacity, and some behind on their orders to a considerable extent. The same may be said of the Ohio stone, the sales of which have been quite large this season, with a prospect that builders will call for even larger quantities next year. The New Brunswick building stone has been imported to a fair extent and is still coming to hand. Of granite a goodly amount has been sold, the large sized paving slabs taking an increasing amount of stock. Blue stone in the shape of flagging, curbs, etc., during the early spring and summer months was unusually active, and orders were constantly behind but the demand has partially subsided for the time being, and quarrymen are enabed to give customers closer attention. Some very liberal amounts were sent to Cuba, but we hear of no shipments at present beyond the usual outlet at the southern cities, such as Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington. Our city retail dealers do not appear very much inclined to stock up at present, and the corporation contract call, though good at one time, is now somewhat slack, and has been curtailed by the use of patent cement pavements, etc. Prices in nearly all cases may be called steady, and the spring price lists are pretty closely adhered to. On Belgian paving stones the market has been quite irregular this season. During all last winter a large dealer was quietly purchasing all the principal production at $40 per M for spring delivery on the ground—about the highest figure ever paid during the winter season, and causing some excitement and great expectations among manufacturers, who looked for something wonderful when the weather should admit of the resumption of paving operations. As soon as spring opened, however, the buyer above referred to quietly effected engagements with the principal contractors of New York, Brooklyn, and Elizabeth, agreeing to furnish them with all the stone required at a fair advance over the above cost, and the result was that manufacturers though very firm found only a few buyers, most of whom were so situated as to be forced to complete contracts at an early date, and their necessities induced them to pay extreme rates to the quarrymen, even as high as $50 per M being obtained in some cases. This demand met, however, no other outlet appeared only a few unimportant paving awards being made from early spring to July and the market became flat and weak. Most of the block makers were without funds, labor, etc., had to be paid for, and finally forced sales commenced, carrying prices down at once with much rapidity, an instance of whichlmay be noted where a Brooklyn contractor bought stock at Hoboken for $38 per M in the morning and in the afternoon of the same day made additional purchases at $30 per M. This rate must have entailed considerable loss as the cost of cutting alone had ranged as high as $23@25 per M to say nothing of the additional expenses of tools, finishing, handling, etc. After this break the production fell off materially, though with a large stock on hand, there was no immediate reaction. About four million blocks was thought to cover the accumulation at that time with an average production of 100,000 per week. Since then the outstanding contracts have absorbed the production and gradually worked down the surplus until at the present writing there is no very large amount available, the outlet is good and the condition of affairs generally more encouraging. Brooklyn and Elizabeth N. J., have been the largest consumers of late, and we understand that the latter city will require additional supplies of considerable magnitude to meet recently awarded contracts. A few loads have gone to Albany this season, but our own and the cities above mentioned offered the best market for stock. Indeed at the close, the awarding of a number of large contracts at all the leading points induces great firmness, and with a small accumulation of blocks on hand, the quarry men are very stiff in their views, asking from $40 up to $44 per M on the ground, and unwilling to engage to deliver any large quantity at these figures.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 22, 1871, is as follows:—

In view of higher prices at the mills and the increased cost of transportation, all kinds of lumber have advanced here during the past week, and our quotations are altered accordingly. Pine tally boards are now held firmly at 29@30c.; select sidings, $40; common box, $18@22; good box, $22@25. Hemlock has been advanced 1 cent; boards and joists are firm at 16c.; spruce 10-inch plank, 25c.; do. boards, 21c.; and other kinds in proportion. The present movement in prices in no way arises from a speculative feeling, but altogether from increased cost; and as holders here are not claiming the fall advance in this respect, buyers will no doubt start up and lay in their supplies before there is any further excitement in the market; with still higher freights more activity will likely spring up in consequence. The sales since our last report have been good. The yards are still without their usual stocks for the season, although the assortment is good. Shipments continue equal to the receipts, and thus any accumulation of stock is checked. The tone of the advices from the manufacturing districts is evidently being felt in New York and elsewhere, and shipments made direct through are readily taken up at full prices. Retail yards will have to make up prices to conform to the present state of things. Lake freights to Buffalo have advanced to $4.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of lumber for the season of 1871 and 1870 as follows:—

	Received feet.	Shipped feet.
1871	574,462,000	346,656,000
1870	520,855,000	350,504,000
Increase	53,607,000	Dec. 3,848,000

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals for the third week in August were:—

	Bds. & scat'g, feet,	Shingles, M.	Staves, lbs.
1871	16,231,291	1,059	1,340,400
1870	17,101,800	258	823,700

Of the boards and scantling received 10,457,121 feet were by the Erie, and 5,774,170 feet by the Champlain Canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals from the opening of navigation to August 23d were:—

	Bds. & scat'g feet.	Shingles, M.	Staves, lbs.
1871	226,077,691	20,088	7,968,900
1870	244,724,600	10,654	11,252,700

Lake freights are $4 to Buffalo, and $6@6.50 to Oswego. Canal Freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6 on hard wood and $5 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.50.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

SIGN-BOARD NUISANCE.

THE respectable and established real estat brokers usually revise their books semi-annually; for although they endeavor to note weekly any change of price or terms of sale that may come to their knowledge, either from the owner, or, indirectly, from other sources, still errors will occur, and it is, consequently, important to make examinations at stated periods, so as to present the property correctly.

For this purpose printed forms are used, and sent to each owner, embracing the object, and distinctly stating that the inquiry is for this especial purpose. It appears to us that this is the proper course to pursue.

Owners complain that they are now daily in receipt of written notes from various brokers, desiring information of the lowest prices and the best terms of sale for certain lots, etc. These inquiries appear to come from brokers who claim to make a specialty of just such property, and allege that they have daily inquiries from parties desiring to purchase for cash, largely, and if favored with diagrams they assure the owner that they will be enabled to make prompt sales, etc., etc. Sales, however, rarely occur, although at times blind offers are made, contingent upon some impossibility, and the owner is invited to call in next week, when—Ah,—yes,—when, etc., etc.

Another class of brokers use about fifty different forms of printed show-bills, to meet any distinct class of sale or lease; have them securely posted on the house, and renewed weekly if defaced. They never take any unnecessary trouble beyond answering an inquiry, and make haste to claim the brokerage when the owner has sold it through another broker, who really had customers and did not depend on chance strollers. Still another class of brokers provide large painted signs, of different forms, and, without asking permission, put up signs on each plot of lots. A party visiting the lots with a view to purchase is often surprised at the number of sign-boards; some, by the by, about as large as a cart-wheel. He naturally concludes that the lots are undesirable, and apparently very hard to sell. He doubts his own judgment, and either declines purchasing entirely, or, through extreme caution, bids too low to induce the owner to sell. The truth is that the owner, in most cases, is in ignorance of the fact that any sign-boards at all are on the lots, and, most likely, has never authorized any broker to put a sign on them.

This sign-board business is fast becoming a nuisance, and owners would do well to abolish it altogether. We know where such signs have in numerous instances prevented the sales of the property in question, and we have yet to learn of any real benefit effected by them in any case, beyond advertising the broker.

Buyers of property usually consult with several brokers, to learn the tone of the day, and the best bargains that they can offer in any desired locality; and after that visit the section, examine the improvements, and the actual position of the lot, as respects rock and grade. This last course is absolutely essential, as the owners do not appear to be as desirous as they should be to give all the facts correctly in these respects; and to have to expend hereafter from one thousand to four thousand dollars per lot to remove the rock that is above grade, and to excavate cellars, areas, etc., is no small item.

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The weak and somewhat depressed tone current during the early portion of last month has entirely disappeared, and the market now seems in a strong and generally encouraging position for the selling interest. The strike of the discontented workmen did not amount to anything really serious, and as before noticed, the consumption of stock being good, buyers were to be found for about all the offerings; and at times of late there has in reality been quite a scarcity, the cargoes finding an outlet as fast as they came to hand, and indeed a great many sales making previous to arrival. North River Hards have ruled extremely firm in price, and the range of quotations may be somewhat advanced, the gain to the selling interest over the lowest point amounting to something like 50c per M, with the tendency still rather upward. City buyers take the bulk of the stock changing hands, but orders from the East can still be filled with a fair margin for profit, and quite a number of shipments are making. The quotations from about the poorest to prime may be placed at $8@9 per M, possibly $9.25, and some of the best selections run up to $10 per M and are a pretty quick sale at that. Most of the brick-makers are still very busy, and it is generally thought by the trade that we shall be fairly supplied with brick for for some little time; but still a goodly amount of stock is held back and piled up, and when the production ceases these will be dealt out by manufacturers in such quantities as they may see fit, and of course at a higher range of values, taking it for granted that the present indications of the wants of builders are to be realized, and there appears no reason to doubt it. From New Jersey a considerable amount of stock is coming to hand, but it all appears to be wanted, and receivers report a quick and sure sale at full former rates, at say about $7@7.50 per M for the average run. Pale brick are still quoted at $5@5.50 per M, but at these figures the wholesale market is very firm and sparsely supplied, with about everything sold as quickly as offered. Croton Fronts are commencing to show more animation, the best or red are rather neglected, but for both brown and dark there is a comparatively good demand and the stocks are working down. The outlet is mainly at the Eastward, buyers appearing to find this quality of stock very acceptable for many purposes. Philadelphia Fronts in fair demand, and the market steady at former rates.

As an indication of how they are doing things out in Michigan, we give place to the following from the Saginawian of recent date:—"The manufacture of brick has been carried on for many years; and though the first efforts in this direction, particularly on the 'East Side,' were not all satisfactory, on account of the prevalence of lime in some of the clay, experience has proved what were available points, and the brick now turned out from the Tittabawassee yards are in all respects as sound and serviceable for building purposes as those brought from any other quarter. Improvements in machinery have tended greatly to facilitate the manufacture of brick, and to improve the appearance of the common qualities; but for some use, as in laying arches for salt-works, in setting boilers, and for use in other situations where there is an unusual exposure to heat, the hand-made brick must still be used; and until very lately the front brick for buildings, called stock brick, were all made by hand and each brick fashioned and handled with as much care as an ornate section of filigree confectionery. Now a new device, Tiffany's Tile Machine, noticed last week in an article on 'drain tile,' turns out, at the rate of ten thousand a day, brick which in general finish, form, fashion, and quality, are infinitely superior to the most elaborately and tediously manipulated stock-brick ever produced in this vicinity. Leaving generalities, however, we will especially mention located on the south bank of the Tittabawassee river, on the line of the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw Railroad, three miles from this city. Of available clay there is a deposit of 300 acres surface extent, by an average depth of ninety feet; so it is safe to calculate that the business, opened with a view to permanent establishment, will not soon stop for want of more mud." Operations were commenced in 1868 by A. B. Paine, mostly on the hand plan, and that year, 1,700,600 brick were turned out; the product of 1869 was 2,000,000, of 1870, 2,500,000 brick; and for 1871, the product will be 4,000,000 brick, besides a large quantity of round tile of sizes from one and a half to six inches in diameter. With the tile machine, for which the moulds are now being perfected, it is proposed another year to make a variety of window-caps, sills, corbels, keystones, and ornaments to take the place of stone, brick, or the too thin substitute of galvanized iron, which is now being extensively used.

* * * * * * *

The value of the investment is $20,000; men employed, thirty-seven; from six to eight horses are used for various purposes. The annual consumption of wood is not far from 2,000 cords. On the premises are seven dwelling-houses, a large and comfortable boarding-house, stables, engine and machine house, and a large extent of drying and kiln sheds, also brick furnace for burning stock brick, and several small buildings for storing tools, etc. The best feature of the business is that it is permanent, "to be continued," and improved, as circumstances may require, and whatever is right and practicable in the way of machinery or new appliances adapted to the business, will be tried, though the experiment may occasionally prove more expensive than beneficial.

HAIR.—The market for plasterers' hair is in a pretty active condition at present, and in a general way wholesale dealers seem to be well satisfied with the position. The local dealers, in view of the experience of a year or two ago, when outside competition carried values very low after they had stocked up, are not inclined to purchase much in advance of known wants; but the free consumption taking place keeps them in the market pretty much all the time, and the sales on city account are liberal. In addition to this, however, a large outlet is found on shipping orders, the near-by interior towns being well represented, and both Eastern and Southern buyers making up good-sized invoices from week to week, with a prospect that the demand will continue. There is a possibility, however, that on cattle hair buyers may gain some advantage, as the wants of trade, liberal though they be, are more than balanced by the supply. Tanners have been producing freely this season, and, hopeful of higher prices, held their stocks back; but now the accumulation is becoming not only uncomfortably large, but expensive to carry, and the desire to realize is likely to carry values down somewhat. On the other hand, goat hair rules very firmly, and good qualities are not only scarce now, but likely to continue so. The amount produced has been fair, and the condition very fine, as a rule, and this has induced a certain class of operators to use the stock as a mixture with wool, the latter commanding such high prices as to make adulterations profitable. We quote now at 35c per bushel for goat, and 28c do for cattle, remarking that the latter is to some extent nominal. From foreign hair there does not appear to be any great amount of competition, the rates ruling on domestic being so low as to admit of no clear margin for profit on importations.

LATH.—There is no very decided change to note in the general state of this market, though, if anything, we think the sellers have a little more solid advantage than a few weeks ago. Since the first of the month the receipts have been comparatively free, both from Maine and the Provinces, but nearly or quite all the cargoes have been disposed of without the necessity of going below $2.25 per M, and as there is said to be but few more parcels of magnitude likely to come to hand for some time, and wholesale dealers were not compelled to pile out cargoes to any extent, it seems reasonable to expect a steady and possibly an advancing market in the future. The consumption also promises very fairly, and a great many retail dealers must still buy with some freedom before they can consider themselves fully prepared for the winter campaign. As to the amount in yard at present, some doubts exist, but in view of the recent purchases there must be a very good aggregate accumulation. With the close of this report we find last week's figures still current and the feeling pretty steady, though the majority of buyers appear to be getting all the stock they want. We quote at $2.25 per M for Eastern.

LIME.—The demand has been very fair for Eastern, according to general reports and the market still in a favorable condition for the selling interest. Buyers are not by any means anxious, and only enough to last a short time ahead; but with a large number of dealers all working in this way, a pretty good general aggregate call is kept up, and the bulk of the cargoes coming to hand are provided for upon arrival. At other points along the coast there is a fair and in some cases a quick demand, and manufacturers are understood to be very busy in filling orders. Of the State limes the general arrivals continue very good, and the demand fairly up to the offering, with the market in about the usual relative position to Eastern. Finishing stock rules comparatively steady, and probably more could be sold; and even common, so far as quotations go, is also steady; but we hear of buyers who have gained slight concessions on free purchases, and the indications are that they would be able to do so again if supplies were wanted. The market closes steady, but dull generally, and dealers not bidding with much freedom. Sales at $1.15 per bbl for common, and $1.75 for finishing.

LUMBER.—Trade at the yards is not increasing to any extent, neither is it running behind, and there appears on the whole to be a good, steady, uniform movement, and few of the leading dealers dissatisfied with the position. Buyers have been moving slowly and cautiously all the season, and are not disposed to depart from this policy now; but the prospect ahead is that their wants will increase, and rather livelier times are hoped for within a month or two. On values the general range remains much the same, with the tone, however, pretty firm, and the tendency, if anything, rather upward on some of the principal grades. In revising our table we have made a change on the best qualities of pine, and instead of quoting "clear," "fourth," and "select," as heretofore, use the general head of "uppers," to conform to the system adopted by most of the principal dealers. On the hard woods no alterations are made, and though a few styles are more or less nominal, choice stock, such as well-seasoned black walnut, etc., is extremely firm and not easy to find. Arrivals continue to a greater or less extent, and the accumulation in yard begins to grow somewhat; but still it is not very heavy as yet, as it is a little too early for dealers to commence hurrying their purchases forward.

The general wholesale market is still quoted quite firmly by receivers and sellers generally, and pretty much the same extreme ranges on prices are preserved; but a little close inquiry here and there leads to the revelation that there is scarcely any buoyancy, and to the belief that the position is not quite so encouraging as mere surface reports would seem to indicate. Buyers have at no time during the past season called for any large amount of stock, as there was in reality no use for it; but here and there have picked up an odd lot or two at a time, and laid it away until now the accumulation on hand is comparatively large, and in many cases there is in reality no room for more, while at the same time the offering prove ample, the assortment good, and a desirable selection a matter of but little difficulty. Again the expressed determination to hold off for concessions, and the manner in which it has been carried out, has induced sellers to calculate the chances more closely, and there is a better inclination to realize in many quarters. Few important concessions are granted on prices, as shown by the general range of quotations but outside figures are seldom insisted upon, and various little favors are shown by which a buyer can gain an advantage. Cash customers are quite desirable, especially to the representatives of some of the smaller mills, as several branches of trade are represented as suffering from a severe attack of impecuniosity. On Eastern Spruce the irregular tone noted at the close of our last report has continued, and, values were not very strong with some of the short and common grades, which again appear to have fallen out of favor, selling so low that the price was refused for publication; we hear of buyers, however, who claimed to have operated at $14 per M for very fairish stock, and good reliable receivers assert that with their best efforts it was seldom they could to draw out a bid above $19 per M. Dealers did not require much common stock to fill up their assortments, and, as before noted, they already had a pretty good collection of the finer grades, which with the considerable amounts offering, had a tendency to retard business materially. Still, at the close most of the offerings have been sold up, and the feeling is just a shade firmer mainly on prime. We quote at $14@16.50 for inferior to fair, and $17@20 for good to prime schedules. White Pine fairly active on about an average demand from the usual sources, and prices without quotable change on the extremes. We quote at $20@25 per M for inferior to good, and $26@30 do for prime to choice. Yellow Pine is dull, in part from want of desirable stock, but the market firm, the cost of freight greatly reducing the margin for profit. We quote at $29@33 per M. Piling of common quality is plenty, dull, and freely offered on quote easy terms, say along about 6@7c. per foot; but good to prime styles, though in fair supply as compared with a month ago, are going out freely and commanding full figures, say 7 ¾@8c. per foot, the latter for sticks about forty foot average and twelve inches at the butt. For North River Piling there is a good demand, in part, though orders coming from the Dock Commissioners, and full prices are obtained, as from the facilities for rafting, much longer sticks can be brought down; prices range from $4.50 to $6@7, according to length of stick.

