Honorabe Wayne Morse
United States Senate
Washington, D. C.

Dear Wayne:

I hope that you have had a good summer and were able to get at least a little rest. I am confident, however, that as always you have kept very much on the go.

I wonder whether you have any plans for pushing your resolution, of which I was very glad indeed to be a co-sponsor, which provides for improved procedures in Congressional investigations. I know that other resolutions in this field were introduced into the Congress. I think that your resolution or some similar legislation might have a reasonably good chance in the Senate, if it was energetically pushed. I am certain that it would gain more popularity now than when it was originally introduced. At that time it was pretty well lost in the mass of other bills that were presented.

Edith and I returned a few days ago from Florida where we had a short but most enjoyable rest, and I feel much refreshed. I look forward to seeing you on my arrival in Washington at the opening of the session.

With kindest personal regards, in which Edith joins me, I am

Very sincerely yours,
