(Place copies of all syllabi, work and exams completed abroad in Department file.)

Majors in . . .

Hispanic Studies

Eleven courses (33 points): four required foundation courses; six electives (a minimum of three 3000- or 4000-level electives in LAIC and up to three electives related to Hispanic Studies outside LAIC); and one Senior Seminar.

Hispanic Studies with Specialization

Fourteen courses (42 points): four required foundation courses; nine electives (three 3000- or 4000-level electives in LAIC and six in a chosen field, three of which must be related to Hispanic Studies); and a Senior Seminar. With permission, the Senior Seminar may be taken in the Department or program of the specialization, provided the student's seminar project covers a Hispanic topic. Students who take the seminar outside LAIC may count it as the third non-LAIC elective related to Hispanic Studies and may take a fourth elective in LAIC. The field must be chosen in consultation with the DUS. Possibilities include Anthropology, Art History, Economics, Film, Gender Studies (IRWAG), History, Latino Studies, Latin American Studies, Music, Political Science, Sociology, and Urban Studies.