The receipts reported are as follows:—From Pensacola, 167,000 feet lumber; from St. John, N. B., 1,689,961 feet lumber, 746,000 lath; from Moncton, N. B., 9,000 feet lumber, 1,720 sleepers; from Musquash, N. B., 200,000 feet lumber, 22,000 lath; from Maine coast, ten cargoes lumber, two do lath. Charters as follows:—A brig, 191 tons, from Bangor to Palermo, shooks and lumber, and back to New York, fruit, $4,700; a bark, 520 tons, to Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, lumber, £19, and general mdse., 19c; a schooner, from Jacksonville to Philadelphia, lumber, $11.50; one from Jacksonville to New York, $12.25; a brig, 230 tons, from Fernandina to New York, lumber, $11; one, 295 tons, to Brunswick, Ga., R.R. iron, $2.25, and back with lumber, $10.

From St. John, N. B., we have the following.—

In deal freights we have to advise a much better feeling, and rates have a strong tendency to advance. New York ships are finding profitable employment without changing ports, and ships in Boston are already preparing to leave for the South, thus checking the offering of tonnage from these quarters. In coastwise freights the engagements are numerous, and tonnage in good supply. We quote as follows:—To Liverpool, 67s 6d@70s; London, 60s; Clyde, 65s; Bristol Channel, large size 60s, small do 62s 6d@65s; Ireland, east coast, 67s 6d@70s, according to size and destination; Ireland, west coast, handy sizes, 72s 6d@77s 6d; River La Platte, $16@17; North Side Cuba, $10@12; South Side, nominal, $10; Windward Islands, $6.50@7; Boston, laths, 70c, lumber, $3.50; Providence, laths, 80c, lumber, $4; New York, laths, 85c, lumber, $4.25; Philadelphia, laths 75c, lumber, $4.

CARGOES—With favorable winds, a large fleet of lumber-laden craft arrived here on yesterday, and an unusually active day was passed at the Exchange docks, the attendance of buyers being large and the demand liberal. Fully twenty or more cargoes were disposed of, and over half-a-dozen offerings at the close were unsold. There was no change in prices, which ruled firm, as follows:—

Joist and scantling	$11 50
Common strips and boards	$12 00@13 50
Good to choice strips and boards	14 00@15 50
Choice mill-run	16 00@20 00
Shingles	3 20@ 3 25

The Saginaw Courier contains the following items:—

A HEAVY PURCHASE.—Mr. A. F. Draper, of the Irving House in Flint, has recently purchased 2,200 acres of pine land on the Au Gres River, on which it is estimated that there are 22,000,000 to 25,000,000 feet of lumber. Since the original purchase, Messrs. Hyatt and McQuigg have become partners in the ownership of the tract, and the firm will, during the coming winter, carry on extensive lumbering operations upon their land.

The Courier also contains the following: A correspondent writing from Wisconsin to the Detroit Post, has the following, of interest to this locality:—

The Chippewa River, at Eau Claire village, is 700 feet wide. Rising in the northern part of the State, its volume of water is successively augumented by the reception of the waters of the Flamocau, Jump, Yellow, Thornapple, Eau Claire, and several smaller streams. It is one of the most beautiful, and at the same time one of the most available streams I am familiar with. Its banks, as well as the streams which are tributary to it, are covered with a heavy growth of pine. The quality of the pine is about the same as that of the Tittabawassee, the Rifle, Au Gres, and Au Sable rivers, in Michigan. The same may be said of the Wisconsin River, except that there is less land in the market on that stream. There is to-day as much valuable pine land in Wisconsin as there is in Michigan, and Wisconsin has this advantage, it is just being developed at a time when Michigan pine lands are chiefly held by large capitalists. The value of pine land here has, however, increased nearly 100 per cent. in two years. This will be the case for several years, probably, as attention is now being attracted to these streams, and as pine to-day is gold.

Lumbering is done here almost wholly upon the credit system, jobbers going into the woods with no money, paying their men in orders on the manufacturers, who in turn give their notes payable in ninety days or six months. These are thrown upon the market by the men, at a ruinous discount. This is exceedingly unsatisfactory to all classes. Thus far the lumbering business has been carried on by a few firms, some of whom are growing wealthy, but the majority of whom have less capital than they need to do business upon. At Chippewa Falls there is the largest mill in this country, its capacity being 300,000 feet per day, while that of the celebrated mill of H. W. Sage & Co., Wenona, Michigan, can cut, I believe, only about one-half that amount. This mill is run by water-power entirely.

[NOTE.—We have not the figures of the cut of Sage & Co.'s mill at hand, but our remembrance is that this mill cut in 12 hours 321,000 feet of lumber, board measure.—ED. COURIER.]

The Green Bay (Wis.) Advocate tells the following story about two hundred thousand dollars' worth of pine land sold to speculators for $20,000:—

A gentlemen, who is evidently familiar with the facts, writes us that recently, on the Menominee River, pine lands belonging to the Government, of the real value of $200,000 were bought in by one or two corporations for a sum not exceeding $20,000. The mode and method of this manipulation of government property was as follows: Willis Drummond, the Commissioner, advertises that at such a date certain lands, describing them by metes and bounds, would be restored to market. Previous to the date of restoration the Register of the Government Land Office at Marquette received a colored diagram from the Land Department, saying to him, "Sell the lands colored yellow." In accordance therewith he sold the "yellow," and in doing so five or six townships of land which had not been advertised were taken at $1.25 per acre, which would have yielded the government not less than $10 per acre had they been offered to the highest bidder, as is required by law where there is competing bidders. Many soldiers and other parties had prospected these lands, with a view to entering or purchasing the same. The manner in which they were bought up is disgraceful to the Administration and reflects seriously upon the integrity of the Land Department.

We understand that an effort will be made to investigate this whole transaction, and expose the action of the government officials.

The following is also from the Advocate:—

GLENMORE.—We learn from Mr Slye that his mill, on Sec. 17, town of Glenmore, is averaging from 65 to 70,000 shingles per day of 12 hours. He runs one mulay, a small circular, and two shingle machines—a Valentine and a hand-machine. The pine timber in the vicinity of his mill will last 3 or 4 years longer.

C. S. Smith's mill, in the same town, is out of timber and is being pulled down.

Green & Reynolds' new mill, we believe in Rockland, has started up.

Mr. SLYE informs us that there is abundance of good oak timber in the town, suitable for staves. When the pine gives out here and elsewhere in this county, as it certainly must soon, stave or other machinery should be put into the mills, that these sections shall not lose the benefit of manufactures.

There are one hundred and twenty-five lumber camps on the St. Croix River and its tributaries, employing 2,500 men and 1,000 oxen and horses. The average amount of logs cut each winter is from 150,000,000 to 175,000,000 feet.

The Muskegon News and Reporter gives the following resume of the lumbering business:—

Log-running on Muskegon River will close much earlier this year than usual. The Big Drive, containing about 180,000,000 feet, is near Mill Iron, and will reach the booms in our lake by Saturday next. There is but few logs "hung up" this season, and the total crop for 1871 amounts in an aggregate to 261,104,390; or 24,674,717 feet less than last year.

The following statement shows the amount of logs to be run through the boom here and subject to tax by the Boom Company, as reported and entered upon their books, except the 11,574,024 feet of the Newaygo Company:—

Names of Owners.	Feet.
William Addis & Co.	7,685,000

Hackley & McGorden	17,108,538
L. G. Mason & Co	19,209,262
Ryerson, Hill & Co.	13,665,788
Newaygo Company	11,776,000
A. A. Maxim (estimated)	800,000
Total	261,104,590

This falls about 50,000,000 short of the amount of logs contracted to be put in last winter on Muskegon River.

The number of feet to be cut during the year 1871, at different manufacturing points in Muskegon County, will not vary materially from the following:—

Black Lake (estimated)	7,500,000
White Lake, do.	56,000,000
Muskegon Lake (official)	261,104,390
Total for Muskegon County	324,604,390

The figures, as compared with previous years, of the lumber cut in Muskegon County are, as near as can be ascertained, as follows:—

Log crop for 1869	419,330,555
Log crop for 1871	324,604,390

The figures, as given in this article, are not only correct, but the most reliable that can be obtained, being from the books of Mason & Pingree, who are the contractors for the Muskegon Drive. The cost of these logs delivered at the several mills, is on an average of $9 per thousand feet, to which must be added the price of manufacturing, shipping, etc. Still, at a fair price (as at present paid), our lumbermen have a better margin left them than heretofore, from the fact that it cost about $1 less per thousand to put in logs last season than any previous one, while provisions were cheaper and the wages for manufacturing have been reduced considerably within the past two years.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin contains the following:—

The lumber market has been fairly active since our last, and business at most of the retail yards is improving. The transactions at these distributing points have been larger than at any time since the first of August, and carpenters and builders seem to be taking stock liberally, both to finish contracts taken early in the season, and for new work about being commenced. Dry pine lumber, of last year's sawings, is getting a little scarce, and prices are a shade higher at the West. Spruce by the cargo is dull, and prices have not improved any, though steady at last week's quotations. The demand for all kinds of Western lumber is good for the season, and some dealers are behind on orders. The receipts by rail and water have been large, and the trade is in a generaly healthy condition.

The whole amount of lumber manufactured in Michigan, in 1870, was 1,750,000,000 feet. The amount manufactured in the Saginaw Valley, in the same year, on the shore between the mouth of the Saginaw and Sheboygan rivers, was nearly 1,000,000,000 feet. It required for the total amount of lumber manufactured in Michigan, in 1870, 7,000,000 logs, averaging 250 feet to the log. The increase in the business in the Saginaw Valley proper, since 1863, has been over 400 per cent. The amount of capital invested in timber lands, and employed in lumbering and holding the lumber until ready for market, counts by millions. The stock of manufactured lumber left over on dock, January, 1871, was 130,422,190 feet, of which 47,862,000 were sold, leaving a balance unsold of 82,560,190 feet, a large portion of which belonged to manufacturers having yards in the Lake cities and the East, and practically out of market.

There have been two or three arrivals of Southern pine at this port this week, having been previously ordered. The market is firm, with a good demand, particularly for first-class flooring boards, and good qualities of large sizes are placed readily at full rates.

Canada lumber is quiet but steady, with the demand well up to the supply. The receipts of new are only moderate, and the stock at Burlington is not large. Prices are firm and unchanged.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

METALS.—There still prevails a fair average demand for manufactured copper, and as a rule the market has ruled quite firm, though there are no indications of any advance; the supply on hand is not large, but equal to any ordinary call. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal: and 19@19¼ for old sheathing. The confidence of holders of American ingot copper, so noticeable at the close of our last writing, has resulted in a slight advance from the commencement to the closing of the week; but the market has had no new developments otherwise, the business remaining moderate, and only of a jobbing character. We quote at 22¾@23. Business in Scotch Pig Iron has been only to a moderate extent, buyers as a rule hold back in consequence of the high prices generally demanded, and nothing has been taken beyond small parcels to supply immediate necessities. Holders, in view of the small stock in their hands, refuse to negotiate unless their views are complied with; hence the present state of the market. Quotations are nominal at $33@36.50 per ton. American Pig is also held with a good degree of firmness, and there are but a few parcels obtainable; a number of orders are as yet unfilled for want of an assortment. Business has been limited and confined to such parcels offering no criterion of the market. We quote at $36@37 per ton for No. 1, $34@35 do for No. 2, and $33@34 do for Forge. There has been a more active demand for Refined Bar Iron, and the market has ruled firm, and as advices from Europe are encouraging, all appearances indicate an upward tendency. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes, $105@120; refined, ordinary sizes, $80; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $85; refined, 1 and 1¼ by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $87.50; scroll, $100@130; ovals and half-round, $97.50@122.50; band, $95; horse-shoe, $95@100; rods, 5-8 to 3-16 inch, $85@120; hoop, $105@145; nail rod, per lb., 6¾c. There still continues a moderate demand for common Sheet Iron, and the market has a steady tone; but there is still a very fair supply and assorment offering for the current outlet. Galvanized Sheet continues in fair request, and former rates current. We quote at 12@13c for 14@20; 12½@13½c for 22@ 24; 13½@14c for 25@26; and 15@18c for 27@29, all less 30 per cent. to the trade. Russia Sheet has been fairly active, and the market remains steady at 12¾@13 gold, according to number. The demand for Pig Lead continues light, and the general market presents no features worthy of special notice, prices remaining as before, with a nominally steady tone. We quote at about $6.05@$6.50 gold per 100 lbs. for common to good foreign. Manufactured Lead without change. We quote at 9¼c for bar; 10¼ for sheet and pipe; and 15c for tin-lined pipe, all less 10 per cent. to the trade only. Pig Tin has been in improved demand, especially for English, which has moved more freely than for some time past. Prices remain firm, but they are no higher. We quote, in coin, as follows:—English, 34¾@35c; Straits, 36¼@36½c; and Banca, 40½c. Tin Plates are quiet and nominally unchanged. Zinc in moderate trade demand and steady, with sales from store at 9@9½c for No. 9.

NAILS.—The market does not appear to be in an altogether satisfactory condition to the trade, and we hear complaints of the backward condition of business. There is some demand current, to be sure, and now and then a very good-sized order received, but the call fails to develop any life, and buyers appear to be in an indifferent mood. The outlet in the main is to meet the wants of regular channels of trade, but hopes are entertained that recent and probable further changes in freight charges may attract the attention of interior operators. The stocks and assortments on hand are fair and the production pretty good, but manufacturers complain of unremunerative returns, and say they must work on less time. This, however, is thought to be merely a note of preparation for the approaching meeting of the trade, in order to get an advance on the list of prices if possible. We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9c, $4.50; cut, 6d@7d, $4.75; cut, 4d@5d, $5; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d @3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c per lb.; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 161 pckgs., valued at $799; and since January 1st, 10,821 pckgs., valued at $66,582. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The wholesale market has shown rather an irregular tone since our last, with a few variations in values, and the gain principally in favor of the selling interest. The most noticeable, probably, is upon Vermilion, the stock of which has suddenly run low, and with few additions expected, and what little there is left in first hands under pretty complete control, owners insist upon much better terms. On some of the other leading grades the feeling is firmer, but without decided advance, and we refrain from particularizing. Taken altogether, the position is a little more encouraging, and the trade feel hopeful of another spurt of activity. Just now the general demand is only fair, and confined in the main to parcels made up on a pretty close calculation to actual necessity; but still the number of buyers is larger, and all taking a little stock, makes a very respectable aggregate. Jobbers are distributing to a somewhat larger extent, and think their business is improved by the reduction of railroad freight tariffs to the interior, some of the large country distributors who have heretofore rather held off now showing an inclination to operate. Linseed Oil has not been very active, and of late the movement was confined almost exclusively to the ordinary wants of jobbers, bringing the aggregate business down to quite a small volume. Crushers have continued to ask about former rates, and offered their goods moderately, but the tone was naturally weak and the close is unsettled at about 79@80c in casks.

PITCH.—There is nothing new to report in this article, the demand being small and the stock small, and prices remain steady as before quoted. We quote at $3@3.25 for city; $3.12½@3.25 for Southern; and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25 @ 3.35. Receipts for the week, 181 bbls; since January 1st, 640 bbls; for same time last year, 2,192. Exports for week, 20 bbls; since January 1st, 1,853 bbls; same time last year, 2,990 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market the past week has been more steady, though at times showing signs of weakness and slight fluctuations. The tone, however, is pretty strong, and at the close there is not much offering for prompt delivery. We quote at 53½@54c for merchantable and shipping order, and 54½@55c for New York bbls; small lots at 54@55c, and retail lots from store, 55@56c. Receipts for the week, 2,278 bbls; since January 1st, 40,448 bbls; and for the same period last year, 44,961 bbls. Exports for the week, 143 bbls; since January 1st, 9,599 bbls; and for the same period last year, 13,634 bbls.

TAR.—The market is a little more active; the supply is rather better, and prices have declined. At the close holders are firm at the lower prices. We quote as follows:—$3.25 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $3.50 @3.75 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $4@4.25 for rope, and occasionally $4.25@4.50 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 1,351 bbls; since January 1st, 15,167 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,597 bbls. Exports for week, 10 bbls; since January 1st, 7,640 bbls, and corresponding period last year, 13,634.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 29, 1871, is as follows:—

The advance in prices noted in our last report may be regarded as established. There have been some large sales during the past week, and a disposition evinced on the part of buyers to purchase more freely. The market closes with a general healthy tone and upward tendency in prices. The best kinds of Michigan pine are more firmly held at our highest quotations. Low grades for box-making are scarce and in demand. Unusual low water is interfering with the manufacture of spruce and hemlock at the Northern mills, and supplies of those kinds will continue light. The feeling about lumber in Canada is expressed in the following extract from a private letter of recent date:—"The Ottawa and St. Lawrence districts have ruled very high all season, stimulated by large consumption in Eastern States, supplied through Burlington and Whitehall, and the prospects are that prices will rule high up to the end of the season." Advices from Michigan and elsewhere are of a similar tone. No change in lake freights. Canal freights from Buffalo have been advanced to $5.50, and $6.50 for soft and hard wood.

The receipts at Buffalo during the week, by lake and and rail, are reported at 17,122,400 feet; at Oswego, by lake, 13,796,600 feet. These are more than unusually large.

1871	619,568,000	359,768,000
1870	544,334,000	364,336,000
Increase....	75,234,000	Dec. 4,568,000

The canal week does not close until Friday, so we have not any additional statement of receipts.

Lake freights are $4 to Buffalo, and $6@6.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6.50 on hard wood, and $5.50 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.50.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

To New York, per M	$1 50
To Bridgeport and New Haven	2 00
To Norwich and Middletown	2 50
To Hartford and Providence	3 00
To Boston, soft wood	4 00
To Boston, hard wood	5 00

Portable "Salamander"

FURNACES.

Surface or Base Burners.

THIS NEW AND POPULAR PORTABLE FURNACE HAS BEEN TESTED IN LARGE NUMBERS during the past three years, and we feel perfectly SAFE in stating that there never has been a more SUCCESSFUL FURNACE introduced in the market, and one that has acquired so FAVORABLE AND EXTENDED A REPUTATION.

The SUCCESS of the BOYNTON SALAMANDER PORTABLE FURNACE for the past THREE YEARS has been so REMARKABLE, that we have been induced to adapt the THREE LARGEST SIZES TO BRICK WORK, and by the addition of a CAST-IRON RECESS FRONT, we are prepared to furnish a BRICK-SET FURNACE at a price almost as cheap as a PORTABLE, and one that we will GUARANTEE to give entire satisfaction.

