Biography

Joan Brown Campbell, born in Youngstown, Ohio on November 13, 1931, served from 1991-1999 as general secretary of the National Council of the Churches of Christ (NCCC). During her tenure she was the spiritual leader as well as chief executive of the nation's leading ecumenical organization. Under her guidance, the Council worked for greater Christian unity.

Campbell earned both her BA and MA in education from the University of Michigan, graduating with a teaching certificate in 1953. She completed the Graduate Clergy Internship Program at Case Western Reserve School of Social Work and has studied at Bossey Ecumenical Institute, Geneva, Switzerland.

In the 1970s Campbell became associate director of the Greater Cleveland Interchurch Council, as was also serving a pastorate at the Euclid Baptist Church in Cleveland. In 1980 Campbell was ordained in both the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and the American Baptist Church USA. In the late 1980s she became executive director of the World Council of Churches' US office. During that time she was also closely affiliated with the NCCC, serving on the General Board as vice president and assistant general secretary.

Campbell began her leadership tenure at the National Council of the Churches of Christ in 1991. She worked with its 32 member communications and its staff to oversee the Council's programs. Campbell was a leader in the NCCC's efforts to open channels of cooperation with other churches, faith groups, and related organizations.

As the chief executive of the NCCC, Campbell became the official spokesperson, frequently representing the Council on a national and international basis. As such, she was a delegate to the 1994 United Nation's population conference in Cairo, Egypt and the 1995 UN social development conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. She has served on the boards of more than twenty institutions, including the Fund for Education in South Africa and the board of trustees of Union Theological Seminary, from which she resigned in 2001. She subsequently has been named director of the Religion Department at the Chautauqua Institute in upstate New York.

Eight colleges have since awarded her the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

Collection Scope and Content Note

The Joan Brown Campbell papers primarily document Campbell's activities as the general secretary of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. They do not document her entire career.

The bulk of the collection consists of Campbell's speeches, sermons, and interviews while serving as the NCCC's General Secretary. There are also audiotapes of some of those appearances. Additional materials include biographical files, news releases, and press clippings.

The collection is divided into three series:

- Series I: Speeches, Sermons, Interviews, 1990-2000 (6.0 linear ft.)
This series contains speeches, sermons, lectures, panel discussions, keynote addresses, and television and radio interviews in which Campbell was a participant. The overwhelming bulk of the material dates from the period that she was general secretary of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. The series is arranged in chronological order.
- Series II: Biographical files, news releases, drafts and correspondence, 1992-1999 and undated (0.25 linear ft.)
This series contains biographical information, news releases, press clippings, drafts of sermons and speeches, photocopies of information, and inquiries to book publishers. This series is arranged in alphabetical order by topic.
- Series III: Audiotapes, 1993-2000 (0.5 linear ft.)
This series contains audiotape recordings of some of the speeches and sermons given by Joan Brown Campbell between 1993-2000. This series is arranged chronologically.

Processing

When the Burke Library acquired Campbell's papers, an attempt was made to maintain the original order she imposed throughout the course of her career.

Folded materials were flattened. Newspaper clippings were photocopied on acid free paper. Staples, rubber bands, and metal clips were removed and replaced with plastic clips. All materials were placed in acid-free folders and boxes.
