Biography

Hunter Corbett, 1835-1920

Hunter Corbett was a Presbyterian pioneer missionary, who, along with John L. Nevius and Calvin W. Mateer, laid the foundation of the Presbyterian mission in Shantung province, China.

HC was born at Leatherwood, Pennsylvania on Dec 8, 1835. He graduated from Jefferson College in 1860 and entered Western Theological Seminary in Allegheny, Pennsylvania, where he studied for two years. He completed his theological studies after a final year at Princeton Theological Seminary, graduating in 1863. In 1886 Washington and Jefferson College awarded him the D.D. degree.

In 1863 the Presbyterian Board of Missions (USA) appointed him a missionary, and, after marriage and ordination, he sailed for China in early July that year, arriving in Chefoo in winter. Here he was engaged in chapel street work and in educational work, establishing schools in the city and country. He founded the Yi Wen School (Boys Academy/Hunter Corbett Academy) which prepared hundreds of teachers and preachers for the work in Shantung. In 1866 he organized the Temple Hill Church in Chefoo.

Before he sailed for China, Corbett and Elizabeth (Lizzie) Culbertson married on June 4, 1863. Lizzie was born in 1835 and died in March 1873 in Chefoo.

In 1875 he returned to the US on his first furlough and on September 18 that year married Mary Campbell Nixon, who was born on March 7, 1840. They returned to China in 1876.

His second furlough took place from 1885-1887. His wife died the following year on October 7, 1888 in Chefoo.

Corbett's third wife, Harriet (Hattie) Robina Sutherland, was a Canadian of Scottish descent, born on April 20, 1859, and a missionary nurse in China. They married on Sep 3, 1889.

Corbett's third furlough lasted from 1896 -1897 and the fourth and last one from 1906 -1907. When at home on furlough he was a great speaker and powerful advocate of the missionary enterprise.

In 1906 he was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church (USA). He died in Chefoo on Jan 7, 1920. Harriet Sutherland Corbett died on Jan 28, 1936 at Shanghai and is interred in Chefoo. There were twelve children born to H.C, four by each wife. Many of the children became foreign missionaries. Among them:

Charles Hodge Corbett (1881-1963), B.D. UTS 1907, who taught in China from 1908 at the Peking University, Physics Department, until he resigned from the Mission and University in 1925;

Harriet Grace Corbett (1879-1952), who with her husband, Ralph Crane Wells (1877-1955), served as missionaries in Weih sien; and
May Nixon Corbett (1878-1964), who served under the American Board from 1906-1913, and taught music at the Peking Woman's College. On Jun 27, 1914 she married Harold F. Smith.

Harold Frederick Smith, 1885-[196?]

Harold Frederick Smith was born in Fishkill, N.Y. on September 23, 1885. He received his B.A. from Stanford (1907), his M.A. from Columbia (1908) and Ph.D. from Columbia (1930) After two years of teaching at a high school in Mendocino, California, HFS was appointed on April 18, 1910 by the Presbyterian Board of Missions (USA) to teach Education and Commercial Subjects at the Yi Wen School in Chefoo.

After a furlough in 1922 he was appointed to the faculty of Cheeloo University, where he taught in the Department of Education.

The Smiths resigned from the Mission on Aug 1, 1930 and moved to Nashville, Tennessee, where HFS joined the faculty of Fisk University.

They retired to Claremont, California, where May Corbett Smith died on Feb 28, 1964. H.F.Smith died in [196?]

Hunter Corbett was an outstanding figure in the Protestant missionary movement of the 19th Century. His work consisted chiefly in evangelistic itineration and his diaries relate day-by-day experiences in traveling through Shantung province, preaching without ceasing. Of historical interest are also various papers and correspondences of Corbett. (including the Boxer Uprising 1900) , and papers and letters from Smith about changing the Cheeloo University (Shantung Christian University) to a rural-minded school; the Tsinan Incident; etc.

The diaries of Corbett were passed on to Smith from the papers of Charles H. Corbett in 1965 and have been used in writing a chronicle of Hunter Corbett and his Family.

Dr M. Searle Bates, Emeritus professor of Missions at UTS, was helpful in identifying materials in the Chinese language.

Collection Scope and Content Note

The Papers of Hunter Corbett cover a many years of missionary and educational work in China in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Among these papers the diaries of H.C. are of particular value and historical interest. They are supplemented by the papers of his son-in-law Harold F. Smith taking this coverage forward for educational and historical events from the 1920s up to 1948.

The majority of the collection consists of diaries, correspondence, reports and pamphlets mainly in English with some photographs and a collection of printed and ms copied items in Chinese, 1885 – 1948.

The collection was originally organized in a single series through subject headings with each item numbered. These structures have been retained, with original reference numbers now repeated after the folder description in brackets, but please note the preferred citation on p.2 above.
