December 28, 1950

The Honorable
Herbert Lehman
United States Senate
Washington, D. C.

My dear Senator Lehman:

It was perfectly marvelous at the Waldorf-Astoria. You were God-inspired. I trust your voice resounded around the world. I sat in my seat and thanked God that what strength I had, I had given to help put you in a position to speak for the people of the country as you spoke that night.

God bless you, Senator, and give you great strength and long life. These are trying days for all of us, now. Let us look to the God, Who is so able to sustain us and protect us and the interest of our beautiful world in a day like this.

Sincerely yours,

Mary McLeod Bethune
