My dear Herbie:

I arrived in town from the Canadian-American conference late last night and found your license plate on my table. I took it home when I left and was rather delighted to find that Keith had not yet gone to sleep. I gave it to him and handed him the letter.

It is a wonder that he went to sleep at all. He was overwhelmed with the unexpected gift and I think it meant more to him than a far more valuable present.

He told me this morning that he would write a personal letter to you and I hope he does because he is of an age where he can probably show his pleasure better than I can tell about it.

It is a curious thing how kids make their own values. I have been away three or four days and the one thing in my travels which pleased him most was the fact that I saw a British Columbia automobile license. He feels the same way about No. 1. He has the walls of our garage pretty well covered with various licenses but this one is to hang in his bedroom.

Many many thanks.

Very sincerely,

DM/DT
