One of the greatest Drigung Kagyu teachers was Kunga Rinchen (1475-1527), a collection of whose works appear in this small volume. The full collection of his works has yet to appear and we are forced to work with this Ladakhi manuscript to understand his thinking as the last of the pure Drigung masters. Later teachers were heavily influenced by Nyingma thought.

Yagde Duldzin Kyenrab Gyatso belongs to the 16th century. He wrote this study of the history of Buddhism in Tibet in response to polemical questions by the 8th Karmapa Mikyo Dorje (1507-1554) raised against the Nyingma traditions. (Later the Karmapa responded to his own questions, showing how easy it was to defend the Nyingma tradition against Sarmapa opponents.) This text seems to have been written shortly before the Karmapa's death. This manuscript reproduced in India is carefully edited from a manuscript belonging to the late Burmiok Athing Rai Bahadur T.D. Densapa.
