

Projects for Remote Students

- Freedom to select a topic for a project.
- Look at the list projects discussed earlier. You can use the simulator on your PC at work if you are interested in one of these topics
- Select a project that makes sense in the work environment
- Team up with another CVN student. We will post the list of names
- You can choose to do simulation, systems programming, analysis or a conference level paper on an original idea or a detailed comparison paper on protocols related to this course (e.g., compare a number of micro-mobility protocols)
- Form a group and give me a tentative topic for a project
- Call me in office hours to discuss projects or anything else
