Comments Course Questions

Q1 What are the most important things you learned in this course?

 I learned how to better manipulate verbs of motion, and I learned several new transition words/phrases that helped me to build and understand more complex sentences. The vocabulary in this course was also highly useful.

Q2 Please comment on the strengths and weaknesses of the course. Include constructive suggestions for improvement.

- This was a great course. But, I do think the textbook could use improvement. This semester I found myself very frequently referencing material outside of the textbook to complete my homework. This was at times very inefficient. I could've studied more effectively if the textbook presented the material in a more concise, accessible fashion. Specifically, having to look up every new verb conjugation in a dictionary is not particularly effective. If it's important enough to warrant repetition in the SAM, then it would seem important enough to put the conjugations in their respective textbook chapters. The same is also true of new vocabulary.

Q3 Please comment on the in-class speakers you found most and/or least informative. (If applicable.)

- N/A

Q4 Please comment on the strengths and weaknesses of the instructor. Include constructive suggestions for improvement.

- - Very engaging and accommodating to the strengths and weaknesses of different students
- Professor Stanton did a very good job with this course. She made a daunting amount of material manageable and interesting and brought a lot of insight both on grammar and Russian culture. Participation, although mandatory, was encouraged in a natural and conversational manner and I have come away from this course with an even greater interest in the Russian language. I would very much recommend Professor Stanton as a teacher.
- Excellent instructor.

Q5 Please comment on the strengths and weaknesses of the schedule, facilities and technologies in this course. Include constructive suggestions for improvement.

Air conditioning unit was broken for two weeks - too much money was paid to be sitting in a classroom in which it was difficult for all students to perform to their best ability. I felt badly for the professor that she had to teach in such conditions.
