The Honorable Herbert H. Lehman
United States Senate
Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Lehman:

For over a century, in my home town of Dover, the firm of Richardson & Robbins has been canning and marketing a number of outstanding food products which have won wide acceptance among American consumers.

One of the most famous of these is Richardson & Robbins Plum Pudding—a traditional holiday favorite. More recently the firm introduced its Fig Pudding, also a zestful dessert for dinner tables everywhere.

In our family, we have been enjoying R & R products for many years, and the thought has occurred to me that the members of your household would like to partake of these fine delicacies from the First State, also.

Therefore, I am pleased to send you as a personal remembrance the enclosed carton containing a dozen cans each of Richardson & Robbins Plum Pudding and Fig Pudding.

I hope you will have the opportunity of enjoying them during the Congressional recess.

Sincerely yours,

Allen
