ANTHROPOLOGY

Fall 2008

Politics, Culture and Identity in Taiwan

ANTH G4643 Section 001 Call # 25286 Location: HAM 406 Pts: 3

Fiorella Allio

Day(s)/Time: R 4:10 PM to 6:00 PM

It is virtually impossible to approach Taiwanese society without encountering on this path actions, discourses and representations closely connected to identity issues, whether they be of a national, local, ethnic or cultural order. This course will examine the fluid expressions and complex stakes of identity through different manifestations of Taiwan’s social life, including electoral culture, social networks, cultural policies, ritual and place, history and memories, nature and imagined territories.

Spring 2009

Popular Religion in East Asia

ANTH G4050 Section 001 Call # 22697 Location: TBA Pts: 3

Myron L. Cohen & Laurel Kendall Day(s)/Time: R 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM

This course examines popular religious practices and beliefs of the majority populations of China, Japan, Korea, and Vietnam. By focusing on the “popular” rather than on textual religious and philosophical traditions such as Buddhism, Confucianism, and Taoism this course examines how an often common vocabulary of ritual, cosmology, ancestors, and gods is translated into different understandings and enactments in different social and historical milieus. The first half of the course considers the historical role of religion and ritual in East Asian states and the consequences of this legacy under different modernizing regimes. The second half of the course is topical, with an emphasis on contemporary practices.

ART HISTORY

- Fall 2008 Early Chinese Calligraphy
AHIS G6117 Section 001 Call # 16300 Location: SCH 934 Pts: 3
Robert Harrist Day(s)/Time: R 10:00 AM to 11:50 AM
The history of calligraphy from earliest times through the Song dynasty, with special emphasis on the interaction of the state and the innovations of individual calligraphers.
- Fall 2008 Japanese Narrative Hand Scrolls
AHIS G6135 Section 001 Call # 12249 Location: SCH 930 Pts: 3
Matthew P. McKelway Day(s)/Time: W 12:10 PM to 2:00 PM
This course explores the narrative handscroll (emaki), a major form of Japanese pictorial art, from its origins in the eighth century through the sixteenth century. Through an investigation of such masterworks as the "Illustrated Scrolls of the Tale of Genji," "Illustrated Legends of Mount Shigi," and "Life of Saint Ippen" (Ippen hijiri-e), the course will address questions of text-image relationships, patronage, and viewing practices in visual depictions of classical literature, hagiographic narratives, and popular tales. Although emphasis will be given to works for which texts and scholarly studies are available in English, reading ability in Japanese is recommended.
- Spring 2009 19th and 20th Century Japanese Architecture
AHIS W4703 Section 001 Call # 00350 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Jonathan Reynolds Day(s)/Time: TR 9:10 AM to 10:25 AM
This course will examine Japanese architecture and urban planning from the mid-19th century to the present. We will address topics such as the establishment of an architectural profession along western lines in the late 19th century, the emergence of a modernist movement in the 1920's, the use of biological metaphors and the romanticization of technology in the theories and designs of the Metabolist Group, and the shifting significance of pre-modern Japanese architectural practices for modern architects. There will be an emphasis on the complex relationship between architectural practice and broader political and social change in Japan.
- Spring 2009 Landscape and Representation in China
AHIS G8116 Section 001 Call # 17849 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Robert Harrist Day(s)/Time: M 4:10 PM to 6:00 PM
The landscape of China is marked by sites that have acquired lasting cultural significance through the interactions of myth, ritual, literature, and the visual arts. Representations of these sites, which include sacred mountains, scenic areas, and tourist destinations, promoted habits of viewing that directed visitors to seek out unusual vistas, strange rock formations, or ancient monuments. Memories of historical events or famous people associated with the sites added to their mystique. Among the most notable sites that will be covered in the seminar are Mt. Tai, a mountain sacred in both Confucian and Daoist thought; Mt. Huang, an area of spectacular, rugged peaks that became a popular tourist site in the 17th century; and Tiger Hill, a frequent destination of literati visitors from the Suzhou area. The seminar will require a broadly interdisciplinary approach, and students will be encouraged to draw on methodologies from art history, anthropology, the history of religion, and other fields. Readings in the history and theory of landscape in the West also will be included in the seminar in order to broaden the range of questions that can be asked about the experience of landscape in China.

