Collection Scope and Content Note

The collection, organized in one box, is formed of two volumes comprising the Journal and also the Book of extracts and records kept by Rev. Pliny Fisk, a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions while on station in Syria.

Journal

The Journal is in the hand of Pliny Fisk up to page 117 and the following pages are in another hand probably that of Isaac Bird [Yale, 1816, Andover Seminary, 1818] as diary notes and translations with a loose manuscript letter from W. Turner, Constantinople, Nov, 16, 1824 and an extract reply from John Barker. Also in Fisk's hand are 18 pages from the back of the volume. There is an exposition of the products of the French industry in French in these pages.

Book of Extracts and Records

The Book of Extracts and Records was compiled by Fisk while he was stationed at Smyrna and comprises one volume. The writings in this book are in Arabic, English, Greek and Latin.

Fisk Records: This volume is paginated up to page 289 and written by Fisk. There are 4 pages from the back of the book that are in Fisk's hand as well. The 17 pages after page 289 are in a different hand, possibly Isaac Bird. It contains a transcription by Fisk of Capitulations and Articles of Peace between H M King of Great Britain...and Sultan of the Ottoman Empire...Dardanelles, 1809. The volume also contains the Order of the Maronite Patriarch (the order is dated 1825 so could be Patriarch Youssef Hobaish of Sahel Alma, 1823-1845), against the missionaries use of the Bible without the deutro-canonical books as decided at the Council of Trent.