They are adapted for Heating all classes of Private and Public Buildings.

Also, RANGES and STOVES in large variety.

We always guarantee the work we do ourselves to be perfectly satisfactory.

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the

REAL ESTATE RECORD
AND BUILDERS' GUIDE.

VOL. VIII. NEW YORK, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1871. No. 182.

Published Weekly by

TERMS.

One year, in advance.....$6 00

All communications should be addressed to

C. W. SWEET,

7 AND 9 WARREN STREET.

NO receipt for money due the REAL ESTATE RECORD will be acknowledged unless signed by one of our regular collectors, HENRY D. SMITH or THOMAS F. CUMMINGS. All bills for collection will be sent from the office on a regularly printed form.

THE VIADUCT ROAD.

IT is no longer a secret that the appeal to the public for funds to construct the Viaduct Road has not been responded to in as liberal a manner as the projectors of the road had a right to expect. If our information is correct, the total amount of popular subscriptions outside the Board of Direction is less than $6,000,000, after two months of appeal to the public, and an expenditure of more than $150,000 in advertising. It has, moreover, leaked out that the direction is not harmonious, and that the wealthy capitalists, in the Board, who could easily if they wished furnish the necessary money to build, complete, and equip the road, are not willing to contribute the money so long as the charter is in the hands or controlled by certain members of the Direction. It is also hinted that A. T. Stewart and Judge Hilton are only in the Board for the purpose of preventing the construction of the road, as their interests are at Hempstead, Long Island, and not with uptown property. This last allegation, however, we regard as pure gossip and scandal, and unworthy of credence.

Should this Viaduct project fall through, the question comes up, what is to be done? The Viaduct, though a most excellent, is so costly a scheme, that it cannot be built except by the hearty co-operation of a very large number of our wealthiest citizens. Now, if they are not willing to trust it, as we are at present led to believe, and as New York City must have a steam road, the want of it having been a conspicuous disgrace to the metropolis for years, we must look around and see if there be not some more feasible scheme, and we think there is.

The man who can give New York what it wants, and that within a short time, is Commodore Vanderbilt.

The Forty-second street depot settles the question thatfor ten years to come, Fourth Avenue above that point will be used as a steam road. All that is needed is for that avenue to be widened so as to accommodate eight tracks, and an underground road run from that great depot to the City Hall Park, the charter for which is now in existence. For the west side there is now a steam road in existence above Thirtieth street, and let the Commodore secure the Greenwich street Elevated Railroad, strengthen it, make it a two-legged affair, and New York at once has all the steam roads in the centre of the island which it will need for ten years to come.

The steam road next in order would be a belt running around the island, and connecting with the various ferries; but of that more hereafter.

Still another and perhaps a better plan would be to permit the Commodore to erect an iron viaduct over the Fourth Avenue, the advantage of which would be, that instead of costing any money for the right of way, the surface tracks which are now laid down could be taken up, and the city would be the gainer of an entire street.

The merits of this scheme are: 1. It utilizes the steam roads now in the city; 2. Its cheapness, as it can easily be built for half a million of dollars per mile; 3. Its expeditiousness, as it can all be done inside of eighteen months time. As for locations distant from Fourth Avenue, they can be accommodated by horse cars running from river to river through the wide streets. All west of the Boulevard could be served by the Hudson River cars. Our Real Estate readers can see at once the merits and possibility of this plan. Now the question is, will Commodore Vanderbilt act?

To the Editor of the REAL ESTATE RECORD:

Will you allow me to inform you of a mistake made by your folks in the RECORD of August 19th, in reference to the amount paid by Mrs. Catharine L. Beekman to Siegel Bernhard for the following property:—

26TH st., s. s., 412.6 w. Sixth Av.....
111TH st., n. s., 125 w. Eighth Av.....
134TH st., s. s., 125 e. Twelfth Av.....
150TH st., n. s., 475 e. Tenth Av.....
120TH st., s. s., 100 w. Eighth Av.....

Instead of $25,000, as you have it, it should be $40,000. As I was the broker in the matter, I know the figures it should be put down at; and it being a lady owning the property, I feel in duty bound to have it corrected, otherwise the mistake might injure the sale of her property. Your obedient servant,

MARTIN DUNN.

In regard to the above communication, we can only say that we reported the consideration exactly as it was expressed in the deed, $25,000; and can only add, that if the value paid for the property was $40,000, the United States Internal Revenue Department is entitled to an additional $15 for stamps, as there were but $25 of cancelled stamps on the deed.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—For North River Hards we find a generally firm market, and here and there a slight approach to buoyancy, though sellers still fail to stimulate the position sufficiently to fully establish and maintain any decided advance. One reason for this is the unusual freedom with which stock comes to hand, the supplies proving remarkably free, and were it not for the immense and general consumption it is probable that buyers would now be having things pretty much all their own way. Builders, however, seemed to have entirely recovered from the slight apathy noticeable in July and a portion of August, and are now pushing operations forward with great vigor, the necessity for taking advantage of all favorable weather urging matters somewhat, though still further projected improvements of real estate, especially on the upper end of the island, induces every one to hurry work already in hand along with speed, in order to be prepared to enter into fresh contracts. It is not our local consumption alone, however, now taking all the large amounts of bricks selling, but calls are plenty from Providence, all the way back along the "Sound" to the East River; Brooklyn is constantly wanting "more." Jersey City buys freely, and shipments to Newark are daily increasing, the latter city having exhausted nearly all the desirable Jersey stock, now seeking a supply from the production of the yards along the Hudson. According to the views of the leading wholesale dealers the majority of sales now making are at about $8.50@9 per M, with common rain-washed, etc., at $8, and prime at $9.50, and a few selections at $10 per M. At the yards everything continues active, and manufacturers evidently do not intend to allow the production to flag while the weather favors them. A number, however, met with bad luck last week during the heavy rain storms, and a great many brick were so badly injured that they broken up and re-moulded. Stock is held back to some extent, but the shipments cannot be said to have greatly fallen off as yet. The new Capitol at Albany is now far enough advanced to require supplies, and we understand that about a couple of million brick have already been taken. New Jersey Hards are in fair supply, but not plenty, and the great bulk of the arrivals finds buyers when offerings are made, with former prices current, and the tone generally steady. We quote at $7@7.50 per M. Pale Brick are in demand fully equal to the supply, and the market appears to have a very firm, uniform tone, with dealers in most cases confident that even more stock could be sold were it here, as certain sections of this city and Brooklyn are using large quantities. We quote at $5@5.50 per M. Croton Fronts continue in very fair demand, the lower grades, as before, attracting the greatest amount of attention. Prices are quoted as steady, but holders are all willing to sell, and will take off a fraction or so to a liberal buyer. Philadelphia Fronts firm and selling to a very fair extent.

GLASS.—Dealers report a very firm and generally encouraging market on foreign window glass, and seem to consider the position as most acceptable. The stocks on hand are said to be small and very poorly assorted, and the anticipated additions insignificant, the natural result of which is, those holders in possession of anything desirable are quite indifferent operators, and offer nothing except at extreme market values. The demand at the moment is fair, but not very brisk, and mainly on orders of a pressing nature. Interior buyers, however, for various reasons, have not as yet been enabled to operate with freedom, and with the stocks in small dealers' and distributors' hands, said to be very small, a better and improving demand as the Autumn advances is thought to be a certainty. As to the future supply, some difference of opinion appears to exist, one side claiming that there is very little more to come forward, and the receipts must run small for the balance of the year, while, on the other hand, it is asserted that, though there may possibly be a temporary lull in the shipments hither, there is plenty of glass available, and it will come forward just as soon as an outlet is assured. The long-talked-of change in the price-list has at last been made, and we revise our figures to conform thereto, the discount from the new rates being 30 per cent, and on this sellers are said to gain a virtual advance of 10@15 per cent over last quotations. The imports since January 1st are 364,828 pckgs. glass, and 8,502 pckgs. glass plates. American glass is in small supply, good demand, and firm, at old-list figures, with a discount of 60@60 and 5 per cent.

LATH.—We do not find that either buyers or sellers have any particularly new or interesting views to advance since our last, and the market taken altogether may be called nominally unchanged. Receivers continue to look upon values as having seen their lowest for this season, and assert an intention to pile out cargoes before they will submit to any further modification of rates, and considering the cost of production and transportation, the margin for profit would most certainly be much contracted were the quotation to fall off to any extent. Buyers find no great fault with figures asked and take stock along steadily as they require it, but rather resist an advance, and think from the experience of the past five or six weeks that from some source or the other they are likely to get a supply for all their wants, and as a good many small outside manufacturers commence to forward and want to realize quickly, hopes are entertained of occasionally picking up something cheap. Still a number of desirable lots have been quietly stored away in yard, and the accummulation for the winter distribution has undoubtedly commenced. As we close the ruling rate is still about $2.25 per M., but the feeling pretty firm, and the moderate amounts offering find a fair outlet, with some receivers predicting an early advance.

LIME.—After the usual preparation, and the final getting the market into proper shape, the price of common has again been advanced and the position is announced as very strong, and buyers very anxious to operate. There is certainly an outlet found for everything coming to hand, and apparently a demand for two or three more cargoes per day just at the moment, but with the wants of dealers very closely calculated beforehand and the bulk of the production under complete control, the Eastern manufacturers' monopoly can very easily regulate the shipments so that the receipts here may not at any time greatly exceed the call, and indeed as a rule keep just a little behind. Current values, however, afford a fair margin, and as long as they are maintained there is likely to be enough stock available for all wants. The State limes have been a little scarce, especially on the upper grade, and nominally steady, but in reality the same old irregularity can be traced, and we constantly hear of odd purchases being made at 5 and even 10c. per bbl. off the quoted figures, and always a little more stock available if wanted. The general consumption of lime at this point is probably as great as last year, but the production is equal to the call, and with the caution of buyers higher average prices cannot easily be obtained. As we close the market is slow, and quoted steady at $1.25 per bbl. for common, and $1.75 for finishing.

LUMBER.—The retail movement is without any indications of general activity, and, as usual on a market where everything is not going off with a jump, we find a dealer here and there who is rather inclined to grumble somewhat. Taken altogether, however, the general trade appear to agree that business is in very good shape, and that the prospects are more encouraging than otherwise. Everything now indicates a large building movement throughout the city and suburbs during the autumn, and a good steady call for manufacturing purposes, and though the distribution out of town from this point is not as large as in former years, the consumption is increasing and likely to want all the goods dealers have to offer. The summer trade has made a more serious inroad upon the stock in yard than we had supposed, before a rather closer examination than usual, made during the present week, but stock is being gradually replaced and though not extravagant, the supply and assortment are likely to be very good for the commencement of the fall and winter trade now approaching. A good many lots, to be sure, have get to come to hand, but with average weather, owners hope to get all their invoices through before the close of navigation. On prices there appears to be a generally firm and confident tone at about full former figures, and we discover no necessity for altering our range of quotations.

There appears to be no very decided change in the wholesale market for the period under review, buyers certainly having gained nothing, and sellers, though insisting upon and in most cases realizing former rates, finding it extremely difficult to work an advance upon any grade. Still we think on the whole the tendency is toward a slight buoyancy on all desirable lots of lumber more especially of Northern and Western growth, as the large interior distributing markets have in nearly all cases improved, and reports from nearly every section of the country are firm. No decided jump on values can be made, at least cannot be sustained if made, but there is a probability that manufacturers will be enabled to obtain from this time forward a better average rate than during the early portion of the season. As to the probable volume of purchases it is difficult to estimate, but the impression is that nothing very heavy will be done, old stocks on hand, odd lots quietly picked up here and there during the summer, giving many dealers a fair supply already, while the old spirit of caution will induce a close movement to actual wants. Exporters are comparatively small buyers, they can be found in the market, but seem to want only retail parcels to fill up freight room etc., and are extremely close in the calculations on prices.

Eastern Spruce has continued to show something of an irregular tone, and without either buyer or seller gaining any positive advantage, the extreme range of prices, according to actual sales reported, remaining much the same as before. There appears to be just about a large enough attendance of dealers to take four or five cargoes per day, but even this amount is sometimes too large, and when there is an excess receivers experience difficulty in effecting sales. We do not hear, however, that any serious accumulation has taken place, good management and now and then a favor on prices granted quickly enabling receivers to finally place most of their schedules. Extra-sized sticks, as usual, have done rather the best both in point of the rapidity of sales and the prices obtained, but medium grades found a fair market, and now and then a buyer could be found who really seemed to prefer a short specification. As we close there is a very fair amount of stock offering, and the tone of the market somewhat unsettled on most grades. We quote at $14@17 for inferior to fair, and $17.50@20 for good to prime schedules. White Pine is very firm and not offered with any freedom, sellers feeling confidence in the market and exhibiting little anxiety to hurry business. Prices naturally remain steady, and for all the best stock there is a firmer tone of late. We quote at $20@25 per M. for inferior to good, and $26@30 do for prime to choice. Yellow Pine is somewhat irregular, with a very fair demand prevailing, however. Nice prime grades are wanted, and where long sticks can be obtained, and first-class floating extreme figures are quickly bid. Indeed sellers are obliged to insist upon high rates, as the excessive cost of freight, even at the outside prices obtained for lumber, eats up all the margin for profit. Common random cargoes are neglected and depressed in value. We quote at $28@33 per M as the average range for good to prime stock.

We note additional exports as follows:—To Hayti, 100,000 shingles; to Antwerp, 16,700 staves; to Amsterdam, 4,000 do; to Liverpool, 8,040 do; to London, 3,000 do; to Gibraltar, 960 do; to Havre, 10,550 do; to French West Indies, 32,004 do; to Cette, 88,440 do; to Funchal, 5,880 do; to British West Indies, 1,007 shooks and 1,000 box shooks; to British Guiana, 200 shooks; to Cuba, 4,813 shooks and 30,000 hoops; to Porto Rico, 1,050 shooks; to Venezuela, 1,000 shooks; to Brazil, 200 do. The receipts reported are as follows:—From St. John, N. B., 752,710 feet lumber, 800,000 lath, and 450 pcs. piling; from Musquash, N. B., 170,000 feet lumber, 22,000 lath; from Campabello, 1,140 pcs. piling; from Shulee, 1,429 pcs. do; and from St. George's 530 pcs. do. From Maine coast, 20 cargoes lumber, 5 do. lath and 3 do. piling.

Charters as follows:—A Br. Ship, 1188 tons, from St. John, N. B., to Liverpool, Deals, 70s.; a Br. Barque from Montreal to Montevideo, lumber, $21 net, privilege Rosario, $25; two Schrs. from Savannah to Providence, resawed lumber, $10.50; one from New Berne to Providence, 10; one from Jacksonville to Fall River, boards, $13.

The Boston market is reported as follows by the Commercial Bulletin:—

The market for lumber is fairly active for the season, especially at the retail yards; and as the weather begins to grow cooler, and contracts taken for building during the Fall are beginning to assume tangible shape, there is more activity manifested and a good healthy business is looked for during the next three months. The arrivals of Eastern lumber at this port for the season, thus far, have been large and the market has had a downward tendency since the opening in the Spring. The ice left the rivers about a month earlier than usual, and consequently arrivals in the early spring months were larger than in previous years. Pine and hemlock boards for covering were quite scarce early in the season, bnt the market was quickly supplied on the opening of the rivers, and there has been a good supply ever since. The consumption of lumber in Boston and vicinity has been very large the present season, with unusual activity in building operations, and there is no heavy accumulation of stock. The prospect is good for a large Fall trade, and the market will probably be firmer as cold weather approaches. Shingles have been rather dull this season, thus far, the consumption, apparently, not being as large as usual. Sawed Cedars are now the favorite kind, shaved shingles not being so much used as formerly. Extra sawed cedars are in fair demand, but the lower grades are dull.

Canada lumber is in fair demand, and transactions have been larger than last week. Prices have advanced in Canada from $1@1.50 per M, which makes it a little firmer here, although there is as yet no quotable change in prices.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.

A correspondent of the Detroit Post, writing from Jenney, Wis., reports as follows on the subject of LUMBERING.

The method of lumbering on the Wisconsin river is entirely different—as on the Chippewa—from the way it is done on the Saginaw and its tributaries. There are any number of rapids, the channels through which are invariably narrow and, except to experts, exceedingly dangerous. Dams are constructed in many places, as the mills are run by water power, each dam has a "slide," and over this are the rafts propelled. The mill at this point is capable of cutting 50,000 feet per day. There is one lot of lumber now at this mill which was 80 per cent first clear. This, of course, is extraordinary as the very best trees were selected. The logs are cut into three inch plank and are designed for the St. Louis market, where they will be manufactured into heavy window sash, etc. Wages are quite high here and labor has been very scarce, but as the country is being developed this difficulty is being obviated.

Pine land is plenty and is "skinned" here as it was on the "Cass" twenty years ago. I am told there are "forties" here which have been "cut over" and still have 250,000 feet of fair pine upon them. By the way, all lands here are described as "forties," for instance a man who is the owner of 16,000 acres of land will state that he owns "four hundred forties."

DULL TIMES.

Times are dull this year with the lumbermen here. The Mississippi market is glutted by the very heavy shipments for the last two years, and many lumbermen here tied up their rafts below, borrowing money and getting trusted through the season, awaiting higher prices. In this locality they are looking with interest upon the Eastern tendency of the Saginaw lumber, and are hoping that another year will take less Saginaw lumber West, thus affording better prices to them.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.

Improvements are being made upon the Wisconsin River, which will materially diminish the danger and expense of running rafts. The immense rocks which are "lions in the way," on the various rapids, are in many places being rapidly blasted out, and from my observation I think that the judicious use of 100 kegs of powder would put the Wisconsin in good shape. An idea can be formed of the danger of "running" some of these rapids, when I tell you that a rope is generally stretched across the rafts, and as it enters the rapid the rope is grasped by the men, and sometimes raft and men will be under water two minutes at a time. Without the rope the men would be swept off of the rafts, and falling into the wildly rushing seething waters, they would be drowned.

CARGOES.—Owing to extremely light offerings, sales were confined on yesterday to two cargoes of shingles, which were lower, $3.10 being the highest price obtainable, and a cargo of choice joist and scantling, to arrive, at $11.75. Prices were firm, as follows;—

Joist and scantling	$ 11 50
Common boards and strips	12 00@13 50
Good boards and strips	14 00@15 50
Choice mill-run	16.00@20 00
Shingles	3 00@ 3 10
Lath	2 00@2 12½
Pickets	8 00

The following were the ruling rates of freight from the points named to Chicago:—

Pere Marquette	$2 00
Manistee	2 00	@2 12½
Muskegon	1 75	@1 87½
Pentwater	2 25	@....