Weihong Bao Day(s)/Time: W 6:10 PM to 8:00 PM
 This course explores East Asian Cinema from the perspective of film genre. In particular, the course examines East Asian genre films as active interaction with the circulation of global film genres as well as mass mediated engagement with specific economic, social, and political histories of East Asia. We will study contemporary theories of film genre, examine how the case of East Asian genre films complicate existing theories, while paying due attention to the parallel transnational traffics--between East Asian Cinema and global film genre, and across East Asian Cinema in their history of cultural and economic flow as well as political confrontation. We will integrate our investigations of genre-specific questions (industry, style, reception, spectatorship, affect) with those of gender, ethnicity, power as well as nation and transnational/transregional identity. Mandatory film screening on Wednesday 8:00 PM – 10:00 PM.

- Fall 2008 US/China: Images, Perceptions, Realities
EAAS W4235 Section 001 Call # 86962 Location: HAM 503 Pts: 4
Terrill Lautz Day(s)/Time: W 6:10 PM to 8:00 PM
 Why does China occupy such a large territory in the American imagination? What do Chinese believe about Americans? The seminar will examine the images, perceptions, and stereotypes that have shaped U.S.-China relations, and discuss the implications for contemporary policy issues. It will describe the sources and history of American attitudes about China as well as Chinese views of the United States. Drawing upon visual images, public opinion polls, written accounts and other materials, the course will analyze the positive and negative swings and shifts that characterize relations between these two countries.
- Fall 2008 Social Movements in Contemporary East Asia
EAAS W4408 Section 001 Call # 08410 Location: MIL 214 Pts: 3
Sun-Chul Kim Day(s)/Time: W 11:00 AM to 12:50 PM
 Examines basic theories and concepts of the social movement literature and how it is utilized for the study of social movements in contemporary East Asia from a comparative perspective. By navigating through major studies of social movements in China, Taiwan, South Korea, and Japan, the course focuses on the varying contexts and dynamics through which social movements emerge, develop, and leave traces. This course will help us better understand how social, political, and cultural history unfolds through the intricate interaction between the status quo and the incessant challenges against it.
- Fall 2008 Envisioning the Snowland: Film & Television in Tibet and Inner Asia
EAAS W4557 Section 001 Call # 82897 Location: KNT 522A Pts: 3
Robert J. Barnett Day(s)/Time: M 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM
 A study of film and television production in Tibet, comparisons with cinema and TV in Mongolia, Xinjiang and Inner Mongolia. The course will look at the ways state, nation, culture, and politics are constructed at different times through film and other visual media. Film screening on Tuesday 7:30 PM -9:30 PM is required.
- Fall 2008 Bronzes and Bronze Inscriptions of Ancient China
EAAS G6860 Section 001 Call # 92349 Location: TBA Pts: 3

- Spring 2009 Contention and Democracy in South Korea
EAAS W4510 Section 001 Call # 04266 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Sun-Chul Kim Day(s)/Time: T 4:10 PM to 6:00 PM
 An examination of the interaction between popular contention and formal politics, long characteristic of the dynamic, if unstable nature of South Korean political processes. By examining major paradigms and testing them against historical realities, students acquire a better understanding of the interplay between contention and democracy in general and South Korean politics in particular.
- Spring 2009 Culture and Art in Contemporary Tibet: Rock in a Hard Place
EAASW4545 Section 001 Call #15943 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Robert Barnett Day(s)/Time: M 2:10 PM to 3:55 PM
 Rock music, satirical painting, fiction, and TV shows are among the types of work currently being produced by artists and writers in present-day Tibet. We'll study these, through translations, and discuss questions of culture, history, and ways of reading artworks in politically charged contexts. No previous knowledge of the area or language required.
- Spring 2009 Bodies in the Air: The History & Aesthetics of Martial Arts Films
EAAS W4590 Section 001 Call # 81500 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Weihong Bao Day(s)/Time: W 4:10 PM to 6:00 PM
 This course examines the history and aesthetics of martial arts films by situating them in transnational contexts of production, circulation, and reception. Our course will run chronologically from 1920s to 2006, from the inception of Chinese martial arts films in the silent period to the Shaw Brothers swordsplay and Kung Fu movies in the 1960s and 70s, concurrent with American/Hong Kong action thrillers starring Bruce Lee, and culminating in contemporary transnational productions involving Hollywood and East Asia. Film screening Wednesdays 6:10 PM to 8:00 PM in KNT 522C.
- Spring 2009 The Cinematic City: Gender, Space, and Urban Modernity in a Century of Chinese Cinema
EAAS G6850 Section 001 Call # 78447 Location: TBA Pts: 3
Weihong Bao Day(s)/Time: T 4:10 PM to 6:00 PM
 Taking cinematic renditions of the city as the concentrated and contested site, this class situates a century of Chinese cinema within key issues of Chinese modernity and postmodernity. Across the geopolitical divide, we will explore cinematic renditions of Shanghai, Beijing, Hong Kong, Taipei, and Chongqing from the 1930s to the millennium. Central to our concerns are media reflections of and participations in social and political transformations, manifested in reconfigured space and time, gender and class, the global and the local. Each week features a film screening in interaction with literary and theoretical texts. Mandatory screening Tuesdays 6:10 PM to 8:00 PM.
- Spring 2009 Topics in Sino-Japanese Studies
EAAS G9033 Section 001 Call # 66450 Location: TBA Pts: 4

