Columbia professor Annette Insdorf, director of undergraduate film studies, has published the third edition update of her book Indelible Shadows: Film and the Holocaust. This work provides a comprehensive and current discussion of films about the Holocaust, including recent trends and discoveries of motion pictures made during and just after World War II.

In the new chapters, Insdorf analyzes dozens of films, addressing the cinematic treatment of rescuers, the controversial use of humor, as well as the distorted image of survivors.

Insdorf recently published the third edition of Indelible Shadows and continues to host film personalities in her series “Reel Pieces” at the 92nd St Y. Tickets are half price for those with CUID.

On Thursday, Dec. 12th, actress Julianne Moore, star of the new film, “Far From Heaven” and “The Hours,” will join Annette Insdorf for an in-person interview as part of Insdorf’s series, “Reel Pieces.” Clips will be shown from either “Cookie’s Fortune” or “The Myth of Fortune.”

Insdorf will also host Michael Caine on Jan. 8, 2003. Past guests include Campbell Scott, Matthew McConaughey and Richard Gere.

Insdorf’s interviews with Julianne Moore begins at 7:15 p.m. Dec. 12, at the 92nd Street Y. 1395 Lexington Ave. Tickets are $11 with CUID ($22 without).
