

For Next Week (Week 2)

Collect a few photographs, images, sound clips, video segments, and other objects or elements that either 1) provide an introduction to "who you are," or 2) relate to a particular experience that you would like to convey to your classmates and to me. If these are in digital form already, great. If not, we will convert them to digital form next week. In class next time, we will use these to create a brief presentation about yourself or your chosen experience.