HSEA G8100 Section 001 Call # 17047 Location: KNT 101 Pts: 4
Gray W Tuttle Day(s)/Time: T 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM
 Late imperial China was marked by a multi-ethnic tradition of rulership that built on the foundations of the so-called “conquest dynasties.” This course will survey the existing literature on the importance of Tibetan Buddhism as a religious ideology that was central to late imperial efforts at making China a multi-ethnic state. This ideology has served to link China with Tibetan and Mongolian regions of Inner Asia—through the imperial center at Beijing—for over seven hundred years. This class will also explore the connections between the imperial family and the Tibetan Buddhist lamas who were responsible for court rituals and diplomacy. There are no prerequisites to take the course. Class meets in the Kress Room.

Prerequisite: International Economics sequence. The purpose of this class is to empower future practitioners to work effectively in commerce and commercial policymaking related to China. The topics provide background needed to do so, and to anticipate debates and themes that will inform China's interaction with the world in coming years. This seminar is for students anticipating China-focused careers, shaping and responding to economic development.

Spring 2009Public Policy in Contemporary China*REGN U6630 Section 001 Call # 22701 Location: TBA Pts: 3*Yanzhong Huang*Day(s)/Time: F 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM

This graduate course is designed to introduce students to public policy processes in contemporary China. By studying the causes, content, and consequences of major public policies in post-Mao China, students will not only become familiar with certain important public policy domains, but also learn how decisions are made, why particular policies are adopted, and to what extent the actual policy outcomes deviate from the stated intention of policy makers. In addition, they will gain an in-depth understanding of contemporary Chinese politics by analyzing the relationship between the structural/institutional changes and the dynamics of public policy processes.

Spring 2009The State and Illegality in Southeast Asia*REGN U6640 Section 001 Call # 86751 Location: TBA Pts: 3*Michael Buehler*Day(s)/Time: R 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM

This course will introduce students to the phenomena of corruption and the study of its incidence. Attention will be paid to historical examples, and analytical articles on contemporary developments, dealing with the nature, causes and effects, and proposed cures of political corruption, as well as the ethical dilemmas inherent in political life. The material covered will be comparative, drawing on the work of scholars focusing on Southeast Asia.

Spring 2009International Relations of Northeast Asia*REGN U6647 Section 001 Call # 66997 Location: TBA Pts: 3*Shin-wha Lee*Day(s)/Time: R 2:10 PM to 4:00 PM

This graduate seminar will examine the international relations of Northeast Asia, one of the most significant and dynamic regions in global politics. A major objective of this course is to facilitate in-depth understanding of regional issues and regional dynamics by conducting a comprehensive analysis of the bilateral and multilateral relations of Northeast Asian countries. The course encourages students to think critically about the integration of theoretical knowledge and the formulation of practical solutions in the areas of policy studies, international conflict resolution and international relations.

increased openness and new prospects for foreign investments. The purpose of this seminar is to examine these changes to the business law environment in both South and North Korea. This seminar assumes that students have little or no background experience or knowledge of the Korean legal system. Korean language capability is not required.

CHINESE

General Information

Admission to Chinese Courses: Please see EALAC for information on the language placement test and schedule. Please also note that students whose native language is not English are not required to take an additional foreign language if they have completed the secondary school requirement in the native language.

