Southern Asian Institute
Columbia University in the City of New York
Invites you to attend the Brown Bag session on:

“Dharavi’s Future”
by Parag Sanghani

Join us for a discussion on the future course of redevelopment policy being played out in Dharavi, located in the heart of Mumbai.

Why is Dharavi important?

Past: The largest slum in Asia
Present: The real estate gold mine of India
Issue: Home for more than a million people & 15,000 single-room factories

Parag Sanghani works with SPARC, one of the largest Indian NGOs working on housing and infrastructure issues for the urban poor.

Wednesday, October 03, 2007
1:00 PM – 2:00 PM
Room 1134 IAB (420 West 118th Street)