

LAPES Lecture Series

Phenomenology, Human Rights, and Education

Can fraternity be thought phenomenologically as the essence of human rights? And how might such a manner of thinking fraternity impact how we teach and study human rights?

Prof. JORGE LUIS CÂMARA

Professor Câmara teaches graduate and post-graduate Law and Political Science at the State University of Rio de Janeiro (UERJ) in Brasil. He is a member of the IAB Brazilian lawyers institute and also a Global Fellow of the Clough Center for the study of democratic constitutionalism at Boston College.

November 25th
5:30 pm

The Center for the Studies of Ethnicity and Race

Seminar Room- 420 Hamilton Hall, Columbia University, 1130 Amsterdam Avenue