For more information on Chinese language courses please visit the Chinese Language Program website at <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/ealac/chinese/>>

Introductory Chinese For beginners who wish to study Chinese at a slower pace. The entire course consists of two parts covering the same material as the first semester of Elementary Chinese (C1101/F1101). Students who have successfully completed the Courses I and II (W1010-1011) will be admitted to Elementary Chinese II (C1102y/F1102y) in the spring semester. Alternatively a student graduated from Course I and/or II can choose to study in a summer or another program and be placed into the intermediate Chinese course if he or she passes the placement test.

Elementary Chinese (Level 1)

N-Sections: For students with zero or limited background in Chinese.

W-Sections: For students of Chinese heritage or advanced beginners with Mandarin speaking ability but minimal reading and writing skills.

Note: Advanced beginners or heritage students who can speak Mandarin will NOT be accepted into the N sections.

Intermediate Chinese (Level 2)

N-Sections: Continuation of Elementary Chinese N focusing on further development of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills.

W-Sections: Continuation of Elementary Chinese W focusing on reading skills and written language. Open to students of Chinese heritage or those with good speaking skills in Chinese only.

Advanced Chinese I (Level 3)

N-Sections: Continuation of the Intermediate N course focusing on more sophisticated language usage and fluency as well as reading skills with systematic vocabulary expansion.

W-Section: Continuation of Intermediate W courses focusing on practical writing skills and semi-formal or formal style of Chinese used in various professional settings. Open to students with good speaking skills in Chinese only.

Other Advanced Courses (Levels 4 -5) Please see the course list.

For detailed Chinese language course listings, please see the Department of East Asian Language and Cultures website at <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/ealac/>> or the Directory of Classes at <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/bulletin/uwb/>>.

WEATHERHEAD EAST ASIAN INSTITUTE CERTIFICATE

Introduction

The Weatherhead East Asian Institute Certificate attests to specialized knowledge of a language and country of the Asia Pacific region and can be earned by matriculated Columbia graduate students not enrolled in an East Asian area/regional studies degree program. Students may choose from among three certificate options: a focus on modern China, modern Japan, or modern Korea.

Summary of Requirements

- (1) Language: the student demonstrates fourth-year level language proficiency for one country of study (China, Japan, or Korea) either by completing the appropriate course work at Columbia or by demonstrating comparable proficiency on language placement examinations administered by the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures. Since the emphasis is upon specified levels of language ability, no credit for course work necessary to attain the required level of proficiency (fourth year) is granted toward the Certificate.
- (2) Course Work: seven graduate level East Asia courses (at least three credits each) according to the requirements of the student's chosen program of study (see Coursework Requirements below). Students using Chinese or Japanese to meet the language requirement may count one fifth-year language course; the remaining course work must be selected from non-language offerings. Many of the courses also satisfy program requirements for the student's school or department.

Language Requirement

Students must achieve a working competence in one East Asian language, to be demonstrated as follows:

- (1) Chinese, Japanese, and Korean (depending on the certificate to be earned): by completion of the fourth-year course at Columbia with a grade of B or higher, or successful completion of the fourth-year or higher level language placement examination administered by the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures at the beginning of each semester. All entering students who wish to enroll in a language course beyond the first-year level must take the placement examination before registering for courses.

The language requirement must be met with a language that matches the certificate to be earned (i.e., Chinese for the Weatherhead East Asian Institute Certificate in Chinese Studies).

Language courses from the first- through the fourth-year level are offered each academic year. Although these courses meet more frequently than most non-language graduate courses, they are generally considered one course in the typical student's program of four or five courses per semester.

Students may also complete the equivalent of one year of language study during the Columbia summer session. These are intensive courses and students will generally be unable to take other course work during the summer.

Students may count one fifth-year language course as coursework.

Coursework Requirements

Students must complete seven courses (at least three credits each) selected to include work in the modern history of their area of concentration, and at least two colloquia or seminars. All courses must be taken for examination credit (“E” credit) and, with the exception of advanced work in language, be chosen from non-language offerings.

Students may count one fifth year language course as coursework.