Oconto	2 75	@3 00
Menomonee	2 25	....
Red River	2 50	....
Sturgeon Bay	2 50	....
Ford River	2 12½	....

The Green Bay (Wis.) Gazette contains the following:—

SHINGLE CUTTING—THE BEST YET.—Messrs. Lamb, Watson & Co. inform us that at their mill in Flintville, last Friday, in 11½ hours there were cut two hundred and sixteen thousand shingles. This extraordinary labor was performed by one Challoner machine, assisted by one Spalter. Some pretty tall figures have been published heretofore, but this is the best record yet. Who can beat it?

VARIOUS MILL ITEMS.

At Big Suamico, Weed's Mill, with improved machinery, is now ready for shingle cutting.

Tremble's mill is in good order and turning out the usual quantity.

At Conn's mill fears are entertained that they will get out of logs before the river rises sufficiently to enable the balance of the drive to float down.

At Lamont's mill they expect to run four weeks yet.

We clip the following from the Saginaw Courier:—

The lumber market during the past month has been steady at quotation, and the movement of lumber from the river has been brisk. In fact, lumber has gone out as rapidly as the transportation facilities would permit. Contrary to our predictions, the shipments last month exceeded those of the same month last year, as will be seen below. Following is a statement of the shipments from the port of East Saginaw during August, 1871 and 1870:—

	Aug., 1870.	Aug., 1871.
Lumber, ft	31.660,952	39,001,425
Lath, pcs	2,394,000	2,819,150
Shingles	13,943,000	8,093,000
Salt, bbls	4,460	22.550
Staves	121,000	96,000
Pickets	6,000	2,000

The shipments from Bay City during the same months were as follows:—

	Aug., 1870.	Aug., 1871.
Lumber	38,035,122	38,516,875
Lath	2,861,300	3,097,000
Shingles	2,828,000	8,472,000
Salt	14,378	29,371
Timber	145,500	164,000
Pickets	.....	200,000
Hoops	980,000	1,325,100
Staves	290,300	193,600

It will be noticed that there is a large increase in the shipments from East Saginaw, which was also the case the previous month. The increase at Bay City is slight. The shipments from the river for the season up to September 1st, 1871, with a comparative statement for previous seasons, is shown in the following table:—

	1869.	1870.	1871.
Lumber	285,291,970	281,158.503	327,915,454
Lath	22,793,659	26,865,205	26,819,150
Shingles	48,195,200	68,725,020	91,445,500
Salt	322,155	317,113	241,683

As we explained in our last report, the shipment of salt is incorrectly shown, for reasons stated in prevous issues. Freights continue good, and in fact there is a fair demand for vessels. The lumber is moving off about as fast as manufactured, and there is no desire to have stocks accumulate.

A number of large purchases have been made on the river within the past ten days, which, with the amount previously purchaeed, will leave but a small amount of stock unsold. It is estimated by competent judges that there is not to exceed 40,000,000 of unsold lumber on the river to-day.

The Courier of the 2d says:—

Quite a large fleet of vessels arrived yesterday, some of which have been detained for several days on account of a storm prevailing on the lakes. The arrivals at this port yesterday footed up 15 vessels and barges, and the clearances 11. The following is a statement of yesterday's shipments:—

Lumber, ft	2,250,000
Lath. No.	496.000
Shingles,	3,285,000
Salt, bbls	8,000

LUMBERING.—P. Burlingame, Esq., of New Haven, has contracted with Pitts & Cranage, of Bay City and Detroit, to put into the Tittabawassee the coming winter 2,000,000 feet of logs.

METALS.—Manufactured Copper has sold fairly, a little better, if anything, than last week, and values remain steady for all goods. The stocks on hand are said to be somewhat reduced, but the production is increasing and the accumulations will probably soon be brought up to a larger aggregate. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal, and 19@19¼c for old sheathing. Ingot Copper has continued in good active demand, both from the consumptive trade and for investment, and prices show a further improvement, closing pretty firmly with comparatively small supplies offering, and sellers not anxious to operate. We quote at 23½@23¾c, and sales for future as high as 23¾c. Scotch F g iron has been in good demand from all quarters, and, with moderate amounts of stock coming to hand, the supply was not allowed to accumulate, while prices showed much general strength, and importers were quite indifferent operators. Sales of common to best brands at $32@36.50 per ton. American Pig Iron remains in small stock, the demand nearly or quite equal to the offering, and the market firm, with occasionally a slight advance obtained on choice or small parcels. We quote at $36@37 per ton for No. 1: $34@35 do for No. 2, and $33@34 do for forge. Bar Iron has met with a fair average inquiry from all the ordinary outlets, and values favored the seller throughout, closing firm. The stocks on hand are neither large nor well-assorted, and advices from all points of production, both domestic and foreign are generally stimulating. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes, $107.50@122.50; refined, ordinary sizes, $82.50; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined, 1 and 1⅛ by ¼ and 5-16, $90; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $90; scroll, $102.50@112.50; ovals and half-round, $100@125; band, $97.50; horse-shoe, $97.50@102; rods, 5-8 to 3-16 inch, $87,50@122.50; hoop, $105@147.50; nail rod, per lb., 6¼@7c. Common Sheet Iron has been in moderate demand at about former rates and is called steady, though the market is more or less a nominal one. Galvanized Sheet fairly active, and the market steady for regular sizes. We quote at 12@13c for 14@20; 12½@13½c for 22@24; 13½@14c for 25@26; and 15@18c for 27@24, all less 30 per cent to the trade. Russia Sheet met with a very good demand, the supply available was small, and the market improved, closing firmly on all grades. We quote at 13¼@13¾c gold, according to number. Pig Lead selling along slowly in job lots, and with the tendency of the stock to accumulate; prices rather tame. We quote at 6@6¼c per lb, gold, for common to good foreign. Manufactured steady at 9¼c for Bar; 10¼c for Sheet and Pipe, and 15c for tin-lined Pipe, all less 10 per cent to the trade Pig Tin has not met with a very brisk demand, but holders appear to have great confidence in the market, and the position is strong at extreme figures. We quote in coin at 35c for English; 36¼@36½c for Straits, and 40½@41c for Banca. Tin Plates in very good demand and steady for all grades. Zinc fairly active and firm at 9@9½c from store.

NAILS.—We cannot find that any very decided change has taken place in the general position of this market, or that new features of special importance have been developed for the week. Complaints of an absence of margins are still made, and it is intimated that the production will have to be suspended unless something better in the way of prices can be obtained, but buyers find that they can procure goods at former figures without any great difficulty, and that the general supply and assortment appears to be ample for a much larger outlet. The hopes of an improved inquiry have not as yet been realized, but dealers in a measure attribute this to a natural lull between the distribution to near by sources of consumption and the opening of an outlet at more distant points. Exporters are fairly represented but do not appear to hold any very extensive orders at the moment. We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10d@60d, $4.25; cut, 8d@9d, $4.50: cut, 6d@7d, $4.75: cut, 4d@5d, $5.; cut, 3d, $5.75; cut, 2d@3d, fine, $6.50; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.50; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $4.75@$6.25; clinch, $5.75@6.25; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c per lb.; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 510 pckgs., valued at $2,792; and since January 1st, 11,331 pckgs., valued at $69,374. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—The market for invoices has continued very fairly active in a general way, but the most decided call has again been directed to vermilion, on which a further material advance is established, and holders are now not only very firm in their views but some have entirely withdrawn samples and refuse to name any positive rate for the present. A great many other goods are also somewhat buoyant but as noted in our last, the upward turn hardly amounts to a positive advance, and there is nothing to warrant any important change in the general range of quotations. The call current seems to be entirely of a legitimate character, no reports of speculative purchases being made, and this is a strengthening influence. The jobbers hold a fair stock of goods, and from this are making a very acceptable daily distribution, with indications of a gradual increase. Values sympathize with the position on the wholesale market, and the position on all styles is quite firm. Home buyers are the best represented. Exporters not appearing to need many very heavy or urgent orders at present, and moving with a little caution. Linseed oil has continued to sell in rather a slow manner, but still there was a little inquiry from the trade and a few export orders filled. The stock in the meantime has been quietly brought under better control, and the trade, have of late advanced their views and now ask 82c. in casks, and offer with moderation. Buyers do not submit to the higher figures readily, but a better call is looked for from the West within a few days.

	This week.	Since Jan. 1. 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	135 value $883	6,334 value $90,760
Linseed oil, galls.	237 " 223	9,036 " 8,240
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	.....	2,670 " 28,110

PITCH.—We have no change to note in prices, which are hardly more than nominal, the demand being very light and entirely for single barrel lots. We quote at $3@3.25 for city; $3.12½@3.25 for Southern: and small lots, very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25@3.35. Receipts for the week, nil bbls: since January 1st, 640 bbls: for same time last year 2,192. Exports for the week, 105 bbls; since January 1st, 1,958 bbls; same time last year, 3,015 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Following our last, the market declined to 51@51½c, and continued at these prices most of the time. Near the close, however, with a small stock on hand, and that held by a few parties, prices were advanced to 53@53½c. Subsequently, with the arrival of a cargo, the price fell to 51½c, at which price there have been sales of small lots, but prices again reacted, and 52c was bid without sellers; 52½c was asked from the wharf and 53c from yard. The market in Wilmington is quiet at 45@45½c for lots in shipping order. We quote at 52@52½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 53@53½c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 53@54c and retail lots from store, 54@55c. Receipts for the week, 1,247 bbls; since January 1st, 1,695 bbls: and for the same period last year, 6,507 bbls. Exports for the week, 280 bbls; since January 1st, 9,979 bbls; and for the same period last year, 12,876 bbls.

TAR.—The market has been quiet and barely steady. The demand has been fair, and one sale of Wilmington of considerable size has been reported, but the general business has been confined to single bbl. lots. We quote as follows:—$3.25 per bbl. for North County, as it runs; $3.50 per bbl. for Wilmington, and $3.75@4 for rope, and occasionally $4.00@4.25 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 554 bbls; since January 1st, 15,721 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,685 bbls. Exports for week, 120 bbls; since January 1st, 7,760 bbls., and corresponding period last year, 13,664 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending August 29, 1871. is as follows:—

Retail yards in different directions report increased activity, with light stocks and no falling off in building operations. This will have a good deal to do with keeping up an active market here. If there is any difference of opinion as to the improved prospects for lumber, it is among buyers who are putting off their purchases in hopes of an accumulation of stocks and easier prices. However this may have been in other years, at this period, the chances are against them now, the indications all being in favor of an active fall trade at advancing prices. An important feature is the fact of light stocks at most distributing points, as well as at the retail yards. The high prices now being realized by Canadian and Michigan manufacturers and the prospect of still higher lake and canal freights will keep prices up. The receipts here, though somewhat ahead of those for the corresponding week last year, are light, and show an aggregate deficiency of nearly 20,000,000 feet on the season. Shipments are active, with large sales from time to time. The Northern mills now have water, but the supplies of spruce and hemlock are light, and it looks at present as if a further advance in those descriptions of lumber would soon be established

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of lumber for the seasons of 1871 and 1870, as follows:

	Received.	Shipped.
1871	653,445,000 feet.	374,323,000 feet.

BOYNTON'S

IMPROVED ELEVATED

OVEN RANGE.

This Beautiful Range, improved last year, is offered to the Public as the most Complete, Convenient, and Desirable Elevated Oven Range in the Market, and is the result of long experience in the Manufacture and Setting of Cooking Ranges; and we do not hesitate in recommending it as the nearest to perfection of any Elevated Oven Range in the Country.

The body of this Range is higher than other Patterns, and is more like the French Kitcheners, making it much more convenient and easy for the cook.

The Hot Closets are more accessible, placed in a natural position, being in the body of the Range, instead of above the ovens, as in other patterns.

ALSO,

FURNACES, HEATERS, AND STOVES

IN LARGE VARIETY.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—We do not find that there is anything decidedly new on the market for North River Hards during the period under review, all the wholesale dealers reporting a continued firm position, but no advance in prices, and still enough stock coming forward to meet the outlet. Manufacturers are sending bricks forward, it is said, because they have no storage room available at present, and the current production must be worked off; but a check to the shipments is hoped for within a week or two, as a strong effort will be made to induce the stoppage of work at all the kilns on the 1st proximo. The outlet for stock continues quite general, our city dealers distributing considerable amounts, and all the out-of-town sources calling for full as much, if not more, than last week, especially Eastern orders. On prices we quote at $8@10 per M for the two extremes, but neither very common or very prime selling with much freedom on city account, a medium grade averaging along about $9@9.25 per M, appearing to be nearer the views of the majority of builders. New Jersey Hards are still quoted at $7@7.50 per M, and though without any great amount of activity, the market is free enough to prevent an accumulation of supplies, and the general feeling steady. For Pale brick the demand continues about equal to the supply, the Brooklyn outlet still affording an opportunity to receivers to work off their stocks as they come to hand, and former prices are quoted, viz:—$5@5.50 per M. Taken altogether, the general market for ordinary building brick has at the moment a pretty firm tone, but we cannot discover that there is any great buoyancy, or that sellers are likely to gain much advantage for some little time to come. The city consumption certainly has been large this fall, and there is still a great many brick to be used but operations have advanced so far that there is less general anxiety among builders and contractors to purchase, and some of the yards, even on the upper end of the island, right where business is lively, commence to accumulate stock. Again, the receipts are very liberal and likely to continue so, notwithstanding the usual threats of manufacturers to check shipments, and there is no doubt had it not been for a very free outlet found at the Eastern ports and other out-of-town points, we should have been over-run with supplies, even in the face of the free consumption. Buyers from the sections named are very cautious and likely to withdraw on the first intimation of higher rates, and then the stock at yards will be sent here, with vessels making two trips where they made one along the "Sound." Croton Fronts are quoted at about $12@15 per M, according to shade, with the common grades selling rather the best. Values, however, are a little nominal and buyers bidding something under quoted rates, with an intimation that they will operate freely, are very apt to be button holed by agents at once, Philadelphia Fronts firm. Exports, 10,000 brick to Hayti.

The following is from the Peekskill Advertiser, of the 1st inst:—

We have been informed that a meeting of the manufacturers of common brick will be held in New York City on Tuesday, September 12th. The object of the meeting seems to be wise and sensible. We have heard numerous complaints from brickmakers that their balance sheets for the past two years have proved very unsatisfactory, and we have been surprised that a body of men, so large and intelligent, and employing so vast an amount of capital, should heretofore have had so little unity of purpose and action. The great and infallible law of supply and demand seems to have been entirely ignored by them, and the result is that by overstocking the market they have placed themselves at the mercy of the consumers. We would not advise any action that would tend to hinder or embarrass building enterprise, but we do insist that a business of so vast proportions, attended with so many disadvantages and risks, can and should be so conducted as to ensure a fair and equitable margin. The object of the meeting alluded to is, as we understand, to fix upon some definite day for a general and unanimous suspension of their business, some favoring as early a day as October 1st, while many others prefer the 15th. It is generally believed that there will be brick enough made by the 1st to supply the demand for the rest of the season. The dealers, or more properly the middle men, are looking forward to the result of this meeting with much anxiety, and would, no doubt, rejoice at its failure, for they would then continue to be, as they have been for the past three months, the masters of the situation.

In regard to the above, we undertand that a large meeting of brick makers was held at the office of the Hudson River Brick Makers' Association, foot of West 30th street, city of New York, on the 12th inst, at which it was unanimously resolved, to wind up the season of brick making on 15th of October next.

LATH.—With buyers trying to keep the demand down to a pretty close margin on the actual consumptive wants, and dealers doing all they could to regulate the supply to the outlet, there has been a sort of uniform tone on values since our last, not much of an opportunity presenting itself for either interest to gain any decided advantage. Taken altogether, however, we still think the tendency to be upward, and expect, from all accounts, to be called upon to chronicle an advance at an early day, not so much from any actual falling off in the supply, for we do not believe that the production is at all behind last year, as from a good healthy and free consumption. There is a wonderful amount of building going on in many parts of this city, the present and prospective consumption of lath is large, and as dealers distribute almost as fast as they buy, the stock accumulates slowly, which, with the lateness of the season makes it pretty evident that if anything is laid away for winter, the demand should commence to increase pretty soon. From near-by cities there is also a comparatively good demand and quite a number of cargoes have recently been sold for this outlet at relatively higher rates than those current at this point. As we close our report the general quotation remains at $2.25 per M, but some few are said to have reached $2.30 per M, and on out-of-town orders a still higher figure.

LIME.—The reports appear to be about the same old story on this market, and according to sellers' views every thing is lovely and the price looks high. The supply of late has certainly been managed very well and prevented from greatly exceeding or even from fully balancing the demand and the result has been an appearance of some anxiety on the part of buyers, and comparatively quick sales whenever stock condescendingly placed upon sale. Dealers, however, tell us that if their actions would seem to indicate anxiety, their feelings are not in unison therewith, and that they have no great desire as yet to put any greater amount of stock in yard than is likely to be distributed at an early day. There does not appear to be any decided call for either grade, both common and lump selling in the usual proportion. For State limes the demand has been very good, especially for the fine grades of finishing, which being particularly adapted to certain manufacturing purposes has an outlet fully equal to, and at times in excess of the offering. The common stock is irregular, and can be bought 5@10c below the quotation on Eastern, according to quantity, etc. There is no change of price quoted up to the close of this report, the market still standing at about $1.25 per bbl. for common, and $1.75 for finishing, but about thirty cargoes of Eastern, besides the North River receipts have recently gone into yard, and the demand is not very quick.

LUMBER.—The yard trade continues fair, and if anything rather on the increase as the necessities of buyers commence to grow larger already, though the fall business can hardly be said to have fully set in as yet. Otherwise we find nothing especially new or interesting for the current week, the majority of dealers appearing to consider the position as quite encouraging for good steady movement from this time forward, and a probability that there will be no more stocks on hand than can be used to advantage during the coming winter season. The additions to the supply are not remarkably rapid, but still there is a goodly amount of lumber coming to hand every day, and additional purchases are being made by parties who have delayed until the last moment, and it is probable that receipts, especially from the interior, will continue until navigation closes. There was some little time ago quite a call for common sorts of Eastern spruce, as our dealers had neglected this class of stock greatly during the early portion of the season, and now we find much the same condition of affairs on pine, and for a week or two past the low grades have sold more rapidly and relatively higher than the upper qualities. On the hard woods there does not appear to be much to say. Dealers who make these grades a specialty have laid in or prepared to do so, about their usual supply, and the cost in most cases was such as to require the asking of full former rates and values may be called steady in a general way though special contracts may possibly be negotiated something off regular figures.

