

August 2015 Global Temperature Update

Please click here to view updated global temperature figures. August 2015 global temperature was almost as warm as August 2014 which was the warmest August on record, and both June-August and January-August, 2015 means were the warmest on record. As shown in the maps below, three out of four warmest seasons happened in past four seasons.