Requirements for the Certificate in Chinese Studies

- (1) Two semesters of modern Chinese history (History—East Asia W3880–W3881). Comparable course work may be substituted with written permission of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute Director.
- (2) Three courses selected from at least two different fields; at least one of the three courses must focus on an Asia Pacific country or sub-region other than China or on the region’s relations with other countries or regions. “Fields” include disciplines and sub-headings listed in the Institute’s bulletin such as: Anthropology, Business, Economics, History and Culture, International Affairs, Law, Literature, Political Science, Religion, and Sociology.
- (3) Two graduate-level colloquia or seminar courses (8000 or 9000-level) on East Asia, at least one of which must focus on China.

Requirements for the Certificate in Japanese Studies

- (1) Two semesters of modern Japanese history (History—East Asia W3870–W3871). Comparable course work may be substituted with written permission of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute Director.
- (2) Three courses selected from at least two different fields; at least one of the three courses must focus on an Asia Pacific country or sub-region other than Japan or on the region’s relations with other countries or regions. “Fields” include disciplines and sub-headings listed in the Institute’s bulletin such as: Anthropology, Business, Economics, History and Culture, International Affairs, Law, Literature, Political Science, Religion, and Sociology.
- (3) Two graduate-level colloquia or seminar courses (8000 or 9000-level) on East Asia, at least one of which must focus on Japan.

Requirements for the Certificate in Korean Studies

- (1) Two semesters of Korean history (History—East Asia W3862 and W3863). Comparable course work may be substituted with written permission of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute Director.
- (2) Three courses selected from at least two different fields; at least one of the three courses must focus on an Asia Pacific country or sub-region other than Korea or on the region’s relations with other countries or regions. “Fields” include disciplines and sub-headings listed in the Institute’s bulletin such as: Anthropology, Business, Economics, History and Culture, International Affairs, Law, Literature, Political Science, Religion, and Sociology.

- (3) Two graduate-level colloquia or seminar courses (8000 or 9000-level) on East Asia, at least one of which must focus on Korea.

Requests for Advanced Standing and Exemption from Specific Course Requirements

- (1) Graduate transfer students from other universities may receive up to four courses of credit for comparable graduate work in East Asian studies. Students requesting advanced standing should submit the following material to the Institute's student affairs program officer: a transcript of the relevant courses along with a letter indicating the content of each course and the reasons that it fulfills the course requirement(s) for the certificate. Requests for advanced standing are reviewed by the Director of the Weatherhead East Asian Institute. If approved, the student would receive a letter from the Institute Director indicating that advanced standing had been granted.

Note: Regardless of previous course work, the seminar-colloquium requirement of the Institute must be fulfilled at Columbia.

- (2) Entering students who have completed graduate courses in East Asian studies as undergraduates may be exempted from specific East Asian courses in which they are already prepared. The procedure to be followed is the same as described above for graduate transfer students. However, unless they received an undergraduate degree from Columbia College, and the graduate courses taken exceeded the total courses required for the undergraduate degree, graduate credit will not be granted for these courses.

In exceptional cases, modifications may be made in the Institute Certificate requirements for students entering the program with a significant background in Asian studies. Any revision will be considered on an individual basis, and must be approved in writing by the Institute Director.

Application for the Certificate

To apply, submit a completed Certificate Audit Form, Application for Degree or Certificate form (available at <http://www.columbia.edu/cu/registrar/dgre_gradapp_form.html>), and transcript to the Weatherhead East Asian Institute student affairs program officer.

The materials will be reviewed by the Institute Director and, if approved, the Registrar will be informed that the certificate should be conferred along with the student's diploma.

A complete application must be submitted no later than December 1 for students graduating in May.

For complete information and to download a Certificate Audit form, go to <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/weai/certificate-program.html>>.

EAST ASIAN REGIONAL CONCENTRATION WITHIN SIPA

Students of the School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) may fulfill SIPA's requirement for a concentration by completing the East Asian Regional Concentration. The concentration requires the completion of six graduate-level East Asian studies courses (at least 3 credits each for a total of at least 18 credits), at least one of which is a colloquium or seminar, and at least second-year proficiency in an East Asian or Southeast Asian language.

The Institute encourages SIPA students considering the regional concentration to complete a Weatherhead East Asian Institute Certificate in East Asian Studies. At the same time, it recognizes that the additional course and language work may be difficult for students combining a regional and functional specialization or students with minimal prior background in Asian languages.

Since students pursuing the East Asian Regional Concentration have diverse backgrounds, interests, and professional goals, the Institute has not mandated a standard sequence of courses. Students are encouraged to design a program adhering to the principles guiding course requirements for Certificate candidates—the choice of a country of specialization, course work in the modern history of that country, and courses selected from several disciplines.