In a wholesale way the market appears to be pretty steady, and in some cases very firm with a fair general movement, and buyers operating in a rather more liberal spirit than heretofore. We do not learn of many large contracts making, but the small invoices called for foots up to a very respectable aggregate, and when a dealer has finally made up his mind as to what will be required, there is no hanging back, purchases being made as soon as a desirable parcel can be found and the rates asked submitted to without much hesitation. The indifference of manufacturers and strong reports from all the interior markets, making it quite certain that further concessions will not be granted this season, while an additional advance is not improbable. As to an actual scarcity of lumber existing there is not a very general belief, but the supply available is undoubtedly small and so well under control dealers have made up their minds they must meet the views of holders to some extent in order to secure whatever they may require for stocks. The export movement from this point continues on a comparatively small scale, but shippers are buying largely at the mills and paying pretty full prices, though gaining a slight margin on the cost of transportation, etc. The production continues fair in a general way, but the mills are gradually shutting down for the season.

Eastern spruce is reported in various ways by the trade, some sticking to the old stereotyped report of "good demand and firm," while others think the market might be in a little more favorable condition and acknowledge to some difficulty in getting rid of stock even when the terms offered are easy. Buyers do not altogether object to the prices asked but really do not require the supplies for the present, having filled up most of their spare room, and preferring to await a more liberal distribution before they again resume operations. Receivers, however, by keeping a sharp lookout and watching their chances find an outlet for most of the stock coming to hand, and few cargoes have held over any length of time awaiting customers. At the close there is not a very heavy supply on hand, but enough for all wants, and the market is easy. We quote at $14@17 for inferior to fair, and $17.50@20 for good to prime schedules. White pine continues in good general demand, but the movement of late has been largely confined to common grades and these show a firmer tone in consequence with nothing new to be had at former inside figures. The box-makers are consuming large quantities this fall. Some few lots of poor culls can be found at $21 but this appears to be about an inside figure, with prices ranging from thence up to $26@28 per M for prime, and some very choice shipping boards at $30 per M. Yellow pine is inquired after at full former rates, and in view of the small amounts now offering it is probable that some buyer would pay an advance in order to secure desirable parcels. About $28@33 per M are quoted as the general rates by the trade, but special orders run to much higher figures. There is also an occasional lot of poor sappy stuff offered and this sells low, even down to $22@25 per M, and finds few friends at that.

NOT SO BAD!—During the month ending August 15th, the number of vessels entering this port was 52; tonnage, 7,602 tons; number of crew, 380 men. The shipments of lumber was 6,179,000 feet; square timber, 14,000 feet; lath, 411,000; 430 cords of slabs; 24,000 pickets and 57 bbls. of fish; 15,000 broom handles; and three hundred dozen wooden bowls.—Mason County Record, Aug. 30.

The St. Louis Times contains the following:

Receipts by river continue light, amounting during the past week to 2,380,000 feet lumber, 500 M. lath and 2,050 M. shingles, Pilots experience great difficulty and delay in running over the rapids in the present stage of the river. Low water and an increasing scarcity of logs at the mills accounts for the light receipts at this and other ports. Sales are active at points above, and prices tending upward. We note one large contract made during the past week, at an advance of $1 per M. over late quotations.

We quote: Chippewa, $17@20; Wisconsin, $20@25.

The Green Bay (Wis.) Advocate contains the following items:—

MILL MATTERS.

The new mill of Messrs. Orr, Newell & Co. will probably be running in about two weeks. The engine, from Taylor & Duncan, and smoke stack from Burns, Ft. Howard, are on the ground, also part of the other machinery. The machinery will be a large circular, an Omro two-block shingle machine, a hand-machine, and spalter. They expect to make about 100,000 shingles per day. We are indebted to Mr. Geo. N. Stone for particulars.

Mr. Ellis, of the Oconto Company, informs us that their mill is averaging about a million feet lumber per week.

Holt & Balcom have taken the contract for sawing three and a half millions feet of logs for Comstock & Simpson.

It will be remembered that Mr. Brunquest's dam, a short distance up the river, was carried away by the water last October. This left, by the water receding, Comstock & Simpson's mill 160 feet from the river. The consequence has been that the mill has been idle all summer. However this firm, with commendable enterprise, have dug a channel or sluiceway to the mill for running up their logs. The channel is 165 feet long by 25 feet wide and 10 feet deep, and will answer every purpose. There is, however, some talk of rebuilding the dam.

A correspondent of the Advocate, writing from Pestigo, says:—

At the Harbor we met Frank Finnigan, chief filer in the harbor mill. He tells us that they have 107 saws running at once and of course there are two setts to file, which makes 214 saws. We looked in at the mill and found it busy. The average cut of lumber is 150,000 per day.

The Stiles Mill at Oconto will turn out 9,000,000 feet of lumber this season.

BIG SAWING.—Mr. S. R. Lamb gives us the amount of shingles cut at the shingle mill of Lamb, Watson & Co., at Flintville, for six days ending Saturday night last, as follows: Monday 216 M; Tuesday 183 M; Wednesday 203 M; Thursday 206 M; Friday 206 M; Saturday 212; making a total of 1,226 M for the six days of 12 hours per day. Mr. L. says the boys in the mill propose to cut 1,350 in one week, before closing down the mill for the season.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.—From a copy of the Green Bay Republican, printed in 1844, we take the following from the advertisement of Nathan Goodell, who advertised the "Storage, Forwarding and Commission Business." It illustrates some of the differences between then and now:—

He would also inform his friends in the Eastern country, that during the past season, there has been a steamboat built and put into successful operation upon Winnebago Lake (by Capt. Peter Hotelling, from Poughkeepsie, Dutchess Co., New York, who commands her in person), which will add much to the speed and safety, in the transportation of merchandise upon said Lake and rivers.—The subscriber having made an arrangement with Capt. Hotelling, he will now be at all times prepared to transport all kinds of property from Astor to Winnebago Rapids, by Durham Boats, where it will be reshipped on board the Steamboat Manchester, and by her transported to any Western port upon Winnebago Lake, or the Fox or Wolf Rivers, and if destined for the Wisconsin River, she will transport to Lake Apuckway, from whence it will be transported in Durham Boats to Fort Winnebago. (Lake Apuckway is within 20 miles of Fort Winnebago by land, but 60 miles by water, which at present is only navigable for Durham Boats.) The Steamboat Manchester, in October last, ascended the Wolf River 150 miles loaded with provisions and building materials for a mill. She may ascend the Wolf River 100 miles further without obstructions, and then one of her tributaries to within 18 miles of the county seat upon the Upper Wisconsin River, to what is called the Pinery, where there are about 20 saw-mills in full operation, and about 600 inhabitants, who will probably be enabled to obtain their merchandise at a much cheaper rate by this route, than by their present mode of transportation.

There is a good steady demand for lumber of all the different qualities, with no material change to note in the market this week. The arrivals of Eastern lumber have not been so large. Manufacturers are well supplied with orders, and the market is firm. The approach of cold weather, and the tendency to an advance in freights, naturally make dealers desirous to get in their winter's supply before the close of navigation, and keep prices firm, and there are no indications of a decline this season. The demand from the retail yards is improving as the season advances, and carpenters and builders begin on their fall work, and business generally is better than last month. The shipping demand for the West Indies and South American markets is dull; but with hot weather nearly over, an improvement in this branch of business is soon expected. Shingles are extremely dull, but clapboards are in good request. Lathes are firmer with a diminished supply.

Western lumber is firm and in fair demand. In Albany, last year, the lumber business was the largest in quantity ever transacted at that point, but prices were far from satisfactory, and in many cases unprofitable. In fact, it is considered safe to say the total sales of pine lumber did not average cost and charges. Lumber sold on commission resulted in large losses, while others, having the greatest advantages from skill, experience, and abundant capital, who sold their lumber in their own yards, acknowledge a loss on over half of their sales for the year. The supplies have been mainly from Canada, and the aggregate value shows a decline of 25 per cent. in the average value, as compared with 1869, on the total receipts. The receipts from Michigan were comparatively light, the demand for the Chicago market having taken 100,000,000 feet early in the summer from the Saginaw Valley, much to the relief of that market. St. Louis is becoming a large market, the receipts for 1870 having been 240,000,000 feet, an increase of 37 per cent. over the previous year; and perhaps no point in the country is growing more rapidly in importance as a distributing point. Oswego is a large receiving point, mainly of Canada lumber—271,000,000 feet in 1870: Buffalo, 168,000,000 feet; Cleveland, 145,000,000 feet; Williamsport, Pa., over 200,000,000 feet.

Canada lumber is firm and in fair demand. Manufacturers at the producing points have advanced their prices, and when the Fall demand shall become active here, a rise will probably take place. Dressed lumber is rather quiet, and the stocks are light. There is a good assortment at Burlington, and the market generally is healthy.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

Domestic Lumber.	Feet.	Domestic Lumber.	Feet.
Pine	909,421	Spruce	1,574,059
Hemlock	343,762	Pine Tim. & Joist	43,910
White Wood	20,988	So. Pine Pl'k & Tim.	190,067
So. Pine Flooring	4,164	Black Walnut	109,146
Hard wood	48,231

The Savannah Republican says:—

TIMBER AND LUMBER—TIMBER.—The receipts have been light and demand limited. We quote: Mill timber, $7@9; shipping do. 600 feet average, $8@9; 700 feet average, $10@11; 800 feet average, $11@12; 900 feet average, $13@14; 1,000 feet average, $14.50@16. LUMBER.—The demand for lumber is still good. Most of the mills are at work. Vessels are more plenty than at our last report. We quote: Ordinary sizes, $20@21; difficult sizes, $21@25; flooring boards, $21@22; ship stuff, $20@22, according to sizes.

FREIGHTS — FOREIGN AND COASTWISE. — Our remarks last week apply with force to this. Vessels continue to be wanted. The few arrivals have not affected the market, and there is still large quantities of lumber awaiting shipment. To Matanzas, lumber, $8, gold; timber to Liverpool. 36@37s; to Queenstown, for orders, 38@39s; to Philadelphia, $10; resawed lumber to Baltimore, $7.50; to New York, $10; Sound ports, $11; to Boston, $11@ 11.50; to Philadelphia, $9.

Shreveport (La.) quotations as follows:—

LUMBER.—Pine, green, 1,000 ft	$30 00
Pine, seasoned	40 00
Laths	$4 50@ 5 00
Shingles, 1,000	6 25

The Saginawian of Sept. 7, says:—

We hear of two sales of lumber that have been made this week for $14, but they were choice lots. Lumber was offered at Bay City this week for $13, and parties here have the refusal of a choice lot at Bay City at $6.50, $13.50 and $35, although this is by no means common. Lumber is held usually at $7, $14, and $25, and sales are only made where parties wish to realize cash to start their men into the woods for the winter's campaign. Lumbermen, as a general thing, are quite indifferent about selling, and prefer to have it lay on the dock rather than take less than $14. A strenuous effort is being made to break down the $4 per M. freight arrangement from here and Bay City to Buffalo, and the object will probably be fully accomplished before many weeks. Freights, even now, are a trifle weaker, and the transporters are not so crank as heretofore, relative to prices demanded.

The following is from the Bay City Chronicle:—

The price of lumber has risen and will continue to rise during the season. Why is this? Why is lumber selling so much better than at this time a year ago? The supply is one-quarter less than sufficient to meet the demand. This deficiency is affecting the price, and will continue to do so for some time. Prices now are $7 for culls, $14 for common, and $35 for the uppers. Before November they will be $7.50, $15, and $35.

Good judges inform us that the majority of the mills on the Saginaw will shut down for the season by the latter part of September. They will shut down because of the failure of a supply of logs. This short supply is owing to several causes. The cost of getting our logs last winter was about one-fourth more than during the previous year. The late falling of the snow delayed the work. And when it did fall it was so unusually deep that it destroyed the cattle and wasted the time of the men.

This shortness of stock is not peculiar to Michigan. It exists in all the lumber marts. It is stated to be a fact that in Pennsylvania logs that would make 75,000 are hung up on the streams for the want of any flood this season to bring them down.

The present condition of the lumber market is that which always precedes an excited market. There is a scarcity, and will be a greater scarcity, at least until the cutting of next winter is at the mills.

We are informed by the State Salt Inspector that the salt business of the season is about over. This is accounted for by the scarcity of logs, which necessitates an unusually early closing of the mills, and as the manufacture of lumber and salt is so closely connected the one affects the other.

The Menominee Herald gives the figures of an unprecedented cut of lumber by Kirby, Carpenter, & Co.'s "old mill" on the 26th of August in 12 hours. The total was 193,391 feet out of 563 logs. It is claimed as the fastest sawing ever done on that river.

The quality of logs on the Menominee river is steadily improving as the lumbermen go further north and up the river.

The Herald says:—

The Company engaged in building the railroad from Lake Michigammi to L'Anse, expect to employ about 2,000 men during the winter, and as many of the supplies for this large force will have to be brought overland, they are naturally casting about for any means of shortening the usual winter line of travel, and thereby reduce the expense of transportation. Up the Menominee river is the plan thought of, and the one which will undoubtedly be adopted. It will be an easy 24 hours' drive from here to L'Anse over this route, and with the railroad completed to this point will place Houghton within two days of Chicago, about as well as the denizens of the Copper Region can do in the summer time. There is a first class state road north from this place 40 miles, supply roads 25 miles further, leaving about one-third the distance to Lake Michigammi, through which a winter road would have to be made, involving an expense of perhaps $1,500, and more than that amount would be saved by the parties building the L'Anse railroad alone.

From the same source we also obtain the following: —

More or less trespassing has been done on the Menominee, ever since the first pine tree was cut on its banks. At one time scarcely any of the lumbermen, pretended to cut on their own lands at all, and if they bought any, it was generally known as a "big forty," that is they would buy forty acres, and then strip half a township in the vicinity. Of late years however, almost all the extensive operations have been conducted in a more legitimate manner, and if any of the camps trespassed at all, the Co. by whom they were employed, promptly made restitution. It is only the small jobber that trespasses at all with the expectation of getting off free, and they are so frequently detected, that the profits must be small. Within the last few months the pine lands belonging to the government have almost all been entered by soldier's claims, and there only remains the Canal, Railroad, and State lands, on which the forest freebooters can operate, to any great extent, and these are being strictly watched, and some one will have to pay for all timber removed therefrom, if the jobber is unable to do so, then the party to whom he sells. Within the next two or three years, these lands will all be in market, and they will then be subject to legitimate entry; until then let them be unmolested.

We obtain the following items from the Saginaw Courier:

A LARGE TRANSACTION IN PINE LANDS.—M. Jeffers, Esq., of this city, yesterday closed negotiations for the purchase of 10,000 acres of pine land, located on the Chippewa, Pine, and Tittabawassee Rivers. The price paid was $100,000, half down. This is one of the largest transactions in pine land that has taken place in the valley for a long time.

The Bay City Journal says: "An appropriation has been made by Congress for a light-house at the mouth of Au Sable River, and it is expected that the work will be commenced at an early day. The superstructure of the south pier is nearly completed, and another appropriation asked for and recommended by Gen. Poe, United States Engineer, for the extension of the north pier 300 feet, and also to extend the south pier 150 feet. This work is under the supervision of H. G. Rothwell. The lowest depth of water between the piers and across the bar is 10 feet 6 inches, and at Loud, Gay & Co.'s mill, vessels drawing 6 feet 6 inches can load.

The Saginawian says:—

Nearly all the mills at Alpena have short stocks of logs, and unless there is sufficient rain to bring down that portion of the rear end of the drive which was "hung up" above the rapids, few mills will be running after the middle of the present month.

A. F. Fletcher & Co's mill, which has already cut 7,000,000 shingles and 1,000,000 feet of lumber, was shut down more than a fortnight since, but it may, if the logs are forthcoming, start up for a short run the latter part of this month.

C. Thompson & Co.'s shingle mill shut down last week, Monday, for the season. Product for 1871, 7,000,000.

E. Harrington's saw mill will run to the 15th of October and cut 9,000,000 feet of lumber.

Luce & Co. have logs sufficient to last until the 1st of November and will cut 4,500,000 feet of lumber.

Folkerts & Butterfield will cut 4,000,000 feet and shut down September 15.

Charles Richardson, at the Oldfield water mill, will run four weeks more and cut 5,000,000 feet.

F. W. Gilchrist will run until the 1st of October, and cut 4,000,000 feet.

J. K. Lockwood & Co. have had at their saw mill about three-fourths of a supply of logs, and J. S. Minor has had about two-thirds of a supply. Minor's shingle mill, Hopper, Davis & Co.'s shingle mill, and the Trowbridge shingle mill, run by Mr. Spratt, will all shut down about the last of September.

Bewick, Comstock & Co., have a full supply of logs for their shingle mill, and will probably cut 12,000,000 or over.

F. N. Barlow has now about a fortnight's supply of logs for his new shingle and siding mill.

In cedar timber for fence posts and other uses more is being done than at any former time, and the grand result of lumber operations for the season of 1871 will show a large increase in profit on the transactions of 1871 over those of any other year. Shipments have been heavy, and there is at present scarcely any stock on the docks.

