

Famiglia...Our Story

In the cold winter of 1969, following a tragic accident, Rose Kolaj promised her husband that his dream would be carried out and their children would grow up in the free and God-Blessed land of America. With determination in her mind and promise in her heart, she made the pilgrimage from Europe and in the spring of 1970 arrived in New York City with her daughter and four sons.

As her children, we'd like to share our story with you...

The early years were a struggle as we depended on assistance for the most basic of necessities. Although the struggles were momentous at times, Mama had a way of turning them into fun, learning experiences. We were given chores and responsibilities and were taught, through example, the value of discipline and teamwork.

New York City, 1986

We learned how to cook, at young ages as we prepared our meals with fresh ingredients from scratch - something that would later influence our business practice. Saturday lunches were our favorite as we would make pizza - the sunnest of all our meals. We would roll the dough, spread the sauce and cheese, and then bake it. Mama would teach us about the ingredients and their origin. She would share stories of her youth and tell us how she would milk the cows before the crack of dawn. Her eyes would glow when she would show us how her mama taught her the art of making cheese. Through these experiences we learned to respect the family recipes handed down from generation to generation...

During the early 1980's, we worked in pizzerias throughout New York City. As teenagers, we learned how to make pizza in the best venue. We were taught by some of the top old-timers in the trade from the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Manhattan. In the summer of 1986 we opened our first pizzeria in the vibrant and culturally rich Upper Westside of Manhattan. First year sales exceeded projections and New Yorkers were enjoying pizza at its best! Famous Famiglia quickly became a leader in the New York pizza market. The company grew to a successful chain, winning pizza contests with its quality and service.

Today, thanks to the support of our loyal customers, and the entire Famous Famiglia organization, Famous Famiglia is a highly successful brand which is currently established and operating across the United States in a variety of venues and markets. Famous Famiglia restaurants currently under development include locations in Mexico and China as well. We are privileged to have an opportunity to serve you and we sincerely hope that your experience with us is a pleasant one.

Thank you!