Language Requirement

The language requirement for the regional concentration may be satisfied by completing the second year of Chinese, Japanese, Korean, or Tibetan at Columbia with a grade of B or higher, or by demonstrating comparable proficiency in the language examinations administered by the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures at the beginning of each semester. The language requirement may also be satisfied by demonstrating comparable proficiency in a Southeast Asian language.

Language courses may not be used to satisfy the six-course requirement for SIPA students pursuing only the regional concentration. Students pursuing a double concentration may, however, use up to two language courses at the third-year level or above to satisfy their requirements.

Coursework Requirements

The completion of six graduate-level East Asian studies courses (at least 3 credits each for a total of at least 18 credits), at least one of which is a colloquium or seminar. Students pursuing a double concentration may use up to two language courses at the third-year level or above toward these six required courses.

Registration and Concentration Audit

As soon as a student decides to pursue an East Asian Regional Concentration, s/he may register for the concentration online through SSOL. The "course number" is SIPAU0002 sec. 002.

To complete the East Asian Regional Concentration, SIPA students must download and complete the East Asian Regional Concentration Degree Audit Form and submit it to the Institute's Student Affairs Program Officer prior to their final semester in the program.

For complete information and to download a Degree Audit Form, go to <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/weai/concentration-program.html>>.

MASTER OF ARTS IN REGIONAL STUDIES–EAST ASIA (MARSEA)

The Weatherhead East Asian Institute administers the Master of Arts in Regional Studies–East Asia (MARSEA) program through the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences for those wishing to focus on a social science approach to modern East Asia at the master’s level. The program provides interdisciplinary training (intensive exposure to the politics, international relations, modern history, culture, and society of the region) with a country or area of focus. The program, generally completed in one year, is tailored to meet the needs of individuals entering professional careers, mid-career professionals, students preparing for entry into doctoral programs, and those pursuing a professional degree, such as the J.D. or M.B.A., who want to gain regional expertise.

Degree Requirements

Summary of Basic Requirements

- Proficiency equivalent to three years of Chinese, Japanese, or Korean, or two years of modern Tibetan
- Two modern history courses on the country or area of focus
- Six appropriate regional courses (at least two of which are colloquia or seminars)
- Two elective courses
- Minimum of 30 credits in total (approximately 10 courses)
- A master’s thesis

Requirements for the China, Japan, Korea, or Tibet Program

- Proficiency equivalent to the third-year level of Chinese, Japanese, or Korean, or the second-year level of modern Tibetan. The language requirement may be met through coursework or by passing a language placement examination at Columbia. The examination is offered each semester on the Friday before classes begin. For more information contact the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures at 212-854-5027 or <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/ealac>>.
- Two courses in the modern history of the appropriate country or area (same as that of language proficiency). Comparable work may be substituted with written permission of the Institute Director.
- Six regional courses selected from at least two different fields: at least one of the six courses must focus on an Asia Pacific country or sub-region other than the student’s country or area of specialization. These courses must include at least two colloquia and/or seminars and are drawn from a wide range of offerings in Anthropology, Business, Economics, History, International Affairs, Literature, Law, Political Science, and Sociology. Courses dealing with the region as a whole or dealing with the region’s relations with other countries or regions may also be taken to fulfill this requirement. Students taking an East Asian language at the fourth-year level or above may count two semesters of language toward this requirement.
- Two elective courses not necessarily dealing with East Asia.
- The master’s thesis must be at least thirty pages in length and deal with a modern or contemporary topic in the social sciences that focuses on East Asia. It must substantially incorporate the student’s country or area of focus, although other countries or areas can be dealt with in the paper.

The requirements listed above must be fulfilled in accordance with Graduate School of Arts and Sciences degree requirements. For complete information go to <<http://www.columbia.edu/cu/weai/marsea.html>>.

FUNDING FOR EAST ASIAN STUDIES

The Weatherhead East Asian Institute offers funding for research, language acquisition, internships, and dissertation write-up during the summer and academic year to selected Columbia graduate and undergraduate students committed to professional and academic engagement with East Asia.

Eligibility varies depending on the particular funding opportunity, so please review the application materials carefully before applying.

The deadline for application is generally in late February or early March each year for projects occurring the following summer or academic year. The next deadline is March 6, 2009.
