Dear Jack:

I have just read a preliminary report on the Conference of Aging. It was most gratifying to me that this Conference proved so stimulating and that so many groups were represented. It shows an awakening on the part of our citizens to a problem which has long been of concern to me.

Let me congratulate you and the members of your staff who were responsible for the careful planning which made the Conference such a success.

I am looking forward to reading the formal report of the Conference and particularly the conclusions and recommendations.

Very sincerely yours,

Herbert H. Lehman