METALS.—Manufactured copper has gone back into the quiet state, so noticeable for the past two months prior to our last, but the firmness of last week is sustained. The stocks on hand are much reduced, but the production is increasing and accumulating. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal, and 19@19¼c for old sheathing. There has still been a further improvement in the demand for Ingot, both for consumption and for investment. Prices have again advanced under small supplies, there is but little offering at the close and holders are firm at 23½@23⅝ cash, and 23½@24 for delivery in November, December, January, and February, closing firm at over extremes. Within the past week the sales have been near on to four million pounds. There has been a falling off in the demand for Scotch Pig Iron since our last, the business being confined entirely to parcels to supply the immediate wants of consumers, but with a great scarcity of stock holders are firm and generally demand an advance—sales of common to best are $33@37 per ton. American do continues in small supply and business is restricted in consequence. Prices generally favor the seller, but we do not learn of any actual advance. We quote at $36@37 per ton for No. 1, $34@35 do for No. 2, and $33@34 do for forged. There has been a pretty fair demand for Bar Iron and the market has ruled quite firm as we remarked last week. Stocks on hand are neither large nor well-assorted, and advices from all points of production, both domestic and foreign, are generally stimulating. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes, $107.50@122.50; refined, ordinary size, $82.50; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined, 1 and 1½ by ¼ and 5-16, $90; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $90; scroll, $102.50@122.50; ovals and half-round, $100@125; band, $97.50; horseshoe, $97.50@102; rods, 5-8 to 3-16 inch, $87.50$122.50; hoop, $105@147.50; nail rod, per lb., 6¾@7c. Common Sheet Iron remains firm, but the business has been only to a moderate extent. We quote at 4¾@5¾c for single D. and T. and 5¾@6¼c for D. and T. Charcoal. Galvanized Sheet has been in fair demand and the market ruled steady. We quote at 12@13c for 14@20; 12½@13½c for 22@24; 13½@14c for 25@26; and 15@18c for 27@29, all less 30 per cent. to the trade. There has been another advance in Russia Sheet and a very good demand prevailed, closing firmly on all grades. We quote at 14@14½c gold, according to number. With every indications of an accumulation of stock of Pig Lead the market wears a tame tone, and what little business there is doing is confined to job lots. We quote at 6@6¼ per lb., gold, for common to good foreign. Manufactured steady at 9¼c for Bar; 10¼c for Sheet and Pipe, 15c for tin-lined Pipe, all less 10 per cent. to the trade. With an advance in Pig Tin in England, the last quotation being £138, the market the past week has been extremely firm, and a very fair business was done. We quote in coin at 35c for English; 36⅛@36½c for Straits, and 40¾@41c for Banca. Plates continue in good demand and the market ruled steady. Zinc remains firm at 9@9¼ for Store.

NAILS. — As anticipated the meeting of manufacturers held at Philadelphia on the 7th inst. resolved upon an advance of prices, and all kinds may now be quoted 25c per keg higher. The improvement has not greatly stimulated the demand as yet, and the general movement is comparatively slow, but still orders are increasing somewhat either through direct purchase or by mail, and dealers predict a gradual increase of business from this time forward. There is apparently more desire to operate on the part of the exporters, and the condition of gold and exchange with some trouble in regard to obtaining proper freight room has made them a little cautious and the shipments are restricted in consequence. California buyers are to be found on hand, but it is not known exactly how much stock they are likely to handle. All the ordinary local and near by shipping outlets are taking some stock, but as yet hardly up to the expected average. The assortment available fair, though some few sizes of cut continue a little scarce, and a few nails even sold ahead of production. We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10@60d, $4.50; cut, 8@9d, $4.75; cut, 6@7d, $5; cut, 4@5d, $5.25; cut, 3d, $6; cut, 2@3d, fine, $6.75; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.75; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $5@$6.50; clinch, $6@6.50; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c per lb.; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 103 pckgs., valued at $661; and since January 1st, 11,434 pckgs., valued at $70,025. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—On the wholesale market the attendance of buyers appears to be fully as large as last week, and the volume of business keeps up to the full former average, with dealers generally in a confident mood, and some commencing to feel quite buoyant. We do not learn, however, that any further decided improvement in values has taken place, as the supply and assortment, with one or two exceptions, has been equal to the call, and sellers, though firm enough at current values were, as a rule, willing to operate on any extreme bid. The exceptions are of goods which happen to be in temporary very small supply, and under complete control, with owner's views so elevated as to make the prices asked merely a fancy value and not quotable. The imports of foreign stock have been only fair, and the receipts of domestic not very large, but our manufacturers are forcing the production forward with some freedom, and there is no indications of an immediate scarcity. From second hands, business is very good and pretty general, nearly all classes of stock moving to a greater or less extent, and full prices are realized. Jobbers, however, complain of the backwardness of some of the large interior dealers, who either hold off altogether, or order only small lots for their most positive wants. Linseed Oil has met with some demand, though without any unusual activity, and the supply available proved ample for the prevailing call. Crushers, however, appeared to have the position under very good control, offered moderately, and generally remained quite firm, the majority advancing prices to 83c per gallon in casks. Buyers, as a rule, appear to be rather cautious in their movements, and most orders are based upon the most positive wants.

Exports as follows:—

	This week.		Since Jan. 1, 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	47	value $12,42	6,381	value $102,002
Linseed oil, galls.	180 "	151	9,216 "	8,391
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	.....		2,670 "	28,110

PLASTER PARIS.—For lump, dealers report a good brisk demand, and an outlet for about all they are enabled to bring forward at the moment, desirable freight room proving somewhat scarce. Still, on the whole, buyers are not so plenty as to cause any unusual excitement in the market, neither does their anxiety appear so great as to induce any increase of bids, full former prices being submitted to without objection, but any hints of an advance met with a positive refusal. The grade wanted mostly at present is white, our manufacturers being the principal buyers, and though they manage to grind up a goodly portion of the current receipts, here and there an accumulation has been started for winter stocks. We quote at $4@4.50 per ton, a trifle off the opening rates last spring. Blue lump is nominal at $3.50@4 per ton in the absence of any present demand or sales, but a better trade is expected soon, as "up-river" millers will be obliged to commence laying in stocks to carry over to Spring, in order to be prepared for the production of land plaster before navigation opens. The imports of lump at this port since January 1st, 1871, foot up 20,857 tons. Calcined has sold with much general activity, and about all the mills have been running full time, to keep up with their orders, while some of the leading brands were and are a little behind. The call came from the usual local sources to the full extent of their consumption, and there has also been a first-rate country and coastwise shipping outlet, with occasionally a fair export order to fill. Prices a little variable, as the competition among manufacturers may dictate, but for a general range $1.90@2.10 per bbl may be taken as a quotation.

PITCH.—Any quotation is entirely nominal, the demand being very small and at irregular prices. The home trade are the only buyers, and they are doing comparatively nothing. We quote at $3@3.25 for city; $3.12½@3.25 for Southern; and small lots very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25@3.35. Receipts for the week nil bbls; since January 1st, 640 bbls.; for same time last year, 2,192. Exports for the week, 66 bbls; since January 1st, 2,024 bbls; same time last year, 3,015 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE. — The market has shown wider fluctuations this week than last, owing to a good demand and irregular arrivals. Near the close the stock was reduced to almost nothing, and in the same day sales were made at a difference of 3c per gallon and at 8c above the price in Wilmington. The close is excited with sales to arrive at 56c, and on dock at 56½c, though more lots can be had at these prices. We quote at 56@56½c for merchantable and shipping order, and 57@58c for N. Y. bbls; small lots at 57@58c; and retail lots from store at 58@59c. Receipts for the week, 2,187 bbls; since January 1st, 43,876 bbls; and for the same period last year, 48,375 bbls; Exports for the week, 480 bbls; since January 1st, 10,459 bbls; and for the same period last year, 13,909.

TAR. — The market has become dull and prices are lower, with a heavy feeling, especially among holders of Wilmington lots, which are in larger stock than Washington. The business has been entirely with the home trade, who have taken very moderately. We quote as follows:—$3.12½ per bbl for North County, as it runs $3@3.12½ per bbl for Wilmington, and $3.25@3.75 for rope, and occasionally $3.75@4 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 91 bbls; since January 1st 15,812 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 43,939 bbls. Exports for week, 172 bbls; since January 1st, 7,932 bbls, and corresponding period last year, 13,706 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending September 12, 1871, is as follows:—

Private advices from Canada, from Chicago, Saginaw and other markets notice increased activity and firmer markets. At Chicago prices have advanced. Shipments from all distributing points continue active without any accumulation of stock, lumber having been shipped throughout the season as fast as it was got ready. Lighter stocks than known for years will be wintered over at the manufacturing points. The feeling that what is now on hand will be wanted before the new cut comes in, and as a consequence that prices will be higher next spring, generally prevails. During the rest of the season the promise is that the market will be unusually lively, from the fact of many of the principal buyers putting off their winter purchases, their aim being no doubt to check the advancing tendency in this market. Instead of this, unless receipts materially increase on our light stocks, the reverse will be the case and an upward movement may be looked for the moment there shall be any stir in the market. To this all indications tend. Building operations are active. The consumption for manufacturing purposes is large. Retail yards are rapidly reducing their stocks. The English markets are very firm. Stocks are light. These are the indications for improving prices and demand, and they are encouraging. Canal tolls from Oswego to Albany have been advanced to $3.75. The sales since our last have been fair, with steady shipments. Receipts of the week are some 2,700,000 feet short of the corresponding week in 1870, and the aggregate of the season by canal is 20,000,000 feet short.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of lumber for the seasons of 1871 and 1870, as follows:—

	Received.	Shipped.
1871	672,758,000 feet.	387,759,000 feet.
1870	608,162,000 "	395,001,000 "
Increase	64,596,000 "	Dec. 7,242,000 "

The receipts at Buffalo during the week, by lake and rail, are reported at 10,442,000 feet; at Oswego, by lake, 11,997,000 feet.

The receipts at Albany, by the Erie and Champlain Canals, for the first week in September were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r, c.ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	14,006,200	1,222	.....	.....
1870	16,729,800	631	.....	411,500

Of the boards and scantling received, 10,777,100 feet were by the Erie, and 3,229,100 feet by the Champlain Canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals, from the opening of navigation to September 8th, were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r, c.ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	260,872,100	22,102	.....	7,968,900
1870	280,110,300	13,372	.....	12,269,200

The receipts of shingles, so far this season, are greater than the entire receipts of the season of 1870.

Lake freights are $4 to Buffalo, and $6@6.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $6.50 on hard wood, and $5.50 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.75.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

To New York, per M	$1 50
To Bridgeport and New Haven	2 00
To Norwich and Middletown	2 50
To Hartford and Providence	3 00
To Boston, soft wood	4 00
To Boston, hard wood	5 00

THE VIADUCT AGAIN.

THE announcement, first made in the RECORD, that the projected Viaduct steam road had come to grief, naturally creates a good deal of commotion in real estate circles. Operators who had bought with a view to holding for higher prices when the road was fairly under way, at first were somewhat disappointed; but further consideration has convinced them that perhaps, after all, it was for their best permanent interests that the scheme proved abortive at the very start.

The truth is that the public have had no faith in the Viaduct scheme from the beginning, and did not believe it was practicable to build so costly a road. Sixty millions of dollars, its lowest estimated cost, the public considered a sum out of all proportion to the income possible to be derived from it. This is a larger sum than it took to construct either the Central or the Erie road, for the total stock and bonds of the former, at the time of the completion of the road, was $59,765,684.06, and of the latter, $73,945,587.02. We cannot but regret the failure of this scheme, and for our own part, notwithstanding the enormous sums necessary to build the road, we candidly believe that in five years after its completion it would prove one of the best paying investments on the island. However, we must accept facts as they are, and not as we wish them to be; and after it has been proven to our satisfaction, as it has been, that the public does not believe in the road, and will not subscribe the money to build it (only $600,000 having been subscribed outside of the Board of Direction, and not $6,000,000, as the types made us say), we must look around and see if there is not some scheme which will command the confidence of the public.

We again repeat that there is no cause for discouragement. We can have a steam road in New York by a year from next spring, if the right means are used. To this end Commodore Vanderbilt's aid must be secured. What is needed is:—

1. The widening of the Fourth Avenue track above 42d street, so as to admit of eight or ten tracks, four of which should be for way and through city travel.

2. The building of an underground road from the City Hall Park to the 42d street depot, the charter for which is now in existence. This could be done in six months, at a cost of less than $5,000,000.

3. The buying and reconstruction of the Elevated road in Greenwich street, to connect with the 30th street depot of the Hudson River Railroad, the running of which should be used for local travel. Ten-minute way-trains should be run, which would accommodate all on this island living west of Ninth avenue.

4. Horse-cars running east and west on all the wide streets above 14th street, to connect with the way steam-trains on the Fourth avenue and underground road.

The merits of this scheme are obvious. (a.) It is the cheapest plan ever proposed. (b.) It can be done in the shortest time. (c.) It utilizes the steam roads now on the island, and prevents the unnecessary waste of land and money which the duplication of steam roads would occasion. (d.) It gives down-town people not only direct steam communication with the upper end of the island, but also with all parts of the country, as the steam roads north, east, and west will centre at the 42d street depot. (e.) And finally, this scheme will have the support of the most powerful railroad interests in the country, and will not want for means.

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Builder, having to clean a pulpit and sedilia in which the carving and tracery were almost filled up with successive coats of paint, was informed that common washing-soda, dissolved in boiling water, and applied hot, would remove it. He says: "I found that 3 lbs. of soda (cost 2½d.) to a gallon of water, laid on with a common paint-brush, answered the purpose admirably, softening the paint in a short time, so that it was easily removed with a stiff scrubbing-brush; afterward, on adding a few ounces of potash to the solution, it softened more readily than with soda only. The stone in both cases was a fine freestone."

THREE hundred thousand men, women, and children are actually employed daily in the city of New York, in money-making operations, to feed the balance of 700,000, not counting those living outside the city, and also living on the money made in the city. These 300,000 are nearly equally divided, as follows: 100,000 are engaged in different manufactories; 100,000 in trading, buying, and selling; and 100,000 laborers on buildings, on the streets, docks, wharves, and miscellaneous work. Our sister city of Philadelphia surpasses us in manufacturing population, having 125,000 persons employed in not less than 6,000 manufacturing establishments.

IMPROVED WHITE PAINT.—The cause of the yellow color which white-lead soon shows when used inside, and not kept bleached by the action of the open air, is the oil. Keep the oil out, and the principal cause of the change of the white into yellow is removed; but we should advise to take zinc-white for inside work, mix it with turpentine alone, and when dry put on a copal or damar varnish, made of the lac with turpentine. In Europe, there is a beautiful transparent varnish made called porcelain varnish, which, when applied under the circumstances mentioned, gives the most beautiful gloss, and remains white. It is nothing but a very pure copal and turpentine varnish.—Manufacturer and Builder.

IT is wise to try to select a wet day for looking over a house, for if the day be fine, and the weather dry, damp spots, as well as many other defects, may be easily overlooked. Let the intending tenant look for the existence of damp courses, dry areas, and ventilation under floors; let him avoid a ground floor that is not a little raised above the earth outside, unless he is sure there is a good cavity under it well ventilated.

In one word, in choosing a house in which a man intends himself and his family to live, and particularly on first moving into a new-built residence, he should look out for the indications of damp, as pointing out the presence of one of the most serious enemies to the comfort, if not to the continuance of their life, which he can have to encounter.

MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The market for North River Hards has continued very fairly active, and the great bulk of the supplies was disposed of without any great difficulty, preventing an accumulation in first hands of magnitude. Former prices also were, as a rule, obtained, and, if anything, there is a slight improvement on some of the medium lots, though taking the extreme quotations we find no necessity for altering figures, and still place the rates for poorest to very best at $8@10, with a large proportion of the sales at $8.50 @9.25 per M. In fact, we cannot discover that the market shows any buoyant features at the moment, or that there is likely to be any advance of importance for several weeks, unless some new stimulating influence arises. The demand certainly is very liberal, but so is the supply, in fact, there has probably been more brick made this season than ever before for a corresponding period, and though everything is sent in as fast as possible, the yards up the river are still full to overflowing, and the production continues unabated. The resolve to wind up brick-making on the 15th proximo was by no means unanimous, and there is every reason to believe that a large number of manufacturers will continue work just so long as the weather permits, and a great many million brick will undoubtedly yet be turned out before the season can be considered as closed, and though a fair proportion will, without doubt, find a market, the consumption is not likely to further increase this year. Our present supplies came from all points in the "Bay" and "up-river" and every means of transportation is brought into use, with plenty of chance for more vessels were they to be had. The distribution includes all the regular city sources, especially, however, the up-town yards, a good steady call from Jersey City, Newark, etc., and comparatively free shipments to the Eastward; while Brooklyn buyers are also well represented, and though wanting a good proportion of the best stock, are generally prepared to handle almost any quality, and afford a first-rate outlet for all the "leavings." New Jersey Hards are called a little firmer, the bulk of the sales now reaching $8 per M, though here and there a poor lot can be found at some shading from this figure. Pale Brick are also doing somewhat better, all the really merchantable lots commanding about $5.50 per M, and nothing, even of the very poorest, being reported below $5 per M. Croton Fronts are quoted at $12, 13, and 15 per M for brown, dark, and red, and selling fairly, with the common grades still attracting the most attention. Supplies ample. For Philadelphia Fronts the demand is very good from dealers at $28@30 per M on wharf here, and they in turn are distributing with some freedom to consumers. Prices from yard vary somewhat, according to quantity, delivery, etc., but on a general range may be placed at about $30@35 per M.

DRAIN AND SEWER PIPE.—A few of the trade report a fairly active business, but the majority of dealers and manufacturers complain of dullness, and one leading house assures us that their sales have been less since the opening of the season than for many years. No particular cause is, or can be, given for the slow movement, other than the very evident fact that the consumption is reduced, and there is no sale for the goods. The introduction of brick sewers, and competition from foreign pipe, interferes somewhat, no doubt, but not to an extent sufficient to cause the stagnation which has at times prevailed, not only on city account, but on all the shipping outlets. Here and there a dealer with an attack of impecuniosity has been known to offer pretty easy terms, in order to realize quickly, but all the leading members of the trade still operate on the Spring price-list, and will not be likely to make any change until the approaching annual meeting. The production is still continued to a greater or less extent by all makers, but a great many express a determination to soon stop work for the winter, in view of the absence of margins to warrant the risk, especially as there is a goodly accumulation now collected, both as to quantity and assortment, and all outlets can probably be supplied until the manufacture is again resumed.

FIRE BRICK.—There appears to be very little to say on the market, beyond the report that values generally rule steady, and business, if not exactly active, is fair, including a call for all kinds. The city consumption does not amount to much, and the outlet is mainly on domestic shipping orders. To cover both the wholesale and retail values we quote at about $45@55 per M for arch, wedge, and key, and $35@45 do for split and soap. Some few lots of foreign are selling, but they do not interfere with the general course of trade.

