Dear Herb:

In regard to the letter to you from Mr. Aaron H. Steinberg, who apparently is Health Editor of The Jewish American Family Magazine and Gazette, I should strongly urge you not to come out for chiropractic.

First, you can see what would happen to the lives of the people of this State if their health was placed under the control of people of no training, and there is no supervision over this cult, as far as I know.

Secondly, you could do nothing worse to antagonize every physician in the State.

Thirdly, although I know the chiropractors have their adherents, you would undoubtedly raise a terrific protest from newspapers and citizens.
