Administrative Information

- Provenance: The Charles Luther Boynton papers were acquired by the Missionary Research Library in 1956. This independent Missionary Research Library, was founded in 1914, under the direction of Charles H. Fahs, research assistant to John R. Mott and curator of the Missionary Research Library 1914 to 1948. MRL records were moved with the MRL to the Brown Memorial Tower of Union Theological Seminary in 1929. In 1976 the records were accessioned to the Burke Library archives with the closure of the MRL. Additions were incorporated from The Burke Library stacks, July 2007 and May 2008.
- Access restrictions: The collection is unrestricted with the exception of the file drawers of index cards which cannot be handled for preservation reasons. It should be noted that significant portions of this collection are very fragile and requests for copies may be restricted as a result.
- Preferred Citation: item description, folder title, series #, box #, folder #, Charles Luther Boynton Papers, Missionary Research Library Archives, The Burke Library at Union Theological Seminary

Biography

Charles Luther Boynton was born on June 8, 1881 in Townshend, Vermont. He graduated from Pomona College in California in 1901, where he began his lifelong association with the YMCA. In 1903 Boynton came to New York City to pursue studies at Union Theological Seminary and to work as office secretary for the Student Department in the YMCA's International Committee. He was ordained in the Baptist Church in 1906.

Boynton served as National Secretary to the YMCA International Committee in Shanghai, China from 1907 to 1912. His reports of work responsibilities, meetings, finances and conditions in China are meticulously detailed. In 1915 he was appointed to the newly formed China Continuation Committee, which coordinated missionary activity, and served the missionary body of China through this committee until 1920, when its descendent, the National Christian Council of China, was formed. He served on this Council until 1946, and then traveled between the United States and China until his retirement from missionary work in 1948.

Throughout his career, Boynton kept detailed records on missionary personnel in China and chronicled the development of the Shanghai Christian community. He founded the Shanghai American School so that missionaries would not have to be separated from their families for long periods. He was Principal of the school and Pastor of the Shanghai Community Church. Boynton also recorded weekly radio news broadcasts in Chinese and in English. During World War II he was interred by the Japanese for a period of 30 months. His papers include detailed journals, essays and reports on conditions and developments in China spanning four decades.

Boynton returned to the United States in 1946, and lived in Claremont, California. He continued to work on the history of Protestant Missionary Work in China, in addition to organizing autobiographical material. In his retirement, Boynton chose a new branch of interest every 5 years -- maps, coins, guide books, music and international stamps, to name a few -- and pursued this hobby with vigor. He read constantly, belonging to several book clubs at a time. He once estimated that he purchased approximately 200 books per year for over 40 years, giving most of them away after he had read them. Charles L. Boynton died in 1967.

Collection Scope and Content Note

The Papers of Charles Luther Boynton consist of the Directories of Protestant Missionaries in China, records of the National Christian Council of China, the Shanghai Community Church, and educational endeavors for Chinese and American children. The collection includes the extensive correspondences of these organizations with the missionaries stationed in China, along with personal correspondences, essays, reports and sermons.

The majority of the collection consists of bound volumes of missionary recordkeeping and statistics, and reports from the National Christian Council of China. The papers also include personal correspondence, biographical and autobiographical writings, and clippings from magazines and newspapers.

The collection is divided into four series:

- Series 1: China Missionaries Lists, 1807 – 1942 (14 Boxes, 6.75 linear feet)
This series contains extensive data on Protestant missionaries and their sponsoring organizations. Arrangement of the material is alphabetical (Missionaries listings; Sponsoring bureau and their missionaries); chronological (Lists of missionaries according to year); and topical (i.e. Arrivals, Departures, Marriages, Deaths, Missionaries by Province, Doctors and nurses, etc).
- Series 2: National Christian Council of China Records, 1913-1950 (25 boxes, 12.5 linear feet)
This series contains reports and minutes of multiple levels of committees serving the China missionary movement: Annual meetings; executive committee meetings and staff meetings. There are also copies of NCCC mailings to local missionary stations, Radio Broadcast transcripts, and reports from the Foreign Missions Conference committees.
- Series 3: Other Community Services, 1918-1946 (9 boxes, 4.5 linear feet)
This series contains reports on the formation and operation of the Shanghai American School and the American Song Service, which was re-named the Community Church of Shanghai.
- Series 4: Biographical and Miscellaneous Material (5 boxes, 2.5 linear feet)
This series contains Boynton's early journals and correspondences, sermons, addresses and essays while in China, and autobiographical writings. (Note: Autobiographical writings include historical information and descriptions of social conditions. For example, My Life For China contains journal entries from Japanese internment during WWII; Annual Reports to YMCA 1907-1912 contain status on Chinese education in 1910 and living conditions in Shanghai in 1911).

Series 4 also contains miscellaneous material, including the 1932 League of Nations Report concerning China's complaint about Japan; Bulletins from the American Shanghai Volunteer Company; Phi Beta Kappa Society in China, Biographical material on Fong Foo Sec, correspondences and newspaper articles.

Processing

When the Burke Library acquired Rev. Boynton's papers, an attempt was made to maintain the original order he imposed throughout the course of his career.

Folded materials were flattened. Newspaper clippings were photocopied on acid free paper. Staples, rubber bands, and metal clips were removed and replaced with plastic clips. All materials were placed in acid-free folders and boxes.