LATH.—The general tone of the market has been quite firm since our last, and though the improvement is rather slow, sellers appear to be gradually gaining the advantage. Dealers are inclined to resist any advancing tendency until they have secured a more liberal stock in yard, and with this in view endeavor to assume an indifferent tone and keep their orders down to the smallest limits, but the consumption is too free to prevent a pretty steady demand for cargoes, and few if any arrivals are obliged to await an outlet for more than a few hours, while a few purchases are now and then made previous to receipt. Not only from our own city however, but from out of town sources the call continues good, and the season of the year warns most buyers of the necessity of looking out for future wants. Receivers are getting fair amounts of stock, but in view of the apparently favorable prospect ahead, feel rather more independent than a few weeks ago, and begin to talk of piling out stock unless better prices are soon realized. Most of the small and needy manufacturers are said to have now sold out, and from the larger mills hints are thrown out of the probability that stock will be held back in order to produce a scarcity and force an advance. At the close the feeling is quite firm at $2.35 per M with several considerable sales lately made at this figure, and the supply afloat very small both on spot and to arrive.

LIME.—The market is still reported as very firm and apparently with rather more reason than heretofore. Buyers are by no means as excited or showing any unusual anxiety to obtain large amounts of stock, but the demand is good and improving from all sources, and dealers are to be found who are willing to exceed present wants in making their purchases. The season is getting late, the distribution good and very likely to continue so, and combination of manufacturers "down East" have shown their ability to fairly regulate supplies so that no excess shall appear upon the market at any time, and it is now generally supposed that unless some miscalculation occurs, the offerings of lime are not likely to be larger than the wants of the trade require, while there is a probability that the demand may increase sufficiently to admit of a further advance in store. A great many dealers therefore are looking out for their future wants, and receivers experience no great difficulty in effecting sales. Northern stock follows in about the usual track, the common sorts selling irregularly, and as a rule at something off the regular rate whenever concessions are positively insisted upon, while the best grades rule steady, sell well, and as a rule are not allowed to accumulate in first hands. Former figures are still current as we close, and the feeling quite steady with no stock of consequence offering. We quote at $1.25 per bbl for common, and $1.75 do for lump.

LUMBER.—Among the leading retail dealers we find reports of a continued very fair demand and a reasonably healthy tone to business. As to all rules there are exceptions, so in this case can be found those who are indisposed to admit of any improvement since the close of the summer months, but they are in a decided minority, and, taking the trade in general, the feeling is hopeful and there is evidently a growing belief in a steady and probably increased outward movement of goods. The demand does not appear to be confined to any special grades, but covers nearly all the leading qualities, and though buyers may at times show rather a fastidious taste in making selections, the ordinary as well as the good stock finds an outlet. On prices the market is firm at full former figures at least, and outside quotations are now more frequently obtained than for many months; indeed, on some of the best lots of Spruce and Pine, and the fancy grades of hard woods, holders in a few cases talk of further advancing their views. The arrivals as usual at this season are pretty free, some of the earlier purchases just commencing to arrive and shippers generally hurrying through their consignments in order to improve all the time possible before the close of navigation, now probably not more than a couple of months off. Freight accommodations are fair, but not plenty, and the transportation rates quite firm from all points.

The wholesale market is firm; indeed, firmer if anything than last week, and dealers correspondingly encouraged. The rush of coastwise arrivals has not been so great, and the cargoes coming to hand were more easily disposed of, while from interior points the offerings have, with very few exceptions, been small, and sellers by no means anxious to hasten matters. In fact, it seems quite certain that manufacturers are financially strong enough to carry their stocks over if necessary, and are determined to do so unless they can realize full prices, and with buyers beginning to entertain this idea more generally, there is less hesitation in revealing and acting upon actual wants, especially as to hold off much longer might leave them minus a necessary assortment for winter distribution. The bulk of the export orders are still filled at the mills on the St. Lawrence, etc., but shippers are picking up a few odd lots here, and have within a few weeks made good the deficiency, as compared with last year, which at one time was nearly one and a half million feet.

Eastern Spruce has shown a trifle more steadiness, and though without any very decided improvement, prices seem likely to gain strength from this time forward. Many if not all the dealers are very well stocked, both as to quantity and assortment, and bid somewhat indifferently, but still the distribution is good, and there is not much difficulty experienced in finding room for a cargo or two, especially when the quality proves desirable, and well calculated to meet standard orders for consumption. Another stimulating influence is comparatively small arrivals, and a belief that the supply will not greatly increase, as most of the outside mills compelled to realize have now sent in their stocks or the bulk of them, while the more wealthy manufacturers, if not assured of obtaining extreme prices, will stop shipments, and, if they deem it advisable, pile up their lumber to carry over into next season. The market closes with a pretty good supply offering, the demand moderate, and prices barely steady on common. We quote at $15@17 for inferior to fair; and $17.50@20 for good to prime specifications. White Pine remains in a firm condition, with a good, steady demand prevailing, and some of the agents reporting all their immediately available supplies sold up. Still there is no real scarcity that we can discover, and thus far most buyers appear to have obtained all they wanted, whenever they were willing to submit to the views of manufacturers. Yellow Pine is in demand, and the market pretty firm. Advices from the South report a very good supply of both lumber and timber on hand, but a scarcity of vessels to transport it. We quote at $29@33 per M for random cargoes of desirable quality; and $35@38 and even $40 for special schedules. Eastern Piling is in very good demand, and firm at 6@8c per foot, but the supply ample of all except the large sizes.

We note additional exports as follows:—

To Hayti, 100 bundles shingles value $163; to Liverpool, 4,800 staves; to Glasgow, 8,400 do; to Havre, 4,800 do; to Cadiz, 58,500 do; to Oporto, 8,096 do; to Peru, 6,000 do; to British West Indies, 700 shooks; to British Guiana, 200 do; to Cuba, 124 do. Receipts reported as follows:—From Charleston, 275,000 feet of lumber; from Savannah, 162,000 feet do; from Pensacola, 200,000 feet do; from Zampa Bay, 201 sticks cedar; from Maine coast, 14 cargoes lumber, 3 do. lath, 1 do. heading, from St. John, N. B. 400,817 feet of lumber, 26,000 lath, and 388 pcs filing; from Goose River, N. B., 450 pcs filing, and from Lepreux, N.B. 97,000 feet lumber, and 236,000 lath. We note freight engagement by sail to Liverpool of 200 logs Pencil Cedar, 17s. 6d. per ton measurement; 40 logs Bird's-eye Maple, 30s.

Charters as follows:—A Sch., 350 tons, from New Orleans to New York, Black Walnut, $18 and primage; two from Jacksonville to New York, resawed lumber, $13; one to Savannah and back to New York or a Long Island Sound port, with lumber, $16, covering outward cargo; one 215 tons, from Satalla River to Cardenas, lumber, at or about $13; one to Jacksonville and back with lumber, $16, covering outward cargo; one from Jacksonville to New York, $12.75; one from Jacksonville to a Long Island Sound port, $13; one from Charleston to New York, lumber, $10.25; one to Savannah and back with lumber, $14.75, covering outward cargo.

The St. Louis Times reports as follows:—

Receipts by river continue light, amounting during the past week to 1,200,000 feet lumber, 300,000 laths, 175,000 shingles. The continued light receipts creates considerable anxiety among dealers who have been holding off for lower prices; all of which is appreciated by manufacturers, and prices remain firm with an upward tendency. Large sales are reported on the upper river above the rapids, where navigation is not so difficult, fully sustaining the advance noted in last week's report.

The demand at this point has been active, and all that has been received has found ready sale at quotations. We quote Chippewa, $17@20; Wisconsin, $20@25. Yard trade continues good.

A Western paper indulges in the following on the lumber wealth of Michigan:—

The statistics of the Lower Peninsula, thus far given, are enough to show what marvelous wealth Michigan has in her forests, and to account for the fact that her supply is now the main reliance of the Northern States, exceeding all that Maine and Canada have to give. All the markets of the West, and most of the East, now get their lumber from Michigan. Lumber vessels ply to all ports on the lakes, from Chicago to Buffalo, and even go through the Welland Canal to the St. Lawrence River. Michigan lumber is carried through the woods of Canada to its market. It is sent across the mountains to Philadelphia and Baltimore. It is sold on the seaboard and in the interior—transported by canal and railway. Probably more than half the houses built in the Northern States, in the last year, used the lumber of Michigan forests for their construction. Of the 400,000,000 feet of lumber received at Albany, N. Y., by canal, the greater part came from Michigan.

The following interesting statement of the log crop of White River, Muskegon County, we take from the Muskegon News:—

Log running on White River closed earlier this year than usual. The following is its official statement of the logs rafted out, with the names of the owners furnished for this paper by the efficient Assistant Secretary of the White River Boom Company, C. D. Dowling, Esq.:

George W. Franklin, one of the best informed lumbermen on White Lake, says in addition to the above there were at least 2,000,000 feet put in on the lake, and about the same amount on the river this summer not handled by the Boom Company, which would make the grand total for 1871 at White Lake 56,609,890 feet.

A city contemporary referring to the Maine lumber region says: The Penobscot River lumbermen cut their logs at some points two hundred and fifty miles distant by river from Bangor, and much of this spruce lumber, formerly considered inaccessible, is now reached by some of the many railroad extensions. The demand for spruce lumber in not only heavy for local and domestic purposes, but it is world-wide. Immense markets for spruce have been developed in South America, Australia, the West Indies, and on the coast of Africa. In finishing lumber to order for specific purposes, Bangor, Calais, and Portland take the lead, on account of the superior size and length of their logs, better manufacture, and greater despatch in delivery. One of the most notable instances, and taken as an illustration of this feature, is the immense organization, perfected within a few years, whereby they are enabled to fill the largest orders for spruce dimension lumber, sawed direct from the logs, to any required size or length, for railroads, warehouses, factories, or other buildings, in a week or ten days notice, with the lightning speed of railroads, to any part of New England. Thus, instead of selecting from various stocks on hand, at great waste, builders and capitalists may order their timber sawed as they desire, and at short notice. This has worked quite a revolution in the use of spruce, and its novel and economical features commend it to all.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says:—

The lumber market continues seasonably active, and an improvement in the demand can be noted this week, with the hot weather about over, and dealers anxious to get in their fall and winter supplies. Prices are firmer, though without quotable change, and the tendency is still upward, especially for spruce. The arrivals from Maine have only been moderate since our last, but from the Provinces they have been large. The retail yards are fairly supplied, though some sizes of spruce are wanted to make up assortments, and the demand from carpenters and builders is brisk, to finish up contracts commenced early in the season. Shingles are in large supply, and dull of sale, not near as many having been used this season as usual; but as the season approaches for repairing houses, barns, etc., preparatory to the winter storms, a revival in this branch is looked for. Spruce clapboards are in good supply with only a limited demand.

Canada lumber is in fair demand at steady prices. Burlington, Vermont, and Ogdensburg, N. Y., are very large markets, sending lumber throughout New England by rail, and the former probably ranks next to Albany in importance, and may outrank it within five years, when Western lumber ceases to come East in large quantities, and the supply is derived from Canada for both markets. It is considered by many that Albany has reached its maximum business. St. Louis, Cleveland, Burlington, and perhaps Oswego, are the growing distributing points. Chicago is likely to lose some of its increasing trade from new railroads penetrating the lumber regions of Michigan, and starting direct trade between the mills and local yards in the Western States. The tendency to direct trade is seen everywhere between producer and consumer.

The following are the surveys for the week:—

The following items are from the Saginaw Courier:—

LUMBERING.—Lumbering operations have been commenced earlier this year than for many years past. It is asserted that there are nearly as many men in the woods at this time, as ordinarily in November. We fear the prosperity of lumbermen during the last season, will induce them to do a suicidal act, in overstocking the market for next season. No matter what preparations have been made, however, the weather during the winter will regulate the log crop, and the capacity of the booms will prevent a very large overstock. For instance in the Tittabawassee last year or the year previous, the company operated the whole season with a full force of men. and 60,000,000 were still left over in the booms. The high price of logs has stimulated lumbering, and there will be a strong effort made during the coming winter to slaughter the timber. The hauling mostly will be long hauling.

FIRES IN THE PINERIES.—Pine lands are suffering great damage from the fires which are now raging at various points. Fires have been raging in the woods on both sides of Saginaw Bay for some time, also in Huron county, and now we understand that the pine woods on the Tittabawassee are afire in several places. It would be impossible at this time to estimate the damage, but should the fires continue, the damage to the pine timber land must be great.

Captains of vessels arriving in port from below, report that the air in Saginaw Bay is so dense with smoke as to render navigation in rough weather dangerous. At times it is impossible to see more than fifty yards ahead. From Port Austin west, the shores are all a blaze, making from the decks of passing vessels at night, a magnificent spectacle. A Port Austin paper says that the main employment of large numbers of the people during the past week has been fighting fire, to protect buildings and other property from the flames, which still continue to rage in the woods with unabated fury. At Grindstone City, the mills have had to suspend work for days, the whole force being needed to haul water and guard the buildings. Near that point the fires have raged furiously, and some of the houses repeatedly caught on fire, but the flames were extinguished. At Huron City it was only by the greatest efforts that Hubbard's mill and some of the houses were saved. And the same story comes to us in regard to barns, houses, and stacks of hay and grain from other parts of the county.

The Saginaw Courier has the following:—

MILL PROPERTY BURNED.—We learn that on Friday last the mill known as Tefft's, situated between St. Charles and Chesaning, on the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw Railroad, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with a large amount of lumber. Our informant could not state the loss, nor whether there was an insurance on the property, but at the hour he passed the locality nothing remained of the mill and lumber piles but a heap of coal and ashes.

METALS.—The business in manufactured copper continues of a very moderate scale, and the market remains in the same position as noted for a long time past. Holders, however, are still very firm in view of the small stocks in their hands, but as the production is said to be large, they will in all likelihood have to modify their views. Prices as we cease are nominally unchanged. We quote at 30c for new sheathing; 22c for yellow metal, and 20c for old sheathing. A further improvement, both in the demand and in values, may be noted in ingot copper since our last review, the inquiry still being for consumption and for investment. Supplies are small and there is but little stock offering unless at a further decided advance. The sales for the week have been close on to 7,000,000 lbs. at 23¾@ 24c for cash; Nov., Dec., and Jan. delivery closing at 24c. With free arrivals of Scotch pig iron, holders have been compelled to concede, which brought buyers forward, and an active business was done. Consumers and the local trade operated with a greater degree of freedom than at any time for a long period, and as the bulk of the stock has been taken up, the market was brought back to its former state, viz: firm, and limited supply. A reaction took place, and prices are the same as last quoted. with sales at $35@37 per ton. The supply of American pig continues small and business light in consequence. Holders are firm and demand full prices, but we do not learn of any actual advance. We quote at $36@37 per ton for No. 1; $34@35 do for No. 2, and $33@34 do for forged. The demand for bar iron has been fair, and the market remains firm with the usual supply on hand, and only a moderate amount of stock offering. We quote from store as follows:—Bar Swedes, $107.50@122.50; refined, ordinary size, $82.50; refined, 1¼ to 6 by ¼ and 5-16, $87.50; refined. 1 and 1¼ by ¼ and 5-16, $90; refined, 2½ to 3 round and square, $90; scroll, $102.50@132.50; ovals and half round, $100@125; band, $97.50; horse-shoe, $97.50 @102; rods, 5-8 to 3-16 inch, $87.50@122.50; hoop. $105 @147.50; nail rod, per lb., 6¾@7c. Common sheet iron continues firm, but the business has been only to a moderate extent. We quote at 4¾@5¾c for single D and T., and 5¾@6¾c for D. and T. charcoal. There was a fair demand for galvanized sheet, and the market ruled quite steady. We quote at 12@13c for 14@20; 12½@13½c for 22@24; 13½@14c for 25@26; and 15@18c for 27@29, all less 30 per cent. to the trade. Russia sheet has been in good demand, prices have again advanced and close firm at 15@15¼c, gold, according to number. The e has been less activity in the market for pig lead, but prices are without special change. We quote at 6@6½c per lb., gold, for common to good foreign. Manufactured is unchanged at 9¼c for bar; 10¼c for sheet and pipe; 15c for tin-lined pipe, all less 10 per cent. to the trade. There has been a good demand for pig tin for consumption, and prices are supported. We quote in coin at 35c for English; 36¼@ 36¾c for Straits, and 40½@41c for Banca. Plates continue in good demand and the market is firm. Zinc continues firm at 9¼@9½c for store.

NAILS.—The general demand though not exactly of large enough volume to be called active is very fair and business as a whole appears to be in a satisfactory condition to the trade and a gradual improvement is confidently predicted. Of the leading styles of cut, the accumulation on hand is not by any means large or well assorted, and many dealers find orders coming in fast enough to keep receipts well sold up, but of the other styles the assortment appears to be ample for the present outlet. All classes of buyers are represented to some extent, though exporters still complain that their movements are somewhat trammeled by the difficulty experienced in obtaining freight accommodations. Prices remain firm, and we understand the lots advance in the regular price list is pretty closely ahead by all dealers. We quote per 100 lbs.: cut, 10@60d, $4.50: cut, 8@9d, $4.75: cut, 6@7d, $5: cut, 4@ 5d, $5.25; cut, 3d, $6; cut, 2@3d, fine, $6.75; cut spikes, all sizes, $4.75; cut finishing, casing, box, etc., $5@$6.50; clinch, $6@6.50; horse-shoe, forged, No. 10 to 5, per lb., 19@31c. Other styles are selling as follows:—Copper, 36@38c per lb.; yellow metal, 22c do. The exports for the week are 238 pckgs., valued at $2,974; and since January 1st, 11,672 pckgs., valued at $73,009. We also notice shipments of — pckgs. to San Francisco.

PAINTS AND OILS.—There is not much of a really new or interesting character to be found in the reports obtained for the period under review. All the leading wholesale dealers appear to be doing a very good general business, and some are quite actively employed in filling orders, while the prices obtained are fully up to the former level, and the position throughout firm and uniform. Stocks are only fair, as a rule, and where the accumulation is any way large the excess is mostly of a poor or inferior quality, not likely to prove of any great benefit to the buying interest. The imports, however, are slightly on the increase in some cases, and with the domestic production pushed forward somewhat vigorously, the accumulation is not likely to run down much, unless a much better inquiry should be developed. Jobbers are fairly busy on direct sales and mail orders, and disposing of an average amount of standard goods with a fair proportion of fancy articles. Values generally are well sustained, and the market has a firm and encouraging tone throughout. Linseed Oil has been held with a show of steadiness and not offered with much freedom, but the demand has been moderate from all quarters, and latterly values were a little in buyer's favor. Retail lots to the trade are worth about 83c in casks, but larger quantities have changed hands at 82@82½c. The call is mainly for domestic consumption. Stocks on hand are ample and increasing, though some crushers are preaching scarcity.

