

School of International and Public Affairs
Columbia University
Office of Career Services

ONLINE SALARY SURVEYS $$$

<http://www.careerbuilder.com/salary/salary.html>

This site has an online salary calculator based on industry and location. It also contains a lot of useful general job search information.

<http://jobstar.org/tools/salary/sal-surv.htm>

This site has links to a number of salary surveys that are arranged by profession. In addition, there are general surveys on topics such as cost of living and benefits.

<http://careers.wsj.com/>

This site is now carrying all of the occupational profiles published in the National Business Employment Weekly, and that includes the salary charts! You'll find the button for Salaries and Profiles at the bottom of every page. Absolute gold mine here!!

<http://www.wageweb.com/>

Salary survey data for different jobs can be found here.

<http://www.eriari.com/>

The Economic Research Institute provides salary information at this site. Choose College/Career Planning Tutorials.

<http://www.compensationlink.com/>

This site provides a list of salary surveys. Choose "Library" and scroll down to "Salary Surveys."

<http://www.bls.gov/>

This is the Bureau of Labor Statistics website. Choose "Occupational Outlook Handbook" and you will find information about salaries and more.

<http://www.homefair.com/index.html>

This site offers an interactive tool to find out salary and cost of living nationally and internationally.

<http://www.govexec.com/careers/>

A good listing of salaries for a wide range of government jobs can be found here.