Exports as follows:—

	This week.	Since Jan. 1. 1871.
Paint.....pckgs.	80 value $564	6,461 value $102,566
Linseed oil, galls.	— " —	9,453 " 8,629
Oxide zinc, pckgs.	.....	2,676 " 28,110

PITCH.—The market is in a very quiet condition, sales being very few and only of jobbing lots. Prices are almost nominal, as before quoted. We quote at $3@3.25 for city; $3.12½@3.25 for Southern; and small lots very choice in a jobbing way, from store, $3.25@3.35. Receipts for the week nil bbls; since January 1st, 640 bbls.; for same time last year, 2 192. Exports for the week, nil bbls; since January 1st, 2,024 bbls; same time last year, 3,015 bbls.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—The market since our last has been much excited, owing to a speculative movement, here and in the European markets at the same time. The price has been advanced to 61½c, with sales of full lots, and to 65c for retail lots. but towards the close the feeling was less strong, and sales were made of modera'e-sized lots at 60c, though there were buyers of full parcels at this price, with no sellers. There has been one cargo taken in Wilmington for export at 55c, though since then the market, owing to a "corner," has been nearly as high as our own. The latest news is, however, that the rivers are rising, and larger receipts at Wilmington are certain, as this has been the chief cause of the scarcity there. We quote at 61@62c for merchantable and shipping order, and 63@64c for New York bbls; small lots at 63@64c; and retail lots from store at 64@65c. Receipts for the week, 2,652 bbls; since January 1st, 46,528 bbls; and for the same period last year, 50,232 bbls; Exports for the week, 249 bbls; since January 1st, 10,708 bbls; and for the same period last year, 14,149.

STONE.—The injunction against the city officials just about the time large contracts for paving were to be awarded, has had a most decidedly depressing effect upon the market for Belgian paving stones. In anticipation of the giving out of contracts, most of she quarrymen had accumulated large stocks. Even for this season of the year when the call is expected to be free, and now with no prospect of an outlet for their goods, holders are very greatly discouraged, the more from the fact that a great many are not financially strong, and must realize in order to meet current expenses, even though they do not get back cost. Prices naturally have a downward tendency under the circumstances, and already there is a reduction of about forty per cent. from the highest point, without stimulating any demand. We quote nominally at $25@28 per M. on the ground for trap-block blue-stone. The Eastern Stone is also lower and values uncertain, though when there is a demand for them they command $4@6 per M. more than the New Jersey stock. These stones are more uniform in size and smoother than the trap block. Flagging is firm and selling well to dealers and for shipment, the bulk of the corporation contracts having been filled. Building stone for fronts, etc., is not selling very freely at the moment, but quarrymen and agents are up to their eyes in business getting through parcels sold on contract earlier in the season.

TAR.—The market has ruled dull: there has not been a single sale of any importance since our last. The trade is confined to very small lots at former prices. We quote as follows:—$3.12½ per bbl for North County, as it runs $3@ 3.12½ per bbl for Wilmington, and $3.25@3.75 for rope, and occasionally $3.75@4 for something very choice in a small way. Receipts for the week, 378 bbls; since January 1st 16,190 bbls; for corresponding period last year, 44,615 bbls. Exports for week, 65 bbls; since January 1st, 7,997 bbls, and corresponding period last year, 13,886 bbls.

ALBANY LUMBER MARKET.

The Argus' report for the week ending September 19, 1871, is as follows:—

The sales now made are at full prices. It is no longer a question of concessions in prices, but an acquiescence in the expectation of a firmer market, if not a further advance in prices before the close of the season, and this view of the matter is borne out by accounts from all quarters. The kinds of lumber now scarce and taken up on arrival are 16 feet 1¼ in. good, common and cull 1¼ in. for box making, and cull pine boards and plank. Spruce and hemlock are in light supply and firmly held in expectation of an advance. Low water is again preventing the mills North from doing much. As the season advances and buyers require to lay in their winter supplies, an active, steady demand may be calculated upon, as the consumption continues active and stocks are light at all points. Prices have lately been advanced in Pennsylvania, and from want of logs many of the mills in that State, as well as in Canada and Michigan, will be obliged to shut down this month. Freights by canal from Oswego are unchanged. From Buffalo our figures are advanced from $5.50 and $6.50 to $6 and $7.50. Shipments have been active, and a good healthy trade maintained.

The Chicago Daily Tribune reports the receipts and shipments of lumber for the seasons of 1871 and 1870, as follows:—

	Received.	Shipped.
1871	712,429,000 feet.	401,374,000 feet.
1870	649,111,000 "	410,381,000 "
Increase	63,318,000 "	Dec. 9,007,000 "

The receipts at Buffalo during the week, by lake and rail, are reported at 5,213,000 feet; at Oswego, by lake, 12,810,400 feet, of which 7,297,000 feet were received on Monday.

The receipts at Albany, by the Erie and Champlain Canals, for the second week in September were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r, c.ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	15,888,700	.....	.....	.....
1870	15,223,100	764	.....	106,000

Of the boards and scantling received, 11,084,300 feet were by the Erie, and 4,804,500 feet by the Champlain canal.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain Canals, from the opening of navigation to September 15th, were:—

	Bds. & Sc'tl'g, ft.	Shingles, M.	Tim'r, c.ft.	Staves, lbs.
1871	276,760,900	22,102	.....	7,968,900
1870	295,323,400	13,126	.....	12,475,200

Lake freights are $4 to Buffalo, and $6@6.50 to Oswego. Canal freights from Buffalo to Albany are $7.50 on hard wood, and $6 on soft; from Oswego to Albany, $3.75.

River and Eastern freights are unchanged. We quote:—

To New York, per M	$1 50
To Bridgeport and New Haven	2 00
To Norwich and Middletown	2 50
To Hartford and Providence	3 00
To Boston, soft wood	4 00
To Boston, hard wood	5 00

TIN-LINED LEAD PIPE is a Block-Tin Pipe heavily coated with solid lead. Tin is a metal closely resembling silver, both in color and purity: hence water flows through tin-lined lead pipes as pure as if drawn through silver. It is as flexible and as easily worked as lead pipe; it is also stronger and more durable. By its use iron-rust, lead and zinc poison are all avoided, and general health promoted. Price, fifteen cents a pound for all sizes. Circulars and sample of pipe sent by mail free. Address the FOLIAGE IN THE CITY.

IMPORTANCE OF TREES AND OPEN SPACES—MONOTONY OF NEW YORK STREETS.—In our young country we have hardly begun to appreciate the value of trees. We regard them as cumberers of the ground. The first thing to be done to a new piece of land is to "clear" it. One of our western States even adopts for a coat-of-arms a man cutting down a tree. We inherit this feeling naturally enough from our grandfathers, who could penetrate our virgin forests only with the axe. But now that so much of our country has been laid bare, we can perhaps understand the jealous care with which trees are guarded in the Old World. The centuries of experience through which man has passed in European countries have taught him many things that could be learned in no other way; and one result of this experience is the knowledge that trees and forests exert a marked influence on climate, comfort, and health. They retain in their spreading branches and in the ground they shade an incalculable amount of moisture, thus keeping alive the sources of the rills that feed the rivers, preventing droughts and equalizing the temperature.

But we wish to speak of trees in the city, and with reference more especially to our own city of New York. We wish to call attention to the great importance of providing here and there, in a great city like ours, little open squares or breathing-places filled with foliage—gardens, it may be, of only half an acre or so, interspersed among the masses of houses. Large parks alone, though giving life and health and recreation to those who seek them, do not supply any fresh air or lend variety to the crowded blocks of houses, any more than does the open country outside the city. We need trees among our houses and along our streets. Instead of the hot glaring sidewalk, with its tiresome perspective of hydrants and lamp-posts and ash-barrels, we need rows of shade-trees to cool the scorching air that drifts in at our windows, with small ornamental squares here and there. Boston has some good examples of these, and in the West End of London one can hardly walk five minutes without coming upon a "garden," or "terrace," or "circle," some of them public and some private, but all as well kept as if they were private grounds. They invariably add greatly to the value of surrounding property. Paris, too, abounds with them; besides the large parks and pleasure-grounds, there are the little squares of the Place du Châtelet and the Tour St. Jacques, the Place de l'Europe, the Place du Temple, and the Place Louvois, as well as numberless open spaces in front of the principal churches and public buildings. Small as they are, these places are always tastefully arranged with flowers and shady walks, and provided with comfortable garden-seats.

Even now, as we drive up the Fifth avenue, we twist our necks to look at the new synagogue. It seems a pity that such a beautiful façade could not have been set back at least a few rods from the street, so that we could form a fair idea of its proportions, and enjoy the richness of its tracery. And when the new cathedral is finished, we will twist our necks still more to look at that. If any one has not yet seen the great railway station at Forty-second street, he should see it at once, for it will soon be buried out of sight by the houses which will close it in on all sides. Like the fly which crawls across the face of a statue without knowing what it is, so must we pass our finest buildings and hardly know that they exist.

This question, too, has a very direct bearing upon the public health of the city. The experience of the Old World cities is conclusive upon this point. In London and Paris millions of money have been expended for the sake of public health in the formation of open spaces and wider streets. Sometimes whole acres of houses are purchased and pulled down, in the very heart of the city, as the only means of securing the light and ventilation so necessary to health. Wherever this is done in crowded localities there is always a marked decrease in the death-rate.

Let us suppose one of our ordinary long blocks up-town to have a piece cut out of the centre, from street to street, three hundred feet in length. This could be occupied by an enclosure two hundred feet square (one acre), leaving ample passage-way on all sides. The ground taken would amount to twenty-four ordinary lots; but it will be seen by drawing a diagram that no less than forty lots would face directly upon the square, to say nothing of other lots near the corners. Now, if each of these forty lots be doubled in value, the cost of the land comprising the square would be much more than covered, and a handsome margin left for its decoration. Gardens could be placed with equal advantage at the intersection of streets, and, instead of being square, could be oblong or circular, or of almost any shape that would suit the surrounding property.

By this arrangement of small public gardens not only would the tiresome monotony of the streets be broken, but there would be a great variety of corner-lots, with other choice positions, which would be eagerly sought after as sites for public buildings, or for the better class of private residences.

But how, it will be asked, are such improvements to be effected? Who has the power to make such alterations in the map of the city? We can hardly expect that either municipal or State legislation will come to our aid. Even the Department of Public Works cannot begin such improvements, and in view of the many divisions of property and the jealousy of property-owners, it is best, perhaps, that they should not. Individual efforts would doubtless lead to better and speedier results.

The city is now so far built up that we can hardly hope for many innovations of this kind south of the Central Park. Down town, indeed, the tendency seems to do away with foliage and open spaces rather than to increase them. St. John's Park and the old Hospital have disappeared, and of what was formally the City Hall Park little is now left. Much could be done in the lower part of the city, by planting rows of trees along some of the streets, particularly the wider ones. There is perhaps not a street or a block to be found in the city that has been systematically provided with shade-trees within the present generation. The few stray trees occasionally met with have been set out according to the caprice of house-owners, and the trees which one man likes, his successor frequently dislikes and cuts down. In this way trees are constantly disappearing, but who are planting new ones? The lower end of the Fifth Avenue is about the only example of a well-shaded street left in the city.

City trees, to be effective, must be not only regularly planted, but regularly cared for. It must be made somebody's business to see that they are preserved. By planting one street entirely with elms, another with maples, etc., great variety and beauty could be obtained. Of course, only the widest of our streets have sufficient space for the roots of large trees. In the boulevards of Paris the trees are planted, not in the ordinary soil of the street, but in a rich mould which is purposely filled into a considerable width and depth along each side of the street. To prevent the soil from packing about the roots, and at the same time to admit the necessary moisture, each tree is surrounded by a circular iron grating, set even with the sidewalk, and offering no obstacle to pedestrians.

There is no reason why New York, with a situation more healthful by nature than any other large city in the world, should not be beautified by a distribution of foliage through the streets. Green leaves abound in cities whose people have not the tenth part of the education or intelligence that we have, and who would be utterly amazed at our reckless extravagance in other directions. Are there not among us men of sufficient intelligence and taste to make New York something better than a monotonous desert of brown stone? It is greatly to be hoped that the new and magnificent sections of the city which are next to be built may be mapped out in a way that will truly reflect the wealth, enterprise, and culture of the metropolis. MARKET REVIEW.

BRICKS.—The main advantage of the position still appears to lay mainly with the selling interest, and though no further positive improvement can be quoted for any grade of North River Hards, full former prices are obtained without much difficulty, and receivers appear to sell out their stock pretty nearly as fast as it comes to hand. No one hesitates, however, about accepting a reasonable bid, as it is pretty certain that the only way to retain the advantage for the present is to keep stock moving and prevent an accumulation afloat, as it is too early in the season to hope for a decided falling off in the receipts. Some manufacturers have commenced holding back supplies, and there is no doubt this plan will be adopted by others as soon as circumstances admit, as there is a strong desire to get a higher range of values by hook or by crook before the season closes, and increase the average returns on a production which is generally claimed to have been unremunerative for months past. This course of action is very well and can be carried out without much difficulty by the large and financially strong manufacturers, but the fact that little or no money has been handled leaves smaller producers in a position where they are constantly compelled to realize, in order to meet current expenses, and it would require an assurance of a very rapid and decided advance to induce them to withhold supplies just now. One great help to the market for several weeks has been the out of town demand, especially in the way of shipments along the Sound, as this movement not only took off a goodly amount of stock, but keeping some of the best vessels employed on long trips materially reduced the means of transportation, and aided those operators who were using every endeavor to produce a scarcity. So far as we can learn no local buyers have been unable to get such stock as they required for immediate wants, unless it be in the way of some very choice selection, and many retail dealers, though preferring to keep on buying cargoes for their daily wants so long as there is no increase of cost, have quite a little supply piled up in yard to fall back upon in case of necessity. About $8 per M may still be placed as the lowest figure, and $10 do as the highest, but $9.50 per M is nearer the general top rate, and most sales range at $8.75@9.25 per M. New Jersey Hards of merchantable quality continue in fair demand from all regular sources, and are steady at $8 per M, some very good lots a little more. Pale Brick appear to be scarce as compared with the demand, and sellers are enabled to get rid of their cargoes with very little trouble. About $5.50 is as low as anything can be bought, and good lots have sold somewhat higher. The demand for ordinary Croton Fronts is still good, and with the better qualities also moving a little more freely, the market is steady at $12@15 per M. Philadelphia Fronts in demand and firm at $28@30 per M by cargo on pier.

LATH.—The selling interest does not gain an advantage with much rapidity, but still they manage to retain what little they have gained, and feel quite confident of an ultimate further improvement. Some of the city and near-by out of town dealers have managed to accumulate a little stock in yard, but amount on hand is not remarkably large, nor is it increasing, except as odd parcels can now and then be laid away, and with a good distribution to consumers, present and prospective, the hope is very general that all the lath likely to come to hand will be wanted, and, indeed, for distant future delivery, sellers are asking something above spot market rates. There is the usual indisposition among receivers to say much as to the amounts likely to come to hand during the remainder of the regular season, but in all cases it is intimated that the supply cannot be liberal. Some mills are already reported as having shut down, and others reducing the production, while manufacturers generally have made up their minds for higher prices, and intending to produce a scarcity, do all in their power to prevent shipments being made, beyond the probable wants of the hour. There is still some talk of piling out cargoes, but receivers will hardly resort to this course unless fully assured of a decided advance, as the cost consequent upon such a plan of operations is very great. As we close, the supply is fair, but the demand good, and though there is no positive advance to note, the market has a very firm tone at $2.25 per M.

LIME.—There has been a nominally steady tone to the market during the period under review without any really new features developed on the surface calculated to attract much attention. Some few indications show themselves now and then in a quiet way however, which lead to the belief that a change is contemplated before a great while, and just as soon as the market can be worked into proper shape it is probable that sellers will announce their intentions. Manufacturers have again succeeded very well in regulating the supply to the demand, and the greater portion of the cargoes coming to hand have found a place already provided for them or were quickly sold to the regular trade, who in turn were enabled to distribute to consumers with some freedom, and the stock in yard fails to increase to any extent. A few buyers from near-by out of town sources are on hand and this helps business to some extent. The State production has been in fair general supply, but the largest proportion of the offerings was of common, and this sold in the usual irregular manner. The finishing grade, especially the first class brands finds a call fully equal to the offering, and commands prices on the extreme range of quotations for the Eastern production. At the close the demand is moderate for all kinds, but former prices still current, and sellers pretty firm as the arrivals are expected to be small for several days. We quote at $1.25 per bbl for common, and $1.75 do for finishing.

LUMBER.—The demand for lumber at the yards, if not improving, is at least keeping well up to the former average, and with the exception of the few operators who seem inclined to find fault with business at all times, the trade continues in a hopeful mood, and look forward to a very fair winter movement. No heavy or extravagant call is predicted, but just a fair easy outlet calculated to take off stock in a gradual but sure manner, and require steady attention during the entire season. A portion of the present deliveries, especially to builders, are on previous contract, and some dealers make quite a little hole in their stock; but this is soon made good, as supplies are coming to hand with a fair amount of freedom, as the idea at this season is to get everything in with as much rapidity as possible. Values are sustained with firmness, and on a few specially desirable grades again commence to show some little buoyancy, in sympathy with a corresponding state of affairs at the producing points and the principal interior distributing markets. There are some parcels making up on Southern account, and said to be a few Californian orders here, but this is about all the shipping demand we can hear of, the bulk of the business being on local consumption account.

On the wholesale market we find no very decided change to note, values in most cases ruling about as before, an outlet presenting itself for most of the offering. A great many buyers are becoming a little fastidious as to quality, and the absence of choice good immediately available has, in some cases, had a tendency to retard operations, but cargoes rejected on the one hand have by good management found an outlet on the other, and receivers were not troubled with any surplus accumulation. The amounts offering have been variable, but at no time very large, the comparative scarcity in some cases to be traced to a determination on the part of manufacturers to hold back supplies, and in other instances to the impossibility of getting cargoes forward for the present, especially from the Southern coast. There has, however, been some pretty free deliveries to retailers on contracts made during the spring and summer. For export there is a fair demand, but shippers are not anxious, and propose having all their margins calculated before they work out any but the most positive orders. From the interior, both to the north and west, accounts continue to come in strong, and act as a first-rate sustaining influence.
